Is Nominated For The O.R.F.U. Vice-Presidency

Mr. A. A. Hollingshead's Name Placed in Nomination by Dundas Rugby Club—A Recognition of His Services for the Game

In all probability Peterborough will be represented by an officer of the O.R.F.U., next year, the Dundas Rugby Club having nominated Mr. A. A. Hollingshead, president of the Peterborough Rugby Club, for the office of Vice-President of the Ontario Union for 1907, in recognition of his deep interest in what is becoming each year a more popular game. Mr. Hollingshead has been an indefatigable worker in the interests of rugby, not only as it affected the particular team with which he was identified, but his interest took wider range and embraced the general good of the game, a pleasing recognition of which is the fact that a rival club has nominated him for the Vice-Presidency.

MUNICIPALITIES PAY 50C. PER HEAD

Per Week for Inmates of New House of Refuge—Question of Maintenance Finally Decided To-day

The question of the cost of maintenance of the inmates of the House of Refuge, was finally disposed of at the session of the County Council this morning, when it was decided to tax each municipality sending an inmate to the institution of fifty cents per week for each, the proposal to maintain the House of Refuge by a general tax being defeated, on a division of five against and four in favour of it.

Mr. Shaw moved, seconded by Mr. Monaghan, that the maintenance of the House of Refuge be paid by general tax, and Mr. Andrews moved, seconded by Mr. Buck, that each municipality be taxed 50 cents a week for each inmate in the institution. The amendment was carried on the following division:

Yeas—Andrews, Buck, Carey, Stinson, Mobarry.

Nays—Monaghan, Shaw, Garbutt, Webster.

Bernard Shaw Attacks Bible

London, Nov. 30.—G. B. Shaw, in a lecture here, declared that he was entrusted with a mission to enlighten the world on the subject of religion. Repeating his recent contention that there is no established religion in the world in which an intelligent man could believe, he said that one of the greatest obstacles to religion was the Bible.

He added: "You say I am clever. It is true. I am exceptionally clever, but few really understand wherein my cleverness consists. In some things I am really stupid, but I have a remarkable faculty which few Englishmen possess, the faculty of analysis. The ordinary Englishman has no faculty of analysis. He takes religion, philosophy and morals in a lump. This mass of prejudice when it passes through my remarkable brain is divided. Rubbish and superstition are divided and the religion is brought out.

"My mission on earth is to put my analysis before the public, to show the rubbish that is choking religion and making it impossible. Man is religious when he has a constant sense that he is in the world, not merely to fulfil certain little narrow purposes of his own, but as an instrument of the universal force which actually created the whole universe. If he has got that sense he is religious, and as a consequence extremely dangerous. What real religion can give you is courage and self respect. You don't want anything else. When a man has that he has lost the fear of death."

MILLBROOK MAN WANTS A PETERBOROUGH GIRL

The Millbrook Mirror says:—A well to do citizen goes to Peterborough quite frequently of late, and it is rumoured that Cupid's darts are playing a part in these visits, and that one of Peterborough's fairest young ladies will shortly become a bride and adorn the home of this highly esteemed and prosperous gentleman.

Customs Receipts Jump $10,000 In Past Month

On Imports Taken at Peterborough Office $32,532.15 was Paid in Duty in November, Compared with $22,359.89 in November, 1905

The growth in the customs receipts of the city is an unending source of wonder even to the customs officials, who, by this time should have become prepared to discover that almost each month shows a large increase in the receipts over the corresponding month of last year.

$10,000 Increase

For the month of November the record was a most gratifying one, the increase being more than $10,000 over the receipts of November 1905, and the past month has been one of the best of the whole year. During the last thirty days there has been paid into the local customs office on imports the sum of $32,532.13, for customs duty, as compared with $22,359.89 in November of last year, an increase of $10,172.24, a record of growth which the citizens might well feel proud of, and which indicates most forcibly the fact that Peterborough is developing from an industrial and commercial standpoint at a very rapid rate.

A FREE POSTAL DELIVERY WILL BE GIVEN TO THIS CITY NOW; THE ESTIMATES PROVIDE FOR IT

Mr. R. R. Hall, M.P., Says That at This Session of Parliament Appropriations will be Placed in Estimates for Delivery.

THE CITIZENS WILL APPRECIATE IT

Peterborough citizens will be glad to learn that at the present session of the Dominion Parliament an appropriation will be placed in the estiamtes to provide a free postal delivery in this city.

Efforts Rewarded

Mr. R. R. Hall, M.P., has been working for some time to accomplish this, recognizing that it was an innovation which the citizens desired, and has brought pressure to bear upon the Postmaster-General, with the result that that minister has promised to provide in the estimates an amount sufficient to secure to this city free mail delivery.

In this province this year a number of cities will be given free delivery, and, at the insistent demands of Mr. Hall, that Peterborough should be included in this list the Minister consented.

Good News

This will be good news to the mass of the people in this city, who have suffered the inconveniences incidental to the service in the post office, which everyone recognizes is too small to enable a good service to be given, and the only reasonable solution of the difficulty was believed to be the establishment of a free delivery in the city.

Appreciate His Interest

Mr. Hall's interest in the citizens, a practical evidence of which is furnished by his action in this respect, will be appreciated by the people of this city, who have for some time, been anxious for the establishment of the delivery system.

It is expected that the service will be given in the near future, and that it will cover the whole city, the details, however, have not been worked out yet.

The citizens will be content to know that the delivery is at last assured.

STEAMER MONARCH BRINGS UP ABOUT 100 PASSENGERS

Navigation Has Not Yet Closed on the Lower Waters

The open weather of the past week has again allowed the steamer Monarch to make her regular Saturday voyage to the city. To-day she landed at the Wolfe street wharf with about one hundred passengers from Rice Lake ports. She left Harwood, calling at Gore's landing, Jubilee and other points along the lake and river.

The locks bridge closed on Thursday last so that the steamer could no get above the street railway wharf.

A SPECIAL CHRISTMAS EDITION

On Saturday, December 15th, the Examiner will issue a large Christmas Shoppers' Edition, of 24 or 28 pages, profusely illustrated and composed, save for the regular news section, of special Christmas reading. The need for some such edition has been long felt, and last year's effort on the part of the Examiner received such warm support that it was decided to repeat it this year, only on a larger scale. The Christmas Examiner will be well worth procuring, and every citizen, whether a present subscriber or not, will want to get a copy, once they see it.

There is a general inclination to leave the Christmas buying until the last few days, a regrettable fact, because it does not do the shoppers, nor the merchants, justice. This special edition will give merchants an opportunity of stimulating early buying, and the business men are already giving evidence of their appreciation of the Examiner's efforts.

Every retailer has something special to offer for Christmas buying. Offer it through the columns of the Examiner. All subscribers to this paper will receive a copy free. Advertising space is being sold now.

MAYOR BEST IS AFTER THIRD TERM; WILL CONTEST THE MAYORALTY FOR THIRD YEAR FOR THIRD TERM

MAYOR BEST
who will be in the field for a third year's term of office

An Unnecessary Requisition Being Circulated by Mr. Jas. Kendry and Mr. J. H. Buurnham, Requesting Candidature

HE WILL APPLY FOR A THIRD TERM

There is to be a contest for the Mayorality. Mr. Best is in the field again as a candidate for the Mayorality for a third term. It is known that for weeks it has been his determination to become a candidate. The circulation of a requisition in Mr. Best's favour is what, in the slang of the day, might be called a bit of jollying—a transparent attempt to coax into the field a candidate who has fully decided and determined to enter in a contest for a third term, and is as anxious to run again as it is possible for a man to be. Why should Mr. Kendry and Mr. Burnham make the excuse of a requisition, to throw dust into the eyes of the public, and lead to the inference, that Mr. Best has to be dragged into a contest, and pretend to get the sanction of the public, to candidature which has been "cut and dried" long ago. It is not difficult to understand Mr. Kendry's anxiety to make the public believe that Mr. Best has to be coaxed into a contest which he could not be kept out of with shot guns. It is well known that the Auburn dam is in the market, if city will become a purchaser. Mr. Best and those associated with him, who have axes to grind, have developed a decided interest in municipal ownership of gas and electric light, etc. Everybody believes in municipal ownership and operation if this can be as effectively done, as has been the case with the Water Works system. While it might not be a bad thing for the city to own its lighting system it must be acquired on reasonable terms, at a reasonable valuation and on grounds of public policy and in the interest of the people—not as a means of promoting private interests, and not as a cat's paw for drawing the chestnuts of a municipal office out of the fire. What this city wants in this stage of its rapid progress, and development is a business Mayor, not a grunter, growler and "grouchor;" we want one who seeks the position to serve the interests of the people of the city as a whole; one who will have a proper sense of the dignity and responsibility of the office; who will not carry things with a high hand and set his opinions and interests in the forefront; in fine, a man who will discharge the high duties of the office with a sole regard to the interests of the people and city he represents.

YOUNG PETERBORO' MAN DIES IN THE WEST

Mr. Charles Herbert Bradburn, M.A., Son of Mr. T. E. Bradburn, M.P.P., Dies From Typhoid Fever

DECEASED WAS POPULAR YOUNG MAN

Universal regret will be felt in this city, over the intelligence received last night from Battleford, Sask., to the effect that Mr. Charles Herbert Bradburn, M.A., son of Mr. T. E. Bradburn, M.P.P., had died in that town yesterday, after a comparatively short illness from typhoid fever.

A letter received about a week ago conveyed the information that Mr. Bradburn was ill and it was feared that he was threatened with fever. Nothing further was learned concerning his condition, and his friends here hoped that the threatened fever had been warded off, until a day or two ago, when a telegram was received stating that he was seriously ill, and his father prepared to leave at once for the west to be near his son. Yesterday a further wire came telling of his death. Mr. T. E. Bradburn is now on his way to Battleford to take charge of the funeral arrangements.

A Popular Young Man

The late Mr. Bradburn was, during his residence in Peterborough, one of the town's most popular young men, and his death will be learned with genuine feelings of sorrow by his wide circle of warm friend here. The deceased was a promising member of the legal profession, and was one of the prominent citizens of Battleford, where he has lived for the last three years.

Practised Profession Here

The late Charles Bradburn was born in Omemee, and lived there until 1886, when, with the family he removed to Peterborough, where his home has since been. He attended the public school in Peterborough and graduated from the Collegiate Institute here, later attending Upper Canada College, where he was head boy, attendance there dating from 1889 to 1892. He spent four years at Trinity, taking his degrees of B.A. and M.A., graduating in 1896. Following his graduation he spent two years at Osgoode Hall, and in 1899 returned to Peterborough, where he studied law with the late Mr. John Burnham for one year, and afterwards entered into a partnership with Mr. G. W. Hatton, until 1903, when he left for the West. About four months ago he formed a law partnership under the firm name of McGuire, Bradburn & Earle, of which firm he was a member at the time of his death.

He was married in Winnipeg in 1903 to Miss Marion L. Sherwood, daughter of the late Edward Sherwood, of "Englewood," Peterborough, who with one daughter, five months old, survive him. He leaves his father and two brothers, F. L., of Toronto, and O.E., of Peterborough and one sister, Olive, to mourn his loss.

BLACKSMITH SHOP AT BURLEIGH FALLS BURNED

The Building and Contents Completely Destroyed by Fire Last Night

THE ORIGIN OF THE FIRE IS UNKNOWN

The blacksmith shop at Burleigh Falls belonging to the Department of Railways and Canals, was totally destroyed by fire last night, and the damage will amount to about $500. The cause of the fire is at present a mystery. The shop, which was a frame building, 12 x 16 feet, contained a complete blacksmith outfit, as well as a quantity of coal and iron. It was much in use when repairs were being made along the canal in that section.

Card-playing has become so general among German women of the upper classes that regular lessons in playing are now given in fashionable boarding schools for girls.

WILL HE ENFORCE THELAW ?

Mr. Whitney is quoted as the unbanding political Brutus, who will do justice, no matter who suffers — "Hew to the line, no matter where the chips may fall," is his motto. How can he reconcile this attitude to the fact that Dr. Beattie Nesbitt, registrar of deeds, Toronto, has accepted a bank presidency, in breach of the Registry Act, which says:

When it appears from the report of the Inspector of Registry Offices, that a registrar is carrying on or actively engaged in any business which competes with any other business in the registry division of such registrar, the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council may by order in that behalf demand that such registrar shall cease to carry on or actively engage in such business as aforesaid under penalty of forfeiture of office.

The new bank, the Farmers' Bank, of which the registrar of Toronto is president, comes into competition with a few other banks, in the worthy doctor's "registry division." Will Mr. Whitney see the law carried out? Will he suggest to Dr. Beattie Nesbitt that's "it's up to him" to elect whether he will be a bank president or a registrar?

RECOGNITION AT "ONCE"

The people and journals of England are rapidly getting beyond a bowing acquaintance with Canada. The great and little journals are beginning to "talk up Canada in no uncertain way. The London Financier, which has devoted space to a series of articles on Canada, summarizes its conclusions from the facts presented, and submits:

That boundless optimism reigns in the West.

That this is justified by what has been done in the past, and is being done in the present.

That next year will witness the greatest rush in the history of the American continent.

That every English farmer not doing well in this country should make for the West.

That there is room for all — NOW — but there will not be in a year or two.

That the Canadian Northern RRailway in opening up this wonderful wheat producing country, has done great work, not only for Canada, but the Empire.

That some of the towns in the provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan are destined to be great cities in the future.

How is that for a solid British journal? Could a Winnipeg, Calgary, Edmonton, Regina or Brandon newspaper, take a more optimistic note? While such conclusions are justified by the facts, the most important fact is the attention and praise and interest British journals of first influence in the business and financial world are giving and taking in Canada, its resources, and its future. We could have no more powerful nor effective advertising agency.

A COMPARISON OF METHODS

When the Conservative party was in opposition in the Legislative Assembly its members attacked a contract for the manufacture of wooden goods in the Central Prison, made by the Mowat Government with the Brandon Manufacturing Company. Piecework prices at that time were based on prison labour at 50c per day, and in addition, the contractors were to pay to the government the sum of $6,500 per year to cover the salaries of the government employees engaged upon the industries. The piecework prices were in most cases about three times as much as the present agreement calls for, but notwithstanding this fact, when the contract came before the Legislative Assembly in March, 1890, it was strongly opposed by the then Opposition, by labour representatives and manufacturers. The result was that the contract system for the employment of prison labour was abandoned, so far as woodenware is concerned, and the "public account" system (direct manufacture by the government) substituted. Under this system the province not only had direct control of the prisoners instead of having them placed under control of contractors, but also had control of the products of the prison, and all parties were satisfied.

The Hamilton Spectator says there were prison labour contracts in the days of the Mowat Government, and the woodenware contract was one of them. We have given its history.

What did the Whitney Government do? It restored a system of handling prison labour which the Conservative party had condemned in 1890; it hired out prison labour at 30 cents instead of 50 cents per diem, and instead of getting $6,500 to cover the salaries of government employees working for the contractor, it paid the entire cost of maintaining disciplinary guards and one-half the salary of a machinist who is to be employed in keeping the machinery in repair (for the company's benefit, of course).

The lines manufactured by the Brandon company, which held for a time a contract with the Mowat Government for the manufacture of woodenware by prison labour, are somewhat dissimilar to the lines being manufactured by the Taylor-Scott company, the contractors under the Whitney Government, but where they are in common we find the comparison to be as follows:

Broom handles—Brandon contract, 18 cents per dozen; Taylor, Scott & Co., 11 cents.

Stepladders, three to six feet—Brandon contract, 30 cents each; 7 to 10 feet, 40 cents each. Taylor, Scott & Co., half a cent per foot.

Washboards—Brandon contract, 18 cents per dozen; Taylor, Scott & Co., 6 to 8 cents per dozen.

Diamond mops—Brandon contract, 10 cents per dozen; Taylor, Scott & Co., one cent per dozen.

If our Hamilton contemporary desires to make a comparison between prison labour under the Liberal Government and prison labour under the Conservative Government, it will find the result most disastrous to its political friends. Equally disastrous to its party would be a comparison between the prices obtained for prison labour by the Whitney Government and those obtained in such United States prisons as retain the contract system. Furthermore, the general practice across the line is to award prison contracts by public competition. This was not the course followed with Taylor, Scott & Co., nor, for that matter, with any of the prison contracts.

In short, a more indefensible contract has never been made by any government than that made by the Whitney Government with Taylor, Scott & Co., and it is not surprising that the contract has been condemned in strong language by almost every labour organization and by the outside manufacturers who are engaged in the same lines of industry.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Since January the net earnings of the Temiskaming & Northern Railway amounted to $144,511, and a surplus on the year's work is assured. Of course that does not include interest on the capital invested. The road, however, has been of great value in developing Ontario, and has fully justified Hon. Mr. Ross' policy, says the Hamilton Times.

The Mail and Empire publishes an article to show how public opinion in England crushed a trust. It ingenuously ascribes this collapse of the trust, not to Free Trade, but to the force of public opinion. How would public opinion require to work to crush a trust, such as the Standard Oil Company — made possible, and buttressed, by a protective tariff! Under such a tariff public opinion would meet the consideration given it by a railway trust, which justified a career against which the people protested, by permitting the "public to be damned!"

COMMERCIAL TRAVELLER TELLS HIS EXPERIENCE

At the Testimony Meeting of the First Church of Christ

Those who attended the testimony meeting at First Church of Christ Scientist, 378 Aylmer street, last Wednesday evening, were much encouraged and pleased by an able, though short address frim Mr. Wm. Bull of Toronto, a commercial traveller. Mr. Bull told how he came into Christian Science; and why he always found it a privilege to speak of it, and for it. His wife had been given up by the best medical skill of New York, as incurable, but soon after was perfectly healed by Christian Science treatment.

Their eldest daughter who was then a nurse in one of the hospitals in New York, having the best attention that human help could give, was forced to turn to Christian Science, and was healed.

His son was also wonderfully blessed by the healing in Christian Science. Their youngest daughter had spent $75.00 in securing a pair of glasses, so that she could read. She took to reading Science and Health with Key to the Scripture, by Rev. Mary B. G. Eddy, and to their grateful surprise, in a remarkable short time, she put off the glasses, having no further need of them.

He, himself, became infatuated with the spiritual teaching, as it gave him a clearer comprehension of God and of Christ than he had before investigating it, and for which he is very thankful. Mr. Bull is a pleasing and instructive speaker.

Mr. Bull was the guest of R. J. Todd after the meeting.

TO PREVENT BRONCHITIS or CONSUMPTION

Do not neglect a cold or cough no matter how slight as the irritation spreading throughout the delicate lining of the sensitive air passages sooner or later will lead to fatal results.

If on the first appearance of a cough or cold you would take a few doses of you would save yourself a great deal of unnecessary suffering.

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup contains all the lung healing virtues of the pine tree combined with Wild Cherry Bark and other pectoral remedies.

It stimulates the weakened bronchial organs, allays irritation and subdues inflammation, soothes and heals the irritated parts, loosens the phlegm and mucous, and aids nature to easily dislodge the morbid accumulations.

Miss Belle Campbell, Long River, P.E.I., writes: "For some time I was troubled with bronchitis. A friend advised me to try Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. So I procured three bottles but it only took two to cure me."

Be careful when purchasing to see that you get the genuine Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup.

It is put up in a yellow wrapper, three pine trees the trade mark and the price 25 cents at all dealers.

Out of School BECAUSE OF COLDS
THOUSANDS OF CHILDREN WILL ACQUIRE LUNG TROUBLES, WHICH COULD BE AVOIDED BY USING
DR. CHASE'S SYRUP OF LINSEED AND TURPENTINE

The records of attendance at the Toronto Public Schools show that ten thousand children were absent on account of colds during a single month. "The worst enemy of all to the child, so far as keeping him from school is concerned, apparently, is the common, every-day cold," said Dr. Goodchild in his report to the Ontario School Association.

"Not only does the cold prove an enemy in this way," he continued, but it is well known that many of the more serious diseases follow from the simple cold. As a result of the patient becoming weakened down in his resistance against disease, the germs of various infectious diseases the more easily find a place to multiply somewhere in the organism."

Parents, who make a practice of keeping Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine in the house, have at hand the most certain means of curing coughs, colds, croup, and bronchitis, and positively preventing more serious diseases. It is sometimes forgotten that few ailments possess more possibilities of danger than a common cold.

Mrs. R. D Turner, Broadview, N. W. T., writes:—"We have seven children and have used Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine for everyone of them and with good results. We get four bottles at a time and find it a good remedy to break up a cold on the lungs."

Not only is Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine a positive cure for croup, bronchitis, whooping cough, asthma, and severe chest colds, but it is a preventive of all diseases of the lungs.

Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, 25 cents a bottle, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates and Co., Toronto. The portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every bottle. 3

STEAMER STONEY LAKE TIED UP FOR THE WINTER

Large Scow of Stoney Lake Navigation Company Will be Rebuilt

Navigation has completely ceased, so far as the Young's Point steamers are concerned. On Thursday the steamer Majestic was hauled up on shore to her usual winter quarters. To-day the Stoney Lake was tied up for the winter, and on Monday one of the large scows will be pulled out on shore, and will be rebuilt during the winter.

DON'T LET THE SONG GO OUT.

Don't let the song go out of your life
Though it chance sometimes to flow
In a minor strain, it will blend again
With the major tone, you know.

What though shadows rise to obscure life's skies.
And hide for a time the sun;
They sooner will lift and reveal the rift
If you let the melody run.

Don't let the song go out of your life.
Though your voice may have lost its trill,
Though the tremulous note should die in the throat,
Let it sing in your spirit still.

There is never a pain that hides not some gain
And never a cup of rue
So bitter to sup but what in the cup
Lurks a measure of sweetness too.

Don't let the song go out of your life.
Ah! it never would need to go,
If with thought more true and a broader view
We looked at this life below.

Oh, why should we moan that life's springtime has flown
Or sigh for the fair summer time?
The autumn hath days filled with paeans of praise,
And the winter hath bells that chime.

Don't let the song go out of your life
Let it ring in the soul while here,
And when you go hence it shall follow you thence
And sing on in another sphere.

Exploring Labrador.

Labrador is the last part of Canada left unexplored, and yet it is being made known. The Herald of St. John's, Nfld., records another of these journeys: "On board the Virginia Lake, due this afternoon, are Stephen Tasker, of Philadelphia, and his wife, Florence, who crossed Labrador from west to east the past summer, as a honeymoon trip, and George Elson, their Indian guide. They left Ottawa in June, traveled north to Hudson Bay with the fur brigade, and from there traversed the interior of the peninsula, getting out about Hamilton Inlet on Oct. 4. They endured terrible misery in the journey through the wilds, and had to eat their dogs, so near were they reduced to starvation. Elson, their guide, was the third man with Leonidas Hubbard and Dillon Wallace when the former starve to death near Lake Michikamau in the fall of 1903."

Chemistry, Practical and Theoretical.

"Young gentlemen," said the lecturer in chemistry, "coal exposed to the elements loses 10 per cent. of its weight and heating power. This is due to the action of the alkali constituents of"—

"But what if there is a dog sleeping near the coal, professor?"

"None of your levity, young man. This is a serious matter."

"That's what father thought when 72 per cent. of his coal pile disappeared during three nights of exposure. Then he asked my advice as a student of chemistry, and I told him to buy a dog. He bought a dog with bay window teeth and the stringhalt in his upper lip, and now we don't lose 1 per cent. of our coal a month. That's the kind of a practical chemist I am. Now go on with your theory."

Farsighted.

Let Christmas come! I'm not distressed
With thoughts of what to buy
No gifts to seek, my heart's at rest—
I bought them last July.

AFFLICTED WITH CATARRH— LIFE HAD BECOME A BURDEN.

Pe-ru-na, Used As a Last Resort, Affords Complete Relief.

MRS. F. CARR.

The Relief Experienced By Mrs. Carr Through the Use of Pe-ru-na, After Having Tried the Best Professional Treatment in Vain, is a Matter of No Small Wonder Among Her Many Friends.

Mrs. F. Carr, Vineland, Ont., Can., writes:

"For several years I was afflicted with catarrh, which made life a burden.

"The coughing and hacking which accompanied the disease was terrible.

"The complaint finally extended to the stomach and I was in a wretched condition.

"I tried different remedies and the best professional treatment all in vain.

"Finally, as a last resort, I tried Peruna upon the recommendation of my sister in Hamilton.

"I could see steady improvement and after using four bottles of that precious medicine I was feeling well again, my old trouble being completely a thing of the past.

"To-day I would not take one thousand dollars for what this grand medicine has done for me."

Many women owe their lives to Peruna. A great many more owe their health to Peruna.

A multitude of women throughout Canada are using Peruna as a preventative and a relief from catarrhal coughs and colds.

We have in our files a great number of letters from grateful women who have been benefited by Peruna, with permission to use these letters in public print.

Catarrh would not be such a curse to the human race if people thoroughly understood its nature.

Catarrh is a disease which never improves of its own accord, but becomes deeper seated the longer it is neglected. It should be treated at once to prevent it from making inroads upon vital organs.

ENDEAVOUR TO SERVE BUT ONE MASTER AND HE ALONE

Rev. E. A. Langfeldt Preached a Very Instructive and Earnest Sermon at All Saints' Church Last Night

COMMEMORATION OF FEAST ST. ANDREW

Last evening the three Chapters of the local branch of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew were united in All Saints' church for special anniversary service. Considering the various counter attractions there was a good attendance. Special brotherhood prayers were said during the evening.

Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, the speaker of the evening, chose as his text the 6th chapter of St. Matthew, the 24th verse: "No man can serve two masters, for either he will hate the one and love the other or he will hold to the one and despise the other. Ye cannot serve God and Mammon."

The speaker said there were two good reasons for plain, earnest speaking on this occasion. First, the gathering was for the purpose of commemorating the feast of St. Andrew, who gave such a marked expression of his loyalty to Christ in his every-day life. In the second place, it was the eve of the holy season of advent, when all are reminded of the love of Christ for man by His second coming.

Self Examination

The subject of the sermon could touch home in the hearts of nearly every one. Are you trying to serve two masters? Trying to, because Christ Himself says that it is not in the capacity of the human mind to serve two masters, and likewise it is a moral impossibility. Practically there are no examples of this state between a man and two masters. The speaker referred to the distinction in the bearing of the man to the masters. If he is a man of strong feelings and convictions he will love one and hate the other; on the other hand if he holds to, or cleaves to the one he will loathe and despise the other. In proportion as you esteem one master so you hate the other.

Mr. Langfeldt then referred to the growing tendency of many people to hate religion. These men, he pointed out, were those whose daily thoughts were enthroned in their business. Religion was repulsive to them because it interfered with their daily pursuits.

There were many of this class, however, who were converted to live for Christ. These like all true Christians were far happier in following Christ than they had ever dreamed of. The man who loves Christ cares but little for the World and its jeers and taunts. How uninteresting is God's Word to the worldly man. It is worse than nothing to him for he ridicules it and will not turn his thoughts towards it in a proper spirit.

Followers of Mammon

What is mammon? It is not merely riches although it pertains to wealth, but is rather the world, that is whatever we use or employ separate from God. It is a condition in which men give no consideration to an eternity.

The speaker pointed out that a man can be in the world and yet be not of it. A man can live in this world for the especial glory of God. He turns everything in it to God's honour and glory, Christ is the ultimate object of his duties and allegiance. A man may be externally a good man; that is he may go to church on Sunday and earnestly assist in divine worship, but during the next six days he forgets all about his Creator. This man's religion is but a fashion or custom; it is a part of his week's routine. He serves God in a manner, but in reality he serves the devil.

An Earnest Religion

The tendency of a large number is for fad religions. This is not what is desired, the speaker said. A religion from the heart, a deep-felt devotion for God is what is needed. There are too many trying to please God and also please the world. It is Christ here and the world there and the man is not happy as he cannot do both. This divided service brings about a double life, which is, according to God, an impossibility. When his house is open men are found enjoying various pleasures and not worshipping Him. The man who leads a double life oscillates between two points, and finally end by belonging to only one master. The speaker urged all to renounce the world and follow Christ as He desires us. A devout service to Him will bring untold happiness and content. True, a good, Christian life is externally very severe and bare compared with the allurements of the world, and it is difficult to follow in the right path. But man realizes the real state of affairs when he begins to know and love God. Two means of making a success of your life as a Christian are: First, Close with God; second, Go and confess Christ by a steadfast life of devotion to Him.

Rev. Mr. Langfeldt urged all to follow in the footsteps of St. Andrew and hesitate not when a mocking world casts its sneers at God's religion and worship, and eternal bliss will be their lot when the final reckoning is made.

IMMENSE THRONGS of eager purchasers are to be seen daily at the Golden Lion's great Dress Goods Sale which continues up to Saturday, Dec. 1.

PRIVATE WATER SUPPLY SECURED FROM THE CITY STREET

But it Was Cut off by the Construction of the Aylmer Street Sewer Now Nearing Completion

MR. BEST'S INGENIOUS ARRANGEMENT

Incidentally, the construction of the Aylmer street sewer has destroyed a private water supply which an ingenious citizen, with commendable enterprise, has established. Mr. Best, who lives on Antrim street, at the foot of the hill, had tapped a spring at the corner of Antrim and Aylmer streets, placed a large tank under the sidewalk and conveyed the water in pipes to his house, the fall giving sufficient pressure to force the water to any part of the house.

When the excavation for the sewer was made, it was necessary to dig, at this particular point, thirteen feet, several feet below the source of the spring, the result being that the water, instead of continuing its course through the pipes to Mr. Best's house, ran into the trench, and has been continuing to do so, although the sewer pipes are now covered in, and the private water supply which this gentleman has enjoyed for some time, the colds of winter having failed to interfere with the flow of the water, which is of the purest quality is shut off.

THE BOYS' GUILD ELECT THEIR OFFICERS

Enjoyable Evening Spent at St. Andrew's Last Night

St. Andrew's Day was celebrated in St. Andrew's Lecture Hall last night by the Boys' Guild. It was the annual meeting for the election of officers, and a great deal of enthusiasm was shown in pushing forward of candidates, and great excitement reigned, until the results of the ballots were made known. Hints of ballot-stuffing were heard, but the greatest care was taken, and election protests are not feared. The returning officers were Mr. A. McWilliams and Mr. V. Henry, whose reputations are sufficient to vouch for honest at the polls.

The officers were elected as follows:

Honourary President — Rev. J. G. Potter.

Drill Instructor — Lieut. T. J. Wallace.

President—Wilfrid Fortye.

Vice-Presidents — Norman Laing, Roy Brand, Charles Thornton.

Secretary—Ernest Thornton.

Treasurer—Grant Potter.

Councillors — Vernon Henry, Sherlock Thornton.

Curators—Willie Davidson, Roy Brand, Norman Laing.

Membership Committee — Mitchell Hart, Willie Gibson.

Social Committee — Carlyle Potter, Norman Brand, Orville Moore.

Mr. Potter addressed the Guild, referring to the lessons from St. Andrew's Day. The boys were deeply interested in the early history of their own church, especially as the newly-elected President was connected with the early history of St. Andrew's by his ancestors' valuable and loyal aid. The boys were urged to have the spirit of St. Andrew in seeking out others and bringing them to Christ.

At the conclusion, refreshments were served by Mrs. Wm. Stevens and Mrs. J. G. Potter.

The Guild passed a hearty and unanimous vote of thanks to the Ladies' Aid Society for their great kindness in paying off the cost of the handsome partition forming the guild room, and pledged themselves to help the ladies in any way possible.

CITY CLERK'S SALARY IS INCREASED TO $2,000

Finance Committee Decided Last Night to Make That Recommenation to the Council

A PERMANENT AUDITOR IS LIKELY

The Finance Committee of the City Council at a meeting last night, unanimously decided to recommend that the salary of City Clerk Armstrong should be increased. All the members of the council were of the opinion that the increase wwas well deserved. Mr. Armstrong has been in the service of the city over thirteen years — to be exact he began his duties thirteen years ago last month. He started in at a salary of $1200, and during that time has never had an increase of salary, with the exception of being granted $250 several years ago, to pay for assistants. His duties, however, have increased enormously if the salary did not, and the amount of work involved in his position is enormous, far greater than the average citizen is aware of.

He has shown himself an energetic and painstaking, reliable official, and an increase was never more thoroughly earned.

The following motion, moved by Ald. Elliott, and seconded by Ald. Ball, was carried unanimously:—

"That the city clerk, S. R. Armstrong, be paid $2000 per year, he to pay all assistants required to perform the duties of the offices of city clerk, clerk of the police court, secretary of the Board of Health, and secretary of the committees of the council."

Permanent Auditor

The committee discussed the desirability of appointing a permanent auditor, and the majority seemed of the opinion that such an official should be appointed. It was moved by Ald. Wilson, seconded by Ald. Ball, that this committee recommend the appointment of a permanent auditor, and that a bylaw be prepared for this purpose.—Carried.

Street Watering

There was some discussion over the street watering, and it was stated that the water commissioners had turned off the water in the stand pipes before the contract was up. The aldermen thought that this was wrong, and the following motion moved by Ald. Ball and Wilson, was carried, "That the water commissioners be instructed to keep the water turned on in the stand pipes during the time of the contract for street watering."

It was moved by Ald. Ball and Wilson that this committee be authorized to deal with the list of patients in asylums.—Carried.

The members present were: Ald. McWilliams, chairman; Ald. Wilson, Ball, Elliott, Hicks and Mayor Best. —Carried

OMEMEE BOY PASTOR OF MINNEAPOLIS CHURCH

Rev. Walter Nugent Accepts Pastorate of Fifth Avenue Congregational Church

The following reference to a relative of Mr. John Nugent, of this city, will be read with interest, giving evidence as it does, of the success which an Omemee boy has made in his work as a minister of the Gospel:—Rev. Walter Henry Nugent, assistant rector of St. Paul's Reformed Episcopal church and well known in Chicago, has accepted a call to take the pastorate of the Fifth Avenue Congregational church of Minneapolis. Rev. Mr. Nugent was born on a farm near Omemee, Ont. in 1877 and is a conspicuous example of a young man who by his own efforts has come to hold a prominent place in his calling. He is a graduate of Albert College and an undergraduate of Victoria University, Canada.

FIFE AND DRUM BAND WERE ENTERTAINED

Guests of Their President, Mr. Jos. Armstrong Last Night

A reception party was given the members of the Nassau Fife and Drum Band by its President, Mr. Jas. Armstrong, at his residence on Hunter street, last night, when a very enjoyable evening was spent. Songs were rendered by Mr. E. J. Naish, accompanied by Mr. J. Harding on the piccolo, and were greatly enjoyed. A pleasing feature was a duet by Bandmaster A. Harding and Band Sergeant James on the piccolo. Refreshments were served during the evening, and Mr. Armstrong did everything in his power to make things enjoyable for his guests.

The Fife and Drum Band has made considerable progress this season, and have a number of engagements for the Christmas season.

PHYSICAL CULTURE FOR THE BUSINESS MEN

The Benefits to be Derived from Class at Y. M. C. Better than Correspondence Courses Costing $30 to $40

The good work done in the gymnasium Business Men's Classes in the Y. M. C. A's. all over the country has been followed by the advertising of so-called correspondence courses in physical culture. Such schools charging 30 cents and 40 cents for their courses have made big money with them. It is not necessary and one seldom gets the results promised.

The Y.M.C.A. Business Men's Class here places better facilities and instruction at the disposal of the business man, right at his own door, without charge beyond the membership fee. The class under Mr. Dingman's leadership is growing. It meets again on Monday, December 3rd from 5 to 6 p. m. Mr. Business Man you are invited to join it.

AGED MILLBROOK LADY PASSED AWAY

Miss Louisa Johnston Died There This Morning, After a Lengthy Illness Following a Shock

Mr. Alf. Johnston received word this morning from Millbrook of the death in that town of his aunt, Miss Louisa Johnston, at the age of 70 years, after an ill dating back from a paralytic strike which she suffered some years ago, and from the effects of which she never fully recovered.

The deceased has been a resident of Millbrook for over 50 years, and leaves one brother, James, who lives in Millbrook. The funeral will take place on Monday.

Mr. Brooks is thoroughly conversant with the conditions existing in Turkey, and the lecture should prove decidedly interesting.

AYLMER STREET SEWER COMPLETED

Over 700 Feet of Sewer Constructed by Day Labour Under Considerable Difficulty—Some of the Obstacles

To-night will probably see the completion of the sewer on Aylmer street, from Edinburgh to Antrim streets, which has been under construction by day labour, under the direction of the city foremen for some weeks, and which has been proceeded with under difficulties. This sewer is about 700 feet long, the greater part of the distance on a hilly ground, with rocks and quicksand alternating.

For a number of weeks now, Mr. John Thirnbeck has been in charge of this particular work, and has made good progress, considering the physical obstacles encountered.

THE SCARLET MYSTERIES AMONG DEST PERFORMERS

Their Production is of a Highly Refined Vaudeville, Bright and Catchy

Mr. Edward Branscombe deserves much credit for bringing together such an octette of players as the Scarlet Mysteries. The presentation at the Grand last night was not only unique in its character, but was a refined production, performed by eight clever artists from the city of London, England. There was no leader among the company and all seemed to share alike the warm applause of the audience. Each number of the programme, whether dialogue, recitative or musical, was cleverly performed, full of un. clean and crisp and the audience was in almost a continuous state of laughter from the rise to the fall of the curtain.

The choruses, songs and quartettes were as finely executed as any ever heard on the local stage. All the members possess voices of exceptional strength and purity of tone, and the perfect blending of their voices was a feature. From the Joker and Jester came the greatest fun of the evening and were repeatedly encored. The Eccentric Ensemble, "The Crocodile," the solo of which was taken by the Jester, "Long Ago in Alcala," "The Pierrot, on the Portobello Pier," and the "Toreador," were perhaps the best received of the musical numbers.

The performance was one which might be called a refined vaudeville and was certainly appreciated. This clever English combination will give another performance at the Grand to-night, when there will be an entire change of programme.

AN ANSWER WANTED

Editor Post Card Column:

Dear Sir,—I notice that Mr. James Kendry, owner of the Auburn Mills power plant, and Mr. Hampden Burnham, are soliciting signatures to a requisition begging Mayor Best to enter the arena as a candidate for the Mayoralty fight. What is there behind all this anxiety on the part—of Mr. Kendry especially—for Mayor Best's presence in the council as Mayor? Surely it can't be his desire to unload a water power upon the city. One would think Mr. Kendry too busy a man to be called upon to sacrifice his time in the public interests. As to Mr. Burnham, he has, it seems, plenty of spare time and his connection with the work of bringing coals to Newcastle in the form of circulating a requisition to drag the reluctant Mr. Best to the front is understandable. I am not good at guessing conundrums. Will somebody crack this nut for me?

Permanent Sidewalks

At the beginning of the season a new cement mixer was purchased, which has been found to do first-class work and is operated with the saving of two men. The season's work resulted in 6.1-3 miles of walk laid, being 1 1-3 miles in excess of any previous season's work. The total length of permanent walk now in use is 26 1-2 miles.

During the progress of building walks this season, it was decided by the Board of Works to put in the intervening crossings, which were built at a much lower cost than if put in separately.

There were also 16 separate concrete crossings laid in older sections of walk, in addition to those built in the course of sidewalk work.

Sewers

During 1906, 4.92 miles of sewer have been constructed — 3.53 miles by contract, and 1.39 miles by day labour—making a total of 19 3-4 miles now in use.

Surface Drainage

To overcome the nuisance and inconvenience, as well as liability for damages on account of flooding, a 24-inch pipe drain has been laid on McDonel and Bethune streets, 759 feet long, discharging flood water from the north end into the creek at Murray street.

Wooden and Gravel Walks

Wooden walks have been extended on streets to accommodate newly-opened-up territory and new houses. On streets where it was impossible to lay concrete walks this season, gravel was laid to give temporary accommodation, where permanent walks will be built next season.

River Front

The stagnant pond of water lying along the river front, between the original shore line and the C. P. R. spur line, has been filled in between Simcoe and Charlotte streets with material composed of first-class heavy gravel, dredged from the river bed in the channel, being made navigable by the Government. This will make a valuable addition to the city's property. The dredging of the channel will allow of first-class dockage in the centre of the city.

The Money Appropriated

For work done by the Board, an appropriation of $16,700 was set aside. After the stone crusher was paid for, drains repaired, the Smith street bridge and the bridge over the Dickson Company's drain re-fixed, there was left about $10,000 for labour and material.

First of a series of debates will be held in the T.A.S. Hall on Monday evening Dec. 3rd. The Subject for the first debate will be "Resolved that the Government of the United States is superior to that of Great Britain." A musical programme.

Budget Debate Ends.

Ottawa, Dec. 1.—That the budget debate occupied the attention of the House less than eight hours, nearly one-half of which was taken by the Finance Minister in presenting the new tariff, was a surprise to the members of the Government side. Two speakers on each side were all that sought to engage the attention of the House, and neither Mr. Foster nor Mr. W. F. Cockshutt, who presented the views of the Opposition for the consideration of Parliament and of the country, ventured upon any criticism of the tariff upon its merits, but satisfied themselves with mere generalities.

Mr. H. H. Miller (South Grey), one of the numerous band of younger members in the ranks of the Government supporters who have given evidence of capacity and talent for public life, replied effectively to Mr. Foster yesterday. He combatted the suggestion of the ex-Finance Minister that a 21-2 per cent. reduction in the duty on certain lines of agricultural implements was too small to be appreciated, and challenged Mr. Foster to inform the House whether he would be prepared, if he were Finance Minister, to reduce the duty by 10 per cent., as he had suggested Mr. Fielding should do. Mr. Foster will doubtless have an opportunity to reply, if he desires to do so, during the debate on the tariff in committee.

Mr. Cockshutt, who closed the debate, complained that instead of having as far as possible done away with the one tariff he found in operation when he came into office, as promised, Mr. Fielding had given the country four tariffs, with several adjuncts or lean-tos, the complexity of which could only be unravelled by a Philadelphia lawyer.

DENY TRUSS STATEMENTS.

Man Who Laid Charges In Brantford Case Threatened With an Action For Slander.

Brantford, Dec. 1.—There were no features yesterday at the investigation at the Institute for the Blind.

At the morning session Assistant Engineer McIntyre, against whom a charge of political partisanship was Thursday made, submitted his defence. Several witnesses swore that McIntyre had not engaged in political work on election, and that he worked at the institute the greater part of the day.

Frederick Boyer at Port Colborne, a former blind pupil, at his own request cross-examined Vice-Principal Wickens in an endeavor to show that sufficient attention was not shown to the blind as to their adaptability for different lines of work, and that pupils of mechanical ability only were engaged in literary pursuits. Attention was also called to the number of graduates who had been forced to abandon their trade for the poorhouse, subsequent to their departure from the institute.

W. B. Preston was also examined as to the drive the pupils had been given to the Aylesworth meeting at the drill hall. Denials were forthcoming to many statements made by Truss.

Thomas Truss, who laid charges, among which was one that pupils visited an alleged house of ill-repute, is now threatened with action for slander by the woman in question, whose house, according to the evidence of pupils already heard, is not disorderly.

The investigation is adjourned until Dec. 11.

WASHINGTON VACANCY.

London Daily Mail Enthusiastic Over Canadian For Ambassador.

London, Dec. 1.—The Daily Mail this morning takes up the agitation for the appointment of a Canadian as ambassador at Washington in succession to Sir Mortimer Durand. In an editorial the paper says:

"It would be a wise course, if the Government is anxious to consolidate the Empire. Canada has suffered in the past through the ignorance or shortcomings of British diplomatists; witness the Ashburton treaty of 1842 (as to the boundary line between Maine and Canada); the Oregon agreement of 1836 (a territorial dispute between Great Britain and the United States) which was settled by treaty, and the Alaska boundary arbitration. Never was there such an opportunity for repairing these mistakes.

"It cannot be alleged that a Canadian as ambassador would be likely to take up an extravagant or dangerous position in his treatment of questions between the United States and Canada. The Canadian frontier is 2,000 miles long, and it could be defended only with difficulty. Canada is so much weaker than the United States that she will never provoke a quarrel.

"Her enormous and rapid expansion justifies her claim to a larger share in the conduct of the imperial policy, and the time has arrived to take her into partnership with the mother country."

TO THE CIVIC COURTS.

Political Criminals In Russia to Escape Secret Tribunals.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 1.—The Ministry of Justice yesterday decided that political crimes must in future be submitted to regular civil tribunals and in accordance with the ordinary procedure, instead of under the arbitrary methods of the gendarmeries and secret police.

Alvinston, Dec. 1.—The bylaw to grant a loan of $3,000 for the establishment of a basket and woodenware factory here was defeated yesterday by 28.

PRICES OF FARM PRODUCE WERE PRACTICALLY SAME

To-day's Market Was Rather Firm—Supply Was Good—Butter and Eggs Were Sold At Price of a Week Ago

The fair housewives of the city were out to market in fairly large numbers this morning, despite the bleak, dreary weather that prevailed. The amount of produce offered was of the usual quantity, lambs being perhaps the scarcest article. Pork and beef were presented in large quantities, and a good supply of potatoes and apples were on hand. The prices of butter and eggs remain unchanged since a week ago, in fact, there was practically no variation in the inside market. Pork sold at 9 1-2 and 10 1-2 cents, and lamb at the same price. There was plenty of vegetables, such as onions, cabbage, parsnips and beets, and almost no falling off in the supply of fowl.

The following is an early price list, and may vary from prices offered an hour later:

Potatoes, per bag		to	1 00
Apples, per bag	75	to	1 00

THE WESTWOOD FACTORY HELD MEETING

Almost $25,000 Distributed—Season was a Successful One

During the past dairy season the Westwood Cheese Factory was worth almost $25,000 to its patrons. The above amount after expenses were deducted was distributed among the 76 patrons of the factory.

The average price per pound of cheese was 12.06 cents. Mr. Fred. Warner was the greatest contributor sending 87,568 pounds of milk during the year.

The important figures were as follows:—

The New York Stock Market

(Furnished by J. R. Heintz & Co.)

New York, December 1.—To-day's short session was given over to what are generally known as the "cats and dogs." Several of them woke up and advanced sharply while the recognized leaders of the market stood still or advanced fractionally. Among the active specialties were Railway Steel Spring with a 4 point advance, Pacific Mail which rose 31-2 on ship subsidy talk, and Pressed Steel Car, Locomotive, Car Foundry, Mex. Central and C. & O. Atchison made further gains while Amal. Copper was in good demand.

The bank statement was rather better than expected and helped bullish sentiment. We look for a much more active market from now on and believe that purchases of the good stocks such as U. P., Atchison B. & O., Penna., Copper and the Steels will show handsome profits before Christmas. The market closed strong.

DEEPENING MUST WAIT, BUT—

U. S. Congress Will Be Asked to Spend $75,000,000.

Washington, Dec. 1.—The river and harbor committee has practically decided that they will insist on incorporating in their bill all of the great lake improvements which were agreed upon last July. Two million dollars will be appropriated to complete the breakwater in Cleveland harbor, and about the same amount spent to complete the improvement of the Detroit River, chiefly at the Lake Kiln Crossing at Amherstburg, Ontario.

The deepening of the waterways between the lakes must wait on account of the great expense involved.

Provision for the building of a third lock at the Soo, with a 25-foot stage, is assured. It is roughly estimated that it will necessitate an expenditure of at least $10,000,000. The bill also will carry an appropriation of about $500,000 for the proposed canal to connect the lake at Buffalo with the terminus of the 1,000-ton barge canal at Tonawanda.

The total appropriations made by the bill will amount close to $75,000,000. Two-thirds of this sum will be authorized, and the rest will be cash immediately available.

The Newfoundland Fisheries.

St. John's, Nfld., Dec. 1.—Thus far in the present fishing season about 35,000 barrels of salted herring have been taken from Bay of Islands. Ten vessels will sail for the fishing grounds this week.

It is estimated that the total output will equal that of last year, but Canadian and Newfoundland vessels are getting larger catches, while American vessels are getting smaller catches, than last season.

The largest nugget of gold ever found weighed 2039 ounces, and was worth $40,880.

Samples of the tinned meat supplied to Leicestershire county asylum, England, have been found, on analysis, to be unfit for human food, and it was stated that the beef came from Chicago and the mutton from New Zealand.

Steamer Jones Sank Three Miles From Cape Croker.

CAPT. RUMLEY FINDS SPOT

Seventy Feet of Water Cover Ill-Fated Vessel If the Commander of Tug Gladstone Is Correct In His Diagnosis—Four More Probable Victims Revealed by Circumstances on the J. H. Jones.

Owen Sound, Dec. 1.—The names of three lumbermen who must have been lost on the steamer Jones have been positively identified on the Sheldon House register by Capt. Graham of that steamer, who arrived in town last night. They are: R. Addison, who has been employed by a lumber company at Silver Water for three years, and who had come south to procure more hands for the winter's camp; A. E. Addison of Avon, Ont., cousin of the aforesaid, and J. E. Kennedy of Eaton, Ont.

They registered at the Sheldon House the evening of Nov. 20, and embarked on the steamer Jones the following day for Silver Water.

Another man who is supposed to be among the missing dead is Robert Edmonstone, a young fisherman of Vail's Point. Some days ago he left for a lumber camp on Manitoulin Island, and is thought to have embarked on the ill-fated vessel.

Where the Jones Went Down.

Owen Sound, Dec. 1.—The tug Sandford is still searching around the Christian Islands for bodies from the wrecked steamer Jones, but without success, so far.

Capt. Rumley of the tug Gladstone, who went over the route yesterday from Lion's Head to Owen Sound, passed over and located a spot three miles from Cape Croker and a quarter of a mile offshore, in about 70 feet of water, where he thinks the Jones sank. He noticed oil on the water, and traced it to where it came bubbling up. The Jones took on a considerable cargo of oil from here on the ill-fated trip.

Crew Battled For Life.

Bell told the rest he'd climb a tree to see if he could see any clearing or settlement in the distance. He rested his rifle against a bush, walked about twenty feet to a tall tree and went up to the top. In some way the rifle fell and went off, and the bullet passed through Bell's body.

MATTOAX TO BLAME.

Placing the Responsibility and Cause of Fatal Wreck.

Lynchburg, Va., Dec. 1.—The frightful accident Thursday morning near Lawyer Depot, on the Southern Railway, in which President Spencer and members of his party lost their lives, is declared by Assistant-General Superintendent E. A. Coapman to be due to the block telegraph rules being disregarded by Operator C. D. Mattoax, who was in charge of the block station at Rangoon, four miles north of the scene of the wreck, and the first station north of Lawyer Depot.

This official said that an inspection of the telegraph sheets showed that Mattoax had let a second train into the block, although he had not received word that the previous train had cleared it This was against the rules of the road. Mattoax has vanished.

ORDERS MEN TO WORK AFTER STRIKE

Hamilton Companies Ordered to Receive the Men Back.

CAR STRIKE DECLARED OFF

Col. Gibson at First Demurred to Comprehensiveness of Order of Ontario Railway and Municipal Board, But Afterwards Agreed to Accept Them All—City to Become Defendant In Suits.

Hamilton, Dec. 1.—Starting this morning the street cars, radial and Hamilton and Dundas lines, will be operated by the union men who have been out on strike for nearly four weeks, and the strike-breakers will be taken to pastures new. That at least was the arrangement entered into yesterday afternoon by the company and the union before the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board.

The board met at 11 o'clock and proceeded at once to the arbitration of the street railway troubles. The first thing the board did was to issue an order instructing all the strikers to go back to work. The order read: "The board, in order to serve the comfort and convenience of all classes of the community, hereby declares the strike off and orders and directs all the men now out on strike to return to their respective employments; and also orders and directs the companies to receive the men back, and the companies are to further put a complete service in operation."

The chairman read the order, and then said he supposed the next question would be about wages. Col. Gibson made strenuous objections to the order. He thought the company should have some say as to whom it should employ. It was willing to put back a majority, even nineteen-twentieths of them, but it should not be compelled to keep men who were dishonest. He asked for an adjournment for two hours, so that the company might consider the matter.

At the afternoon session Mr. Gibson agreed to obey the order, and take the men back as fast as cars were available. Many of the cars were so damaged that the company could not put them on the streets.

Chisholm & Logie have served notice on the city that they will issue two writs for damage caused by the riots.

The cars were operated by strike-breakers last evening for the last time, it is hoped.

This morning, at the Police Court, Thomas Ryan and John J. Millen, strike-breakers, were fined $5 each for being drunk and disorderly.

A Railway Strike.

Halifax, N.S., Dec. 1.—The entire crew of section men and bosses between Windsor and Yarmouth in the employ of the Dominion Atlantic Railway Co. will go out on strike to-day, their demands for an increase of wages to take effect Dec. 1 not having been granted by the management.

SIR WILFRID'S WIRE.

Premier Laurier Comes to Relief of a Saskatchewan Hamlet — The Strike Is Virtually Settled.

Ottawa, Dec. 1.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier has wired Sir Thomas Shaughnessy:

"I am informed that there is a coal famine at Bladsworth, Sask., and that there is no coal available at Lethbridge. Please forward coal, giving same right of way. Conditions very serious."

Sir Thomas answered that even though the mission of Hon. Walter Scott and Deputy Minister King to Mr. Mitchell at St. Paul proved successful, it would be some days before there could be any output of coal from Lethbridge.

Meanwhile, Mr. White of the C.P.R., and the provincial authorities are cooperating. All cars have been used to forward coal, even to the extent of delaying grain. He does not anticipate any serious coal famine.

Mr. Lemieux has heard from Mackenzie King to the effect that the strike is virtually settled.

Cars Can't Be Bought.

Winnipeg, Dec. 1.—Sir Thomas Shaughnessy said yesterday, in speaking of car shortage: "If I could buy ten million dollars' worth of cars and locomotives at the present time I would buy them and would undertake to provide the money in cash. But there are no cars or locomotives to be bought. We are, however, adding a new train of 24 cars to our available force of cars every day."

VALLILLEE SUES LAMONTAGNE.

Asks For $20,000 For Arrest In Connection With Riots.

Ottawa, Dec. 1.—Yonne Lamontagne, counsel for the strikers at Buckingham, was made defendant yesterday in a writ issued by Mayor Vallillee of that town, claiming $20,000 damages for furnishing Judge Choquette and Detective McCaskill with alleged false information, which led to the mayor's arrest on a charge of criminal neglect in connection with the riots in October.

The mayor was honorably acquitted.

Montrealer Who Shot Detective Gets a Heavy Sentence.

Montreal, Dec. 1.—Robert Walker, a criminal yet in his teens, who shot and seriously wounded Detective Iehuquet a few weeks ago, when he was surprised when robbing the Starke hardware premises on St. Paul street, was sentenced to twenty years in the penitentiary yesterday.

While Walker was using his gun, Detective O'Keefe, who was with the other detective, felled Walker with an axe-handle and both had to be taken to the hospital.

Walker is a young but hardened criminal.

In 1800 salt in England cost $160 a ton. It has since fallen to about one-sixtieth of that price.

PAY $200,000 WITH $30,000.

Unusual Financial Scheme Adopted By Agent of Canadian Government In Paying Debt to Indians.

Several years ago the Canadian Government took from the tribes of Indians about Athabasca lake and river a large tract of land and in payment for the same it gives each year $5 to each Indian and $25 to the chiefs and their families. This money is paid in $1 bills.

The reason for this is that the Indians dwelling in the district do not know the value of money, writes the Seattle, Wash., correspondent of The Chicago Tribune. A paper dollar looks to him about the same as a blank piece of paper to a baby. Should the payment be made in silver the simple minded child of the wilderness would punch a hole in it and wear it about his neck, and thus a great deal of money would be taken from circulation. Should payment be made in one bill, the Indian is liable to lose it.

Once each year a representative of the Canadian Government makes a trip through the country and pays the Indians. On this trip he takes $30,000 in $1 bills, and will probably pay out more than $200,000. The natural question from civilization is, how does he do it?

As the Indian knows nothing about the value of money, his method of financial trade is on the value of skins, and when one talks dollars to him his face has the expression of a blank cartridge. Fortunately for the Government, the Hudson Bay company has secured the entire confidence of the Iidians during the century of dealing with them and the money paid to the Indians finds its way into the trading posts of the company.

Here is how the Government paymaster does his phenomenal stunt of paying $200,000 or more with only $30,000 in his pocket. He goes direct to a district inhabitated by perhaps 2,000 or 3,000 Indians; here he will pay from $10,000 to $20,000 in "treaty money." Each Indian and his family is given the five $1 bills in payment for his surrender of the land and each chief his $25.

After making this payment the paymaster takes a rest for a short time at the Hudson Bay post nearest the pay station. Within a few days the Indians have made a line to the post and there purchased whatever looks good to them. They whack the money down on to the trading post counter, order something worth perhaps 50 cents and leave. The company agent charges the red man with what he has purchased and credits him with the balance of the $5, so that in the future he can trade out the remainder of the amount.

Within a week from the date of paying the treaty money every dollar of the amount has been paid into the trading post. The paymaster gives the post agent a check for the amount and starts for the next Indian settlement.

Thus he goes from one tribe to another, paying the Indians, waiting for the money to be turned into the posts, and continuing on his rounds. When the agent returns to Edmonton or back to civilization he has about all the money he had upon beginning the journey and has paid out more than $200,000.

To Compete With Ontario.

Two forces are at work which ought greatly to assist in the movement to secure the packing of nothing but good fruit in Ontario. One is the determination of the merchants and citizens generally of the Prairie Provinces to enforce the Fruit Marks Act and the other is the competition of the British Columbia fruit grower. The Nor-West Farmer records a case where a merchant at Carberry, Manitoba, refused delivery of a carload of Ontario apples, wired the fruit inspector, who, when he arrived, branded the whole car as falsely marked. The fruit was sold for a much lower figure than originally arranged for, and this loss as well as the cost of enforcing the law had to be borne by the packer. This is one of the lessons the Chief of the Fruit Department, Mr. A. McNeill, is trying to teach. The other lesson that "the Columbians 'll get ye if ye don't watch out," is emphasized by The Vernon News, which represents the interests of the Okanagan Valley. This bright, well-printed journal does not read Ontario growers a sermon for their wickedness, but it contains what is more dangerous, namely, two or three columns of interesting reading concerning the development of small fruit, poultry and truck farms in the Valley. These farmers appears to be doing exceedingly well, and what with a ready local sale of vegetables and eggs at 75 cents per dozen this is not surprising. All of them are planting out orchards, and when these come into bearing the competition which Ontario growers experience west of Winnipeg will be keener.

Funeral Reform.

The ministers of Port Arthur are exerting themselves in the direction of funeral reform. Features to which objection are taken in present day funerals are: Extravagant expenditures for flowers, carriages, etc., when the family have not money in hand to pay the bills; exposure of the living to pay honor to the dead—very often one funeral bringing on another; advertising the hour of the funeral before consulting the minister; selecting Sunday for the funeral because greater parade and numbers can be gained; too much crepe and heathen gloom; exposure of the remains; farewell of the relatives before a gaping crowd; want of promptness, and unseemly display of any kind. Funerals are not so bad in these respects as they were some years ago, but there is still much room for improvement.

The Misguided Trout.

The Parry Sound Star is very sarcastic over the fishing regulations, and thus breaks out. "The misguided salmon trout, in defiance of the fishery regulations which provide that they shall not begin spawning until after Nov. 1st, actually began operations early in October on the same old shoals that they and their kind have spawned on for ages past, only that there are fewer of them as the years go by, and the trap and gill net fishermen with their hundreds of traps and miles of nets, get in their work. When will the Fisheries Department ever learn to change the fishery regulations to suit the conditions? Are the votes of a few political fishermen of more consequence than the lives of countless millions of wasted fish? Is it any wonder the fisheries are becoming depleted?"

PENITENTIARY SMALLPOX.

One Convict Has It and Others Say They Feel Sick.

Ottawa, Dec. 1.—Warden Platt, of the Kingston Penitentiary, was in the city yesterday to acquaint the Justice Department of a case of smallpox in the big penal institution.

A convict who arrived six months ago contracted the disease, and the authorities found it necessary to remove him for isolation purposes to a isolated building on the penitentiary farm.

Though every effort was made to keep it quiet in some way or other prisoners heard of it and now several dozen convicts are complaining of illness, hinting that they are also feeling smallpox like.

CONFESSIONS OF GUILT.

Sensations Likely to Arise From Trial of Cornelius Shea.

Chicago, Dec. 1.—Secrets of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters of the United States are to be made public as a result of the confessions of guilt yesterday of Albert Young and three other co-defendants of Cornelius P. Shea, president of the organization, who, together with 16 other members of the union, were placed on trial for conspiracy.

The confessions caused a stampede among the attorneys for the union, and a delay was asked for on the ground that the blow given the defence was too serious to overcome in a short time. The motion was overruled.

Police Chief Indicted.

San Francisco, Dec. 1.—Abraham Ruef, and Chief of Police Jeremiah Dinan, were jointly indicted by the grand jury yesterday on a charge of conspiracy in connection with the alleged protection of a house of illfame. GROWING OLD WHILE YET YOUNG

What a number of women there are who feel that these words exactly suit their case.

There are thousands of females all over our land, broken down in health and dragging out a miserable existence, overburdened with disease peculiar to their sex, apparently growing old while yet young.

From early morn till late at night they have been on the go year after year, attending to the household duties. Is it any wonder then that sooner or later there comes a general collapse? Palpitation of the heart, nervous prostration, smothering and sinking spells, weakness, dizziness, sleeplessness and many other troubles follow. What a woman wants is something to build up the system and for this purpose you cannot equal

SHERLOCK MALE QUARTETTE

The George Street Methodist choir is to be congratulated upon the success of the concert given under its auspices last night, when, to a large and thoroughly appreciative audience, the Sherlock Male Quartette, of Toronto, assisted by Mr. Gordon Muir, gave a varied programme in the church. This organization has been heard in Peterborough before, and fully sustained its good reputation gained on previous visits.

A MESSAGE FROM MARS

"A Message From Mars," which will be seen here at the Grand next Wednesday night, is a comedy that has "made good." It was written by an American. It had its production in London by a London manager. It was so great a success that it was played at the same theatre for more than one thousand nights continuously, Sunday nights excepted, of course. When it was brought to America it was installed in one of the Broadway theatres and there it remained for more than seven hundred nights. This, in brief, tells the story of the success of this comedy. "A Message from Mars" possesses those characteristics which appeal strongly to the taste of the great body of theatre-goers, such as a plentiful allowance of light comedy varied by occasional touches of pathos, a dash of melodrama, a slight flavour of the supernatural, and an unimpeachable purpose of moral. In this play, David Proctor, one of the most prominent young actors in the United States, is appearing as the star, and has proven himself a worthy successor of the great English actor, who first appeared in the play in London, and later in the United States. Several members of Mr. Proctor's company have been appearing in this play from the first night it was brought out in London.

ELECTRIC LIGHTING TO COST THE COUNTY DEARLY

Will be Necessary to Build Pole Line to Cost $350 for New House of Refuge at Lakefield

WOULD BE BETTER IN PETERBOROUGH

The decision of the County Council to build the House of Refuge at Lakefield, the members of that body are now convinced, was a mistaken one, and this morning, at the session of the Council, further evidence of this fact was furnished. In making arrangements for lighting the building, some difficulty is being experienced, and at present it begins to look as if it were going to be a much more expensive matter than was at first contemplated.

No Long Contract

In the first place, the sub-committee of the House of Refuge Committee found that no contract for longer than five years could be made with the Lakefield electric companies, and in addition to this, no company would undertake to build the necessary pole line, which, it is estimated, will cost about $350.

If the new institution is to be illuminated with electricity, it will be necessary for the county to build the pole line at its own expense, and pay for the transformer at the building.

At this morning's session of the Council, Mr. Kelly, of the Electric Light Company, was present and submitted his prices for lighting the new building.

A New Dam

He explained that by reason of the fact that the Dickson Company would, in five years' time, build a new power dam at Lakefield, replacing the present dam, on the site of the old woollen mill, the company would not give contracts for a longer period, and since his company was procuring its power from this dam, he could not make a long term contract.

He quoted for 30 sixteen and 30 eight-candle power lights a yearly rate of $135, and in addition to this the county would have to be at the expense of the pole line from the power house to the building, which would cost, he thought, not less than $350.

The Council had not figured on this additional expenditure, and the committee thought it of sufficient importance to refer to the Council before reaching a definite decision on. After considering the matter, it was decided to add Mr. Stinson to the sub-committee on lighting, and leave the question with the committee to deal with.

Had the House of Refuge been built near this city it would not have been necessary, for the county to be at the expense of building its own pole line.

ALLEGED ARSON CASE AT CORDOVA

Boys Are Accused of Burning Haystack—One Turns King's Evidence

Another alleged case of arson has been reported in the county, this time coming from Cordova. Two boys have been accused of burning a stack of hay, valued at $25, the property of William Teal of Cordova. An information has been laid against them and it is probable that they will soon be placed under arrest.

Altogether, according to the information received by Magistrate Edmison there were three boys in the party, and it is understood one of them has turned King's evidance.

Other witnesses who will appear in the case have stated they saw the boys running away from the fire. The alleged crime was committed on Thursday, November 22nd.

COUNTY COUNCIL'S CLOSING SESSION

Reports Presented and Adopted To-day—By-Laws Passed Confirming Reports

At this morning's session of the County Council, a number of reports of committees were presented, and bylaws passed.

The committees on Finance, Roads and Bridges, Appointments, Special Committee on Keene and Evans' Bridges, House of Refuge, submitted their reports, which were adopted by the council. Bylaws confirming the reports were also passed.

A bylaw declaring the policy of the council in reference to the construction and maintenance of bridges on boundaries between the different municipalities, where streams are less than eighty feet wide, was passed. This bylaw was to the effect that the council would not hold itself liable for the cost of these bridges.

Six Founders' shares, nominally worth $5 each in the New Vaal River Diamond and Exploration Co., of South Africa, were sold by auction, realizing an average of over $22,500 per share.

JUMPED INTO RIVER FROM HUNTER ST. BRIDGE

John Cochrane, Out on Bail on Arson Charge, Ended His Life on Saturday

THE BODY WAS FOUND YESTERDAY

Hurling himself from the railing of the Hunter street bridge into the whirling icy waters of the Otonabee River, John Cochrane, of Cavendish, arrested on a charge of arson, put an end to his life on Saturday night.

The made leap from the bridge was made at seven o'clock, in the evening, and Cochrane had chosen a favourable moment for his rash act.

No One Saw Him Jump

This was shown by the fact that no one saw him throw himself from the railing. The last person to see him alive was Ald. Frank Adams, his wife, and little son, of East City, who were on their way to the west side of the river, and almost eye witnesses of the affair.

Heard the Splash

To an Examiner reporter who called upon them yesterday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Adams told their story. There was a strong wind blowing, and they were walking with their heads bowed, so that they could not see far ahead of them. As they stepped on to the bridge they heard a loud splash, and realized at once that someone must have gone into the river. Hurrying to the centre of the bridge, they saw what appeared to be the body of a person being carried swiftly down the middle of the stream. They called to the figure in the water, but there was no reply, the only indication of life being the waving of the person's arms as he swept down the current.

No Chance for Rescue

Mr. Adams hurried to the house of Mr. William Faint, on the west side of the river, just below the bridge, in the hope that he might have a boat by which a rescue could be effected. Mr. Faint had not a boat, however, and by this time the man had disappeared from view. He was last seen by Mr. Adams in the middle of the river, and almost opposite Mr. Faint's residence.

Mr. Adams immediately reported the affair to the police, but nothing could be done. No one had been reported missing to the police, and it was not until yesterday afternoon that the identity of the unfortunate man was established.

Discovery of Body

The discovery of the body was made by Mr. Jas. Conroy, the watchman of the dredge, Trent. His curiosity was aroused by what appeared to be a lump of ice on the bar which the dredging operations have made in the middle of the river, opposite the foot of Simcoe street. About four o'clock, he and Mr. David Quinlan of East City, went out to the object and found it was the body of a man. He had caught on the bar, and was balanced there, with his head partly above water, but covered with a mass of ice and snow.

Police Notified

Leaving the body as they found it, as they feared that an effort to move it would result in its being swept off by the current, the two made their way to the police station, and reported their discovery to P. Cs Newhall and McGinty. Chief Ronzel was notified, and he reported the case to Dr. Gray, coroner. Mr. D. Belleghem was also informed of the finding of the body, and was quickly on the scene.

Caused Excitement

The news of the discovery quickly spread and there was a large crowd on the bank when Mr. Belleghem, accompanied by Messrs Conroy and Stanley Russell, set out in a punt to recover the body, which was easily effected. It was brought ashore at the Riverside Park, and in a few minutes conveyed to Belleghem's undertaking establishment. Several men in the crowd who hurried to the scene, identified the body as that of John Cochrane as soon as it was brought ashore.

An Old Resident of Cavendish

Mr. Cochrane had been a resident of Cavendish for a period of 35 or 40 years, and was one of the best known figures on the Buckhorn road. He has been employed by the Dickson Company as fire ranger for a number of years, and kept a boarding house on the road. For some time he has not been residing with his wife. He was charged recently with the crime of setting fire to Mr. Westlake's barns, which were destroyed by fire one night last month. He had a preliminary trial, was remanded, and was released on bail, after having spent a few days in jail, awaiting bail and legal release. His trial was to have taken place on Tuesday, before His Honour Judge Weller. At times the deceased indulged pretty freely in drink, and it is said that during the past week he had been drinking heavily.

The deceased had one son in Pittsburg, and is reported to be doing well.

DEATH'S CALL CAME SUDDENLY

Mrs. Wm. Telford, of Smith, Passed Away After Few Hour's Illness

Death's summons came very suddenly to Mrs. Wm. Telford, a very well known resident of Smith, on Saturday afternoon. She had driven into the city in apparent good health, and shortly after 2 o'clock, called upon Mrs. Mann, Water street, one of her tenants. Here she began to feel ill and quickly grew so bad, that Dr. Scott was sent for. Mrs. Telford, however, did not rally from the attack, and passed away at 9 o'clock Saturday night. A cerebral hemorrhage was the cause of her sudden taking off.

The deceased whose maiden name was Anne Jane Tyttle, was born fifty-three years ago, and lived all her life in the township of Smith, where she was known and respected by everyone. The intelligence of her death has cast a gloom over the whole country side. She is survived by a husband and Mrs. W. Cowie, city, is a cousin. All the deceased's family pre-deceased her.

The funeral took place to-day, from the family residence on the Chemong Road, Smith, to the Little Lake cemetery.

WELLER'S LIBERTY WAS VERY SHORT

Jail Doors No Sooner Closed Behind Him Than He was Again Arrested

The thirty days sentence of Tom Weller this morning and he was liberated from the county jail. His freedom was of short duration, however, as County Constable Cochrane was waiting for him at the door of Castle Nesbitt, and arrested him on the charge of threatening murder.

Weller was placed in jail again, and was remanded by the Magistrate for one week.

It is not probable that he will be given his liberty in Peterborough, as steps are being taken to have him deported to England. His friends have advised the latter course, as they believe him a dangerous man to be at large.

"WHO'S YOUR TAILOR?"

The Compliment One Man Pays to Another Man's Appearance

When one gentleman asks another the address of his tailor the compliment is not a concealed bouquet. The touch of warmth and brightness in the winter styles of the Semi-ready tailoring, supplemented by the carefully expressed detail which appeals to men of cultured taste, brings this question to the patrons of Semi-ready. "Who's your tailor?"
The answer is generally made by a display of the front emblem of Semi-ready—the silk bird sewn on the inside pocket of every Semi-ready garment.

A FORMER DOURO BOY MET DEATH IN DETROIT

Sudden Jolt Knocked Him Off Street Car and Death Resulted Shortly After

HAS MANY RELATIVES IN THE COUNTY

Full particulars were received in the city to-day of the death of George Leahy, of Detroit, who was killed there on November 17 by falling from a street car within nine blocks of his own home. The late Mr. Leahy has many friends here who will regret to learn of his death at the early age of 29 years.

He was employed in an electric power house in Detroit, and in the evening of the accident was returning to his home on a crowded street car, where he was forced to stand on the steps. A defective spot on a bridge caused the car to give a sudden jolt, thus throwing him off. His head struck against the rail, causing death in less than two hours, before he ever regained consciousness.

The spot where he met his untimely death appears to be a regular death trap as several have been killed there in the same manner, and even on that day a woman was killed on the bridge from a similar cause.

The deceased man was taken to his father's home in Toledo, O., and was buried from St. Michael's Cathedral in that city. He leaves to mourn his loss a wife and two small children.

His father was Timothy Leahy, formerly of Douro township, where his son, George was born. The family left here about 25 years ago to reside in Toledo. The late Mr. Leahy has many relatives in Douro and in this city, among whom are Mrs. Edward Sullivan, of the former, and Mrs. P. J. Grady, of the latter.

MR. DUMBLE'S JUDGMENT CONFIRMED

Appeal Against His Jurisdiction in Toronto Courts Was Not Sustained

In the case of Jos. Stewart vs. Spellman & Lawless, of Lakefield, which was before the Police Court here some months ago, and in which Mr. Spelman pleaded guilty and was fined $100 and costs, Mr. Spellman, on the advice of Mr. Haverson, K.C., appealed from the judgment on the ground that the Police Magistrate of Peterborough had not jurisdiction, there being a county Magistrate. Mr. Dumble, however, many years ago, had been a Police Magistrate for the county, and held his commission not only for the county, but for the city. The court held that Mr. Dumble had jurisdiction to try the case, and confirmed his judgment.

As Police Magistrate for the city of Peterborough, Mr. Dumble, it appears, is a Justice of the Peace for the entire county, with the power of two Justices of the Peace, and when he sits on a county case, it is as Police Magistrate with the power of two Justices of the Peace. This is under the statute, but being Police Magistrate for the county by direct appointment, he had authority both under his commission and under the statutes.

VICTOR'S VENETIAN BAND FRIDAY NIGHT

Will Give Grand Concert in Opera House for Benefit of 57th Band

A musical event of more than ordinary interest is represented by the appearance in grand concert, in Bradburn's Opera House, on Friday evening next, of the celebrated Victor's Venetian Band. This great band, of which Signor Caffetty Victor is leader, was organized by him in 1899 out of Venetian musicians, and hence is called the Venetian Band. It has been under continuous Victor since that time. The winter concert strength of the band is 22, nearly all solo artists, the cream of the out-door summer strength of 50. Signor Victor is a distinguished musician, a graduate of the Imperial Conservatory of Leipzig, and has surrounded himself with a splendid band of talented musicians, whose ensemble work is delightfully refreshing. Each programme is so planned as to give opportunity to the many clever soloists composing the band. The object of this concert is to give the public an opportunity of hearing a first-rate band on a delightful programme of popular and other music, and strengthening the funds of our own splendid band, the Fifty-Seventh. Make a memo. of the date and arrange to attend this concert.

TYPHOID AND WATER SUPPLY

The Board of Trade, with the best of motives, at its last meeting, attached a great deal of importance to the purity of our water supply for domestic purposes. Too much importance cannot be given to this matter. We should have as pure water as possible. How best to secure it is the problem. We have no reason to assume that the water supplied to the city system is other than reasonably pure. The expert who gave his opinion upon a filtration plant, pronounced the natural quality of our water as of the highest. There is a good deal of fear expressed as to the danger of pollution upon the line of supply above the waterworks intake. But, considering the immense volume of water in proportion to possible pollution material, there does not seem to be any great danger from this source. Whatever danger may exist can be minimized very greatly by preventing pollution by adventitious matter above the city. A great deal of faith is placed in a filtration plant. This may be an effective means of securing purity of water supply, but its efficiency is not regarded as absolute. It is well to have both sides of the question. Before we embark upon the expenditure of something like $100,000 upon a filtration plant, we should have all the information possible. Scientific theorists may insist upon such a plant doing the work of purification perfectly, but experience is more valuable than theory. The experience of the city of Washington, with a filtration plant, shows that, while not a failure, it has not all at once done what its most enthusiastic advocates expected of it in the way of immediately reducing the death rate from typhoid. The following article from the Globe of Friday throws considerable light upon the subject, and is worthy of careful perusal:

Washington has lessons for urban municipalities other than the successes and failures in government by a commission. A water filtration plant, recently installed, and said to have cost about three million dollars, has started a general controversy by its failure to effect the expected reduction in the city's typhoid fever record. For twenty years or more the typhoid death rate in the city has never fallen as low as 40 per 100,000, while in 1890 it had reached 104, and much of the time thereafter and until 1903 it had ranged from 65 to 80. It was thought, and there were good reasons for believing, that the high typhoid mortality was due to the polluted condition of the public water supply drawn from the Potomac River, and for ten years a persistent agitation for a filtering plant was kept up. Slow sand filters, embodying the most advanced ideas in water purification, were put in full operation early in October, 1905. Some months afterwards, when the filters were in good running order, and when it was reasonable to expect that the unfiltered water in the piping system of the district had been replaced by filtered water, an examination showed that the deaths from typhoid fever were running about the same in 1906 as in the corresponding months of 1905, and that the cases numbered considerably more. Sensational reports were telegraphed over the country, and many newspapers accepted the story that the water-filtering scheme was a failure.

The Engineering News had a careful investigation made by experts, who inspected the filtering plant and looked into all the surrounding and attendant conditions affecting the prevalence of typhoid. The result, while not decisive, goes to show that the filtering system is doing effective work, and that other matters having an influence on the general health of the people need attention. The uncertain nature of statistical evidence is incidentally shown in the report of the experts. It is pointed out that Washington is not suffering from an epidemic of typhoid. Since the filtration plant was put in operation the typhoid mortality has been much lower than the average for nearly twenty years before that time. The years 1903, 1904 and 1905, however, showed a marked decrease over previous years, and it was expected that in 1906 the rate would fall still farther until it reached the figure commonly recorded in communities having pure water supplies. Instead, it now appears that the average of about 44 typhoid deaths per 100,000 for the three previous years will be slightly exceeded in 1906. The experts have faith in the usefulness of a filtration system, but their continuous tendency to attribute the prevalence of typhoid to insanitary conditions not related to the water supply goes to show that government by commission, even in its practical results, may have its full share of imperfections.

There is a good deal of force in the contention that the prevalence of typhoid, is not entirely due to the impurity of water supply. Popular neglect of sanitary conditions must accept a very large share of responsibility. In the Examiner of Friday an instance was quoted where infant mortality in Huddersfield, England, was greatly reduced, because, in the hope of earning a money prize, mothers, by greater care and greater attention to sanitary matters, prolonged the lives of their infants. If, in, say, Peterborough, the people gave strict attention to the provision of the best possible sanitary conditions in relation to premises and person, what little impurity there might by chance be in the city water might be neutralized. The apparent failure of the Washington filtration plant to effect the expected reduction in the city's typhoid record, might not apply to a similar plant installed in Peterborough. The pollution of the Potomac River, from which Washington draws its water supply, must be intense. The river drains a thickly populated area, covering the oldest settlement on this continent, with scores of towns and villages situated on its banks, and the possibilities of pollution from the presence of population are infinitely greater than can be the case with Peterborough's water supply, drawn from a comparatively unoccupied watershed. A filtering plant which might work effectively with slightly polluted water might easily fail to eliminate the impurities of a source of supply like that of Washington, polluted to so high a point that while the great bulk of malignant germs might be removed, enough would be left to work in co-operation with neglect on the part of the people of the laws of health, the evil represented by typhoid production. Thus water so highly polluted as that of the Potomac, under filtration, might easily be more polluted than that of Peterborough would be at its worst. If we cannot get a filtration plant in Peterborough, we can, if the people choose, have what is equally effective, a more thorough system of city sanitation, greater attention to cleanliness of premises and homes, and more rational modes of living.

COST OF LIVING

Some journals are discussing the increased cost of living, and attribute it to the prevailing prosperity. This, it is argued, permits the people as a whole, to buy the best of food and clothing, thus creating a demand, which has a bullish effect on prices of the articles of living. This may be true, but it is only part of the reason for the increased cost of living. There has been a general advance of wages in almost every, if not in every, department of production. It, then, costs more to produce the articles in common use and, as a consequence, the prices rise. This seems to be the simplest explanation, and the most reasonable one. The labourer and the artizan, all who work, get higher remuneration, but, it is doubtful if they are in a much position than they were when wages were lower, and the cost of living less. A dollar does not purchase any more now than it did when it was hard to get. Then the cost of living was less, and a dollar did more work with the cheaper material it had to work upon than it is capable of doing to-day. It is true that people with moderate incomes live much better, enjoy more luxuries than they did some years ago, but the real question is, whether they are "better off." As a rule the possession of more money tempts to larger expenditure, and it is doubtful if the average wage earner is able to, or actually does put by, for a rainy day, more than he did a few years ago. It is not the money a man makes, but the way of its expenditure — what he saves that counts in appraising prosperity.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

If there is any doubt of their being money in Ontario mines, it is dispelled. With the oraganization of thirteen new companies last week, money to the amount of nine millions, (in capital stock,) has been put into the mines of Ontario.

A farmer in Kansa shot himself, after his failure to rob a bank. Served him right. He should stick to his plough, and leave insurance presidents, bank directors, and other high financiers, a monopoly of the business of bank robbery.

There's a difference between mining and farming. Mining can be conducted in the winter, when the farmer is enjoying his dividends at the fireside. Farming has the advantage, however. Every "claim" is a pay, and the vein, with proper handling, never "peters out." We have farm "claims" that are yielding as much revenue now as they did a hundred years ago, and they have been yielding "dividends" every year.

The Board of Health and the Board of Trade may exercise themselves over the quality of our city water, but we haven't come to the state of Toronto, where the people have to boil the sewage out of the city water, before it is safe to use. Any one who has ever seen Toronto Bay pea soup water can form some idea of what city water is in Toronto, when a break in the intake pipe crossing the bay lets in this dilute sewage.

St. Andrew's Society, Montreal, has sent the following under the above title to the St. Andrew's Society, Peterborough:—

Now, when the Autumn's sheaves are gone,
And Winter rules the plain,
Comes good Saint Andrew to his own
In radiant guise again,

And brightening at his genial smile,
His children far and near,
Forget their cares and toils awhile
To list his words of cheer.

"All Hail!" he cries "my kindly clime
Right well it pleases me
That ye may bonison invoke
Upon your revelry.

Leal Scots, at home or overseas
Where'er your gatherings be Long may you meet on nights like these
In memory of me;

And may each wandering child of mine
Whate'er be his lot
This night in bonds fraternal join
Some kind-ed-hearted Scot,—

To con the homeland's memories o'er
Her legends and her song
To name with pride the great of yore
Who died to make her strong:

To praise her glories—moor and ben,
The magic of her streams,
The witching beauty of the glen
That thrills us in our dreams.

Then might ye see eye cling to eye,
And hand warm-clasping hand,
And gain an insight to his joy
Who loves his native land.

And should some poor down-trodden wight
Across your pathway come
Now pressed, and weary of the fight
And far from friends and home,—

Him hearten well with word and deed,
And bid him share your glee,
And help him in his hour of need
For love of Christ and Me.

Have You Read "The Doctor"?

—Ralph Connors' new book "The Doctor" is a book worthy of the perusal of all classes. It is extremely interesting and has the fine Connor wholesomeness and pathos of the author's previous works. Copies of the book may be obtained at Stratton's Bookstore. The opening chapters deal with boyhood days on an Ontario farm and the life in the homestead is painted in life-like colours. Margaret Lane, a fine heartsome girl, cherishes deep affection for Barney Boyle. But Barney's love goes to Iola Lane, an imaginative, fascinating girl of vacillating temperament who comes to teach at the school in the settlement. Meanwhile, Dick Boyle is torn by his affection for Margaret. The scene then shifts to Toronto, where the brothers attend college. Barney studying medicine and Dick theology, and where Margaret becomes a nurse and Iola follows her ambition to become a great singer. Finally, after years spent in "love's tangled ways," during which time the brothers have become estranged, the thread of the narrative is taken up in the shadow of the Rockies. "The Doctor" passes through some stirring adventures in the mining country, and the story moves on to a conclusion that is logical, but which to the average reader will be unexpected. The Peterborough Bookstore is well supplied with the book.

We must have another carload of Feathers at once. Last call and the highest cash price ever paid in this city. Renovating done also.

Leading Slowly to Paralysis
BE EARLY DETECTED AND CURE BROUGHT ABOUT BY USING
Dr. Chase's Nerve Food

It is customary to consider paralysis, insanity and other diseases of the nerves as afflictions which come upon a person without warning and which are, therefore, unavoidable.

As a matter of fact such results are preceded by months, if not years, of symptoms which point to an exhausted condition of the nervous system. These symptoms are such, however, that many pass them by as not being of serious concern and thinking that they will wear away of themselves.

Sleeplessness, nervous headaches, indigestion, bodily weakness, fainting spells, twitching of the nerves, inability to concentrate the thoughts and loss of memory are among the most common indications of a run-down nervous system. It is sometimes only a step from such symptoms to prostration, paralysis, locomotor ataxia or insanity.

Stimulants and narcotics, though sometimes affording temporary relief, only hasten the exhaustion of the nerves Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, on the other hand, reconstructs and restores the wasted and depleted nerve cells.

Naturally, gradually and certainly this great medicine instils into the blood and the nervous system the life-sustaining principles which replenish the nerve force in the body and so effect lasting benefit.

Miss Emma Scott, Athens, Ont., writes. "Dr. Chase's Nerve Food has done me a world of good. I was troubled with fainting spells, bodily weakness and spent restless, sleepless nights. I frequently had cramps in the stomach and would at times become entirely insensible, not knowing what was going on until others told me afterwards.

"I doctored with several doctors and they told me I was threatened with paralysis. They gave me relief, but could not cure me. After suffering for three years I began the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and it has done me more good than all the medicines I ever used."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. 4

The New York Stock Market

(Furnished by J. R. Heintz & Co.)

New York, Dec. 3. — Developments over Sunday were favourable to improvement in the stock market. This took place along specialty lines, but gradually broadened as the day went on. The information obtainable showed increased activity of a conservative kind among the big people. C.P.R. made a new high record price, advancing 2 1-2 points at the opening, and touching 186 1-4. Copper was again heavily bought at advancing prices, while Smelting, C. & O., N. Y. C., St. Paul and the Steels scored nice advances.

Money on call was firm, loaning at 25 per cent. just before the close, but this had no effect on prices, apparently. London was reported a buyer in this market, and bearish professionals were caught with the goods on the short side and forced to cover. The market closed firm.

WHAT about that "just-as-good" soap? It is just as good as "SURPRISE" Soap as long as it stays right on the dealer's shelf. When you get it into the water and begin work with it—it's different.

"SURPRISE" Soap is the pure, hard soap that does the most of the best work in the least time with the smallest effort.

It is the highest grade laundry soap, but sells at the price of common soap.

The red and yellow wrappers and the name "SURPRISE" on the soap itself will keep you from making a mistake.

In Harvest time the farmer gathers the fruits of his labours and lays by a portion for the winter—the time when all is going out and nothing coming in. This suggests the opportunity to all wage-earners and others of taking advantage of their "harvest time" (that is their earning period) to lay by a portion of their income for "life's winter" when the earning power ceases and expenses continue.

GOLF AND COUNTRY CLUB'S ANNUAL MEETING

Were Able to Declare a Dividend of Five Per Cent. to Shareholders

A NEW DIRECTORATE WAS ELECTED

The annual meeting of the shareholders and members of the Peterborough Golf and Country Club was held on Saturday night in the Montreal Bank Chambers with the president, Mr. Hazen Ritchie, in the chair. There was a large representation of shareholders and members present.

The past season has been a most sucessful one financially and otherwise. The financial statement presented by Mr. W. R. Morris, was very satisfactory and a dividend of five per cent. was awarded to the shareholders.

New Directorate

The election of directors resulted in the following being chosen for next season:—Messrs. E H D Hall, P Campbell, Robt. Neill, T F Matthews, and W R Bradburn. The directors will hold a meeting this week to elect the new president.

The meeting decided to engage the services of a competent professional for the whole of next season and will advertise for one.

There will be another meeting of the club early in the spring for the purpose of electing the different committees.

HOW THE MAN WAS ALMOST CONQUERED BY THE COW

Or One Load is Easier to Carry Than Two

With a double load weighing him down combined with the force of gravitation, a Saturday night pedestrian found the George street pavement much too narrow for a comfortable journey. The labours of the week had finished, the shekels had been received, but before going home he had imbibed a little too much of the "life saving fluid." With a quarter of beef on his shoulder and a dinner pail in one hand, he began his northward trip. His course was, to put it mildly, an erratic one, and several plate windows and electric light posts had most narrow escapes from injury.

Just above Brock street the pavement gradually diminished in width in his estimation and he quickly found himself off the road and under the quarter of beef which held him fast. A good Samaritan took the burden from his back and helped him to his feet. The pail was mended but he was forced to continue his journey minus the lid.

At Murray street he was again conquered by the weighty burden, but like King Bruce of old, he did not give up and after several attempts he managed to reach his happy home in safety.

The reporter was not present at reception so that the degree of its cordiality is left to the reader's imagination.

A PETERBOROUGH BOY IN COBALT THE WONDER

Mr. Arthur Graham Has Been Visiting His Father in This City

Mr. Arthur Graham, son of Mr. Geo. N. Graham, of the Oriental, has been spending a few days at his home here. Mr. Graham is a resident of Cobalt just now, where he is representing a well known brokerage firm. He states that Cobalt is still a wonderful place, although the first mad rush is over. There are all classes and nationalities represented there, although Canadians and Americans predominate. Some of the richest claims are held by people from across the line. The amount of silver being taken out of Cobalt, according to Mr. Graham, is amazing, especially that from the famous Lawson vein.

Mr. Graham left the city on the 5.10 C.P.R. train for Cobalt.

During the next few weeks 80,000 brick from the yards of the Peterborough Sandstone Brick Company, will be shipped to Hastings for the Radiator Company, this brick being used in the construction of the new works which the company will erect in that town.

The concrete foundation for this work is well under way and work on the building proper will be commenced in the near future, and the building will be pushed as rapidly as possible.

As soon as the building is covered in the machinery will be installed, and work on manufacturing will be commenced in a comparatively short time.

WEDDING BELLS

FITZGERALD--HANNAH

A pretty wedding was solemnized at the residence of Mr. William Hannah, of Manvers township, this afternoon at 2.30 o'clock, which is of much interest to Peterborough people. It was the occasion of the marriage of his daughter, Miss Winnifred, to Mr. Percy Fitzgerald, son of Mr. G. W. Fitzgerald, of London street. The ceremony was performed in the presence of a number of friends of the bride and groom by Rev. H. C. Alywin, of Bethany.

Mr. and Mrs. Fitzgerald leave this evening for a honeymoon trip to Toronto, Niagara Falls, and other western points, and on their return will reside temporarily at 174 London street.

WILSON--SMITH

The Oshawa Reformer last week had the following reference to the wedding of a young man, a former resident of this city:—In the presence of about thirty guests, including relatives and a few friends at the home of the bride's parents, the marriage was solemnized of Miss Eleanor (Nellie) Smith, eldest daughter of Mr. L. C. Smith, B.A., Principal of Oshawa High School, to Dr. Cameron Wilson, of Norwood, Ont. The officiating clergymen were Rev. J. P. Wilson, father of the groom, of Belleville, and Rev. Dr. Shorey, of this town. The bride was unattended and wore a pretty cream colienne gown over cream silk trimmed with Venetian point and a bridal veil of embroidered tulle. Her travelling costume was velvet cloth, Bordeaux shade, trimmed with black braid with touches of pale blue and hat to match. Dr. and Mrs. Wilson will reside at Norwood.

SULLIVAN SULLIVAN

A very pretty wedding took place at St. Paul's church, Toronto, on Tuesday morning, November 13th, when Miss Mary Sullivan was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. Joseph Sullivan. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Hann, in the presence of a number of invited guests.

The bride was attired in a pretty gown of white silk, and wore a bridal veil, and wreath. She was attended by Miss Olive Sullivan of Peterborough, sister of the groom.

The bride carried a pretty bouquet of white roses, and the bridesmaid a bouquet of pink roses. The groom was assisted by Mr. Edward David, of Toronto.

After the ceremony the wedding party drove to the bride's sister's on Sydenham street, where they partook of a dainty wedding breakfast. In the evening a reception was held when the guests enjoyed dancing, and other amusements. About twenty couples were present.

The many beautiful and costly presents which were received showed the high esteem in which both were held. The wedding party was made up of guests from Hamilton, Lindsay, Peterborough and Toronto.

The groom's gift to the bride was a set of sable furs; to the bridesmaid a pearl crescent pin, and to the groomsman a diamond stick pin. The happy couple will reside in Toronto.

COUNTY COURT HELD A SPECIAL SESSION

To Take Evidence in Interesting Case of Fairbairn and Quinn—History of Case

A special session of the County Court was held on Saturday, to take the evidence in the case of Fairbairn vs. Quinn, the history of which is as follows:—

In September, 1905, the Sheriff seized the crops and chattels on the Arch. Quinn farm, under an execution issued several years ago in the case of Fairbairn vs. Quinn. Mrs. Quinn claimed the property seized, and the court directed this trial to settle the question of who owned the property seized. This took place at the Court House on Saturday at a special sitting of the Court and owing to the number of witnesses examined, the whole day was occupied hearing the evidence, at the conclusion of which the court adjourned, the judge stating he would, on a later day, give judgment, after hearing the argument of counsel for the different parties.

The counsel engaged in the case were, Mr. A. P. Poussette, K.C., and Mr. Geo. Edmison, K.C., for Mr. Fairbairn, while Mr. S. T. Medd acted in behalf of Mrs. Quinn and Mr. R. Duff.

BUSINESS OTHER PLACES CAUSES DELAY

Steam Heating Company's Engineer Will Not be Here for Several Weeks

Mr. A. H. Brintnell, of the District Steam Heating Company, is authority for the statement that their engineer has not yet surveyed the city for the purpose of making a report as to the cost of installation of their plant here, which delay has been caused by the extra rush of business in other cities, which had a previous claim. As a result of this their engineer will not be able to get here for a few weeks.

They have closed a $2,000,000 contract with the city of Buffalo, and a number of other large contracts are under consideration. Only four cities in Ontario will be taken up next season by the company. However, if a franchise is given in Peterborough before next spring they will be able to instal a plant.

CELEBRATION OF ST. ANDREW'S DAY AT ST. JOHN'S

Interesting Address by Mr. Joseph Cleal, a Prominent Member of Brotherhood

MANY MEN WERE PRESENT AT SERVICE

Mr. Joseph P. Cleal, a prominent member of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew, of the United States, who lately came to Toronto, delivered the address at St. John's Church on the occasion of the annual meeting for men in connection with the celebration of St. Andrew's Day. A very large number of men were present, through the efforts of St. John's Chapter No. 6, who distributed cards of invitation all over the city, and they are to be complimented on their efforts during the past year in the bringing out of men to all the services.

Mr. Cleal spoke from the example of Christ Jesus. He said, in substance: "There was a man who had a message, and, like all men with a message, he was worth listening to and watching. God did not intend that man should not deliver his message easily, and he will receive opposition in the delivering of his message, and if he is not a coward and afraid to deliver his message—and Canada needs such men—if he has the backbone to come forward and deliver his message, he will succeed. In your life and in mine, these obstacles are placed, and God intends that our lives will divide and turn to something else other than what you and I are doing now. It is these obstacles and problems that have come into our lives. It was just one of these problems which made Abraham Lincoln and the Rt. Hon. the late Sir John Macdonald. I am here to speak to you about some of these problems. One of them is, 'What are you going to do with the Man, Christ Jesus?' It would not take me long to tell what kind of worship you have here. I have been told that the composition of the Chapter of St. John's consists of the working men. What are you lawyers, doctors and business men going to do with this Man Jesus? If you love your fellow man and humanity you will work for them. If you don't work for them you must hate them. When you ask men to come and worship with you, they will tell you that "We are too busy. You don't expect me to go and hear your old and ancient philosophy.' What are you going to do with the church of ours?' asked the speaker. 'Are you making your church stand for all she should in this world of ours?' The church is not only a Sunday club. She is expected to give her testimony every day, and twice a day throughout the whole year."

Referring to the parable of the talents, the speaker said: "That meant that every one of the Church of England men have some talent, and must use it." He advised them to be manly in their Christianity and follow the Man, Christ Jesus. He stands for the Church of England, and she for the Man Christ Jesus. They must not, however, despise the other Christian bodies, for Christ would not do so.

Mr. Cleal compared the administration of affairs in the colonial administration of the colonies in the United States and England. He said the United States had not had the control of the Philippines and of the West Indies one year before dishonesty was discovered and prosecuted, and that England has never had that experience in her colonial administration. He continued, 'Gladstone has said that England's schools had enough honest boys to govern the world. Give the dishonest man a dose of good, righteous common sense and public opinion — you cannot get a godly public opinion outside of the church." He said that if the manufacturers would only apply the spirit of Jesus Christ to their dealings with the industrial problem there never would be any need of labour unions. "I don't care what you make or manufacture in your town, if you don't make good, manly, Christian Canadians, you are not doing your duty. You cannot throw off your responsibility upon the shoulders of your rector, or upon the Y. M. C. A. That duty is yours the duty of the man sent from God, and every one of you men are responsible," said Mr. Cleal in conclusion.

FIRST REAL TOUCH OF WINTER IS HERE NOW

Sleighing To-day as Result of Two Inches of Snow which Fell During Yesterday—The Prospects for Colder

COLD SNAP FOR A FEW DAYS YET

During the last few days the weather conditions have been quite wintry like. On Saturday night the cold was severe, caused, however, rather by the gale of wind blowing than by the low temperature, although the thermometer was within 5 or 6 from zero. Sunday morning we had the lowest reading this winter, viz., 4 degrees above zero. This morning it was 15 degrees above, and at noon 10 above —getting colder, and perhaps Jack Frost will take a shy at zero tonight. Dawson City records 40 below zero for yesterday morning.

The first real snow of the winter was in evidence yesterday, when about two inches of the beautiful fell, and this morning there were a number of sleighs and cutters on the street. The sleighing, however, was not good, and unless some more snow falls in the near future the wheels will soon have to be used again.

At this date last year there was no snow, and the zero weather did not come until about the middle of the month, although there had been skating for a week or so previously.

It is considered probable that the present cold snap will continue for a few days at least, and until after the middle of the week it would not be considered wisdom to take a long journey without being prepared for cold weather.

WHAT DID THE CHICKENS COST THE PURCHASER?

An Interesting Question Propounded by a Man Who Bought Chickens at a Farm Sale

A local gentleman has propounded a question in mathematics, for the solution of which he is searching. Here it is, perhaps some reader of the Examiner would like to try to solve it :—At a farm sale a man was to buy a certain number of chickens, for which he was pay the average price received for three lots, as follows :—27 at 35 cents each ; 18 at 32 cents and 28 at 37 cents. The question is, what was the average price. It looks easy, but is it?

NEARLY A THOUSAND LOCKAGES IN 1906

Statement of Traffic Through Peterborough Lock During Season Just Closed—Lift Lock Opening Affected Traffic Below City

870 STEAMERS THROUGH THE LOCK

Almost one thousand lockages were made through the Peterborough Lock this season, which is an increase of 33 over the number in 1905. A comparison of the volume of traffic during the last five years shows a slight decrease, but this is accounted for by the fact that some few years ago more steamers were running on the route below the city, and that the opening of the Lift Lock took considerable of the traffic which formerly went down the river. The steamer Sovereign has been taken off the route altogether, as well as the City of Peterborough.

Lockmaster William Collins of the Peterborough Lock, has handed into the office of the Superintendent of the Canal the following statistics :

Lockages 1906

COUNTRY VISITOR GOT DRUNK AND DISORDERLY

Police Officers Gave Him Lodging at the Station

P. C. Adams and P. C. Meharry had a lively chase after a rural visitor in the city to-day, who believed he owned George street and who had a particularly keen appetite for "soraping." He appeared to mysteriously disappear whenever the officers got on the scent but finally they corelled him. He was taken to the police station on a carter's truck, as a substitute for a patrol wagon, and he now occupies the front room there.

His name is unknown to the police.

The sermon was preached from Luke 13:26, "Who then can be Saved" and was purely a Gospel effort. The invitation of the preacher was such that none should leave the church without knowing how they may be saved.

SETTLES THE STRIKE; MINES TO OPEN

Lethbridge Mines Are Open to Non-Union Men.

WENT TO INDIANAPOLIS

Premier Scott and Mr. L. Mackenzie King Evidently Felt It Was Not a Time to Stand on Ceremony—Equal Treatment Clause Had to Be Modified, But President J. Mitchell Was Reasonable.

Winnipeg, Dec. 3.—Word comes from Indianapolis of the settlement of the strike at Lethbridge coal mines, and the people of Saskatchewan will now secure a considerable measure of relief from the distressing coal famine. It was a rather extreme move from some points of view for a Deputy Minister of the Dominion Government and the Premier of the great Province of Saskatchewan to travel a couple of thousand miles to confer with an American workingman as to the reopening of a Canadian coal mine, but reflection will show the moment was not opportune for hesitation or for any course not likely to secure immediate success. A provisional basis of settlement was reached on Monday last. The coal company had conceded an increase in wages amounting to practically an extra ten per cent. all round. Definite recognition of the union was absolutely refused, but the management unbent so far as to discuss terms for a basis of settlement with the representatives of the United Mine Workers of America not in the employment of the company, which was taken by the men as a moral recognition at least.

The management was anxious to include in the basis of the agreement a clause precluding, under the penalty of dismissal, discrimination of any kind as between union and non union miners, insisting on this both for the protection of a large number of non-union employes now in the mine—nearly 250—and for the protection also, they contended, of the union miners themselves, who will be in a minority for some time after returning to work. The men objected vehemently to the wording of the clause, and Mr. Mackenzie King drafted a substitute clause, declaring while the company did not object to the men belonging to any labor organization, they wished that all employes, whether members of such organization or not, should be on an equal footing in the service of the company. Managing Director Nanton, who was unable to participate actively in the negotiations because of detention at Ottawa, owing to the illness of his mother, objected to the substitute clause. The remainder of the terms were accepted by representatives of the men, subject to approval by President Mitchell.

Visit to Indianapolis.

It was accordingly arranged that Mr. Sharpe, a member of the International Board, who had come to Lethbridge especially to represent Mr. Mitchell, and Mr. Sherman, President of the District Union, should proceed to Indianapolis to present the situation to Mr. Mitchell. Deputy Minister King accompanied them, and the party was joined at Moose Jaw by Premier Scott, who, no doubt, felt that the necessities of his Province did not permit of his standing on ceremony. It was represented to Mr. Nanton by wire that the situation practically turned on the acceptance by the company of the substitute clause, and his acceptance of this finally was wired to Indianapolis, with the result that a settlement was effected, and Mr. Sherman, District President, who had called the strike on March 9 last, wired instructions to Lethbridge for a resumption of work.

Open to Non-union Men.

The effect of the settlement leaves the mines open to non-union men. No doubt whatever the conditions at Saskatchewan had a considerable effect in inducing concessions from the respective parties. General Manager Naismith stated that, with the strike ended, he can increase the output, which is now from 200 tons to 300 daily, up to 600 tons within three weeks, and the output would then gradually increase to the normal winter level of one thousand to one thousand two hundred tons daily. It had been arranged that the men should meet at Lethbridge on receipt of a wire from Indianapolis, and the striking miners will no doubt return to work on Monday morning. It must be added that one further important point secured for the men by Mr. King was the arrangement for a reference to arbitration of disputes or grievances which prove impossible of adjustment by the ordinary routine of the mine. The basis of agreement does not concede the eight-hour day.

Regina, Sask., Dec. 3.—So desperate has the fuel famine grown, and the farmers are in such terrible straits now that zero weather has set in, that at Drinkwater, Sask., on Saturday a train on the siding was held up by a band of farmers, who turned the switch and stood guard until their wagons were loaded from a car of coal bound for Weyburn.

Many of these farmers were burning lumber from their buildings for fuel. Farmers living thirty and forty miles from town often remain through four days to obtain a supply of coal and then return home with a few hundred pounds. At many points on the arrival of a car there are sixty and seventy teams awaiting their supply.

Coal Strike Ends.

The following telegram has been received by Commissioner of Agriculture Hon. W. R. Motherwell:

"Lethbridge strike ended, and am assured that men will resume work on Monday.

"I am convinced the men yielded beyond what they would yield, except for consideration for the suffering of Saskatchewan people. Walter Scott."

A TRICK VALISE DID THE TRICK

Clever Thieves Bamboozle a Sovereign Bank Official.

QUICK CHANGE GETS $1,500

Accountant of the Bank at Tilbury, Carrying Valise With Money on the Train, Was Asked to Give Parcel to Agent at Fletcher by One Robber While Another Substituted Satchels—Cry Raised.

Tilbury, Dec. 3.—By a clever rose early Saturday morning two crooks from Detroit robbed P. L. McArthur of the local branch of the Sovereign Bank of the sum of $1,500.

An armed posse is in pursuit of the robbers and it is likely that they will be caught.

The Sovereign Bank was to have opened a branch bank at Fletcher, west of Tilbury, on the M.C.R., and Mr. McArthur had notes and money which were to have been used for the first day's business.

Mr. McArthur prepared his valise and left it in the vault of the local branch.

Mr. McArthur went into the smoking car of the M.C.R. train, carrying with him the valise which contained the money.

The Robbers' Ruse.

The train had gone along a mile or so from Tilbury when one of the crooks, believed to have been Quinn of Detroit, came to the door of the car, and, holding out a paper parcel, called out to McArthur, "Here, will you please give this package to the agent at Fletcher?" McArthur did not understand the request at first and made no response.

"Here, I mean you. Give this package to the agent at Fletcher, will you?" the man called out again.

Mr. McArthur did not suspect anything, and went to the front of the car, thinking that he was doing a favor for one of the railroad men.

As he left his seat and advanced to the door the other man of the pair is supposed to have come up from behind and taken the valise containing the money and substituted another, which was the exact counterpart of the one which was stolen.

Valise Substituted.

At any rate, both men went out of the car and left Mr. McArthur with the substituted valise, which he supposed to be his own.

It was not until he had arrived at Fletcher and opened his valise that he discovered that it was not his, and that the money had been stolen.

The alarm was given immediately and with the two detectives from Detroit called into service and the chief of police of Tilbury, Mr. McArthur organized a search and commenced the chase after the robbers.

The conductor of the train notified them that the two men carrying the valise had left the train at Buxton, where trace of them was lost.

The posse proceeded to Buxton, and have begun operations from that point.

Among the contents of the valise were six money orders for $50 each, numbers 5,817, 5,818, 5,819, 5,830, 5,831, 5,832; three branch drafts, numbers 149,713, 149,714, 149,715; four New York drafts, numbers 7,708, 7,709, 7,710, 7,711. All were signed by Mr. J. I. Hill, and were made out in favor of P. T. McArthur.

Non-Union Men Still Working.

Hamilton, Dec. 3.—The street cars are doing a rushing business, although things have not been adjusted to the entire satisfaction of the men. There are some non-union men on the cars yet. The soldiers have not been recalled yet.

CASE AGAINST MR. HAYS.

General Manager of the G.T.R. Held For Breach of Two-Cent Fare and Third-Class Carriage Act.

Toronto, Dec. 3.—Having heard the evidence put in by Mr. J. Walter Curry, K.C., acting for the Crown, on Saturday Magistrate Denison considered the case of the complainant proved, and confirmed his convictions against Charles M. Hays, general manager for the company, on having violated sec. 3, chap. 37, of 16 Victoria, in having omitted "to do that which said section required to be done, to wit, to carry third-class passengers for the fare or charge of one penny for each mile traveled, and to provide that at least one train having in it third-class carriages, shall run every day throughout the length of the line, contrary to the provisions of sec. 138 of the criminal code," and the stated case will now be submitted to the High Court to determine the magistrate's jurisdiction as to the right to impose sentence, the same to be deferred until the stated case is returned.

A Citizen's Rights.

The principle which governs the prosecution is that in the enforcement of a public right, and one in which the whole people are concerned, it is within the province of any citizen, whether he desires to travel or not, and even if he individually has received no injury thereby, to come to the criminal court and ask that "justice be done in the premises," if a charter or section of a charter is being violated to the injury of the public at large and the development of the country. On the other hand, the line of defence adopted by Mr. Hays' counsel is, that by legislation known as the Special Railway Act, the Grand Trunk Co. can not be compelled to have anything beyond a minimum and maximum tariff, and are not obliged to have third-class carriages.

Provides For Fine.

This act, quoted by Mr. Nesbitt, at first hearing of the case, and on which they rely, provides damages only—not less than $10 nor greater than $5,000, for individuals claiming injuries sustained through the omission or negligence of the company's officials or employes.

Face Loss of $1,600,000.

Toronto, Dec. 3.—Alleging that certain rumors which reflected on the title of the Nipissing Mine were responsible for distrust on their part, the Guggenheims of New York City on Saturday declined to meet the second payment of $2,600,000 on the option they held on 400,000 shares. In doing this, it was announced, they stood prepared to face losses to participants amounting to over $1,500,000. This action and excuse on the part of the New York mine capitalists seems, however, to be taken with a grain of salt.

COBALT INVESTMENT

GRASP THE IMMEDIATE IMPORTANCE OF THIS, THEN ACT AT ONCE . . .

Of course, no one can blame you, if you have been thinking that INVESTMENT IN STOCKS of Cobalt mining properties, actually producing, is the whole or the only phase of the matter. You didn't know that there is a NEWER, SAFER AND BETTER PAYING PLAN. That's where we can put you right!

Look at it in this way: Practically only parts of TWO townships of the past mining lands in Cobalt and New Ontario have been explored for the remarkable results you hear of every day. And you know the stock markets are wild over the price of shares in the already discovered mines and prospects.

What is bound to happen, then—if an Incorporated Company of experienced mining engineers, developers and prospectors combine their money and methods for in the AS YET unexamined and untested districts of the same vast area, about and beyond?

Isn't it true that still RICHER properties lie undiscovered in the great mining lands? We invite YOU to come into that unprospected Country with us—

Junior Teams are Eager to Enter the City League

HAMILTON TIGERS WON CANADIAN HONOURS

Defeated McGill Easily on Saturday by 29 Points to 3

As was expected, the terrible Tigers of Hamilton, defeated McGill on Saturday afternoon in Montreal, in the final game for the Canadian rugby honours. A decisive victory was expected but fans hardly looked for such a top-heavy score as 29-3. The victory gives the Tigers the undisputed championship of the Canadian Rugby Union. They are without doubt, one of the greatest teams that Canada has ever produced and have gone through four seasons without a defeat. Now they cap the climax by defeating the two best teams of the other leagues. Hats off to the Tigers. They have shown that there are rugby players in Ontario, a fact which eastern critics were unwilling to concede until this.

HASTINGS NOW HAS CO-BALT ORE

Much Activity Ruported in Mining Circles in that County—Lead, Iron and Copper Mines Busy

Belleville, Dec. 1.—Thirty years ago cobalt was found within half a mile of Mado village, on Mr. Thomas Cross' property. The value of the mineral was not then as great as it now is, and nothing was done towards developing the vein. There are indications, however, that in the near future development work will be commenced.

A large amount of coal has been shipped to the lead mine near Millbridge, which will soon go into operation.

The iron deposit at L'Amable has been tested by the diamond drill to a depth of 150 feet in solid ore. Shipment on a large scale will be commenced at an early day.

Reports of a most favourable character continue to come from the Eldorado copper mine.

Some fine specimens of cobalt have been received from the far northern townships.

Alleged Mistake in Evening Contemporary Corrected

The Examiner has received the following letter from Mr. George Andreanopolis, local manager for Messrs. Demetrie Bros., at the corner of George and Charlotte streets:—

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—In the Peterborough Review of Saturday last, appeared a statement that is false and calculated to injure our business. The Review said that two Chinamen from Toronto are buying out, and going to open up a business in the Greeks' Restaurant on Monday or Tuesday.

Now, I cannot think this injurious statement was made maliciously, and as it is calculated to hurt our business I would like you to deny this report most emphatically. As far as I know, we are not thinking of selling out to Chinamen or anyone else.

INSPECTING SMITH'S DAIRY FARMS

Mr. T. Cullen, Sanitary Inspector, Making His Rounds This Week and Finds Them in Good Condition

Mr. T. Cullen, the sanitary inspector of the township of Smith, is this week making an inspection of the farm premises of dairymen living in that township and delivering milk in the city. After he has inspected the conditions under which the milk sold in the city is produced, he will make his report to the Board of Health and the licenses will then be issued if the report is satisfactory. There are about ten or eleven milk dairymen delivering milk in Peterborough and living in Smith, but about twenty premises will be inspected, because of the fact that the dairymen at this time of the year buy considerable milk from other farmers, whose premisee, as well as those of the ones delivering it have to pass inspection, before a license will be granted.

Mr. J. H. Garbutt, who has been accompanying Mr. Cullen on part of his inspection, states that as a general rule the dairies in Smith are well kept, and he does not anticipate any trouble in securing licenses.

Mr. H. A. Moore, the general manager of the Dominion Construction and Engineering Co., of Montreal, arrived in the city to-day at noon. It is understood he is here in the interests of the company in connection with the recent change in the personnel of the officials on the local work at the C. G. E. Works.

Altogether, there have been about half a hundred men, including foremen, who have disconnected themselves with the company.

STARTED A ROW IN GEORGE ST. RESTAURANT

Police Were Called In But Parsicipants Escaped

The police had occasion to visit the King Edward Restaurant on George street this afternoon, on account of a disturbance which took place there. Two men who went in to have dinner got into a fight across the table, and managed to break some dishes. The police were telephoned for, but the two suspended their pugilistic operations and made good their escape.

NEW TEACHERS AT THE CONSERVATORY HERE

Miss Newman, of Toronto, and Miss Reesor, Have Joined the Staff

Two new teachers have been added to the staff of the Peterborough Conservatory of Music, and they will commence their duties at once. Miss Lora Newman, of Toronto, has joined the staff as piano teacher, and, commencing next week will spend two days each week in Peterborough. Miss Newman is a pupil of the world renowned Leschetizky, who trained Paderewski and many other well known artists in America.

The Toronto press speaks in the highest terms of the work of Miss Newman, the Globe paying her the following compliment:—

Miss Newman's execution, phrasing and interpretation, were a revelation to the audience, who hardly anticipated from such a petite little lady the rendering which she gave of the various numbers.

Miss Carrie Reesor, late of Markham, and the young lady who was last week appointed soloist of the George street Methodist choir, has also associated herself with the Conservatory in the vocal department, and will accept pupils.

MILK BY-LAW CAME INTO FORCE SATURDAY

Premises of Vendors Are Now Being Inspected

The milk by-law came into force on Saturday and all milk vendors are supposed to have licenses. They are being given a little grace while their premises are being inspected. Before they are guaranteed a license they must present a certificate from the Board of Health in the municipality in which they reside to the effect that their premises are in sanitary condition. The first person to get out a license was Mr. Jas. Lillico, of North Monaghan.

SIN, DISEASE, ERROR, ARE UNREAL

And Have No Abiding Place, According to Teaching of Christian Science

At the First Church of Christ Scientist, 378 Aylmer street, the subject yesterday was "God, the Only Cause and Creator." The sermon consisted of references from the Bible, and the text book of Christian Science, "Science and Health, With Key to the Scriptures," by Rev. Mrs. Mary B. G. Eddy. The references seemed to show clearly that God, being the only Cause and Creator, sin, disease and error of all kinds were unreal, had no abiding place, and could be overcome by man through the spirit and power of this only Cause. And man, being the image and likeness, the outcome, or expression, of this only Cause, was, is and ever shall be perfect.

Wm. J. Todd, the second reader, sang a solo with good effect, entitled "Holy Saviour, Lord and King," words by M. Clarke, music by Julian Croger. Mr. Todd gives promise of making his mark yet as a singer. Those who listened to and beheld him yesterday, the rosy, robust appearance, and remembered that about a year and a half ago he was thought by many who saw him to be rapidly dying with decline and inflammatory rheumatism, must admit that Christian Science had proven, in his case, that God is the only Cause, that disease is an illusion, to be overcome not submitted to, and that man has dominoin over the flesh.

SUFFERED EIGHT YEARS FROM KIDNEYS

Doctor's said Female Trouble.

Mrs. Charles Lewis, Collingwood, Ont., writes: "For eight years I suffered from Kidney Complaint, and until twelve months ago doctors' said I was suffering from 'Female Trouble.' Last November (1905), I was seriously ill, resulting I believe from kidney troubles. Finding doctor's medicine doing me no good I persuaded my husband to purchase me a box of Doan's Kidney Pills, after having read of a case somewhat resembling mine. I commenced taking them according to directions (not taking the doctor's medicine), and on second day a swelling commenced in my feet, legs and body. The following day I was so changed and swollen my husband, in alarm, hastened to Mr. Johnsen's drug store, who told him to tell me he thought the pills were drawing something out of the blood, and to keep on taking them. I did so and after taking them a week, the swelling disappeared leaving me with a complexion free from pimples, tired, weary feeling gone, constipation, from which I suffered for years, gone, pain in the back, gone, and a general feeling of joy and light heart frees, I have not felt since a child, took place in me.

My sister-in-law (Mrs. Bryan), seeing the action of Doan's Kidney Pills, and the change for good they accomplished in me, sent for a box and they completely cured her. When there is an opportunity of telling people what Doan's Kidney Pills did for us, we always take advantage of it, and tell them to give them a fair trial."

Doan's Kidney Pills are 50c. per box or 3 boxes for $1.25, for sale at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The Doan Kidney Pill Co., Toronto, Ont.

THE PARAPHERNALIA OF THE DEVIL A HINDRANCE

To Many Who Wish to Enter the Kingdom of Heaven, Says Mrs. Steuernagel

ADDRESS AT THE BETHANY TABERNACLE

"O, come, sinner, come,
Salvation's free for all,
It may be the last time
You'll ever hear the call."

This was the refrain of a beautiful solo rendered by Mrs. Steuernagle at the commencement of her address to the congregation at Bethany Tabernacle last night. The theme of the verses was that sinners should come to Jesus at once for they knew not when they might be called away and be lost without the pardoning grace. There were a large number in attendance and the talented speaker's address made a deep impression. Mrs. Steuernagle is a lady who has had much experience in evangelistic work and is a most gifted speaker. She has the power of presenting the word of God in a manner that moves the heart of the unsaved and causes the sinner to repent and seek salvation. This was amply evidenced last night when several of those present decided to live the better life and the circumstances surrounding their profession were such as to leave no doubt as to their sincerity.

The Subject

Mrs. Steuernagle's remarks were based on the 23rd verse of the 13th chap. of St. Luke: "Then said one unto Him, Lord are there few that be saved? And He said unto them: Strive to enter in at the strait gate, for many, I say to you, will seek to enter in and shall not be able."

Jesus, the speaker remarked, had been saying some wonderful things to the little crowd gathered around Him at the time He uttered the words of the text. Their hearts made tender by the message one of them had asked the question, would there be many saved, for they considered that it there was any person qualified to answer this question Jesus was the one. That was a question that Jesus had never answered. "Let the wheat and the tares grow together." He once had said, "lest in pulling up the tares you pull up the wheat also." The message of Jesus Christ to the little band gathered about Him was to strive to enter in by the strait gate etc it was too late, for "when once the Master of the house is risen up and hath shut the door, and ye begin to stand without, and to knock at the door saying, Lord, Lord open unto us, and He shall answer and say unto you: I know you not, whence you are."

An Important Matter

This question of eternal salvation said the speaker, was one that was not given consideration enough. Indeed it was one that had far too small a place in the affairs of man at the present day. It was the great question to be considered, then why not give it more attention. A person seeking eternal life should be earnest, eager, yes, agonized, about the matter. Salvation could not be had if the question was not viewed with this spirit. Too many people were afraid of what the world would say about them. "Never mind whether there is going to be a crowd in Heaven or not" said Mrs. Steuernagel, "that question doesn't concern you at all."

The Door Too Narrow

There are many people, she continued, who wouldn't get into the kingdom, although they wanted to, "they can't get in because they are not willing to pay the price. They can't get through the door with all the paraphernalia of the devil they want to take with them. They have some seemingly sweet sin that they want to hang to, not knowing that it is working towards their ruin. There are lots of women who would like to get in the kingdom if they could take their dancing, their card playing and their theatre going along with them. There are plenty of men who would like to be on the Lord's side if they could still have some of their secret sins and some questionable methods in their business life. You can't do it, however. There's got to be a clean sweep and you've got to renounce the devil and his methods forever."

"The soul is never at rest that is not at peace with God," continued the speaker. "It is like the wild, troubled waves of the ocean. One must know God before they realize the joy of the Christian life. It is not a casual introduction either. You must know Him better than that."

He Is Calling

In closing, Mrs. Steuernagle gave a stirring word picture of Christ knocking at the heart of every sinner and asking to be let in. The door must be opened from the inside, however. The person to be saved must give himself or herself wholly to Jesus. The speaker made her address exceedingly interesting by telling of incidents that had occurred during her evangelistic work. Some of them were very touching and were most effective in bringing out many strong points in favour of the better life and the acceptance of Christ.

Several were converted at the close of the service, in a most touching manner, one young lady bursting into tears and sobbing convulsively.

Pastor and Mrs. Steuernagle are meeting with much success in their work in Peterborough.

GOVERNMENT DREDGE CEASES WORK

(Examiner Special)

Young's Point, Dec. 3rd. — Navigation closed here on Wednesday last, when the steamer Stoney Lake returned from Lakefield with an empty scow, and tied up here for the winter. The Majestic was taken out of the water on Friday, the 29th ult.

The Government dredge which was in operation above the locks here, is tied up until the spring, and the men have all returned to their respective homes.

We are informed that the Government is about to put a gang of men at work tearing down the wooden dock between the locks and Mr. P. P. Young's house. It is stated that there will be a cement pier instead of the old wooden dock.

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Lundy, who have been stopping at the Lakeview House since last August, leave on Friday for St. Augustine, Florida, where they will remain until next May. They will be greatly missed at the Lakeview.

Mr. George Ayotte is taking out wood, logs, etc., for the Messrs. Reid and Young on their lot north of here.

We are pleased to hear that Mrs. F. Battersby, who has been ill in the Nicholls Hospital, is recovering, and will soon be home again.

Mr. J. C. Brown, Public school inspector, paid us a visit one day last week. The trustees were present while Mr. Brown examined the children, and were well satisfied with the progress Mr. Smith, the teacher, is making with the pupils.

Mr. Patrick Sullivan, lock master, at No. 3, below Lakefield, is at the Point for the winter.

Mr. F. G. Young of the Stoney Lake, is going next week to scale logs, and measure wood, etc., for the Rathbun Co.

Quite a number of the boys are going to the lumbering camps next week, which will leave the village almost deserted.

Mr. T. Crowley of Peterborough, paid us a visit on Thursday. He was looking for lots with wood on.

Mrs. J. E. Kearney of the Lakeview House, who has been very ill the last few days, is able to be around again.

A meeting of the patrons of the cheese factory was held here one day last week. There was not much business to be transacted excepted to pay off the balance due the patrons, which was done by the salesman, Mr. Walter Young. Mr. Andrew Wilson the cheese maker, had a successful season, and expects to build an addition to the factory next spring for a cool curing room.

LIBERALISM IN THEOLOGY AND ITS DANGER

As Well as Gains were Discussed at Meeting of the Ministerial Association Held This Morning

REGRETS DEPARTURE OF REV. F. J. SCOTT

The regular monthly meeting of the Ministerial Association was held this morning in the Y.M.C.A. with Rev. Canon Davidson in the chair.

Rev. Dr. Torrance was asked to prepare a paper for the January meeting.

The hospital and home visitation was arranged as follows:—

Dec. 3—5— Rev. A. Bright.
Dec. 10—12—Rev. H. M. Manning.
Dec. 17—19—Rev. Canon Davidson.
Dec. 24—26—Rev. Dr. Crothers.
Dec. 31—Rev. J. G. Lewis.

A most interesting address was given by Rev. F. J. Scott, on the "Gains and Dangers of Liberalism in Theology." He showed how development in theology was essential to progress in the individual life and in the church. The danger lies in the partially informed too hastily taking up and promulgating new views. Light from all quarters streams upon us to-day, by which we may better understand the mind of God as revealed in His word.

The address proved most thought-provoking, all taking part in a most interesting discussion. Warm words of appreciation were spoken in reference to Rev. Mr. Scott's work in the Association, and regret was expressed at his approaching departure. Rev. J. G. Potter and Rev. J. G. Lewis were appointed to draw up a resolution in reference thereto.

A committee consisting of Rev. Canon Davidson, Rev. Dr. Crothers and Rev. J. G. Lewis, were appointed to arrange for meetings during week of prayer.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

THE SCARLET MYSTERIES

The Scarlet Mysteries gave two performances at the Grand on Saturday and the programmes were among the most delightful heard for a long time in the city. Unfortunately the audiences at least in size, did not equal the merits of the entertainments, but they made up in enthusiasm what they lacked in numbers.

The success of Friday night was repeated on Saturday, and every number was encored. The singing of Mysteries one and two, the two encores, and of the quintette, were perhaps the most enjoyable features of the programme. Mystery No. 7, the art humourist, did a clever act with the colours, starting out to draw a wall paper design, which turned out to be a landscape, and then in thirty seconds was converted into a marine scene.

SACRED CONCERT

Last night at 8.30, the Mysteries finished their engagement here with a sacred concert in the opera house, which was well attended. The singing was magnificent, a large number of beautiful sacred numbers were given, and solos, duets and quartettes made up a most enjoyable programme. The numbers were rendered magnificently and with true devotional spirit. If any further proof was needed that the talented English company were on a higher plane than other such organizations which have been heard in this city it was furnished by the grand concert of last night. With no idea of a pun, the Scarlet Mysteries are wonderful.

Mr. G. L. Stephenson of Peterborough, says: "For over ten years I suffered constantly with Piles, first itching, then Bleeding; pain almost unbearable; life a burden. Tried everything in vain till I used Dr. Leonhardt's Hem-Roid.

"I had taken but a few boxes when I began to notice an improvement. I decided to keep on, and now after using three boxes I am completely cured. My general health has also greatly improved. It gives me great pleasure to recommend Hem-Roid to all sufferers with Piles, and I am convinced that what it has done for me it will surely do for them."

THE BEAVER COLONY AT WARSAW YET

The Animals Are Now Building a Dam at Foot of Quarry Lake

Despite the rumours circulating to the contrary, the Warsaw beavers are still engaged in erecting their winter home, at the foot of Quarry Lake.

Mr. Charles James of Warsaw, was in the city on Saturday, and stated to an Examiner representative that he had visited the scenes of their labours the other day and saw various signs of their work.

The beavers, he states are now building a dam across the creek to raise the water in front of their home and many more trees have been cut down for this purpose.

The Warsaw villagers are trying to preserve their colony, which has distinguished their settlement by its presence and are keeping a vigilant watch to prevent any meddlers from disturbing them.

SOME NEW LIGHT ON THE CRIMEAN WAR DISCUSSION

A Telegraph Operator Adds Some Interesting Information to the Controversy

Dear Sir,—The Crimean War ended in the latter part of 1855. I was a clerk in the telegraph office on the "Hard" at Portsea, where the wounded soldiers were landed and carried on stretchers through the streets to the military hospital at Landport. The crippled vessels that stormed Sebastopol were towed up Portsmouth Harbour amid the cheers of the people. I joined the British Navy myself the year afterwards.

Yours truly,

Street Inspection

The Board of Works report contained a recommendation to the effect that Alexander Fitzgerald be appointed Street Inspector at a salary of $700 per year.

Ald. Ball objected to the appointment of Mr. Fitzgerald on the ground that he thought the matter should be taken up by the new council. He moved that this section of the report should be referred back to the Board of Works.

Ald. Hicks said that with an ordinary winter there was no doubt that Mr. Fitzgerald's services would be required.

Ald. Ball asked how many were needed to look after the snowploughing.

Ald. Duncan seconded Ald. Ball's amendment, which was lost on a vote and the report was adopted.

Cedar Street Sewer

Ex-Ald. Crowe and Mr. Geo. Lang waited on the council in connection with the Cedar street sewer.

Mr. Crowe said that the citizens of that neighbourhood thought it was not fair to have the sewer filled in when only half done. 240 feet more would give Mr. Lang sewer connections. There was no reason why the work should not be finished this year.

Ald. Hicks explained that Mr. Sheehy had quit work early in November. The Board had asked Mr. Sheehy to go on and had the City Engineer inquire into the conditions. Mr. Sheehy had stated that he could go on. The question was whether the council would go ahead and do the work and charge it to Mr. Sheehy or try to compel Mr. Sheehy to do the work.

On motion of Ald. McWilliams, seconded by Ald. Ball, the matter was referred to the Board of Works with power to act.

Dr. Morrison, on behalf of the Board of Education requested the Council to have their by-law submitted at the January elections and assured the council that the Board was unanimously in favour of having it submitted at that time.

Bylaws Passed

On motion of Ald. McWilliams a by-law to aid the Peterborough Rapid Tool Co., Limited, was given first and second readings.

Ald. Wilson moved, seconded by Ald. McIntyre, that a by-law providing for the borrowing of $21,000 for Collegiate Institute purposes be given its first and second readings.—Carried.

Ald. McWilliams moved, seconded by Ald. Adams, that a by-law be passed sanctioning a roadway through the Burnham property in East City, owned by Mr. C. B. McAllister.—Carried.

Ald. Duncan moved, seconded by Ald. Ball, that a by-law be passed providing for the appointing of polling officers.—Carried.

On motion of Ald. Hicks, seconded by Ald. Mason, a by-law providing for the borrowing of $13,900 for reconstructing and repairing bridges in the City of Peterborough, was given its first and second readings.

Ald. Hicks moved, seconded by Ald. Elliott that a by-law be passed providing for the borrowing of $8,000 for drainage purposes in Wards 3, 4 and 5 and that all future payments made under by-law 680, shall be paid by general tax, be given its first and second readings.—Carried.

Clerk's Salary Raised

It was moved by Ald. Mason, seconded by Ald. Hicks that a by-law be passed fixing the salary of S. R. Armstrong, City Clerk, at $2,000.—Carried.

Ald. Hicks moved, seconded by Ald. Mason that a by-law providing for the borrowing of $1,500 for the construction of a main sewer along the right of way of the Grand Trunk Railway between Smith and Aylmer streets.—Carried.

On motion of Ald. Hicks seconded by Ald. Mason, that a by-law be passed, appointing Mr. Alex. Fitzgerald, as Street Inspector for the City of Peterborough.—Carried.

Ald. Hicks moved, seconded by Ald. Mason, that a by-law be passed providing for the execution of contracts for snowploughing for the winter of 1906-07.—Carried.

On motion of Ald. Duncan, seconded by Ald. Ball, it was decided to have the arc lamp on Dalhousie street at the creek, be moved to the corner of George and Dalhousie streets and that an arc lamp be placed on Dalhousie street between George and Aylmer streets.

House of Refuge

Mr. Garbutt's report of the Committee on House of Refuge was of more than usual interest and is as follows:—

Gentlemen,—Your committee appointed at a special session of this Council held on February 10th, 1906, begs leave to make the following report.

We have proceeded with the work in the following manner:—

1.—Up to the present Ten meetings have been called by the Chairman, nine of which are on record in the County Office and will be printed in the regular minutes under the head of "Special Committees."

Three of these meetings were held during the sessions of the Council, thereby incurring no additional expense to the County.

If it is your pleasure I will ask the Clerk to read the minutes of those meetings.

The meeting held for the purpose of laying out the building is not recorded.

As you are aware the farm was duly purchased by the Council, and the Warden and myself have carried out your acceptance of Mr. Preston's offer, and have had, through your Solicitor, proper title of the property conveyed to the County, at the same time making satisfactory arrangements with regard to renting the farm for the present year.

The proceedings of your committee up to so far as the whole committee have been concerned, have been very harmonious and co-operative.

The work allotted to minor committees such as grading, etc., have been attended to as far as possible. The completion of the building is looked forward to in the present year.

Messrs. Menogue, Webster and myself were appointed a sub-committee to look after the procuring of light; the cost of poles and wires, etc., but have not been able to make any report further than the Companies controlling the power in the Village have not given us any figures on the matter yet. We fully intend to push the matter as speedily as possible.

2.—At the different meetings held at the House and at the County Office, namely, May 7, Sept. 7, Sept. 15, Oct. 19, Oct. 27 and Nov. 26, along with the meetings held during session namely, April 16, May 7, and Sept. 22, your Committee went into matters with a view to carrying into effect the completion of the building in the best interests of the County and to have the building completed and ready for the new Council to carry into effect the intention for which it was built. Building material being hard to get and skilled labour scarce, together with some more unforeseen difficulties, an extension of time was granted the contractors.

We have been enabled by the council the proceeds of

Debenture sale	$10,214 00
Government grant at comple-	4,000 00
Contracts let, Rapids McPherson, heating, plumbing and wiring	$18,093 00 3,901 00
Paid to Rapids	$10,396 50
Paid to McPherson	4,350 00
Still due Rapids	7,696 50
Still due McPherson	1,351 00
Paid to date outside contracts	2,713 96
Sundries passed by council still due	11 40
Still due on farm	5,000 00

4.—Your committee further recommends that the draft by-law submitted herewith for the management of the House of Refuge be accepted and passed by the council.

Respectfully submitted.

H. GARBUTT,
Chairman.

County Council Chamber, Peterborough, 1st December, 1906.

Mr. Garbutt amended, verbally, his report in the clause referring to the lighting of the new building to the effect that since the preparation of the report he had communicated with Mr. Kelly, of the Lakefield Electric Light Company who had offered to supply power for lighting the building at $135 per year, the county, however, to be at the expense of the construction of the pole line.

The report was adopted.

THE ORATORY OF THE LATE WM. GLADSTONE

Mr. Gladstone's greatest oratorical qualification was his exquisite voice. It was singularly pure, clear, resonant and sweet. The orator never seemed to use the slightest effort or strain in filling any hall and reaching the ear of the farthest among the audience.

Somebody once said that Gladstone was the only man in the house who could talk in italics. Gladstone could by the slightest modulation of his voice give all the emphasis of italics, of small print, of large print, or any other effect he might desire, to his spoken words.

In passages of indignant remonstrance or denunciation, when word followed word, and stroke come down upon stroke, with a wealth of resource that seemed inexhaustible, the very fluency and variety of the speaker overwhelmed his audience.

He was always terribly in earnest. Whether his subject was great or small, he threw his whole soul into it. Once, in addressing a school-boy gathering, he told his young listeners that if a boy ran he ought always to run as fast as he could, if he jumped he ought always to jump as far as he could. He illustrated the maxim in his own career.

Did he regard parliamentary speaking as a mere instrument of parliamentary business and debate, then unquestionably Mr. Gladstone is not only the greatest, but by far the greatest English orator of our time; for he had a richer combination of gifts than any other man we can remember, and he could use them oftenest with effect.—Justin McCarthy.

Useful Christmas Gifts Made by Deft Fingers

THE woman who depends upon her own skillful fingers to meet the Christmas demands that may be made upon her will do well to copy some of the very attractive cushions here described.

A HANGING PINCUSHION.

First there is the porcupine pincushion, which is easily made and generally admired. The vandyked pattern is worked in two pretty colors of single Berlin wool or filoselle on a piece of rather fine canvas five inches long by seven inches wide. A little bag is made of ordinary cotton material like a bolster and stuffed with bran. This is covered with the worked canvas, the "join" being hidden by sewing over it a piece of narrow ribbon one and a half yards long. Ends are tied together to form a hanging loop, as shown in illustration. Little bows of ribbon are sewed at each end of the bolster to make a neat finish. Pins are stuck in at every point of the vandykes, the heads protruding about half an inch.

Dutch Cushion.

Very quaint and unusual is the Dutch pincushion, copied exactly from one used in the land of dikes and windmills. This pretty article stands about six inches high, although it may be made of any size. The framework is formed of eight pieces of cardboard, covered with silk and neatly sewed together in hourglass shape. Another section of silk covered cardboard is sewed at the bottom, and the case is filled with bran or cotton batting tightly packed. A bran stuffed cushion is deftly fitted into the top, and the whole is finished down the seams with fine cord. A waistband, as it were, is put around the center of the cushion. Old fashioned blue and white checkerboard silk is the quaintest material to use, with the top cushion of a harmonizing blue velvet.

Pretty New Opera Bag.

There is a new idea in an opera bag that is not at all difficult of construction, and, if there are any handsome or dainty bits of silk or ribbon on hand, it will cost next to nothing. The very best foundation would be the stiff covers and back of an old book—just removing the leaves. Both covers and back on one side should be neatly covered with handsome ribbon or brocade. This is for the outside. Inside the covers should have a pocket on each, made full and shirred at the opening. Into one goes the handkerchief. The other serves as a vanity bag. Cord or ribbon handles are now sewed on, when it is ready for the opera glasses, or, rather, the bag for them. Cut a strip of cardboard the length and width of the glasses, then sew a piece of silk all around it, forming a bag and making a heading at the top, run in draw strings and pull up to close. The bag is then set into the covers, the cardboard being firmly glued down to the back of the book, where the leaves were. Altogether it is the most convenient article of its kind that has been seen and is as dainty as possible. Soft rose pink and silver brocade or a pretty piece of pompadour ribbon for the outside and a bit of soft, glossy silk for the pockets and bag certainly suggest a thing of beauty.

Hanging Pincushion.

A clever woman has contrived a pincushion from the effective brass ornaments that often adorn cart horses' martingales and are polished and kept bright with so much pride by the teamster. This ornament fastens to a nail in the wall, and from it depends a trio of small sack shaped cushions, each of a contrasting color, with ribbons to match. These sacks are studded respectively with black, white and colored pins.

PORCUPINE PINCUSHION.

PRACTICAL GIFTS.

Dainty Trifles That Are Always Received With Pleasure.

A pretty little affair, which is a cushion and a needlecase combined, may be made from small bits of fancy silk. Cut two circular pieces of cardboard, and cover with the silk on both sides. Cut smaller pieces of white flannel, and pink or cut in small scallops round the edges. On the top of one of the pieces sew a small ball filled with anything that will allow the pins to stick in and cover with silk. Sew this down firmly.

Tape Measure.

For 10 cents one may buy a small nickel covered tape measure. This case may be covered with silk, and if plain silk is used the initials may be embroidered on one side and a spray of flowers worked upon the other. Cut a round top and bottom rather larger than the case, and turn in a narrow hem. Take a straight strip of the silk or a piece of ribbon the right width, and sew this over and over to the circular pieces until the case is nearly completed; then slip in the tape measure and close near enough to just allow the tape to run freely. A bow of ribbon may be fastened to the end of the tape with which to draw it out.

Telegraph Blank Pad.

A telegraph blank pad is a handy thing for a writing desk. Cover two pasteboards a little longer than the blanks with blue ribbon. On the upper one paste at the top a little Delft scene that shall run from edge to edge. Glue the pad of blanks to the under cover and fasten the upper cover to the under one with cords. Make a catch of a pearl button sewed to the linen of the top cover at the middle of its lower edge. Let a rubber band and loop come from the under cover.

Learn to laugh. A good laugh is better than medicine. Learn to tell a story. A well told story is as welcome as a sunbeam in a sickroom. Learn to keep your own troubles to yourself. The world is too busy to care for your ills and sorrows. Learn to do something for others. Even if you are a bedridden invalid, there is always something that you can do to make others happier, and that is the surest way to attain happiness for yourself.

Let your aim be high. Let some great object fire your whole being. Our country holds out a thousand situations which you might fill honorably. Seek to be such that the present generation and all posterity will hold you in the sweetest remembrance of doing some sunshine work

A BAD COLD SETTLED ON THE LUNGS

All the most serious affections of the throat, the lungs, and the bronchial tubes, are, in the beginning, but coughs and colds, and failure to take hold at once and get rid of them will cause many years of suffering.

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup

contains all the lung healing virtues of the pine tree and will certainly cure all coughs colds and lung troubles.

Mrs. Jas. McDowell, Langton, Ont., writes: "In November, 1905, I caught a bad cold that settled on my lungs, so I got two bottles of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, and used one and a half of them and by that time I was cured. I laid the balance of the bottle away for future use. A few days after our eight months' old baby took the whooping cough.

He was so bad we had to call the family physician, but he said he could do but little.

I commenced using the Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup and to my great satisfaction the baby was cured. I only used four 25 cent bottles; a small doctor bill.

I believe there is no other remedy for coughs, colds, etc.

Price 25 cents a bottle at all dealers.

Children Face Many Dangers

The Work and Worry and Close Confinement of Their School Days and How They Can Be Safe-guarded

To thousands of boys and girls the confinement of the schoolroom and the duties imposed by their studies are a strain, a very serious strain. Many become broken in health by this strain and are physically weakened for life.

Give your boys and girls good, healthful, pure, strengthening food and you go far toward removing all dangers.

Malta-Vita, the crisp, delicious whole wheat food, contains every food element necessary to the maintenance and upbuilding of the human body and mind—especially beneficial for children.

"Malta-Vita" is no meaningless coined word. It stands for its literal translation from the Latin and means exactly what it says, "Malt Life." The original phrase "For the blood is the life" is the starting point and final winning post of Malta-Vita, on account of its large percentage of maltose, or malt sugar, a natural sweetening agent, easily digestible and readily assimilated by the human economy, forming rich, healthy blood.

Malta-Vita is so good to eat—not at all like the tasteless variety of breakfast foods—that the whole family welcome its appearance on the table. And it's always ready to eat.

Christmas Presents Which Are Easily Made at Home

THERE are reminders all about of the near approach of Christmas, but I wonder how many women have their present list anything like filled out! Of course we all intended this year to take "time by the forelock" and failed, perhaps, as usual.

A hatpin case is a useful present for the woman who travels, as it keeps the pins together and prevents their loss—a great consideration in these days of elaborate and expensive hatpins. The case may be carried out in any material you like. Its measurement is that of the ordinary hatpin, allowing an inch for the reception of any extra long ones. The design in the cut shows the case open and closed, and as it may contain as many pins as you like your own discretion must be the guide as to its width. A ribbon strip inserted down the middle and divided into sections serves as a receptacle for the pins, which are prevented from slipping out by the flaps on the ends. The top comes down over the case when folded and is fastened with a small button and loop. The edges are bound with ribbon, silk cord or braid, according to the material used for the case. The initials of the owner and the word "Hatpins" embroidered on the front give a pretty finishing touch to a charming little gift.

Handkerchief Box.

Among the vast number of homemade presents there is none likely to be more useful than a dainty box to stand on one's dressing table in which to throw handkerchiefs and veils. Such a box requires only patience and neat fingers to be turned out very quickly. In the first place, four strips of rather substantial cardboard are cut to the size required, for the front, back and sides of the box, as well as two squares for the bottom and lid. These are then duplicated, the second set of pieces being cut a fraction larger than the first. Cover the pieces of cardboard with Louis brocaded silk—a design with a large figure placed in the center of the cover is most effective. Cover the inner pieces of cardboard with a pretty plain silk. The silk is glued to the cardboard. When thoroughly dry the two sets are fitted together back to back and slipstitched to one another, so that a neatly lined box is the result. Unless the inner strips are a little smaller than the outer ones they will not fit properly. The lid is covered first with a padding of cotton sprinkled with sachet powder.

Attractive Doilies.

Plain butcher's linen or the richer damask makes the prettiest plate doilies if a pretty scallop is worked around with mercerized or the dull finish embroidery cotton.

Get the plain damask, as good a quality as you can, and have several stamped, or make circles by drawing a pencil around a plate and apply or adjust a single scallop to it, repeating until you come out even all the way around.

Padded scallops are prettiest. If you pad with the same sort of cotton that you use for the embroidery your scallops will show off better after laundering, even if the threads separate a little in the rough handling they must necessarily receive.

A Bachelor's Pincushion.

Fill a brier or cherry wood pipe with cotton wool or bran and over this gum a little piece of velvet. Next take three yards of baby ribbon and wind it carefully round the pipestem, tying a small bow at each end. Stick some pins in the cushion part, and the result is a dainty trifle, very novel and easy to make for the bachelor's Christmas.

With rye, scotch or brandy, York Sparks adds zest and improves flavor, because no salts overload it; it does wonders in bringing out the bouquet of spirits. Ask for it at good hotels and clubs; or tell your wine merchant you want it.

USEFUL KNITTING CASE.

Christmas Novelty Any Woman Can Make—A Pretty Sofa Cushion.

A useful knitting case can be made from any pretty colored art linen cut in the shape shown in the design. The case is intended to carry on the arm. Holding the ball of wool when working and the work itself when not working, it can be hung up, looks neat and protects the work from dust. You will require some pretty design on it, which must be embroidered before making it up. Two yards of narrow ribbon bind the case, which is left open seven inches down and bound all round. The open part is shown in the design from the top to the bows, which are put on to hide where the ribbon begins and ends. These inexpensive cases may be made in other materials if linen be not liked and are welcomed as Christmas presents.

A pretty cushion is one made like a well stuffed long bag, which is a change from the usual shape. Any kind of material can be used, and the cushion itself measures about eighteen inches long by seventeen inches wide. The material, however, must be cut twenty-two inches long and twenty inches wide to allow for the frill at the top and the seams. The top must be lined for a depth of six to eight inches with satin and a running made, into which a piece of tape is inserted in order to draw up the mouth of the bag tightly, this running being hidden under a piece of narrow satin ribbon, which is passed around the neck of the bag and is tied in a dainty bow with flowing ends.

Embroidery looks very well on the front. Any conventional or heraldic design if worked well raised is most effective, and ribbon or applique work looks decorative.

DAINTY TRIFLES.

Christmas Gifts That Will Please an Elderly Person.

A new version of the old time reticule to wear at the side is a mighty nice little present for an elderly woman. Two widths of ribbon are used. Five-eighths of a yard of wide ribbon makes the foundation and two yards of one and a half inch ribbon cut up into the fringe like tabs that hang from it. Cut the narrow ribbon into sixteen pieces, an eighth of a yard in each, sew each piece into a point at one end and finish the point with beads or silk ornaments. Sew a clasp—silver if you like—to the top, which has been carefully folded in until it is only half the width of the ribbon. It is very flattering to match the ribbon with a pet gown of the prospective owner.

RIBBON POCKET.

Needlecase.

A pretty clover leaf needlebook is a little more ambitious than a Christmas card, but simple enough to pass muster as a slight remembrance. Cover two cardboards, shaped like clover leaves, with linen after they have been embroidered in delicate shades of pink in clover blossoms. Cut from fine flannel three clover leaves of graduated sizes, buttonhole them and tie them together at the upper lobes near the stem with pink ribbon bows.

Woman's Kidney Troubles

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is Especially Successful in Curing This Fatal Disease.

Mrs. J. W. Lang and Mrs. S. Frake

Of all the diseases known, with which women are afflicted, chronic kidney disease is the most fatal. In fact, unless early and correct treatment is applied, the weary patient seldom survives.

Being fully aware of this, Lydia E. Pinkham, early in her career, gave exhaustive study to the subject, and in producing her great remedy for a woman's ills—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—was careful to see that it contained the correct combination of herbs which was sure to control that fatal disease, woman's kidney troubles. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the only one especially prepared for women, and thousands have been cured of serious kidney derangements by it. Derangements of the feminine organs quickly affect the kidneys, and when a woman has such symptoms as pain or weight in the loins, backache, bearing-down pains, scalding or burning sensations or deposits in the urine, unusual thirst, swelling of hands and feet, swelling under the eyes or sharp pains in the back running through the groin, she may infer that her kidneys are affected and should lose no time in combating the disease with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, the woman's remedy for woman's ills.

The following letters show how marvelously successful it is.

Mrs. Samuel Frake, of Prospect Plains, N. J., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I cannot thank you enough for what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. When I first wrote to you I had suffered for years with what the doctor called kidney trouble and congestion of the female organs. My back ached dreadfully all the time, and I suffered so with that bearing-down feeling I could hardly walk across the room. I did not get any better, so decided to stop doctoring with my physician and take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I am thankful to say it has entirely cured me. I do all my own work, have no more backache and all bad symptoms have disappeared.

"I cannot praise your medicine enough, and would advise all women suffering with kidney trouble to try it."

Mrs. J. W. Lang, of 626 Third Avenue, New York, writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I have been a great sufferer with kidney trouble. My back ached all the time and I was discouraged. I heard that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound would cure kidney disease, and I began to take it: and it has cured me when everything else had failed. I have recommended it to lots of people and they all praise it very highly."

Mrs. Pinkham's Standing Invitation.

Women suffering from kidney trouble, or any form of female weakness are invited to promptly communicate with Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. The present Mrs. Pinkham is the daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham, her assistant before her decease, and for twenty-five years since her advice has been freely given to sick women. Out of the great volume of experience which she has to draw from, it is more than likely she has the very knowledge that will help your case. Her advice is free and always helpful.

WRECKS ON THREE LINES.

Three Women Killed and Bodies Burned on the Rutland—Two Engineers Killed in Other Two Wrecks.

Vergennes, Vt., Dec. 3.—Three passengers, all women, met death near here Saturday as the result of a wreck on the Rutland Railroad, while at least twelve other persons were seriously injured. Among those hurt were members of the Drury Opera Co. of New York, an organization of colored musicians.

A passenger train consisting of two coaches and a caboose was run into by a heavily-loaded gravel train, moving swiftly on a downgrade, and both coaches were hurled down an embankflames. The women killed were all in the front car. When the bodies were recovered they were so charred as to be almost unrecognizable. The wreckage was consumed.

Engineer Hunt attributed the accident to the failure of the brakes to hold his train.

Caused by Open Switch.

Pittsburg, Pa., Dec. 3.—The fast Chicago, Baltimore & Ohio train, No. 10, bound from Cleveland, Ohio, to New York, ran into an open switch at Gueffey coal mines, about 15 miles east of Pittsburg, Saturday night, killing the engineer, Harry Sheppard, and seriously injuring Charles Denny, the fireman, and F. S. Farmer, the baggagemaster.

Several of the passengers were slightly bruised by being thrown from their seats, but were not seriously hurt.

According to the officials of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad in this city, the wreck was caused by someone opening the switch. The train was running at a very fast speed.

Engine Upset.

Rochester, N.Y., Dec. 3.—In a rear-end collision at about 9 o'clock Saturday night, between a passenger and freight train on the Lehigh Valley Railroad, two miles west of East Rush, John Yeager, engineer, of Buffalo, was killed, and John Saunders, Buffalo, was badly scalded. Saunders also sustained compound fracture of both legs. Both were on the engine of the passenger train. When the collision occurred the engine turned over. Yeager was pinned beneath it.

That 63rd Regiment Canadian Militia Requests to Be Allied With King's Royal Rifles—Yankees In Canada Too Shrewd to Be Treacherous—Bishop Ridley and Early Christians In British Columbia.

London, Dec. 3.—(C.A.P.)—The Canadian Government's application that 150 men of the Royal Garrison Artillery be allowed to enlist in the R.C.A. has been granted.

It is understood the request that the 63rd Regiment C. M. be allied with the King's Royal Rifles has reached the King.

E. N. S., Winnipeg, writes The Mail to dispel English fears that American settlers will weaken Canadian attachment for the mother country. The American is too shrewd to dream of treachery to the land of his adoption.

Early Christians In B. C.

J. H. Turner, agent general of British Columbia, writes The Telegraph with reference to the statement alleged to have been made by Bishop Ridley of Torquay that when he arrived in British Columbia in 1879 "he did not find a single Christian." Mr. Turner says it seems impossible that the bishop could have made such a statement, as there was then a white population of 60,000, including bishops, priests and clergymen of all denominations. As to Bishop Ridley's residence in Yorkshire having fitted him for savagery in British Columbia, Mr. Turner leaves it to Yorkshiremen to reply.

The Scotsman says Canada's rush toward the front in the race of commerce and national well-being is one of the outstanding features in the history of the British Empire world, and points to the danger of British refusing to reciprocate preferential advances.

President Fingland said the team could not have been better entertained than by the Canadians, whose patriotism was unbounded. Ex-President Morrison, proposing the Canadian Bowling Association, said although the Canadians did not win many games, they won many hearts. "The Maple Leaf" was sung, and the hope expressed that the Canadians would return the visit.

Toronto, Dec. 3.—About 10.30 yesterday morning a boy named Shaw, a young lad of 10 years, who had escaped from the Boys' Home Saturday night, was found under the steps of a Berkeley street house half frozen. Detective Guthrie took him home on a shutter.

Galt, Dec. 3.—Melvin Strome's 13-year-old son ran away from Berlin and was arrested by Chief Gorman and restored to his father, who came after him Saturday night. The boy had stolen money from his home and was going into a big city to speculate. His waywardness comes of reading sensational literature.

CRIME WITH A LASSO.

Jewish Pastor Thrown From Buggy and Killed.

Regina, Sask., Dec. 3.—Wm. Barnes of Beckham is in jail here charged with the death of a Jewish rabbi by lassoing him from his buggy.

The rabbi was driving along in a buggy, when a dog belonging to Mr. Barnes, who was riding on horseback, ran after him. The rabbi lashed it with his whip. Despite Barnes' remonstrances he continued to whip the dog, when Barnes lassoed the rabbi, hauling him out of the buggy and breaking his neck, so that he died shortly after. Barnes was arrested and lodged in jail here.

Merrick (secretary), The Lowndes Clothing Co., Henry Lowndes, Charles B. Lowndes, J. M. Lowndes, and the T. EARL GREY NOT HURT.

His Excellency's Carriage Collides With a Delivery Wagon.

Toronto, Dec. 3.—His Excellency Lord Grey narrowly escaped a injury in a runaway accident on Saturday evening, when returning to Government House from making a call in the west end. His excellency was alone in a two-horse carriage owned by the Verrall Co. and driven by John Blow.

At the corner of Tecumseth and King streets a runaway horse attached to a delivery wagon owned by Robert Thompson, 628 West King street, and driven by Robert Linton, collided with his excellency's carriage. Driver Blow was thrown from his seat and his frightened team dashed east on King street. At the corner of Bathurst one of the horses fell and the other was grabbed by P. C. Childs.

Stepping from the carriage, Lord Grey immediately inquired for his driver, who had been picked up slightly injured. His excellency signified his intention of walking to Government House. Patrol Sergeant Umbach offered to escort him, but Lord Grey kindly declined.

DISASTER TO SIX INDIANS.

Were Returning From Work In the Lumber Woods.

Wiarton, Dec. 3.—Another disaster has occurred on the waters of the Georgian Bay. On Saturday afternoon six Indians of the Cape Croker reserve were drowned in McGregor Harbor almost in sight of home. These Indians, whose names were W. E. Lamorandiere, Xavier Nadjewon, Louis Johnston, Joe Martin, George Mitchell, and Louis Nadjewon, were timbering for J. P. Newman, lumberman, of this town, near Sydney Bay.

There is universal mourning on the Cape Croker reserve, as this is one of the saddest accidents in its history, and four of the men were married.

Portsmouth, Eng., Dec. 3.—An Admiralty order was received Saturday directing the trial by court-martial of Lieut. Bernard St. George Collard, to whose order, "on your knees" the recent mutinous outbreak is attributed.

It transpired at the trials of the mutinous stokers that Lieut. Collard on one occasion, in 1905, lost his temper and gave the more offensive order to a stoker of "On your knees, you dog!" The lieutenant subsequent was obliged to apologize.

CAST UP BY THE WAVES.

F. G. Bastedo, Bank Manager, Comes to an Untimely End—Worried Over His Duties.

Toronto, Dec. 3.—The body found floating in the bay at Sunnyside Saturday night was identified yesterday as that of Frederick Gordon Bastedo, manager of the Avenue road branch of the Dominion Bank.

Not In Good Health.

It is presumed that Mr. Bastedo, who was not in very good health, was subjected to needless worry in his management of the bank. Naturally anxious to make a good showing with the newly-opened branch, he was inclined to be weighed down by comparatively trivial matters. It is stated that an overdraft on the account of one of his customers, amounting to $300, proved a source of uneasiness, though there was nothing whatever in the situation to justify apprehension, since small overdrafts of the kind are of by no means uncommon occurrence, and, in this case, the account would have speedily been readjusted.

Feared Inspectoral Criticism.

Mr. Bastedo's friends believe that the notice given him by the inspector to attend a meeting at 3.30 Friday afternoon, was thought by him to imply dissatisfaction with the business methods of the Avenue road branch, and that he shrank from the possibility of being criticized. As a matter of fact the meeting called was merely the regular monthly one to take account of securities carried, and the general business of all the local branches. Suffering from ill-health, and worn down with a sense of responsibility, Mr. Bastedo was morbidly sensitive, and, ardently dreaded to face the meeting.

Widow and Three Children.

Mr. Bastedo, who was 37 years of age, was a son of John Bastedo, of the firm of Holt, Renfrew & Co. Two brothers, Melville and Henry, live in Toronto. A widow and three children also survive him.

Entering the services of the bank about 19 years ago he was shifted among a number of the outside branches for some years, but a few weeks ago he was made manager of the new Avenue road branch.

The deceased manager was highly esteemed by Dominion Bank officials, and the news of his tragic end, which became generally known to his friends yesterday, caused many expressions of surprise and regret.

Farmer's Wife Suicides

Watford, Dec. 3.—Mrs. Robert Campbell, wife of one of Warwick's best known and wealthiest farmers, took her own life early Saturday morning by cutting her throat with a knife. Mrs. Campbell, who was in her 53rd year, has been suffering with melancholia, having recently lost a daughter.

Farmer's Strange Suicide.

Regina, Sask., Dec. 3.—George Sheppard, a farmer, living 15 miles southwest of Regina, committed suicide Saturday by placing a shotgun in his mouth and sending the charge into his brain. No cause can be assigned for the deed.

Big Deal Announced.

Toronto, Dec. 3.—One of the biggest industrial enterprises in Canada has just been created. The news came out on the stock exchange Saturday that the Canadian Rubber Co., the Granby Rubber Co., and the Maple Leaf Rubber Co. had been taken over by the Canadian Consolidated Rubber Co., Limited, with a capitalization of $5,000,000 stock and $2,600,000 ten year 6 per cent. gold bonds.

Owing to the plentiful harvest of apples at Bishop's Nympton, Devon, England, farmers are feeding their cattle on the fruit.

Alice's Strategy

By EDWIN FOWLER

Copyright, 1906, by E. C. Parcells

John Garvan did not object to Tommy Tenley except as a son-in-law. Personally he liked him immensely, and it was with real regret that he refused to give his consent to Tommy's engagement to his daughter Alice.

Tommy went out of the study feeling as blue as the enamel on the automobile that panted at the curb, but Alice took a more cheerful view of the matter.

"Don't mind father," she comforted. "I've managed him ever since mother died and I'll find a way to make him behave. He didn't tell you not to come around, did he?"

"No," was the terse response. "He told me to come around all I wanted and help him keep the other fellows off. I'll do that, you bet."

"What was his reason?" she asked.

"Said I was too fond of outdoors to be a good merchant."

"Is that all?" she asked in surprise. "I thought from your face it was something serious." She patted him on the shoulder. "Now run along," she commanded. "I want to have a chat with father before he can think it over and get the idea rooted in his mind that he doesn't want you in the family."

Tenley went down the steps much comforted. Ever since they had known each other Alice had always taken the lead, and he was content to follow. He climbed into the auto and rumbled off with the comfortable feeling that all would come well.

He was not the sort of a man who is content to hold back and let a woman plan. He was willing to take the initiative when necessary, but he knew that Alice knew her father's whims better than he did, and more than once she had, with her woman's wit, accomplished more than his bulldog pertinacity would have gained.

Alice nodded wisely when he met her that evening, but he did not question her. He was confident that she had control of the situation, and as they sped along the road he waited for her to speak.

"YOU'RE JUST IN TIME!" HE CRIED.

But he was surprised when she suddenly asked him to take her father out in the automobile. One of the objections Mr. Garvan had urged was his fondness for his auto; that the old gentleman should want to ride was strange.

Alice's word was law, and the next afternoon when the blue racer drew away from in front of the Garvan house Mr. Garvan was established in the tonneau, while Alice, beside Tommy, saw that he kept down his speed. They ran decorously along for several miles until they came to the shore road, which stretched its level length for a couple of miles beside the lake.

"Want to go fast?" demanded Alice as she turned to her parent.

"Is it safe?" he demanded anxiously.

"Safe and just lovely," was the assurance. "Put on the speed, Tommy, and show papa what automobiling really means."

Tenley threw over the lever, and presently they were doing about forty miles an hour. There were no intersecting roads along the lake and no traffic, so that Tenley felt safe in letting the machine out. At the end of the stretch he slowed down and turned to see what effect the run had had on the lone passenger in the tonneau.

To his surprise he found the old man leaning forward. "Let us try it again," he urged. "It's great."

Back they flew along the broad road. Then they slowed down and headed for home. At the door Garvan turned to Tommy:

"I wish you'd drop in this evening," he said. "I want to see you about something."

Tommy nodded and drove off. A part of Alice's plot began to unfold. He guessed that the "something" was an auto, and the guess was right, for a week later a high power car found a resting place in the Garvan stables, and John Garvan devoted himself to its study. Within a month he was sufficiently expert to be able to handle the car himself.

He looked with kindlier feeling toward Tommy, who had made known to him this new delight. In his younger days he had been a horseman, and much of his objection toward Tommy had been that he had taken to the auto instead of to the trotter. Now that this objection was removed, Tommy asked for a rehearing of the case, but, to his surprise, there was the same negative.

"It's just a whim," explained Alice. "He will come around all right."

But the coming process was slow, and Tommy fretted as he followed the big red car along the roads in obedience to Alice's commands.

Then there came the hot afternoon when they made for the top of Mount Stephen. Alice with her field glass swept the country beneath for half an hour after it was time to start back home. Then, with a sigh of relief, she slipped the glasses into their case and turned to Tommy.

"Take the wood road back," she commanded, "and you do just as I say. Will you promise?"

"Don't I always?" he parried. "How would I dare do otherwise?"

She made a bow. "I thank you," she said demurely. "Now, if ever, is the time to realize that a soldier's first duty is obedience."

She smiled to herself as they began to coast slowly down the mountain, and she smiled still more when, as they struck the level ground, there came a hail.

Just ahead John Garvan was sitting on the steps of his machine, smiling hopefully at them. "You're just in time!" he cried as they drew up beside him. "I have had a breakdown and don't know just what the matter is."

"I'll have a look," offered Tommy as he prepared to rise. Alice laid a detaining hand upon his arm.

"Tommy and I have gone into business," she announced as she leaned back in her seat. "'Tenley & Garvan, Auto Repairers,' is the way our sign reads."

"I suppose I'm on the free list since I'm in the family," grinned Garvan in appreciation of the joke. "I engage you."

"There is no free list," said Alice positively. "It's pay in advance where customers are known to us."

Garvan threw his head back and roared, but he sobered a little when Tommy made no move to leave his seat.

"What is your price?" he demanded. "If it's that necklace, you may have it, only hurry up. There is a meeting of the board of governors at the club tonight."

"I know it," she said placidly. "You never can get back in time unless we fix you up."

"I know it, too," he agreed. "I don't care what the price is, only hurry. The mosquitoes are eating me up."

"Do you consent to our engagement?" she demanded.

The smile faded, and the old man's face became choleric.

"I won't be forced," he cried sullenly.

"We are not trying to force you," was the even response.

"Then go ahead," he said stormily. "I won't pay; that's all there is to it."

"We are always willing to wait on a 'prospect,'" she smiled.

For fifteen minutes they sat there, the old man fuming over the mechanism, which never had seemed so complicated, the younger people chatting and laughing quietly to themselves.

At last Garvan looked up. "See here," he said, "let's stop this foolishness."

"Do you engage us?"

"Not on those terms."

Alice drew a package of sandwiches from a basket and handed Tommy one. It served only to remind the old gentleman of his fast approaching dinner hour. He stood it ten minutes longer, then with a snort he climbed into the seat.

"Go ahead, and be hanged to you!" he shouted. "I consent."

There was a whispered conference, and Tommy climbed down. Five minutes later the red and the blue machines were slipping down the road.

On the steps Alice paused a moment over the goodby.

"The chauffeur will be over tonight for a hundred dollars," she whispered. "I promised him he should have it if he would fix the machine for the breakdown."

"And cheap at the price," declared Tommy as he took her in his arms in the friendly shadow of the vestibule.

Cucumbers Are Ancient.

Few garden plants have been known to and cultivated by man longer than the cucumber. De Candolle has proved that this plant has been in cultivation between three and four thousand years. There is no specific remedy for the striped cucumber beetle. Direct applications of poisons, such as paris green or other arsenical, will destroy the beetles when they occur in moderate numbers. A normal crop may be placed at about 200 half barrel baskets per acre, the price varying from 50 cents to as much as $2 per basket. After the fruits have been harvested and the marketing season has closed the vines should be destroyed by gathering and burning or plowing them under, so as not to harbor or breed diseases. A point which is of prime importance in the management of the cucumber patch is that none of the fruits be allowed to come to maturity. The ripening process, which means the development and maturing of the seeds, produces a heavy strain upon the growing plant.—United States Farmers' Bulletin.

CANADIAN MEMORIAL

MONUMENT TO ALEXANDER McLACHLAN, POET AND PATRIOT.

Memorial, Unveiled At Orangeville On Thanksgiving Day, 1906, Testifies Not Only to the Fame of the Deceased, But to Canadian Appreciation of Its Own Literature—Sketch of Poet's Life—The Monument.

The unveiling at Orangeville on Thanksgiving Day of a monument to the late Alexander McLachlan, the poet and patriot, marks an epoch in the appreciation of literature in this young country. The memorial, though a modest one, was erected with funds collected by public subscription.

This sturdy pioneer was born in Scotland in 1818, and from 1877 until his death in 1896 he was a resident of Orangeville or its vicinity. For twenty-five years, from 1852 to 1877, he lived on a lot of one acre of land near the village of Erin, and this was the period of his greatest production of verse. Subsequently he removed to Orangeville, where he died ten years since.

The unveiling of the monument was performed by the late poet's daughter, Miss Elizabeth McLachlan. The large attendance attested the kindly feeling of his fellow-townspeople for his memory. Dr. A. Hamilton of Toronto, who edited the poet's works, was chairman of the proceedings. The principal address of the day was by Mr. Joseph C. Clarke, B. A., Principal of the Port Elgin High School. He said in part:

"The collected works of Alexander McLachlan are indeed a treasure and a possession which the world will not willingly let die. But priceless as the treasure is, it is, as an expression of his mind and heart, but imperfect and fragmentary. Seldom, I believe, has nature sent into the world a more richly gifted poetic soul. Through untoward circumstances its expression was imperfect and incomplete. As he himself says of the old Hebrew Psalmist:

'Yet curtailed, hemmed in and hampered,
He could utter only part
Of the great God-given message
That was lying on his heart.'

Yet, imperfect and inadequate as his works are as an expression of his mind and heart, we feel as we read them that that expression was inevitable—that he was one of those whom the Ruler of the world has appointed to speak.

"I have called McLachlan the pioneer of Canadian song, and such, indeed, he was. Around those primitive scenes of Canadian life he has thrown the glory and the brightness of his own soul. Well may we apply to him the beautiful words of Carlyle on Robert Burns: 'The rough scenes of Canadian youth are not seen by him in any Arcadian allusion, but in the rude contradiction, in the smoke and soil of a too harsh reality, they are still lovely to him, the simple feelings, the worth, the nobleness that dwell under the straw roof are dear and venerable to his heart and thus over the lowest provinces of man's existence he pours the glory of his own soul, and they rise in shadow and sunshine, softened and brightened into a beauty which other eyes discern not in the highest. Wherever there was a sky above him and a world around him, whether in the remote regions of a Canadian forest, or in the swelling surges of a great city, the same mystery and wonder looked out upon him.'

'A presence fills the earth and air.
Bends o'er us when we're not aware,
And eyes look on us everywhere.'

Wherever he found man's existence with 'its infinite longings and its small acquirings,' its hopes and fears that wander through eternity,' there he found an inspiration for his song. By that song many a lonely pioneer's hearth was gladdened and elevated. What a comfort and justification for his choice the old pioneer must have felt as he recited these words:

'Oh, come to the greenwood's shade,
Away from the city's din,
From the heartless strife of trade
And the fumes of beef and gin.
To the trackless forest wild,
To the loneliest abode,
Oh, the heart is reconciled
That has felt Oppression's load.'"

The monument is a fine substantial shaft of Aberdeen granite, and bears the following inscription:

"Alexander McLachlan, Canadian patriot and poet, 1818 to 1896.
"Untutor'd child of Nature wild,
With instincts always true,
. . . thy voice did weave
Songs consecrate to Truth and Liberty."

It is said that the monument is the first erected in Canada in recognition of the life and work of one whose claims to honor rest upon his poetical and literary achievements.

Two Sides to It.

"Look at this, will you?" exclaimed the real estate and house renting optimist. "In this paper there is a record of eighty-seven marriage licenses issued yesterday."

"Well, what of it?" said his partner, the pessimist of the firm, who was leaning back in a chair with his hat pulled down over his eyes.

"What of it?" echoed the other. "Can't you see? Those eighty-seven marriage licenses mean eighty-seven marriages. The eighty-seven marriages will lead to eighty-seven inquiries for houses, flats or at least eligible apartments. It's bound to stimulate business in our line, and we'll get our share."

"That doesn't follow at all. Those eighty-seven licenses represent 174 persons, don't they?"

"Yes."

"Probably all adults?"

"Undoubtedly. What of it?"

"Nothing," growled the pessimist, "except that 174 persons who have hitherto occupied 174 apartments will hereafter occupy eighty-seven. You give me a pain. Go away."

"SAVINGS"

In Harvest time the farmer gather the fruits of his labours and lays by a portion for the winter—the time when all is going out and nothing coming in. This suggests the opportunity to all wage-earners and others of taking advantage of their "harvest time" that is their earning periods to lay by a portion of their income for "life's winter" when the earning power ceases and expenses continue.

THE CANALS POLICY WAS EXPLAINED

Sir Wilfrid Laurier Makes Some Interesting Observations.

THE LETHBRIDGE STRIKE

Mr. Lemieux Announces the Welcome Settlement—Mr. King's Trip to Indianapolis Explained—Tariff Resolutions to Be Dealt With Immediately—Printed Copies of the Measure to Be Accepted.

Ottawa, Dec. 4.—Yesterday's session of the House, in accordance with the rules, was devoted to private members, who availed themselves of the opportunity by placing nearly sixty questions and some forty motions on the order paper. In the great majority of cases the various members of the Government were prepared with the necessary information to reply to the questions, and about one-half the motions, all the members were ready to proceed with, were also disposed of.

The Lethbridge Strike.

Mr. Lemieux, just before the House adjourned, made the welcome announcement that the Lethbridge strike had been settled, and that the difficulty regarding fuel in Saskatchewan was at an end. Earlier in the afternoon, in reply to a question, he stated that Mr. Mackenzie King, Deputy Minister of Labor, had together with Premier Scott of Saskatchewan, accompanied, for the purposes of consultation and to save the delay which might be caused by correspondence, the deputation of miners who went from Lethbridge to Indianapolis to interview President John Mitchell of the United Mine Workers. Mr. King did not, however, participate in the interview with Mr. Mitchell, and had not, Mr. Lemieux added, met Mr. Mitchell.

As to the Tariff.

Mr. Fielding set at rest some misgivings which have apparently arisen in certain quarters, by informing the House that his attention had not been called to the alleged errors in the tariff, and that in the absence of information the printed copies sent out must be assumed to be correct. An informal discussion demonstrated that consideration of the details of the tariff will not be undertaken for some days, as the general principles of the tariff have first to be affirmed by a series of resolutions. Consideration of these resolutions may occupy some time, and the exact manner in which the thousand items which comprise the tariff will be dealt with in detail will be a matter for further consideration. In the meantime the members and the House will have an opportunity to study the probable effect of the various changes.

The Canal Plans.

A brief debate on a motion by Colonel Sam Hughes to open up the waters of Gull River from Coboconk northward, as a feeder to the Trent Valley Canal, elicited from the Premier expression of opinion that the Trent Valley Canal had already in its incompleted state proven to be of material advantage to the district it served, and justified the policy of constructing branches as feeders. While the Government had not sufficient information to enable them to form a conclusion upon the merits of this proposition, he suggested that Colonel Hughes' description of the district indicated it was better fitted for a forest reserve and tourist resort than for agriculture. Mr. W. H. Bennett commended the Government for the liberal appropriation made for the canal, and advocated the completion of the connection with Georgian Bay by the Severn River route, but Mr. Lennox urged the survey of the Barrie and Nottawasaga River route. Mr. Fisher's cold-storage resolution will occupy the attention of the House tomorrow.

The Speaker announced the return of the writ for Montreal, St. Mary's, and the election of Mr. J. M. Martin.

Mr. Aylesworth Answers Robitaille.

The following question stood in the name of Mr. Robitaille:

"(1) Did the Minister of Justice pronounce the following words or others to the same effect at a public meeting at Wiarton, as reported in The Toronto Globe: 'Only yesterday in the County of Quebec the fires of sectarian hatred have been lighted on the ground that Sir Wilfrid Laurier was too British for his political opponents there, and just as those in Quebec who wish his downfall are today having the victory they say they won on the plains of Quebec, those in Ontario who are exulting in the victory over Sir Wilfrid Laurier are, if they knew it, digging the very grave of British institutions in Canada'?

"(2) If so, on what ground did the Minister base his opinion?"

Mr. Aylesworth, Minister of Justice, said: "The answer to the first question is 'Yes'; to the second question, 'The course of public affairs in this country.'"

The Minister of Justice informed the House that the revised statutes were expected to come into force about the first of January, and would be available on coming into force.

Mr. Paterson informed Mr. Daniels (St. John) of the wheat exported from Canada during 1905, there was shipped from Canadian ports 21,187,886 bushels, worth $17,919,572, as against 19,909,453 bushels, worth $15,751,919 sent through United States ports in transit to other countries.

Abrogated.

In reply to a question the Postmaster-General stated that the postal convention between Canada and the United States had been abrogated so far as second-class matter is concerned. He declined to discuss, pending negotiations, as they were matters of state.

Tin Plate Deputation.

Yesterday came a large delegation to protest against the decision of the Government respecting the tin plate industry, headed by Mayor A. A. Logan of Morrisburg, G. H. Melldrum of Montreal, and A. McLeod of Morden, Wales. They were received by Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Hon. Mr Fielding. They protested that the business was doubly handicapped, for not only was no protection accorded tin plate, but a duty of $2.50 a ton was imposed upon sheet iron, their raw material.

The Northwest Census.

Ottawa, Dec. 4.—The recent census of the prairie provinces was brought down to the House yesterday afternoon by the Minister of Agriculture. It shows:

Alberta, 184,906; increase, 110,074.
Manitoba, 365,848; increase, 110,637.
Saskatchewan, 256,984; increase, 165,705.
Total, 806,928; increase, 387,416.
The cities: Winnipeg, 90,204; Calgary, 11,967; Edmonton, 11,163; Brandon, 10,411.

Premier Sympathetic.

Ottawa, Dec. 4.—A deputation from Valleyfield saw the Premier yesterday morning and asked that a portion of the waterpower available in Beauharnois Canal be set aside for municipal uses. Sir Wilfrid met his callers in a sympathetic manner.

THE RUSSIAN FAMINE.

Relief Appropriations Entirely Inadequate—Zemstvo Committee's Report.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 4.—Princes Lvoff and Orbelani, the representatives of the Moscow zemstvo famine relief organization, who have just returned from the stricken districts, have furnished the Associated Press with information showing that the crops in seven provinces, Samara, Saratov, Bembirsk, Kazan, Penza, Tambov and Ufa were practically total failures.

In twenty-one other provinces the harvests were very poor. About 20,000,000 people will need assistance for from four to ten months to stave off starvation, until the new crops are available. In some regions the inhabitants have been sufferers from starvation for ten years, passable crops having been gathered in only two out of the ten years. Prince Lvoff believes the Government estimate of $50,000,000 for famine relief is inadequate. The Moscow zemstvo relief organization calculates that $75,000,000 and possibly more will be necessary.

Though the conditions in the famine regions are now most distressing, the real horrors will begin in January. The zemstvo organization funds, $30,000 will then be exhausted and the relief committees will be compelled to cease their efforts to save the lives of the starving peasants.

Plunder Princess' Estate.

Tiflis, Transcaucasia, Dec. 4.—A band of 12 robbers Sunday attacked the estate of Princess Avalova, plundered her residence and assaulted the princess. They were captured later, and will be tried by drumhead court-martial.

UNLAWFUL CONSPIRACY.

Israel Mintz Institutes Civil As Well As Criminal Proceedings.

Toronto, Dec. 4.—Israel Mintz has begun an action against the Employers' Association of Toronto, James G. Merrick, The Lowndes Clothing Co. and the T. Eaton Co., claiming $5,000 damages for unlawful conspiracy to prevent Mintz earning his living at his trade, and for an injunction restraining each of the defendants, their workmen and agents, from persuading other persons from employing him who are willing to do so, but for the boycotting, blacklisting and interference of the defendants or some of them.

The criminal charges of conspiracy preferred against the same parties were to have been aired in police court yesterday, but owing to the absence from the city of Secretary Merrick of the Employers' Association, the hearing was adjourned until Friday.

DECISION IN A DAY.

Echoes of the Hamilton Strike—Two Committed For Trial.

Hamilton, Dec. 4.—The Ontario Railway and Municipal Board will resume arbitration proceedings in connection with the street car trouble today. The board expects to give a decision by Tuesday evening or Wednesday at the very latest, as the union and the company show signs of coming to an understanding. The soldiers will be withdrawn as soon as the award is given.

John Seamenes, a Greek candy merchant, and his piano player, J. B. Kerr, were both committed for trial yesterday morning on the charge of assaulting Sergt. Youngman and Lance-Corporal Raymond of the R.C.R. during the street car riots.

Montreal Woman Asphyxiated.

New York, Dec. 4.—Miss Catherine Core, 78 years old, who came here from Montreal several months ago was asphyxiated by gas in her room in a Third avenue lodging-house Sunday night. She was always well supplied with money.

1,700 Segars Stolen.

Hamilton, Dec. 4.—Saturday morning Tuckett's cigar factory was burglarized and 1,700 ten-cent cigars were stolen. Last evening John Kelly, widely known in the city, was arrested and charged with the theft.

If You Wore Them Last Winter This Is No News to You —

"Klingsole" Made for Men and Women

People who wore "Daisy" Rubbers last winter will wear them again this winter, even without reading our ads. For no amount of talk about "Daisy" Rubbers tells so much as a season's wear of the rubbers themselves. The good service they give under the test of every day ruff-scuff hard usage, in all kinds of bad weather,—that's what shows the honesty that backs "Our Daisy" advertising. But even that test doesn't tell why there's double wear in every pair—though it proves there is. It's a simple matter of using toughened honest rubber in the right way, in a factory that's as modern as the idea of honest quality is ancient.

You'll hardly know you've got rubbers on when you wear the Klingsole,—they are so light in weight. But they will outwear common rubbers that are twice as heavy. Klingsole Rubbers don't heat the feet; they can't slip off until you want them off—and then a touch removes them. Made in the right toe shape for the shoes you wear

GRAIN BUYERS COMBINE IS NOW ALLEGED

Grain Buyers Will Have to Answer to Bill of Complaint.

FIX DAILY PRICE OF WHEAT

President McQuaig of Manitoba Grain Growers' Association Has Lodged a Bill of Complaint Against Several Members of Winnipeg Grain Exchange — Preliminary Case to Be Heard Thursday.

Winnipeg, Dec. 4.—Sensational developments have taken place as an outgrowth of investigation of the Royal Grain Commission, and a bill of complaint has been lodged by D. W. McCuaig of Portage la Prairie, president of the Grain Growers' Association, against J. C. Gage, J. G. McHugh and John Love and other prominent grain men, alleging that the three men whose names appear in the writ, and others to be complained, unknown, did conspire, combine, agree or arrange with each other to injure commerce in relation to grain.

The preliminary case will be heard in the police court on Thursday. Yesterday the Cabinet held a special meeting and Edward Anderson and E. J. O'Connor were appointed to examine evidence submitted by Mr. McCuaig as to whether the Government was justified in prosecuting.

Evidence submitted at recent hearings of the Royal Grain Commission showed that the daily price of wheat is sent out from the grain dealers association headquarters in this city, and that rather strong efforts are used to keep the trade in all its branches to the price thus sent out.

Bavarian's Position.

Quebec, Dec. 4.—The North American Wrecking Co. have not as yet decided what disposition will be made of the steamer Bavarian, recently floated from Wye rock. Shipping men are of opinion that if the wreckers do not soon decide what they will do with the steamer she will be frozen in.

London City and Power.

London, Dec. 4.—The City Council last night unanimously adopted the bylaw to be submitted to the ratepayers in January, providing for the purchasing of 10,000 electrical horsepower from the Hydro-Electric Power Commission, at a minimum rate of $17.50, and a maximum rate of $20.50.

Injured by Falling Lumber.

Ottawa, Dec. 4.—About 2.30 p. m. yesterday, while playing tag in McAuliffe's lumber-yard, Duke street, Master Harold Arthurs of 680 Albert street was struck by falling lumber and pinned to the ground. He got a badly bruised face, a deep cut in the head, that required several stitches.

BILL NOW PASSED THE REPORT STAGE

But Lords Make No Signs of Education Bill Conciliation.

REMOVAL OF SCOTS GREYS

Plans of War Department Cause Intense Resentment in Scotland—At Great Meeting of Protest in Edinburgh, Lord Rosebery Goes So Far as to Hint at Dissolution of the Treaty of Union.

London, Dec. 4.—When the House of Lords rose past midnight this morning, after having concluded the debate on the report stage of the education bill, all hopes of a compromise appeared to be lost, and the opinion prevailed among the Opposition that the Government would drop the present bill and introduce another at the next session of Parliament.

No important concession have been made by the Opposition peers, but, on the contrary, an amendment to clause four, which provides that the local education authority "May" afford extended facilities for special religious instruction, was carried by 131 to 45 on a motion by Lord Lansdowne.

Removal of Scots Greys.

War Secretary Haldane, in pursuance of the plans for army reorganization, decided recently to remove a cavalry regiment, the Scots Greys, from Scotland.

This decision has caused the greatest resentment in Scotland, which was voiced last night at a great meeting of protest, held in Edinburgh. Lord Rosebery moved the resolution of protest in a vigorous speech. He declared there was such a thing as unwise frugality. If, for the sake of small economy, the Government was going to revive and stir up hidden forces and animosities long dormant in the Scottish nation, it would find the money badly saved.

The time might come, Lord Rosebery continued, when the Scottish nation would be compelled, if such treatment was continued, to examine more strictly into the benefits derived from the treaty of union between England and Scotland.

Topic For Colonial Conference.

London, Dec. 4.—(C. A. P.)—The Morning Post, on Mr. Fielding's tariff speech, suggests that the colonial conference might consider those foreign treaties which conflict not only with the tariff policy of Canada, but also of Australia.

Further, the Premier might usefully ascertain, as a matter of public interest, how far other Governments would be willing to increase existing preferences, supposing this country should presently decide to raise revenue by means of differential duties upon imports of agricultural produce.

AS O'BRIEN SEES IRISH BILL.

He Deems It the Duty of His Colleagues to Support It.

London, Dec. 4.—William O'Brien, member of Parliament for Cork, speaking yesterday at a Nationalist meeting at Castle Island, County Kerry, declared that there is no split or scandal between himself and his friends.

"By the silent force of public opinion," he said, "I have caused the Irish party to return to a policy of conciliation. If I knew that the present Government could carry the full Gladstonian home rule program with the present Parliament, and that it was cheating us with a contemptible makeshift I would be the first to denounce it. But I know the contrary, and John Redmond, the Irish leader, knows it also. The duty of the Irish representatives is to take counsel with the Government and make the present bill as large as possible."

Five of Family Die of Typhoid.

London, Dec. 4.—The death of Jacob W. Winkenweder occurred at Victoria Hospital about five o'clock Sunday morning, and the circumstances attending his taking off make a story of heart-rending sadness. The story tells of a family of eight, reduced inside of eight weeks by the poisoned water of a contaminated well to a broker-hearted mother and two sons.

Back to Coal Mines.

Springhill, N.S., Dec. 4.—The boys' strike in Springhill Colliery was ended last night by the unconditional surrender of the youths. The youths calmly saw coal supplies to the town vanishing, much hardship endured, and many thousands of dollars lost to breadwinners and their families. They yielded at last by pressure brought to bear by the public.

Against Automatic Promotion.

London, Dec. 4.—The report of the Army Promotion Commission appointed to investigate the subject was issued yesterday. It unreservedly commends the abolition of automatic promotion from lieutenant colonelcies and the substitution of promotion on the recommendations of a selection board.

New Battleship Begun.

Portsmouth, Eng., Dec. 4.—The keel plates of another Dreadnought were laid by Admiral Sir Archibald Douglas, the commander-in-chief at Portsmouth, yesterday morning. The new battleship will be larger and more powerful than the first Dreadnought.

Grain Steamer Ashore.

Kingston, Dec. 4.—The steamer City of New York, with 20,000 bushels of barley, from Montreal, is ashore on a mud bottom in Coteau Lake. The steamer ran aground owing to absence of lights, there in the lake having been removed. Richardsons of Kingston own the grain. It is likely the boat can be taken off without damage.

Live-Saving Stations For P.E.I.

Charlottetown, P.E.I., Dec. 4.—As the result of the many disastrous wrecks in the Gulf of St. Lawrence and Straits of Northumberland this fall the Federal Government has decided to establish life-saving stations along the Prince Edward Island coast. The majority of the stations will be located on the gulf side of the island.

INQUIRY RE. RESOLUTE.

Capt. Spain Will Deliver Judgment Sometime Next Week.

Toronto, Dec. 4.—After hearing considerable evidence as to the sinking of the Resolute, Commander Spain, Government wreck commissioner, announced that he would give judgment some time next week.

Yesterday's enquiry developed some comment as to the nature of the warning that had been given Engineer Harrison and three others of the crew, who perished, and as to why Capt. Fahey had left without them. He said he thought they had been washed away, but he had sent below and told everyone to take to the boats. It also developed that not until 20 minutes before the barge foundered were any fears felt.

Whether or not a life-saving crew at the island would have been of any assistance, was not clearly demonstrated, but the necessity of deepening the western channel was emphasized.

He touched up the Canadian commissioner for 20 francs to cable to Toronto for funds. Hutton also called on another well-known Canadian in Paris, and represented himself as a nephew of Dr. Roderick of Montreal, and that he had married a Toronto girl. Hutton asked the Canadian to cash a cheque on the Ontario Bank for $100, but the Canadian would not, not having any.

Militia to Protect Jury.

Herkimer, N. Y., Dec. 4.—Arrangements have been made to call out the Thirty-first Separate Company of the National Guard on Tuesday or whenever the jury in the case of Chester Gillette comes in with its verdict or fails to bring in a verdict. The feeling in this part of the county against Gillette is most unusual, and if the jury should disagree or bring in a verdict contrary to the desire of the people, the authorities feel that the crowd might get beyond control and do something to express their feeling against the prisoner and the jurors.

WILL INCREASE CAPITAL STOCK TO $600.000

Special Meeting of Shareholders of Otonabee Power Company Will be Held on Dec. 14th to Sanction By-Law to This Effect.

FOR ENLARGEMENTS TO CO'S PLANT

$400.000 for Improvements to Power House and Other Purposes—Important Meeting of Shareholders of Power Company.

The shareholders of the Otonabee Power Company will hold a special meeting on Friday, Dec. 14th, when a bylaw to increase the capital stock of the company from $200.000 to $600,000 will be presented to them for ratification.

This bylaw was passed by the company on Friday, Nov. 30th, but before becoming effective it has to be presented to the shareholders and receive their sanction.

For Enlargements

Four thousand new shares of stock, at par value of one hundred dollars each will be issued to provide the necessary additional stock, the proceeds from the sale of which will be used to make improvements and enlargements to the plant of the company, at the power house at No. 5 dam, reference to which has already been made in the Examiner, and which are of an extensive character.

The special meeting will be held in the offices of Messrs. Hall, Medd & Davidson, solicitors for the company, and a special report of the directors will also be presented to the shareholders at this meeting.

RECOMMENDED THAT COMMISSIONERS BE PAID

City Council Decided Upon That Step at the Meeting Held Last Night

TO RECOMMEND TOTAL SALARY OF $500

The City Council at its last regular meeting last night decided to recommend that the Water Commissioners next year should receive remuneration for their services. The salary was placed at $200 for the chairman and $150 for the other commissioners. The matter came up earlier in the year when the commissioners asked that they be paid for their services. The aldermen thought that they deserved remuneration but the majority were of the opinion that the matter should be deferred to the last meeting of the year.

Ald. Wilson introduced the matter last night and asked what was the intention of the Council.

In Favour of Salary

Ald. Ball stated that he thought the Water Commissioners should be given a salary, but that he had not supported the motion when it came up earlier in the year because he thought that the people should have an opportunity to vote upon whom they were to pay salaries. He moved, seconded by Ald. Duncan, that the Council recommend to the incoming Council that the chairman of the Water Commissioners be granted a salary of $200 and the other Commissioners $100 each, to begin January 1, 1907.

Ald. Wilson thought that the commissioner who would be retiring this season should receive some remuneration, but this was not regarded as practicable. Ald. Ball's motion carried.

Overhanging Signs

A delegation of merchants waited upon the Council in reference to the bylaw in regard to over-hanging signs. Mr. Gordon, of O'Connell & Gordon, addressed the Council in their behalf. He stated that they were new comers to the city and were not aware of the existence of the by-law, when they had put up their signs. They asked that they be allowed to maintain their signs as they were and that they be not prosecuted in the meantime.

The amtter was referred to the Board of Works and the Chief of Police will be instructed to take no action until the case has been dealt with.

BROCK STREET RINK FLOODED; RECORD OPENING OF POPULAR SKATING RINK IS PROMISED

Brock Street Rink Directors Held Meeting to Prepare for Opening of Season—Improvements Effected for Present Winter.

TICKETS TO BE ON SALE IN A FEW DAYS

If the present cold weather continues, as it gives every promise of doing for some little time, at least, it will be a matter of a few days only before the Brock street rink will be open for sakting and hockey. Already several floodings have been given the floor, and advantage will be taken of all the freezing weather to make ice, the present prospects being that the rink this year will open considerably earlier than it has for several years.

Caretaker Appointed

A meeting of the directors was held last night, when Mr. John Thirnbeck, who for the last two years has been caretaker, was re-appointed for the present season, and he will again be seen at his old post at the rink, news which will be received with pleasure by the hundreds of patrons with whom he is a general favourite.

The improvements which have been in progress for some little time are almost completed and the rink will be ready to open just as soon as the weather will permit.

Price Of Tickets

Practically the same prices will be charged for season tickets this year as in former years, one change only being made, boys under sixteen years of age paying $1.50 for a season ticket, while from 16 to 18, the price will be $2.00, and over that age the gentlemen's price will be charged, $3.00. The ladies' tickets will be the same price, $2.00. No efforts will be spared this year to contribute to the comfort of the patrons and the prospects are that te hrink will be be more popular than ever. The fact of the season opening earlier will give holders of season tickets the advantage of the longer skating period at thes ame price.

DIAMOND LODGE'S NEW OFFICERS

An Interesting Meeting Held Last Night when New Officers for the Year were Chosen

Last night the election of officers, of Diamond Lodge, L.O.L. No. 80, took place, at a meeting, which was largely attended, a number of visitors being present. Addresses were given by Messrs. J. B. McWilliams, T. A. Young, District Master, and Robert Ritchie, Dr. Marshall and Dr. Johnston, and Rev. A. H. Brace.

The officers for the coming year, elected last night, are:

W A Kindred..... W.M.
Chas Wiley..... D.M.
Rev A H Brace..... Chap.
W J E G Armstrong..... R.S.
E G Clark..... F.S.

Wm Miles..... Com
R Maxwell..... Com
John A Irvine..... Com
John Cunningham..... Conn
Dr Geo E Marshall..... Phys

The officers took their obligation and were duly installed by Bro. S. A. Young, District Master. A very interesting part of the evening's proceedings were the addresses and pledges of the newly installed officers from the official chair. Bro. George Sloan in an admirable speech moved a vote of thanks to the retiring officers, which was carried unanimously and acknowledged modestly. Many were the congratulations of the officers on the success and growth of the Lodge. The new officers enter upon their duties with very bright prospects.

THE CANADIAN GENERAL OFFICIALS HERE TO-DAY

Understood to be in the City in Connection with the Local Extension

Messrs. Frederick Nicholls, H. A. Niles, Geo. W. Watts and J. A. Bremner, of Toronto, officials in connection with the C. G. E. Works, were in the city to-day and spent most of the day at the local establishment. It is understood that these gentlemen were here in connection with the extension at the Canadian General, although not officially announced.

Twelve Below Zero Last Night

Below zero to the exent of twelve degrees, was what the thermometer registered during the night, which is the record for this season, and is much below the corresponding time last year.

The prospects are that the present cold spell will be with us for some days yet, and those who have neglected to put up their storm windows, had better get busy. We are into winter weather in earnest, as those who were out last night at midnight will not need to be told.

A general cold wave has swooped down upon Ontario from the West, and Peterborough has been caught in its grasp, although the places along the lake front have escaped comparatively lightly.

The prediction is that the present cold will continue for some days and in the meantime the hockey sticks and skates are being gotten out in readiness for use.

A CANDIDATE FOR RE-ELECTION IS MR. MOORE

Asking for Return as a Member for Second Term on Board of Water Commissioners

THINKS SHOULD HAVE ANOTHER TERM

Mr. W. H. Moore, whose term as Water Commissioner expires with the close of the year, will be a candidate for re-election, and confidently looks for the support of the electors, who, he is satisfied, are in the large majority, favourable to his election.

Mr. Moore has been a member of the Board of Commissioners for three years, and feels that he should be entitled to a second term in an office to which he has given a considerable quantity of his time and energy.

His action in securing legislation from the Ontario Legislature giving the Board of Health the authority to exercise a jurisdiction over the water supply above the waterworks dam, Mr. Moore considers in itself, sufficient justification for his re-election.

ASBESTOS CURTAIN IN OPERA HOUSE

A New and Handsome Curtain Supplied for Grand—Is Absolutely Fireproof and will Protect Patrons

Recent visitors to the Grand Opera House have expressed surprise at the new drop curtain which Manager Bradburn has had installed. It is not only a handsome curtain, but it is decidedly serviceable as well. It was placed as a means of protection to the patrons of the Opera House and is made entirely of asbestos, and is absolutely fireproof, tests having been made before it was hung.

The new curtain weighs a ton and a half, and was manufactured by the Detroit Scenery Company, of Detroit, Mich., artists belonging to which firm were here for more than a week painting and hanging it.

A number of local business firms have advertisements painted on the curtain, which is finished in attractive colours, and is a decided improvement to the appearance of the building.

Mr. Bradburn is to be complimented upon this evidence of his desire to protect the patrons of his popular play house.

Needle Ice the Cause of Trouble at the Power Houses Last Evening

First of the Winter, but Outside of Dimming of Electric Lights No Serious Inconveniences Were Experienced by Citizens

WATERWORKS DAM WAS AFFECTED TOO

Last night, for the first time this winter the power companies were troubled with needle ice at their power houses, and for some hours last evening the lights were low as a consequence of this interference with the efficiency of the service, which was through no fault of the light companies—ice is liable to cause trouble at any time, and more particularly under conditions similar to those prevailing last night.

Water Works Too

Anchor ice and needle ice are the banes of the lives of the men in charge of the power houses and their troubles are just starting for the winter. The water works power house was in the same difficulty, and during the early part of the evening the pressure was affected somewhat, but to the uninitiated no difference would be noticed.

As soon as the change in temperature came the needle ice disappeared, and this morning the power was on full as usual the water pressure at the time of the fire being quite satisfactory, according to the report.

It is not probable that there will be a repetition of the trouble tonight, unless there is another decided change in the temperature, which, however, in not anticipated.

THE BEAVER DESTROYED BY FIRE

Burned to the Water's Edge at Mr. Z. White's Landing in Lakefield Last Night

The residents of Lakefield were somewhat alarmed last night when about half past six the sky in the vicinity of the dock was brightly illuminated by a seemingly large fire. The steamer Beaver was found in a mass of flames and smoke from stem to stern. It had been securely moored for the winter on the opposite shore at Mr. Z. White's (the owner) landing. As it was built entirely of wood and being very inflammable, the fire was soon beyond all control. It was not long before the stout frame of the once speedy little vessel was enwrapped in flames which illuminated the whole neighbourhood.

The cause of the fire and its origin are not known, but it is a strange coincidence that river boats are burned almost every year at this time. The Beaver was a fast litttle boat and has seen long service on the Otonabee and Rice Lake. It has been the property of Mr. Z. White, of Lakefield since 1903, when he bought it from Mr. Harris, of Gore's Landing. Not only was it a fast passenger boat, but was also a fine tug in which capacity it has seen much service.

ROLLER RINK CLOSING FOR THE SEASON TO-NIGHT

The roller rink will be open tonight for the last time this season, and the management will take a trip to New York, Philadelphia, and other American cities for the purpose of obtaining new ideas on the most modern roller rinks in those cities.

MR. HOOKER ELECTED TO THE PRESIDENCY

At the meeting of the Young People's Society of the Murray street Baptist church last night Mr. Hooker was elected to the presidency of the Society on recommendation of the executive. Mr. Hooker will have the privilege of selecting his assistants, the names of whom will be announced in the near future.

Roller and Ice Skating Rink, A Combination Is Now The Proposal

Directors of Brock Street Rink May Place Floor in Rink Next Spring and Operate for Ice and Roller Skates

BOTH PRIVILEGES FOR THE ONE TICKET

The directors of the Brock street rink have under contemplation a proposal which should be received with great favour by the skating-loving people of Peterborough. The proposition is to lay a floor in the Brock street rink immediately after the close of the skating season and run a roller skating rink during the summer season and an ice skating rink in the winter, and tickets may be bought which will entitle the holder to both privileges.

A Welcome Arrangement

Those who have learned roller skating this fall and who have developed a love for the exercise, will appreciate this announcement, and will welcome some such arrangement which will enable them to enjoy both skating seasons for a comparatively small sum.

If the proposition meets with favour, of which there seems little doubt, work will be commenced on the wood floor as soon as possible after the ice is off in off in the spring.

EARLY MORNING FIRE DID CONSIDERABLE DAMAGE

Richard Hall and Son's Establishment Had a Very Narrow Escape

STORE ROOM AT REAR WAS GUTTED

Richard Hall and Son's big establishment had a very narrow escape from perhaps total destruction early this morning, when fire broke out in the firm's brick storehouse, immediately to the rear of the store. Fortunately, although much damage was done there, the brigade were able to prevent the flames from spreading into the store, with the result that the only damage done there was by smoke, which injured some of the fabrics.

The origin of the fire is at present unknown. It was discovered at 6 o'clock this morning, and the brigade were quickly on the scene. The flames were making considerable headway in the storehouse when they arrived, but they soon had the fire under control, and kept it from spreading further. Only a narrow passage of about six feet separates the storehouse from the main part of the establishment, so that it will be seen that the latter had a close shave, and the brigade are deserving of great credit for the way in which they handled the fire.

The damage to the storeroom, which was used for the storing of the reserve stock of the store before being opened, was heavy, but just what the loss amounted to, Mr. Dickson Hall was not prepared to state when seen by The Examiner this morning. The store is closed today awaiting insurance adjustment, and will be opened to-morrow. The fire will not interfere with the business in the main store.

The storeroom was gutted and its contents practically ruined.

M'WILLIAMS VERSUS THE DICKSON CO. CASE HEARD

Evidence Being Taken to Determine What Amount, If Any, Should be Awarded Plaintiff

Evidence is being taken before His Honour Judge Weller in the case of Theodore McWilliams versus the Dickson Company. Reference had been made to Judge Weller pursuant to the judgment of Mr. Justice Street to determine the amount, if any, that must be paid to the plaintiff for timber which he cut upon certain lands in Cavendish. Mr. R. F. McWilliams is appearing for the plaintiff, and Messrs. Roger, Bennet and Goodwill for the defendants. It is expected that the hearing of evidence will take up the rest of the week as there are a number of witnesses to be examined.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier Speaks Of Undisputed Benefits Of The Trent Waterway

Even in Its Present Uncompleted State it Has Demonstrated Its Usefulness—His Reply to Col. Sam. Hughes' Plea For Coboconk Extension.

In the House of Commons yesterday Sir Wilfrid Laurier stated that the Trent Canal, had, already in its incompleted state proven to be of material advantage to the district it served, and justified the policy of constructing branches as feeders.

Of Great Benefit

When the construction of the canal was first suggested the people had laughed at it, but the Government had come to the conclusion that it was a work which would prove of great benefit not only to the country through which it ran, but to the people as a whole.

Better For Forestry

In reply to Col. Sam Hughes' appeal for the construction of the proposed Coboconk branch of the canal, the Premier suggested that from the description given of the district it would be better suited to purposes of forestry than agriculture.

Goverment Commended

Mr. W. H. Bennett commended the Government for the liberal appropriation made for the canal, and advocated the completion of the connection with Georgian Bay by the Severn River route, but Mr. Lennox urged the survey of the Barrie and Nottawasaga River route.

Roosevelt Favours The Income Tax and Breaking Up of Too Vast Fortunes

In His Message to Congress the President Takes a Stand Favouring Inheritance Tax—Opposed to The Japanese Discrimation.

Special Wire to Heintz & Co.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 4. — The President's message to the second session of the Fifty-ninth Congress was sent to both Houses shortly after noon to-day. The message covers sixty printed pages and contains a number of startling features.

Income Tax Favoured

The President takes a stand in favour of inheritance and income taxation. He favours graduated taxation of inheritances, increasing with the size of the bequests, one purpose being to break up fortunes too vast for the good of the country.

The President thinks a constitutional income tax may be devised, but favours an amendment to the constitution if that cannot be done.

Deplores Jap. Discrimination

The President takes a stand against the California discrimination against the Japanese, and favours giving the Federal Government power to enforce treaties. The Federal Government, in the President's opinion, should take charge of marriage and divorce.

The President urges the continuation of railway legislation and packing house regulation.

MAYORALTY

In officially announcing, through an evening contemporary, his intention of not seeking election as mayor for a third term, Mayor Best has acted wisely. The mayoralty is popularly regarded as an honour which should not be monopolized. Custom accords, as the limit, two terms in the Mayor's chair, and public opinion will regard with reprobation indications of a disposition to unduly appropriate the honour, or with suspicion of possible ulterior motives, or the influence of special interests, an attempt to seek the office for a third term, except under circumstances of an extremely exceptional and important character, which do not exist at the present time. We are certainly not so poor in men of sufficient ability to efficiently look after our interests, as to be entirely dependent upon one man, however able his apologists may consider him to be. There are, perhaps, some other members of the council as well fitted by ability, energy, enterprise, public spirit, and business aptitude, to efficiently and worthily fill the Mayor's chair, and without any fear that the interests of the city will suffer under their administration of our affairs. So long as such conditions obtain, public sentiment, sanctioned by custom of fair play, is antagonistic to a monopoly of the position of Mayor.

BRITONS NEVER WILL BE SLAVES

Dr. Pyne, the gramophonic Minister of Education, will need a heart of oak to meet the rebellion against the autocratic legislation, for which his department is nominally responsible. There is trouble in Lennox county, a Conservative political preserve, over the new School Act, as it applies to rural sections. The trustees of S. S. No. 13, North Fredericksburg, Lennox county, advertised for a teacher, saying, "State salary and experience, as we do not intend to comply with the new regulations." The attention of the Education Department was called to the matter, and Minister Pyne proceeded to wield the Government club. He wrote to Inspector Burrows asking him to tell the trustees that they were liable for any expenditure not within the provisions of the Act. Further, that suspension of the certificate will be ordered if any teacher accepts a salary lower than the Act provides. "The inspector," he writes, "shall forthwith report such suspension to the Minister of Education, and the suspension shall be continued or dealt with as the Minister deems expedient." The ratepayers of S. S. No. 3, Richmond Township, in the same county, discussed the rural trustees' position, and the injustice in the way of taxes, placed upon the school supporters, and to lessen this obligation the supporters by resolution asked the trustees to close the school for three months from January 1st, 1907, and to enter an "emphatic protest to the Minister of Education for the arbitrary and unjust law he has placed upon us." There was not a dissenting voice, though all regretted to see Miss Dora Casey, the teacher, leave after eight years' service. A writer in the Napanee Beaver vigorously denounces the legislation, and inquires, "Are we a free people? This is the first step in this fair province of ours to coercion, and such law should not be allowed to deface the statutes of Ontario. Elsewhere long we will wake up and ask ourselves whether we are in this once fair province of Ontario, or in down troden Russia under the thrall of the Czar." He charges also that the law is for the rich. He also assails the new Normal School system, as the cost will cut out the poor honest, and intelligent boy or girl from entering the teaching profession. They could train at a Model schoool and then earn money for a Normal course, but now that ambition is to be cut out. Mr. Whitney promised, if given the chance, to make the educational system of Ontario, great. But these instances show that he is using it as a vehicle of petty tyranny, such as no people, not enjjoying Muscovite training, will submit to. It looks as if there was something in the onslaught of the Renfrew school inspector who cast a mild doubt upon the ability of Dr. Pyne, Minister of Education, by asserting that he was a mere gramophone to the Deputy Minister and Superintendent. Apparently the classic shades of East Toronto do not breed full planopied educational Athenae.

BIG DEAL IN RUBBER THREE COMPANIES MERGED

A Holding Company Created to Include Three of Canada's Most Prosperous Concerns—An Important Announcement

CAPITAL STOCK WILL BE $5,000,000

One of the biggest industrial enterprises in Canada has just been created.

The news came out on the Stock Exchange to-day that the Canadian Rubber Co., the Granby Rubber Co., and the Maple Leaf Rubber Co. had been taken over by the Canadian Consolidated Rubber Co., Limited, with a capitalization of $5,000,000 stock, and $2,600,000 40 year 6 per cent. gold bonds.

It is understood that Mr. S. H. C. Miner, the head of the Granby Company, will be president of the new concern, while Mr. G. W. Stephens, M.P.P., who has recently directed the Canadian Rubber Company, will be vice-president.

Big things seem to be stirring in the rubber world these days for the news of the giant Canadian deal comes on the heels of the announcement that the King of Belgium, who controls the enormous rubber areas of the Congo, has sold immense tracts there to prominent United States capitalists who are at the head of the General Rubber Goods Company of the United States.

This concern, it is understood, buys the raw material for the companies that are now under the wing of the Canadian Consolidated.

The news also came out not long ago that the Continental Rubber Co. of the United States, capital $50,000,000, is exploiting newly discovered rubber bearing areas in Mexico, while British interests are also alive to their opportunities and are sending vast amounts of capital to encourage the cultivation of rubber in India and Ceylon.

In fact, there seems to be a world-wide boom in the rubber industry, and not only in Canada, but everywhere else, the factories, owing to the many new uses to which rubber products are being put, find it difficult to keep up with the demand.

In the last few years, two years, in fact, the Canadian Rubber Co. has come along with a rush.

A few months ago the financial world was startled by the announcement that a group of progressive young men had seen the vast possibilities of the trade and had bought a controlling interest in the Canadian Rubber Co.

The business kept steadily increasing in volume, and then followed a community of interest deal by which the Canadian and Granby concerns joined hands.

A few weeks ago the campaign of conquest was still on and the progressive Maple Leaf Co., of Port Dalhousie, Ont., was brought into the fold.

The creation of a big holding company for the three concerns means the final step in a campaign that has already practically revolutionized the Canadian rubber trade.

The three concerns are showing net earnings of over $100,000 yearly and the appearance of the stock and bonds of Canadian Consolidated is awaited with no little interest by the brokers and their clients.

The financial end of the deal is being handled by the Bank of Toronto and the Royal Trust Co.

It was said to-day that Mr. D. Lorne McGibbon will be second vice-president and general manager of the Canadian Consolidated.

The American Smelting and Refining Company is erecting a model town near Trinidad, Colorado. All the buildings will be constructed entirely of concrete.

THE NIPISSING SLUMP AFFECTED COBALT STOCK

But a Sharp Rally in Mining Shares is Looked for in the Near Future—Temporary Slump Only

THE SITUATION BASED ON STATEMENT

Toronto, Dec. 3.—The debacle in Nipissing stock which started in New York last Friday and was carried on through Saturday was continued in effect again on Monday and practically controlled the situation of the whole of the market for the Cobalt mining shares.

Brokers and clients are thoroughly at sea regarding the immediate situation. The Government issued a statement this morning announcinng that there was no question of the title of the Nipissing holdings, but this was not acceptable to the New York market which is being handled by large interests, it is thought for an ulterior purpose of shaking out all the holdings possible.

One very satisfactory feature of the Toronto market was that a very small amount of stock was available on Monday's declines. Business fell off to a large degree. On the Standard Exchange there was practically nothing doing, and not a great deal more on the Toronto Stock Exchange.

Rally Looked For

Every issue was under a similar influence and quotations all round were lower than they were on Saturday. At the close of the market the general opinion was that the least sign of a favourable change would affect outside sentiment and prices would encounter a sharp rally, but when the change in sentiment will take place was the matter of the moment among brokers and their clients. The whole position at the moment is based on sentiment and not on actual values or news developments. The best brokerage houses were buyers in the market on to-day's slump and if this signifies anything it must be that the market should improve from this on.

COBOURG JAIL UNFINISHED LOCAL ONE WILL DO

For Edward Greestreet, who was Convicted in Campbellford on Charge of Stealing

Edward Greenstreet, was brought from Campbellford this morning and lodged in the Peterborough gaol. He was convicted of theft by the Magistrate in Campbellford, but owing to the building of a new gaol at Cobourg, where he should have been sent, he was brought to this city. His charge was that of stealing $52 from a trunk belonging to Fred George Howell on the premises of Robert Little, in the township of Seymour, Northumberland County. Greenstreet and Howell were employed by Mr. Little as farm hands and have been working for him for some time.

Leading Slowly to Paralysis

BE EARLY DETECTED AND CURE BROUGHT ABOUT BY USING

It is customary to consider paralysis, insanity and other diseases of the nerves as afflictions which come upon a person without warning and which are, therefore, unavoidable.

As a matter of fact such results are preceded by months, if not years, of symptoms which point to an exhausted condition of the nervous system. These symptoms are such, however, that many pass them by as not being of serious concern and thinking that they will wear away of themselves.

Sleeplessness, nervous headaches, indigestion, bodily weakness, fainting spells, twitching of the nerves, inability to concentrate the thoughts and loss of memory are among the most common indications of a run-down nervous system. It is sometimes only a step from such symptoms to prostration, paralysis, locomotor ataxia or insanity.

Stimulants and narcotics, though sometimes affording temporary relief, only hasten the exhaustion of the nerves. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, on the other hand, reconstructs and restores the wasted and depleted nerve cells.

Naturally, gradually and certainly this great medicine assists into the blood and the nervous system the life-sustaining properties which replenish the nerve force in the body and so effect lasting benefit.

Mrs. Emma Scott, Athens, Ont., writes: "Dr. Chase's Nerve Food has done me a world of good. I was troubled with fainting spells, bodily weakness and spent restless, sleepless nights. I frequently had cramps in the stomach and would at times become entirely insensible, not knowing what was going on until others told me afterwards.

"I doctored with several doctors and they told me I was troubled with paralysis. They gave me relief, but could not cure me. After suffering for three years I began the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and it has done me more good than all the medicines I ever used."

The news that Miss Carrie Reesor, the brilliant first soprano of the Methodist church choir of this place, had been called to fill the position of soloist in the George street Methodist church, Peterborough, will be heard with deep regret, because it necessitates the removal of Miss Reesor from Markham. At the same time all will be glad to know that she has secured so excellent a position as leading solist in a large Methodist church in Peterborough. It has long been recognized that Miss Reesor's singing talents fitted her to adorn a much larger sphere of service than the church here could hope to offer. Miss Reesor has a voice of unusual range, of fine expression, and a manner that pleases and appeals to the listener. She bears with her to Peterborough the very best wishes of a multitude of Markham friends, who feel every assurance that success cannot fail to be hers.—Markham Sun.

WAS COCHRANE'S DEATH ACCIDENTAL?

This is the Opinion of a Large Number Who Knew the Deceased Man

Rumour was afloat on the streets last night to the effect that the late John Cochrane did not come to his death in the Otonabee River on Saturday night voluntarily. To-day the idea rapidly gained ground that his sudden death was purely accidental, and those who believe this appear to have good foundation for so doing.

Railing is Low

The railing across the bridge is so low, they claim, that a person who made a misstep might easily fall over into the river. A strong wind blew from the northwest, which had a tendency to crowd the unfortunate man towards the railing. It is also stated that he had been drinking somewhat during the day, and with these conditions combined, it would be an easy matter for a person to topple over accidentally.

No Reason for Suicide

The fact that he was to be tried on an arson charge would not, in the opinions of all those who knew him, lead him to suicide He was a man who had been in similar positions before, and had always evidenced the least concern about them. Nor did the charge he was to have faced today appear to trouble him in the least. He had pleaded not guilty at his preliminary trial before Magistrate Edmison a week ago, and wanted the matter settled then and there, as he wanted to go north to French River.

Making Preparations

On Friday last he purchased some clothing at a local dry goods store in preparation for his northward trip, and those who came in contact with him during the week he spent here, claim that suicide was the last thing he could possibly have thought of.

However, the mystery still remains unsolved, and probably it will never be known how the unfortunate man met his death.

The New York Stock Market

(Furnished by J. R. Heintz & Co.)

New York, Dec. 4. — Irregularity characterized the market to-day. Opening prices were up all around and in the following two hours several issues scored good advances, among those being, C.P.R., Copper, Car Foundry, New York Central, Penna., and Erie. Money on call was very high, ranging from 15 to 22 per cent., and this had a rather depressing effect on values.

After the appearance of the President's message to Congress the market began to sag and lost ground slowly to the close with the exception of Sugar, which was heavily bought and closed at the high figure of the day. The market was inclined to rally in the last few minutes and closed firm.

COURAGE AND COWARDICE SUBJECT OF ADDRESS

At Interesting Meeting of Young People's Society of St. Andrew's Church

That a growing interest is being taken in the Young People's Society of St. Andrew's Church was evidenced last night by a larger attendance than on any previous night this fall.

The meeting was conducted by Mr. F. E. Kerr, who being a member of the local battalion, was chosen to deal with the subject, "Courage and Cowardice."

Mr. Kerr emphasized the fact that, from the soldier's standpoint, the greatest characteristic was that of courage. The perils and dangers in the life of the Christian caused him to be likened to a soldier, and Scripture bore this analogy out, "Endure hardness as a good soldier of Jesus Christ."

Mr. Wm. Common followed with words of counsel, and stated that in the smaller, as in the greater things in life, courage was required, and had its great influence on others. The tying of a handkerchief on the tent of Chinese Gordon, denoting his hour for prayer, implied courage and had its great influence upon all.

Rev. Mr. Potter congratulated the young people upon the large turn out, and confessed that ministers, being human, had their courage greatly strengthened by the prayers and help of the young people, and urged that in view of the many attractions during the week nights, that were no doubt legitimate and helpful to the growth of mind and body, they give the first night to the interest of Christian work. This would require courage and decision."

COLLEGE EDUCATION IS USEFUL FOR BUSINESS

Decision Reached From the Evidence Presented by Collegiate Debaters of Philomathean Society

PROFITABLE HOUR SPENT AT Y. M. C. A.

At the conclusion of the day's studies, the Philomathean Society of the Collegiate Institute met yesterday afternoon in the Y.M.C.A. lecture room, where a musical and literary programme was presented by the pupils, and an important question debated.

The debate, which was the prominent part of the programme, was upon the question, "Resolved,—That a university education unfits a person for business life." The afirmative was taken by Messrs. Frank Austin, Edward Wood and A. Brayder, and the negative by Misses M. Burnett, J. Campbell and G. Yenney, all displaying a remarkable intelligence on the subject for students so young.

Besides the debate, the following enjoyable numbers were presented, the president, Mr. Fred Brown, occupying the chair:—

Piano solo... ... ...Miss R. Fitzgerald
Reading... ... ... Miss Nesbitt
Piano solo... ... ...Miss K. Leary
Vocal solo... ... ...Miss F. Routley
Recitation... ... ...Mr. John Garvin
Critic's report... ...Dr. J. M. McCulloch

Affirmative Leader

Mr. Austin was the first speaker for the affirmative, and presented two strong arguments in favour of his case. He believed that a college education is not conducive to a command of money matters, and that the best part of the business life of a person is spent in college, where he does not get the proper material for character study, when he should be solving the practical problems which arise in the work of a business man.

Miss Burnett's Argument

The opposition leader, Miss Burnett, was next called upon, and her argument was a most impressive one. With those students who are aiming at a business life, a college education fits them for it as a training for the intellect. The courses themselves which the students receive are important in any sort of business. Patience and perseverance — most necessary requisites—are gained by a college education better than by any other method. The student also gains a certain self-assurance which is difficult to attain outside the college. Miss Burnett cited a particular instance where the college student had ten times better opportunities in business than a high school scholar.

Mr. Edward Wood

Mr. Wood argued that since a person at college is generally supplied with all the money necessary to have a good time, his business abilities are left dormant during his college course. The higher education, he considered, tends to develop the mind so that the student has a tendency to look above ordinary business.

Student Learns To Plan

Miss Yenney was the next speaker in favour of the higher education. The student there receives practice in writing, speaking and arguing. He is taught how to plan and to execute his plans, and to bear responsibilities; he learns to keep awake, and to take all advantage, and lastly to be patriotic.

Mr. Bravender

Mr. Bravender said that the college student learns to form habits which unfit him for business. The amount he spends there would give him an excellent start in business, where he could be learning practical business methods.

Miss Jean Campbell

Miss Campbell displayed a good knowledge of her subject. Young business men have a great deal of energy, she said, which could be best worked off by a college course. This higher education gave to its students who proposed following a business life, integrity, self confidence, knowledge of men, broad mindedness, a quickness for calculation, and common sense. These she carefully exemplified in her subsequent address.

After the leader of the afirmative tive made a brief reply, the judges, who were Miss Mattie Robertson, Holden Blackwell and B. L. Huston, retired, and returned with a verdict in favour of the young ladies who championed the negative argument.

HORSE FRIGHTENED BY A TRACTION ENGINE

Mr. and Mrs. Levi Payne, of Lakefield, were Driving to Peterborough When Horse Ran Away

An accident occurred on the Lakefield Road on Saturday which might have resulted very seriously to Mr. and Mrs. Levi Payne. They were driving to Peterborough in the morning when they met a traction engine which frightened their horse. It immediately made a dash to get away, but swerved to one side and swung the buggy against a post. The horse was then stopped by a man from the engine but the rig was badly damaged. An axle was broken and a wheel, while the buggy tongue was also snapped. The occupants had a miraculous escape from serious injuries at the least, and as it was they received a very severe shaking up.

BULBS EXPLODED IN MR. R. S. COTTON'S EYES

Painful Accident in C. G. E. Test Department Yesterday—Sight of One Eye May be Affected

Yesterday Mr. R. S. Cotton, of the test department of the C.G.E. met with a painful accident. He was repairing the lamp bank when two 32-candle power bulbs exploded, the glass breaking into a thousand pieces, a number of which entered Mr. Cotton's eyes. The sight of one eye has, it is feared, been affected, while both are very painful.

He was in the doctor's hands some hours before the minute pieces of glass were extracted from his eyes.

ONE INSERTION SOLD MR. DUTTON'S STOVE

Another Evidence of the Value of the Advertising Columns of the Examiner

Yesterday Mr. R. A. Dutton ordered an advertisement inserted in the Examiner offering a stove for sale. Mr. Dutton thought three insertions should be sufficient to sell the stove, but he was not optimistic enough. As a matter of fact once was enough, for early this morning he telephoned the office asking to have the advertisement taken out, and stating that he had sold the stove last night.

The moral is so plain here that emphasis is unnecessary.

MR. FRANK ADAMS IS ALDERMAN NO LONGER

Resignation was Accepted and He was Appointed City Treasurer Last Night

ALD. JOHNSTON IS NOW CHAIRMAN

Mr. Felix Brownscombe is now no longer City Treasurer, and Mr. Frank Adams has ceased to be a member of the City Council.

At last night's meeting Mr. Brownscombe's resignation was formally accepted; a letter was read from Mr. Adams, stating his resignation from the Council, and finally a bylaw was passed appointing Mr. Adams as City Treasurer.

Services Appreciated

When Mr. Brownscombe's resignation was read it was moved by Ald. Mason, seconded by Ald. Tovey, — "That this council accept the resignation of Mr. F. Brownscombe, Treasurer, to take effect on the 31st day of December, and that in doing so we desire to give expression to Mr. Brownscombe, and to place on record, our appreciation of the very efficient service he has given, during the time, eleven years, that he has held that position, and of the pleasant and courteous manner in which he has performed the duties of the office, and to express our regret that he has decided to resign." This was unanimously carried.

The City Clerk then read a communication from Ald. Adams, resigning from the council to take effect at once. The resignation was accepted on motion of Ald. Mason, seconded by Ald. Tovey.

Bouquet for Mr. Adams

I was moved by Ald. McWilliams, seconded by Ald. Elliott, "That the Council express its high appreciation of the services rendered by Mr. Frank Adams, as alderman, and as chairman of several important committee, and its regret at his resignation, and its pleasure that his services are still to be retained by the municipality." — Carried.

On Motion of Ald. Mason, seconded by Ald. Tovey, a bylaw appointing Mr. Adams as City Treasurer, was passed.

Ald. Tovey moved, seconded by Ald Mason, that Ald. Johnston take Mr. Adams' place as chairman of the Fire Water and Light Committee, for the balance of the year.—Carried.

THE LINDSAY LOCK HAD BUSY SEASON

561 Craft Passed Through This Lock During the Past Season—Other Traffic Not Accounted For

The report of the lockmaster of the Lindsay lock on the Trent Canal, has been prepared, and shows that during the season just closed 561 craft passed through the lock, although the Lindsay Post, in referring to the season's operations, says:

"The enormous extent of the traffic carried on the 8 mile channel of the Scugog River stretching between Lindsay and Sturgeon Lake, is poorly exemplified in the statistics of Lindsay lock for the season, given below, and yet it is doubtful if any lock on the Trent Canal system barring Bobcaygeon, can show a much better season's average. As our large sawmills, shingle, tie and planing mills are located some distance from the lock, no count is taken here of the thousands of cribs towed up the winding Scugog to the mills during this period of navigation."

Albert Richards Had to Cash Up for His Big Spree Yesterday Afternoon

Albert Richards, the man who was drunk on George street yesterday, and who was arrested while creating a disturbance, was the sole occupant at the prisoner's box at the police court this morning. He was fined $2 and costs, amounting to $6.50. He paid his fine and departed, remarking that this is a very "dear" town.

Fire Early This Morning

Although a great loss has occurred through this fire, we want it distinctly known that the fire did not break through into the main store, and was confined to a large general store room, receiving room for new goods, carpet making, etc., and will in no way interfere with our regular business after to-day.

STORE CLOSED TO-DAY, awaiting insurance adjustment, and will be re-opened

Wednesday, at 2 o'clock; all damaged and water-soaked goods will be placed on sale at FIRE SALE PRICES in order to clear quickly to avoid any interference with the selling of Xmas merchandise.

Store room contained cases of new goods unopened, reserve stock of house-furnishings and carpets, carpets partly made up, reserve stock of mantles, reserve of staple goods, etc., etc.

THE AMBULANCE CONTRACT NOT YET SETTLED

Matter of Dan Spence Ambulance Goes Back to the Fire, Water and Light Committee

MUCH DISCUSSION OVER THE CASE

The last regular meeting of the City Council was held last night and the now famous ambulance problem is not yet settled. For the third time it has been referred to the Fire, Water and Light Committee, after a discussion of an hour and one-half, during which many arguments were advanced by the contending parties. The report of the Fire, Water and Light Committee contained a clause to the effect that the tender of A. Comstock for the care and service of Dan Spence Ambulance be accepted, but the Council refused to pass the clause.

An amendment to substitute Mr. Belleghem's name for that of Mr. Comstock was voted down and an amendment to the amendment to the effect that the matter should be referred back to the Fire, Water and Light Committee with power to act was also declared lost. The Council was then at a deadlock until a compromise was arrived at by sending the matter back to the committee to report at the statutory meeting of the Council to be held shortly.

Mr. D. Belleghem was present, accompanied by Mr. R. E. Wood, while Mr. J. Comstock was also on hand.

After the report had been read and its adoption moved by Ald. Adams, Ald. Elliott in amendment moved, seconded by Ald. McIntyre, that clause one be amended by inserting the name of Mr. Belleghem instead of Mr. Comstock.

On motion both parties were heard.

Mr. Belleghem's Case

Mr. R. E. Wood, who appeared for Mr. Belleghem, said that he had the ambulance three years; the first year Mr. Belleghem's tender was $150, and Mr. Comstock's $300. The next year the Council had made the remuneration $200. This year Mr. Comstock had tried to get Mr. Belleghem out of the contract and had made his tender $100. Mr. Wood stated that the number of cases during the last two years had averaged 230. He called attention to the amount of work there was in connection. It was not a matter of dollars and cents, there was something more behind this. A recommendation had been signed by every doctor in the city, with one exception, and had not been a complaint from any person until the matter came up and then the complaints were two years old.

The Charges Explained

Mr. Wood then dealt separately with the five charges against Mr. Belleghem. The first four he said, were no trangressions at all. In the last case he had gone farther than allowed by the bylaw to bring a man from Otonabee. This they admitted, but the council in renewing Mr. Belleghem's contract two years ago had swept this away.

Not For Financial Gain

Mr. Belleghem was not anxious to get the contract from a financial viewpoint, but it meant the losing of his good name if the contract was not awarded to him.

Mr. Belleghem's work had been well done, the ambulance had been well kept, and the service good, and it would not be fair treatment to take it away from him.

Mr. Jack Comstock stated that the one doctor who had not signed the recommendation, had not done so because he considered that he could not, conscientiously, do so.

Ald. Duncan's Views

Ald. Duncan stated that he had brought the matter up at first because he wanted the specifications changed. He did not want the specification to provide for a moderate charge being made. Mr. Belleghem had challenged him to state where he (Mr. Belleghem) had made charges. He was not working on behalf of Mr. Comstock. The speaker said that the specifications should be changed. Mr. Belleghem he considered had no right to use the Dan Spence Ambulance and charge for it. The city was allowing Mr. Belleghem to run in opposition to a private citizen. In conclusion he said that he thought that Mr. Comstock should be given the contract for the coming year.

Willing To Accept Change

Mr. Wood said that Mr. Belleghem was quite willing that the change asked by Ald. Duncan should be made. He had only made $15 out of charges to strangers in three years.

Ald. Hicks' Suggestion

Ald. Hicks said that if the matter came to a vote, he would vote for Mr. Belleghem, on account of the very few complaints made. He suggested that the matter be referred back to the Fire, Water and Light Committee and let them set the price for the ambulance, and let each of the parties have the contract for six months.

Ald. Elliott spoke strongly in favour of Mr. Belleghem being awarded the contract.

Ald. McWilliams said that there was a general opinion that the city should not provide a vehicle to go into opposition with private owners. Mr. Belleghem was entitled to a claim on the city. He had given an excellent service. At the opening of the service Mr. Belleghem had tendered $150 lower than Mr. Comstock. It had been charged that Mr. Belleghem had broken the contract for his own benefit. The whole question was whether the charge was true or not.

Parties Should Agree

Ald. Johnston expressed himself as favouring Ald. Hicks' suggestion. He thought that the Committee should bring the two parties together and arrange an agreement.

Ald. Wilson said that in the first place the contract was not right. He thought the matter should be referred back to the committee.

Ald. Adams said that it had been thought by the committee that the city should not be in a position where it was paying one man to do work which left him in opposition to a private citizen. There was no object in referring the matter back to the committee.

Ald. McWilliams expressed the opinion that the matter should be referred back to the committee.

Ald. McWilliams moved an amendment to the amendment that clause one of the report be referred back to the committee with power to act. Ald. Wilson seconded the motion.

Motions All Defeated

The amendment to the amendment was declared lost.

Ald. Elliott's amendment was then put and declared lost and finally the original motion to adopt the report was also voted down.

The Council seemed to have reached a cul de sac, but Ald. McWilliams got out of the difficulty by moving that the matter be referred back to the committee, they to report at the special meeting of the council. This was seconded by Ald. Elliott and carried.

LIMITED MONARCH BETTER THAN REPUBLIC

Result of Debate at T. A. S. Hall Last Night—Strong Arguments by Both Parties

MUSICAL AND LITERARY PROGRAMME

"Resolved, that the Government of the United States is superior to that of Great Britain," was the subject of the debate which formed the chief number on the musical and literary programme given under the auspices of the T. A. S. Debating Society, in the T. A. S. lecture hall last night. The evening was a most pleasant one, and the character of the entertainment warranted a much larger audience than that which was present. The debaters brought out in their respective arguments, points in the Governments of the two countries which were new to many and of profit to all.

The affirmative side of the question was handled by Messrs. Joseph Begley and Joseph Lollard, and, as orators, were superior to their opponents, but the latter, Messrs. F. J. R. MacPherson and David Drain, presented their arguments in a more forcible manner and won the debate.

Mr. J. J. Hanrahan presided over the meeting as chairman. The opening number of the programme was a piano solo by Miss Picard, a youthful pianiste of great skill. Mr. H. C. Brady next sang a vocal solo and responded to an encore. A humorous recitation by Miss May Kennedy, which followed, was a feature of the evening, and she responded also with a temperance recitation.

Rev. Dr. O'Brien, the judges, Messrs. D. O'Connel and W. Rudkins, and the debaters, next took seats upon the platform.

Leader of Affirmative

Mr. Begley, the affirmative leader, was then called upon, and in opening the argument, compared the populations of the countries in question with respect to their representation in the Governments. The population of Great Britain and Ireland he stated, was about 40,000,000, who were represented in the Government by 670 members of the House of Commons and 593 of the House of Lords, while the United States, with double the population, had only 360 representatives, in addition to about 100 senators, and the latter country is in a prosperous state.

The party which the people elect should always have the ruling powers in their hands, but it was not so with the Government of Great Britain. There the House of Lords, a purely hereditary body, had the power to oppose any legislation passed by the British House of Commons, the people's representatives. Justin McCarty has stated that no reform bill, injurious to the House of Lords, ever passed that body unless it was forced through. Gladstone, too, had denounced the higher House. The speaker also pointed out that at the present time there were some 500 school teachers from Great Britain in the United States looking for pointers, which indicated a better Government.

When the Dominion of Canada chose its form of government it was modelled after that of our southern neighbours, and not after the style of Great Britain. Manufacturers are continually leaving the Old Country and locating in Canada, he said, and even some are coming to Peterborough. Labourers also have for many years sought homes under the Governments of the United States and Canada.

Mr. MacPherson's Argument

Mr. MacPherson, the leader of the negative, was next called upon, and presented a brief but concise argument, which received much favour in the eyes of the judges.

The King of Great Britain, he said, is responsible to his advisers, who are responsible to the people, while the President of the United States is responsible to nobody; he has the power to reject to sign any bill which the representatives may present. The various States are not bound by a common head, and frequently some pass laws which conflict with those of other States, and cited an instance to sustain his point. This was impossible in Great Britain, he said, as there no particular county can make laws for itself.

In the Southern States at present there still exists the barbarous method of punishment, called "lynching," which would be entirely impossible in Great Britain.

The President of the United States may hold office, he said, four or five months, govern 80,000,000 people, and have access to the treasury of the United States after he has been defeated. This he considered a bad defect in the government of the country.

Religion has a much freer scope in Great Britain than in the United States, he believed, and explained that the cause of the people leaving Great Britain was that the country was too small to support them all.

Mr. Lollard

Mr. Lollard was the next speaker for the affirmative. He questioned the statement of the leader of the negative with respect to religion. In no place under the sun, he considered, had there been such persecutions against religious freedom as in England in days gone by. As regards labour, he believed there was no comparison between that of Great Britain and the United States.

Mr. Drain

Mr. Drain was the last speaker for the negative. The answer given to the great question, "What country has the best Government?" was: "Whichever is best administered is best." Great Britain protects her subjects the world over with a Government which is most stable and fair.

The Leader's Reply

Mr. Begley, the affirmative leader, was then given an opportunity to reply, and criticized many of the arguments of the negative representatives.

The Decision

Mr. O'Connel, before giving judgment, complimented the various speakers on the presentation of their arguments and gave a concise review of the various points advanced, deciding in favour of the negative. Mr. Redkins and Rev. Dr. O'Brien also spoke and complimented the speakers.

Two piano solos, excellently rendered by Mr. Nicholl, followed, and the delightful evening closed by the singing of "God Save the King."

MR. HOLLINGSHEAD LIKELY TO BE VICE-PRESIDENT

Toronto News Says He will be Given That Honour by the O. R. F. U.

FIGHT TO BE WAGED FOR PRESIDENCY

The Toronto News says:—Nominations for the Ontario Rugby Football Union Executive closed on Saturday and a warm fight is promised for the presidency between W. J. Sloe, of Toronto, and Geo. Ballard, of Hamilton.

Mr. S. S. Dubloulin, after a two-years' term, has retired, and will at once take charge of the Bank of Hamilton branch at Teeswater. He is probably out of football for keeps, after a most brilliant career on the gridiron, and on the Executive Committee of the Ontario Union, upon which he represented his club for many years before being elected to the presidency.

Three nominations have been received for the vacant office, but the chances are that Mr. Hewitt will resign. For the vice-presidency, Mr. A. A. Hollingshead, of Peterborough, will probably be elected by acclamation.

J. B. Hay has again been elected by acclamation to the secretaryship.

The nominations are as follows:—

For President—W. J. Sloe, Toronto; Geo. Ballard, Hamilton; W. A. Hewitt, Toronto.

For Vice-President—A. A. Hollingshead, Peterborough; W. A. Hewitt, Toronto; W. J. Sloe, Toronto.

For Secretary—J. B. Hay, Toronto.

For Intermediate Representatives — (one to be elected) W. H. Seymour, Hamilton; E. A. L. Clarke, Dundas; W. J. Morrison, Toronto.

Junior Representatives — (two to be elected) Russell Britton, Gananoque; J. J. Greenan, St. Michael's College, Toronto; Geo. Mara, Toronto.

Senior Clubs—Argonauts, W. A. Hewitt; Victorias, J. P. Carter; Peterborough, T. W. McDonough.

CURLERS ELECTED THE SEASON'S SKIPS

Many Have Offered to Donate Prizes to Winners—Rink is now Being Flooded.

About fifty curlers assembled in the Charlotte street rink last night for the important business of electing skips for the season. The meeting was an enthusiastic one, and, besides electing the rink leaders, several of the curlers decided to donate prizes for competition in the scheduled games and also for the bonspiel.

The following were the skips elected:—

Messrs. T. F. Matthews, D. Cameron, C. N. Brown, S. Clegg, G. H. Groux, T. Rutherford, T. Brightman, R. RNeill, D. Hall, Geo. Fitzgerald, R. Stanger, J. H. Conrod, R. M. Waddell, W. Mellroy, W. G. Those who offered to donate prizes were: R. Neill, T. F. Matthews, T. Brightman, R. M. Waddell, D. Davidson, C. E. Frost, W. E. Talbot, W. Snowden and M. C. Tooley.

Rink Being Flooded

The curlers will now soon be given an opportunity to begin the "roarin' game" again. Mr. Angus McIntosh began his duties this morning for the season and flooded the side ice, which will be ready in a few days. The central floor, which was used for roller skating will not be removed. It is the intention of the curlers to have it oiled and flooded as soon as possible.

The membership committee will report next Monday night, and on Tuesday night of next week the skips will select their rinks.

Two fast games of basketball are scheduled for Friday night in the Y. M.C.A. gymnasium, when the fast Belleville team meets the Arrows of the local Y.M.C.A. The Belleville men are a husky bunch of players, and expect to make the Arrows go the limit to win out. The game ought to be one of the best seen here this season, and the Arrows are practising hard for it. As a preliminary game, a Y.M.C.A. league game will be played between the O. T. C. and Harriers, at eight o'clock, sharp. Admission 15 cents.

WILLING TO TURN OVER THE DRIVING PARK

If Anyone Will Give Guarantee of the Rent for Next Year

One of the lease holders of the Driving Park informed the Examiner this afternoon that some of the members of the Turf Club were objecting to the interests of the Turf Club being turned over to the lease holders. He stated that if any of them would guarantee the rent for the remainder of the lease, which has one year to run, the lease holders would gladly turn the Driving Park over to them. As the matter stands at present each of the three lease holders will have to pay $33 next year for the rent of the ground.

FARMERS' INSTITUTE OPEN WINTER MEETINGS

Most Successful Gatherings Held at Lakefield Monday Afternoon and Evening—Both Well Attended

INTERESTING ADDRESSES TO FARMERS

The first of the regular winter meetings of the Farmers' Institute of West Peterborough was held in Lakefield Monday. These meetings are provided by the Ontario Department of Agriculture, with a view to interesting farmers in the culture of the best stock about their farms and the best products in the agricultural and dairy lines. The gentlemen appointed by the Department are Mr. H. Glendenning, of Manilla, Ont., and J. G. Clarke, Esq., of Ottawa. Before going to the town hall, these gentlemen held a dairy cattle judging class in the Commercial Hotel yard, Mr. Glendenning being in charge. Two good dairy cows were provided and the farmers asked to give their opinions regarding the dairy value of each. Mr. Clarke afterwards names up his opinions on the cows, and awarded first place to one and second to the other. The owner and practically all agreed with him. The men then retired to the town hall. In the absence of Mr. Telford, the President, through a family bereavement, Mr. R. Q. Dench presided as chairman and introduced to the assemblage the speakers of the afternoon.

Mr. Glendenning

Mr. Glendenning, the first speaker, dealt with "The Growing of Clover, and How to Save It." He said that he thought it the most important of the farm's products. The proper condition of the soil for clover seed is not a compact one nor should it be a wet one. It should be properly drained, and should consist of a great number of particles of soil to allow air to freely circulate through the soil. There should also be moisture, but not sufficient to choke the air passages. In other words, a seed needs heat, air and moisture, and therefore the soil should not be compact.

Roots, in seeking their way downward into the soil, bring up moisture and other nourishing elements which have been washed down. The three principal essential elements for the growth of plants are nitrogen, phosphoric acid and potash. Upon the quantity of these elements found in a plant depends the value of the plant. The clover plant is the most important because it takes up the most nitrogen, and as this is the greatest constituent of the air, there is no end to the supply, and thus the clover plant has an immense quantity of nourishment in the surrounding atmosphere. The peas and beans are similar to this plant. Barley, oats and wheat do not get similarly, but have to be supplied artificially with nitrogen.

When a clover field is ploughed up after the crop is removed, a large supply of vegetable matter of the finest quality is found, this being the best of manure.

Curing Clover Hay

Mr. Glendenning's plan of saving clover hay is to cut it in the morning, after the dew is off it, and then it is "tedded," and commence to draw it to the barn about 2 p.m.

The best time for cutting clover hay is when the plant is in full bloom, because there is a greater amount of digestible nutrients in it. Another very important point is the palatibility of the hay. If a cow is given any sort of hay she will eat it, but that is not sufficient. If the hay is palatable to the animal she will eat much more readily. The aroma which is given off by new-mown hay is nature's spice, and it is going to loss when passers-by can notice it. This nature's spice, as it were, is the palatable part of the hay. It should be cut in the early morning, and during the day carefully cocked up and turned over, and then placed in the snow. It does not heat nor get smutty, and the leaves are there in their entirety. If there is foreign moisture in the form of dew or rain in the hay when it is taken into the barn, it will surely heat and become musty. It depends upon the sun and wind when cutting. In cases where the hay is wet by rain, it should be cured in the field by putting it in cocks. It should not be salted, because the effect of salt is to make the hay brown and exceedingly dry, and this condition is not desired.

Alfalfa Culture

Dairymen are experiencing high prices in bran and it naturally suggests itself what could be grown to take its place. Alfalfa hay is the only thing that is grown on the farm which contains nearly the same nutrients. Besides it is very palatable to cows. Mr. Glendenning urged the farmers to seed a small field of it to give it a trial. He had seen it grown successfully in many places and did it himself.

Considering a small crop of alfalfa, say four tons to the acre, the cost of putting it in the barn is $2 a ton. Now the cost of bran is $20.00 a ton which shows the difference between the prices and the money in the farmer's pocket who raised a good crop of this hay. The plant will not stand tramping or crushing down by animals and wagons passing overs it.

Mr. Glendenning then gave an account of a trial of a nitro-culture of alfalfa seed given free by the Government. The treated seed had made a far better growth than the seed which was not so treated. Alfalfa grows splendidly on hill sides, provided they are not springy. It does not thrive well in wet soil. The speaker answering questions asked of him, stated that it grows deeply in the ground. The ideal soil is a clay loam containing a good deal of lime, but it could be tried on almost any land provided it is not wet. A general discussion upon different agricultural subjects followed in which nearly all took part. This was a very interesting feature and was also educational.

Heavy Horse Breeding

Mr. Clark's address was on the subject of "The Breeding and Handling of Heavy Horses." He said that the ation of the Government in the collection of information re the horse industry, was beginning to create a lively interest among horsemen in their business. The heavy horse is the best horse for breeding purposes for the average farmer. There are many who are raising light horses, but more are selling fine colts to city buyers at a rather small price, and the latter educate them and sell them at a much higher price.

If a man is interested in any particular kind of horse he should breed this kind. The main point to be considered is the mating of the breeding stock. Then the desired qualities in the blood stock were then considered. A heavy horse should have a tough, good sized foot. The heel should be deep, sole concave and should slope in front 45 degrees. The pastern should have sufficient angle to ensure ease of motion. Beware the horse with the round bone; see that it is flat rather than round. The whole leg should be straight and shapely. The eye should be prominent and spirited-looking, denoting energy. A broad forehead denotes an intelligent horse with a sound constitution. Above all do not let a matter of ten dollars or so interfere with choice of sire, when raising heavy horses. Mr. Clarke then invited a discussion upon various subjects and as Mr. Dench said, this was an exceedingly interesting method of dealing with the horse subject and one which interested everyone.

After the addresses were over, the most of those present retired to the Foresters' Hall, where the ladies served tea.

Evening Session

The town hall at Lakefield was filled to its utmost capacity last night when the W.s. Peterborough Farmers' Institutes, in conjunction with the Women's Institutes, provided a fine programme, with the assistance of Mr. Glendenning, Mr. Clark, and Miss Maddock.

Mr. J. N. Telford occupied the chair in a satisfactory manner. He pointed out the desirability of the town people assisting the farmers in the work done by these institutes. It was very gratifying to the latter to have the assistance and to take an interest in the institute, which was growing in membership and influence.

Country and City

Mr. Clark's address was on the old time subject, "Country vs. City Life." His object was to point to those who lived outside the city the advantages of country life as compared with city life. He said that the farmer had more freedom and more advantages than their friends in the cities. They however did not enjoy the first fruits of the land to the extent they should. They cheated themselves and their families in too many cases. The best eggs, the turkeys, the cream of the milk, the fruit — all is sold, if possible, while the culls are kept for the family use. However, these conditions did not exist everywhere.

In the country there is no monotony in work as there is in the routine of the city. The farmer is continually happy as he witnesses his seeds sprout, his grain grow and mature. Many wealthy citizens are returning to farms to rejuvenate and recaparate their strength. True, there are often trying conditions experienced on the farm, but the farmer has not as many difficulties as those who are employed in the city. The farm offered a man far more opportunities for advancement than did any other profession. It now required educated men to make successful farmers. Educate the children if they are to become the equal of the city children.

Mr. Clark's address was a very profitable one to the young farmers who had city ideas. He closed his address by a splendid recitation of Dr. Drummond's "Habitant."

Miss Maddock

Miss Maddock, the second speaker, spoke on "Our Institutes and How to make them Interesting." In the village of Lakefield the meetings of the Institutes were successful. The spirit of co-operation was prevalent at the meetings, and it was a matter of congratulation to the people of Lakefield, that they had been so successful. Miss Maddock first congratulated the young ladies on the splendid repast they had provided. It was very dainty and well served.

The speaker said that she wished to speak particularly to the girls. There was rife in the world to-day a spirit of unrest. The girls were beginning to show signs of this unrest. It is upon the girls, and mothers, especially, that the constitution of society depends, for they are the guides and the makers of home, and woman's influence is the greatest there is to-day. They should first have a broad education. Woman may be compared with the heart's pulse beat, and if the constitution becomes weakened it is realized by the force of the pulse.

Women's Place is Home

The woman's place is in the home, and when she steps into public life by entering professions usually occupied by men, she steps down, and not up. The Woman's Institute is a society which meets the greatest need of mankind, namely the improvement of the home, and, therefore every woman should interest herself in the work. As years advance, so does education, and why should not domestic science become more general and more well known? Women have proved themselves scientists of the first rank, and why should they not discover new things in the line of the science of the home.

Duty of Father and Brother

There is a duty for every girl, and it begins in the home. The father and daughter should be friends. This is found to a great extent when girls are young, but when they become older they drift apart, partly the fault of each. There should be family co-operation. The father and mother should show their appreciation of their daughters' thoughtfulness, when it is displayed. Interest the girl in farm life. A good idea is to send her to the College at Guelph, where the lessons learned when young are advanced, and her mind brought back to the farm. The girl owes her brother a duty. She should make his room and home a delight to live in, and thus implant in him a deeper love. The speaker said that the boys are just about what the girls and the home make them. Miss Clark was listened to very earnestly throughout, her address being an interesting one.

Mr. Glendenning

Mr. Glendenning, the third of those representing the Government in their education crusade in relation to the Farmers' Institute, spoke on Farm Conveniences. On practically every well regulated farm throughout the province, there are nearly all the modern improvements. In the first place the farm should be well planned and laid out. There should be a good gate to every field. The farmer should have a tool shop — not a large one — but one which is ready to meet all emergency repairs. Have a supply of good rock elm lumber on hand. Keep the bolt boxes well filled, as bolts are need for almost every machine. An up-to-date farmer has a good stock scales in his barn or shed. It enables him to realize just how his stock is advancing in weight.

The Water Question

Water is one of the great necessities on the farm. Many farmers have springs and streams on their farm, they do not need any artificial means of supply. A small windmill produces a pumping force sufficient for any farm in this country. Another source of power for people in the neighbourhood of Lakefield, is the electric power provided by the O'onabee. The farmers, he thought, should give this source some attention. The wind power is not steady enough for every need. The one-horse tread mill places in reach of every farmer a power that is very practical. A small electric cell battery in every house is an exceedingly useful improvement. Another matter is the beef ring. With this in a community farmers may often obtain fresh meat when needed. It would be a wise move for a section of farmers to unite and arrange for one of these rings.

During the evening the following musical programme was presented:

Quartette..... Mixed
Octette..... Selected
Quartette..... Ladies
Male chorus.....

The attendance at the men's meeting in the afternoon was about 50, while in the evening there were 425 present. It may be truly said that the Lakefield meetings were successful in every way. The musical portion of the programme was particularly good, especially the glees by the male chorus. The people in the neighbourhood of Lakefield do not neglect the musical culture of the young people.

In conclusion Mr. Telford thanked the ladies for their hearty co-operation in providing the music, and for the dainty repast they had served in the Foresters' Hall.

The success of yesterday's meetings of the West Peterborough Farmers' Institutes, are due to a great extent to the energetic work of the president of the Institutes, Mr. J. N. Telford, and to Mr. W. Collins, the secretary. These gentlemen have done in the past all in their power to promote the best there is in agriculture and cattle rearing, and are as interested as ever. That their work is appreciated by the other members is evidenced by their hearty co-operation.

Women's Farmer's Institute

During the afternoon in the Foresters' Hall the ladies of west Peterborough held meetings similar to that of the men. The number of those present showed that their interest in this work is by no means decreasing. Miss Maddock, of O. A. C. Guelph, was present and gave a very beneficial and interesting address on the values of foods and their preparation. The points of her speech of most importance were: The different kinds of meats and their preparation; 2nd. Foods for children; 3rd General talk on the preparation and value of foods. There then followed a general discussion on various subjects. The tea prepared by the ladies demonstrated that Miss Maddock's remarks had been well attended to and were productive of good results.

MAINTENANCE OF THE NEW HOUSE OF REFUGE

By-law Regulating the Operation and Maintenance of New Institution Passed by the County Council at the Closing Session

DETAILS OF INTERNAL MANAGEMENT

At the meeting of the County Council on Saturday a bylaw regulating the new House of Refuge was passed. This bylaw contains considerable interesting information concerning this new institution and the means by which it is to be maintained, and a copy is published below:—

Whereas, the corporation of the County of Peterborough has purchased land in the township of Smith, being parts of lots 25 and 26 in the 8th concession of said township, and has erected thereon a building for the purpose of a House of Refuge for said county.

Therefore, the corporation of the County of Peterborough, by the Council thereof, hereby enacts as follows:

1. The said lands and buildings thereon are hereby established as, and declared to be, a House of Refuge and House of Industry for the County of Peterborough, pursuant to section 324 of the Consolidated Municipal Act.

Committals and Admissions

2. All poor and indigent persons who are incapable of supporting themselves and are without the means of maintaining themselves, may be committed to the said House of Refuge, provided such person has been a resident of the county continuously for at least two years.

3. No person shall be admitted into such House of Refuge who is an idiot or insane, or affected with consumption, cancer or any infectious disease, or who has not been previously examined by the physician of the House of Refuge.

4. No child between the ages of two and sixteen years shall be received as an inmate, and in the event of a child being born of an inmate or being less than two years of age, is received as an inmate, the superintendent shall at once give notice thereof to the Children's Aid Society, and upon the child attaining two years of age, shall require such society to take charge thereof.

5. No pregnant woman shall be committed to the House unless she signs a written request to be so committed and to be detained for one year, and if she be a minor such request shall also be signed by her parents or guardians.

6. The expense of sending persons to the House of Refuge shall be borne by the municipality from which such persons are committed, and also the expenses of returning such persons to the municipality in case the Board of Management shall at any time decide that such persons have been improperly committed, or are not otherwise subject to support by the county.

7. Notwithstanding anything contained in the preceding sections, the Board of Management or the Council, by resolution, may at any time consider the circumstances and particulars of any application for admission, and take such action as they may deem best.

8. Committal to the House of Refuge shall be by warrant under the hand of the head for the time being, of the municipality (within such county) in which the person committed has resided for one year immediately previous to such committal.

9. Each municipality shall pay for the maintenance of each person sent to the House of Refuge from such municipality the sum of fifty cents per week while such person is an inmate of the House, payment to be made on or before the 31st day of December in each year.

Board Of Management

10. There shall be appointed at the first session of each year two persons who may be members of the Council, and who shall, together with the Warden, form a Board of Management, the chairman of which shall be named by the Council, and which Board shall have the management, regulation and control of said House and farm.

11. The Board shall examine into the state of all matters and things relating to the support and employment of the inmates, direct what security (if any) shall be given to the superintendent and matron, audit all accounts quarterly and report thereon to the Council at the close of each audit, and shall, at the close of the June session each year, present an estimate of the probable amount required for the current year for the support and maintenance of the inmates.

12. All bills and claims for supplies furnished to the House and farm shall be duly certified by the superintendent as being correct before being presented to the Board for audit, and on the same being examined and passed by the Board, the chairman shall be authorized to grant orders on the county treasurer for the several amounts allowed.

13. The Board shall, on or before the 31st day of December in each and every year, check the inventory of personal property belonging to the institution, prepared by the superintendent, and value the amount of produce on hand, and report the same to the Council at the ensuing session.

14. The Board shall make a report to the Council at the January session, of the expenses of the House and farm, and the earnings of the same, for the year ending with the 31st day of December in each and every year, in the forms to be provided.

15. The Board shall see that the rules and regulations are duly enforced; they shall visit the House and farm at least once in every three months; they shall hear any complaints that may be made, and shall authorize the superintendent to procure all necessary help and supplies for the House and farm, and direct the sale of the surplus products of the House and farm.

16. The Board shall report at the sessions of the Council, the names and the localities from which they come, of all persons who have been received as inmates since the previous session, and they may report upon any other matter that they consider of sufficient importance to bring to the notice of the Council.

The Superintendent

17. There shall be appointed by the Council a superintendent, who shall be paid such salary as the Council may determine and be provided with household maintenance and apartments, and shall hold office during the pleasure of the Council.

18. The superintendent shall, in books provided for the purpose, keep records as follows:

(a) A register of all persons admitted to and discharged from the House, in form to be supplied him.

(b) A burial register, in form to be supplied him.

(c) Fair and regular accounts in writing of all material, provisions, fuel, clothing and other necessaries provided for the use of the institution, and of all expenses and charges, attending the maintenance and support of the institution, and of all monies received by him from the sale of the products of the farm or otherwise, and shall submit the lists and accounts, with vouchers signed by persons from whom he has received payments, to the Board.

(d) A wearing apparel book, in which shall be kept a correct and particular account of each and every article issued to the inmates.

(e) A Visitor's Book, in which persons visiting the House and farm shall enter their names, with any remarks or comments they may see fit to make.

19. It shall be the duty of the superintendent to examine all persons committed to the House, and note such facts in regard to them as are important to be preserved; shall cause them to be thoroughly cleansed and suitably located, having reference to their age, sex and general character; shall be especially careful that the infirm inmates and children are treated with considerate care and kindness, and shall see that proper attention is given to the sick.

20. He shall undertake the general superintendence of the House and farm, and when not otherwise engaged shall devote his time to tilling and cultivating the farm, securing and harvesting the crops, or at other manual labour according to the requirements of the several seasons of the year, and in order that the farm may be cultivated in a skilful and husbandlike manner.

21. He shall give his attention and time for the benefit of the institution, and shall carry into effect all the rules and regulations adopted by the Council from time to time for the government and management of the House and Farm.

22. He shall provide under the direction of the Board, all the provisions required for the House, and shall be responsible for weights and quantities.

23. He shall see that the provisions furnished to the inmates are of good quality and sufficient in quantity, and that no waste thereof be permitted.

24. He shall not permit the use of intoxicating drinks by any of the inmates.

25. He shall purchase under the direction of the Board, all raw materials for manufacture, and sufficient working tools for the full employment of such of the inmates as are able to work, and direct and superintend their work and labour.

26.—He shall make a complete inventory of all personal property in, on and about the House and Farm at such time as the Board may direct, and assist the Board in checking the same, and in valuing the provisions, products, etc., on hand.

27. He shall annually prepare and present to the Council at the January session a report for the year ending December 31st, containing all the particulars and information, and in form required by the Council.

28. He shall see that every department and all furniture and utensils are kept neat, clean and in order, and that all provisions, fuel and every other article to be consumed in and about the premises, are used with the strictest economy.

29. The Superintendent and the Matron, or their assistants detailed for the purpose, shall visit each and every occupied room after the ringing of the retiring bell, and see that the inmates have all retired, (excepting those on duty) and shall see that all the fires are made secure and safe, and that all lights are extinguished, saving and excepting only where fire and lights are permitted to be kept for the benefit of the sick.

30. The Superintendent may for violation of any of the rules, or for disobedience or bad conduct by any of the inmates, inflict suitable punishment, at his discretion (but shall employ no improper means) by confinement or otherwise, but in case of solitary confinement it shall not be for a longer period than twenty-four hours, unless by direction of the Board. All such cases of punishment shall be duly recorded, and reported to the Board at each meeting thereof.

31.—The Superintendent is hereby authorized and empowered to search for and bring back any inmate, (other than a woman reputed to be with child) who has absconded from the House or Farm, and, if he deems it to be necessary, he may in writing employ any County Constable of the County of Peterborough to search for and bring back any such absconding inmate.

The Matron

32. There shall be appointed by the Council a Matron, who shall be paid such salary as the Council may determine, and be provided with household maintenance and apartments, and shall hold office during the pleasure of the Council.

33. The Matron shall take charge and oversight of all the indoor operations of the House.

34. She shall see that all the female inmates are provided for according to their respective needs, and that cleanliness in their persons, and apartments, and good order and decorum, and the rules applicable to them are observed at all times.

35. She shall be careful of all the goods, property and furniture committed to her charge, that the same be not lost or embezzled.

36.—She shall direct the detailing of the women under her charge to such branches of labour as in her judgment they are best fitted to perform.

37.—She shall at proper and stated times have all the clothing of the inmates and the bedclothes changed and replaced with clean apparel and bedding, and shall be vigilant over every part of the house in regard to cleanliness.

The Physician

38. There shall be appointed by the Council a Physician, who shall be paid such salary as the Council may determine, and shall hold office during the pleasure of the Council.

39. It shall be the duty of the Physician to superintend and direct the sanitary condition of the House and premises.

4. He shall visit the House at least once a fortnight and whenever called upon by the Superintendent or the Board.

41. He shall attend all cases of sickness and surgery that may occur, prescribe and prepare medicines, and generally shall take charge of the health of the inmates, of the Superintendent and Matron and members of their family under sixteen years of age, and of the servants who may be domiciled in the House.

42. He shall in a book to be provided for the purpose, note all cases treated by him, and in cases of death, certify therein the cause, and shall make a record in such book of all births in the House.

43. He shall when called upon by the Superintendent, examine any of the inmates who may be suspected of feigning illness or otherwise as to their ability to work.

44. He shall without additional remuneration, unless by vote of the Council, attend all the inmates of the House who may be sent to a hospital in the County.

45. He shall submit a yearly report to the Council at the January session or each year, of his visits, with tabulated statements as to the health of the inmates, cases of birth, number of cases treated during the year, the character of the diseases, the number of deaths and the causes thereof, with particulars as to age and sex and date, and other facts which he may deem important or of interest to be preserved.

Rules for Inmates

46. At the ringing of the morning bell every inmate (the sick and those in confinement excepted) must rise, dress, wash and be in readiness to proceed to work.

47. The bell will ring ten minutes before each meal, when all will leave their work and be in readiness, with clean hands and faces, for the ringing of the second bell, when they will repair to the dining-rooms and take such seats at the table as are assigned to them by those in charge, where they must observe silence, decency and good order.

48.—At the ringing of the bell after meals, every inmate shall immediately repair to work.

49. No inmates shall be allowed to loiter about the kitchen nor shall any provisions or food, (excepting at regular meals) be carried to any part of the House without the consent of the Superintendent or Matron, nor shall any cooking be done, except in the kitchen.

50. At nine o'clock in the evening, at the ringing of the retiring bell, the inmates must secure the fires, put out the lights, and retire to bed in their respective apartments.

51. No inmate shall be allowed to trade or exchange clothing or any other article, with any person whomsoever, nor beg of persons who visit the House and Farm, nor shall they receive any money or article from anyone without the consent of the Superintendent.

52. All inmates shall diligently and faithfully perform the duty or task allotted to them by the Superintendent.

53. Any inmate guilty of drunkenness, disobedience, immorality, obscenity, disorderly conduct, profane, or abusive or disrespectful language, theft or waste, or who shall absent himself or herself from the premises without the permission of the Superintendent, or who shall be guilty of injuring or defacing any part of the house or furniture therein, or who shall commit waste of any kind shall be punished as the case may seem to demand.

54. In all cases of solitary confinement the prisoner shall be debarred from seeing or conversing with any persons except the Superintendent, or the person employed to supply their needs, and the food of such prisoners shall consist solely of bread and water, unless otherwise ordered by the board or physician.

55. Any person who shall have communication either directly or indirectly, with any one thus confined, without permission, shall be subject to punishment by a like confinement.

56. No inmate shall go beyond the limits of the farm, unless by the permission of the superintendent, nor remain away beyond the time specified by the Superintendent.

57. The Sabbath day shall be strictly observed, and no irreligious diversion nor unnecessary labour shall be indulged in. At the ringing of the bell for the purpose of assembling for religious instruction and worship, every inmate, (unless excused by the Superintendent,) shall appear dressed in clean apparel in the instructing room, and shall behave with decency and sobriety. No noise nor disturbance shall be made in any part of the house during such exercises.

58. All persons wilfully absenting themselves from the place of meeting or violating the Sabbath Day, shall be subject to prompt and severe punishment.

59. A room shall be set apart for smoking, and save therein no smoking shall be permitted in the building or on the grounds without the express approval of the Superintendent, and no spitting on a floor shall be permitted under any circumstances.

60. Every person previous to admission as an inmate shall be subject to examination and searched by the Superintendent or one of his assistants.

61. In the case of an inmate who has deposited with the County Treasurer any money of his or her own for the purpose of maintaining himself or herself in the House, or on account thereof, the Superintendent shall be advised by the treasurer of the amount so paid, and the Superintendent is authorized in his judgment to exempt such inmate from manual labour, or grant such other privileges, as he may deem desirable and reasonable but such inmate shall be subject to the general rules of the House.

62. In the case of an aged husband and wife, who are admitted to the House, the Superintendent, with the concurrence of the Physician, may allot to them the same sleeping apartment.

63. All inmates who may consider themselves aggrived, may prefer their complaints to the Board when they are visiting the House.

65. The House shall be open for general visitors on Thursday of each week between the hours of 10 o'clock and 12 o'clock in the forenoon, and between the hours of 2 o'clock and four o'clock in the afternoon. On other week days visitors may be admitted to the House at the discretion of the manager.

66. No visitors shall have admission to the House on the Sabbath, without the written permission of the Board or by the consent of the Superintendent, upon good cause being shown.

Contributions

67. Contributions of money either by the inmates on their own behalf, or by their friends, or otherwise towards their support and maintenance, shall be paid to the County Treasurer, and by him placed to the credit of the House maintenance, or that of any individual inmate, as may be desired by the contributor.

The Complete Lovemaker

By NANCY HAZLITT

Copyright, 1906, by E. C. Parcells

"I know my place, also my danger. You see, I have been hearing of you this long time," Grierson said, looking up at my lady, with a lazy smile.

My lady had a way with her—it could be sharp and short when she chose. It could likewise be very meek. Now she set her finger tips together, asking plaintively: "Mr. Grierson, is there nothing else you would as soon say? You are the ninth man to tell me that since I came to the picnic. I ought to feel my sins very deeply, but somehow I can't."

"Who says you have sins? I meant only your perfections," Grierson began, but she stopped him with a gesture of appeal.

"That's the very worst of all," she murmured. "You'll be telling me next that you came on purpose to see and be conquered. I do wish pretty speeches didn't run in ruts so much. If I could I'd write a book about them, telling men what not to say."

"I see! 'The Complete Lovemaker,'" Grierson answered, his eyes twinkling. "If you wrote from the riches of your experience I dare say the treatise would be most authoritative."

"There wouldn't be any treatise if, I did that. You all say so much the same sort of foolishness," my lady came back at him, with just the least toss of her head.

My lady of course had a name, a pretty one—Elinor Clare. Only strangers and the older people ever called her Elinor. Somehow at school she had been rechristened my lady, and my lady she was likely to be to the end of the chapter.

A very pretty girl, with money to her name and much more money in prospect, withal sprightly and good hearted, she was easily the belle of the countryside. She had had beaus, indeed, before she was out of short frocks. One of them, who as a tall lad had carried her on his shoulder and cradled her asleep in his arms, was still constant, notwithstanding he was thrice eligible, and the kindest, most unsuspicious soul alive.

Grierson had heard of him likewise. Indeed, Philip Darcy, the constant one, was, after a sort, his kinsman.

"Phil's the man you have got to beat," Grandfather Grierson had said in explaining the situation.

Grandfather liked my lady, but not nearly so well as he did her possessions. Therefore he had sent imperatively for Arthur, his grandson, and bidden him as imperatively court the girl and marry her.

Grandfather's was moneyed avarice, therefore the more eager. He had piled up a fortune and held on to it like grim death. Because his only son liked to spend money even better than to make it the old man excused his clutching—at least to himself.

Since that young gadabout Arthur had no knack of making money, being worse in that respect than his father, it was but right he should marry it. Grandfather Grierson said this over and over, in so many keys and tenses, Arthur had been tempted to run away before anything was begun. He would have run away, indeed, but for catching a glimpse of my lady. The glimpse refreshed his endurance and modified sensibly his estimate of grand-paternal wisdom.

"Suppose we write the book together," Grierson suggested valiantly. "I can make myself understood on the typewriter—can't say any more than that—but you—you have reams of wisdom, I'm sure, all ready to your hand. Do take me as secretary. I promise you shall find me willing and obliging, with no objection to long hours."

"I have a great objection to them. I couldn't stick at anything half a day unless it was to save my life," my lady confided, adding gayly: "I don't believe you could either. Confess! Don't you love to go and do the things you didn't intend?"

"Sometimes—only sometimes," Grierson said, smiling down at her. "This is one of them. I meant to ask consideration as a possible husband, yet see how you have reduced my soaring ambition!"

My lady met this with a look of wide eyed innocence and said appealingly: "Can't you understand I'm not the sort of girl you have to talk love to? There are so many other things better worth talking about."

"For instance, Philip Darcy?" Grierson said, with a keen glance.

My lady laughed joyously. "No, not Philip," she said. "I know him—all about him—more and better than anybody can tell me. He would be a saint on earth if he were not so much of a man."

"H—m! The most part of saints were men," Grierson supplemented. Then, most irrelevantly: "You have relieved my mind wonderfully. No girl of today can possibly love a saint. It is the weirdly wicked fellows who bowl over our sweethearts—even now and then our wives"—

"Dear me! And you are not weirdly wicked—just an ordinary sinner," my lady interrupted, her eyes twinkling merrily.

Grierson laughed. "Cry quarter!" he said. "You won't get me to admit I'm no match for you—that would be a bad precedent—but I will say I know when I've had enough. Now, to get back to the beginning, what about taking me on as amanuensis? I'm sure I gave myself a character, having nobody else to give it."

"A-man-u-ensis! That's a city word. I'm afraid of it," my lady said, dimpling sweetly.

Grierson shook his head at her, saying severely: "At this rate 'The Complete Lovemaker' will never get itself written. Think how the world needs it! We ought to begin work on it tomorrow."

Grierson forgot the carrying quality of his voice, even when, as now, he spoke very low. He further overlooked a slim creature in half mourning seated just beyond my lady.

Now the figure turned half about, saying, with pretty malice: "You could not have a better collaborator, Miss Clare. Arthur can give an example of a nice definition of every style of love making yet invented." Then, throwing up a crape bordered veil: "You didn't expect to see me, Arthur. I know that very well. Indeed, I myself am surprised at being here, but Phil Darcy wrote me I had better come down and look after some investments."

There was a pause before the last word so significant it made my lady gasp. She turned red and white, staring helplessly from Grierson to the woman and only by a strong compulsion overcoming her impulse to run away.

It was a great relief to see Philip Darcy approaching—she almost ran to meet him, a question in her eyes. He answered it with a reassuring glance and turned to the pair, who stood eying each other uncertainly and in silence, saying as he stood in front of them:

"I think, Clorinda, it will be best on all accounts for you to announce your engagement to Grierson. Your scruples against it before you are out of mourning, of course, do you credit, but people down here are used to seeing widows courted, married almost, in their weeds. And nobody really knows how long your husband has been dead—whether it is a year or five makes no difference. I have just been telling Uncle Jack how the case stands"—

"Does he agree with you?" Grierson asked, his face averted.

Philip laughed. "Uncle Jack, like all the rest of us, is amenable to the logic of accomplished facts," he said. "But I don't think you'll find him very hard to fetch around. I told him also that Elinor was going to marry me early in the fall."

Mrs. Clorinda Markle, relict of the late Solomon, was not without a sense of humor. She held out her hand to my lady, saying with a frank smile: "We may flatter ourselves that 'The Complete Lovemaker' is in two editions, each limited to a single copy. I shall keep mine henceforth under lock and key. How about yours?"

"I don't think mine will permit itself to be stolen," my lady said, taking the offered hand. "I have been engaged since I was five—if in fifteen years Philip has not repented of his bargain it seems he is to be trusted to know his own mind."

Clorinda tried to speak, to say something lightly flippant, but her lips trembled and a troublesome lump rose in her throat. She took Grierson's nerveless arm and walked away, her head high, but her eyes dim behind her veil. Darcy looked after the pair compassionately, saying, "She is too good for him."

"But she doesn't think so. Let us hope she never will," my lady answered eagerly.

Darcy looked down at her, smiling happily.

Augustus a China Patron.

Augustus the Strong of Saxony was a great lover of china, and his belief in the transmutation of metals into gold was accidentally the cause of the discovery of the celebrated Dresden ware. Any one fortunate enough to be the possessor of a piece of this old china will invariably find his initials, A. K., on the back of it. An apothecary's lad by the name of Bottinger had, it is said, composed a tincture that was supposed to be capable of being transformed into gold. So successful an alchemist was by order of Augustus placed under lock and key, but, unlike most prisoners, with a laboratory at his disposal. This restraint almost deprived the lad of his reason, and accordingly he was removed to Dresden and allowed a certain liberty. It was here while pursuing his experiments that Bottinger discovered the Meissen porcelain, commonly called Dresden china, which to Augustus was as welcome as if the youth had been successful in transmuting gold, for he had expended large sums in what is known as the Japan palace. Many workmen were engaged from Delft to work the new ware, and in 1710 the manufacture of Meissen began the supply of the demand which soon became European.

Repairing a House In China.

In China when a house is to be repaired wonderful forethought is necessary. The evil spirits which are supposed to occupy each dwelling that mortals have inhabited cause the carpenter no end of trouble and no trifling expense. First an astrologer must be consulted with regard to the most lucky day for beginning the work. Then a square suspended from the ridge beam is a notification to the spirits of darkness that their dwelling place is to be disturbed, wherefore the square thing for them to do is to move out quietly and peacefully. Next the carpenters make offerings to these unseen residents. These gifts seem to say, "If you please, spirits of darkness, accept this bribe and speedily take your flight." Next the neighbors must be warned that these evil influences are about to be turned loose perhaps to seek shelter under a neighboring roof. Every house on that street receives a notice that upon a certain day and hour repairs are to begin on the dwelling of Ah Sin. Each household can then pay the imps not to enter its doorway, but to go to the next neighbor.

Life Artificially Counterfeited.

Life has been so nearly counterfeited in recent experiments that it is almost impossible to detect any difference between the forms manufactured in the chemist's laboratory and the actual organisms of life, according to Dr. Alfred Gradenwitz, whose article, entitled "Life Artificially Counterfeited," presents an able resume of what biologists have recently been able to accomplish towards producing life by artificial means.

He describes the experiments of Dr. Stadelmann, who, by the action of electricity on certain chemical compounds, has produced many curious forms which closely resemble organic structures. Photographs of these forms are reproduced with the article. Dr. Gradenwitz not only tells of the results which Dr. Stadelmann has accomplished, but describes how he came to discover the process, and tells other interesting stories about scientists in their search for the answer to the great question which has puzzled man from the beginning of time—can life be produced artificially?—Technical World Magazine.

For the Housewife.

As every one who has tried it knows, cream often refuses to "whip," especially if one has unexpected company. If it will half whip one can easily bridge the difficulty by beating the white of an egg quite stiff and whipping into the cream just before using. When one orders cream to be whipped it is always well to mention the fact, as it is the cream that has set a day that whips the best. Separated cream will not do for whipped cream.

An effective instrument for removing the burnt crust from a cake so unfortunate as to require treatment is a flat grater. It is far better than a knife in that it does the work more evenly and leaves a smoother surface for the all enveloping mantle of the charitable icing.

The Small Theater Hat.

The new theater hat is small, but the question is whether the people behind it can see as well with a small hat on the person in front as they could when the large hat is removed, for the new hats are intended to be so small as not to obstruct the view.

ALL RUN DOWN

Weak---Nervous---Unstrung.

Thousands get run down and become invalids before they realize anything is wrong. By permitting low vitality to develop, the way is paved for fevers, pneumonia and diphtheria. To put off makes it all the harder to get well. The time to repair the system is right now, before the damage gets any worse. The remedy is Ferrozone; it revitalizes, renews, builds up vitality that outlasts old age.

FERROZONE is a genuine invigorator that banishes weakness, and instils surplus force and vigor into every organ of the body. Ferrozone sharpens the appetite, produces rich nutritious blood, and thereby contributes that sense of buoyancy that adds so enormously to one's pleasure and usefulness in life.

For all forms of debility, weakness, lack of blood or nerve tone, sleeplessness, tiredness and exhaustion, there is no medicine so vitalizing and potent as Ferrozone. Even one trial demonstrates its rapidly and certainty of action.

To restore the energy of youth, to get back your vital stamina and reserve force, there is positively no treatment so certain as Ferrozone. You have only to try Ferrozone to know the enormous benefit it invariably brings to all in poor health.

FERROZONE

Miss Dorothy E. Ledue of Chester gives the following convincing evidence of Ferrozone's power:—"My work compels me to rise early in the morning and work ten hours daily as a saleslady. Last Spring I was run down, lost my color, and fell off in weight. I seemed to lack ambition and the life was out of me. A friend recommended Ferrozone, and I took one tablet after meals with Wonderful results. Ferrozone brought back my complexion and has given me new strength and abundance of energy and spirits. I would advise all young ladies to use Ferrozone."

Mrs. H. G. Wilder of Dexter says:—"My daughter was not very well last Winter, and lost her strength completely when the Spring came. I gave her Ferrozone, and am glad to say it did wonders. After six boxes were used my daughter was strong, and looked the picture of health."

Gave New Strength

FERROZONE

It makes the weak strong, the sick well, and assures lasting good health.

A Hundred Yard Dash

By HONORE WILLSIE

Copyright, 1906, by M. M. Cunningham

Harwell loped along the lake shore path. The spring wind beat in his face. A mating blackbird trilled in the greening marsh. Harwell in his running pants and jersey, with his bare legs and sandaled feet, with his fine head tossed back and the muscles of his back rippling beneath his jersey, was as beautiful in his perfection of youth as the spring landscape through which he ran.

It was getting a little warm for the daily cross country trot, but the spring meets would be on in another week, and after that cap and gown in exchange for jersey during commencement week.

Until then Harwell had only three things to remember. First, he was not to overdo. He was so near the perfection point now that with the least extra work he would be stale. Second, he must be careful of that right thigh muscle. He had strained it in the fall as quarterback. And, lastly, this third necessity being unknown to the trainer, he must win the hundred yard dash in the Colwell-Wilton meet. The rivalry between Harwell and Small had become more than physical. To win first place in the meet was to win first place in Alice Summer's eyes—at least, this was the conclusion reached by Harwell.

He hurdled the pasture bars into the meadow. It was rather wet, and the smell of bruised cowslips and tender new sprung mint followed the soft pad of his sandals. At the sand pits Harwell halted at the sound of his name shouted at the top of lusty lungs. Small, in knickerbockers, was pounding away with his geological hammer at a huge bowlder.

"I'll chill if I stop!" called Harwell merrily. "Why aren't you running?"

"Got this bloomin' five-fifths geology to make up this week."

"Too bad!" shouted Harwell, bounding with his long strides toward the far side of the pits.

Small looked after him, then a malicious look crossed his eyes. If—if Harwell should get chilled! He sprang to his feet.

"Wait! Wait!" he roared. "I want"—then "Great heavens!" he cried. Then there was silence.

Harwell did not turn his head at Small's call. He grinned appreciatively to himself. "Can't work me that way," he thought. "A chill for me would be very valuable to Small," and he crossed the little meadow brook with a careless bound. Then a vague sense of apprehension entered his mind. Small's roar had stopped very suddenly. He wondered why. Perhaps he ought to go back, yet he kept on.

But the sense of apprehension grew and would not go. Finally, with a little groan at his own foolishness, Harwell turned and retraced his course to the sand pits, his stride never breaking. At the brow of the slope he gave a startled ejaculation. In springing to his feet Small had dislodged a great slice of the sand pit wall. To his armpits in sand, with face white and senseless and the sand creeping constantly down to sift higher and higher about him, was Small.

Harwell dashed toward him. As he ran he snatched up an old tin can half full of rain water and dashed it in Small's face. Small opened his eyes.

"I'm suffocating, Harwell," he said.

"Oh, no, you're not; not by a long chalk. Here, take this can and dig to beat the band. I'll use this piece of shovel, and we'll have you out in a jiffy."

He set to work feverishly. The bit of shovel proved very efficient wielded by Harwell's sinewy arm, and the tin can in Small's hands was not to be despised. Harwell worked with one eye on the edge of the pit. The sand layers, one by one, were loosening. If he did not get Small free before they fell—well, there was no use in thinking of that. Now Small was free to his waist line, now to his thighs, now—silently, swiftly, a great wedge of sand gave way, and Small was again buried to his shoulders.

Harwell looked about. The pits had been so long deserted that there was not a board in sight. Yes, half buried and black with age, there was one. He pelted across the pit, gave a great wrench and was back again with the board, which he placed as a bulwark against further sand slides. Then to work again with the broken shovel, feverishly, for Small was growing faint and limp.

At last, panting, Harwell helped the half unconscious Small to his feet. Then he was suddenly conscious that his hands were blistered, that his feet dragged, that his right thigh muscle ached wearily. But he put his arm about Small and led him slowly from the sand pit down to the turnpike road that was the straightest course to the college dormitory. It was nearing sunset, and a damp, cool wind blew from the marshes. Harwell shivered, but he closed his lips firmly and hurried Small on as best he could.

There was the sound of hoof beats behind them. The two weary figures drew to the roadside and waited for the smart little dogcart to pass them. But it stopped, and its solitary occupant gave an exclamation of surprise.

"What in the world is the matter?" asked Alice Summers.

"Small got caught in the sand pit," replied Harwell, both men staring up into the beautiful, sensitive face. The girl gave a little cry of sympathy. "Oh, get in here, Mr. Small, and I'll drive you to the doctor."

In a few moments Harwell was watching the gay painted back of the trap, now occupied by two figures, retreating into the dusk.

His lip quivered a little sensitively. "They never thought of me," he muttered. "Small has got her, and I—I've got the chill he wanted me to have." Then he limped on through the twilight toward the dormitory a mile away.

That evening Harwell sat in the living room of his fraternity house nursing his aching muscles and giving an occasional sneeze. The hundred yard dash was lost; but, since Alice, too, was lost, he was strangely indifferent. Then he was called to the telephone. Miss Alice Summers, who was staying at the hotel with her mother, would be glad to have him call.

As Harwell, very cold and dignified, stalked into the reception room Alice, her winsome face eager, led him to a quiet corner. "Dick," she said hesitatingly, "did I act very brutal this afternoon?"

Dick thought for a moment. "Yes," he replied firmly.

Alice caught her breath. "But how could I know that you had been so fine? You said nothing."

"There was nothing to say. It was Small's inning."

"Small!" sniffed Alice. "Don't mention Billy Small to me! I think you are fine, but I could get that from what Billy said only by inference. Dick, did you get a chill?"

Dick nodded, and Alice's face filled with dismay. With two brothers in college, she understood all the shadings of training.

"Oh, Dick!" she said. "Oh, Dick!"

Something in her tone made Dick look up. "But you don't care," he said bitterly.

"Don't I?" she replied. "Well, perhaps I do care, more that you were brave and fine enough to give up all chances in the meet to help a man who was not worth it."

The room swam around giddily. Dick clinched the arms of his chair, and then both the girl's slender hands were in his.

"Dick," she whispered, "don't you see that what you have done is better than winning ten dashes?"

"I am sure of it," said Dick. And there was a thrill of joy in his voice that left no doubt as to his meaning.

A WOMAN'S BACK WAS NOT MADE TO ACHE

Thousands of Women suffer Untold Misery Every Day with Aching Backs That Really have no Business to Ache.

Under ordinary conditions it ought to be strong and ready to bear the burdens of life.

It is hard to do housework with an aching back. Backache comes from sick kidneys, and what a lot of trouble sick kidneys cause.

But they can't help it. If more work is put on them than they can stand it is not to be wondered that they get out of order.

Backache is simply a warning from the kidneys and should be attended to immediately so as to avoid years of terrible suffering from Kidney trouble.

Doan's Kidney Pills

Mrs. Thos. Craig, Almonte, Ont., writes: "I was doctoring for six months for kidney trouble and my back was so lame I had to lie in bed. I was advised to try Doan's Kidney Pills. I did so and in one week I was able to walk with very little pain, and in five months my back was as strong as ever.

MILLINERY MODES.

Charming Color Combinations Seen In Hats—Red a Smart Shade.

A great deal of blue in dull, electric and Wedgwood tones is seen in fashionable millinery, giving an entirely new and rich effect to combinations of color which must make their own appeal to the artistic taste.

It is the mode to trim picture hats with whole birds with wonderful tail feathers that are all curves, but no curls. Many of these adornments are made at the bird factories and for this reason should not prove obnoxious to bird lovers.

The reds in fuchsia, jacqueminot, cardinal and motor have a vogue all their own, and red hats are used with good effect by women of taste to top their frocks of brown and bronze cloth. Some striking hats in brown are also trimmed with jacqueminot and American Beauty roses, while plumage in all shades of red is considered the height of fashion.

Browns in the russet and tobacco tones are holding their own in the season's hats. Rivaling the browns, olive and moss green appear in many of the most admired French models. Very charming Paris hats are in taupe, or moleskin color, smoke and the metallic grays, and rich raspberry red, plum, petunia and iris and strong dark blues are all seen in the imported models, while black hats are growing in demand. Then there are the green and gold shadings, the old rose nuances and the green and brown conjurings and indeed such subtle and unexpected inspirations as quite bewilder the seeker after millinery.

The hat illustrated is of fine French felt in the fashionable smoke tone. The feathers shade from dark gray to white at the ends and are held in place by a single red rose.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

FRIBBLES OF FASHION.

Sailor Hats For Simple Wear—Two Classes of Street Frocks.

There are any number of round hats this season and many of the plain sailor shapes that by being tilted a little to one side are exceedingly pretty, but the sailor is now only made use of for the simplest sort of wear.

As last year, a bit of contrasting color is often found on the revers or on the waistcoats of even quite severe tailor modes. Plum color, a peculiar deep blue and certain shades of red are used in this fashion on black, blue, gray and even pale shaded frocks.

All over braided jackets are to be much worn with perfectly plain cloth skirts.

The mushroom shapes of the summer have survived in a lot of fetching little turbans, with their brims turned down instead of up. Tulle and artificial plumage that can give no offense to the most sensitive member of the Audubon society are the trimmings most often used on these desirable hats.

The frock sketched is of a simple little evening toilet for a young girl. The material is dotted pink mulle. Insertion edged with narrow black velvet, put on in a fanciful design, trims skirt and shirred bodice.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

James Griffith, of Freeland, Pennsylvania, recently found a nugget of gold in the crop of one of his chickens. He is now prospecting for gold in his barnyard.

THE WIFE.

"Nay, do not bid me go (she said),
For I must guard his sleep."
(On wall and floor the candles made
Flickering shadow, shade on shade;
Without, an April robin sung
Of trysts that Love doth keep.
But here, faint scent of violets clung
And lilies tall their censers swung.)
"Mine eyes must look their fill (she said),
They have no time to weep."

"Twoscore of years of Love (she said),
And yet the half not told!"
(The candles touched with tender light
Her hair and his, so white, so white;
Her eyes, wherein the visioned Past
Lay like a chart unrolled,
In whose dim seas, star-girdled, vast,
The long years were but plummets cast.)
They only know Love's deeps (she said),
Who, loving, have grown old."

"Babes of his flesh I bore (she said), Fair girl and lusty son."
(They prest her side with yearning dear,
Her children brought their children near,
Love folded her and love caressed,
And yet she was alone.)
"Ye—ye have drawn Life at my breast),
But ere ye came, it gave him rest.
Mother of many I am (she said),
I was the wife of One."

"Yea—we have lived and loved (she said),
What counts this passing pain?"
(About her, in the candle's flame,
A sudden glory went and came.)
"What counts this hour I wait until
We love and live again?
Bear out his body where ye will—
He stays—my Love, my Bridegroom, still!
God made us one—the living God—
Death cannot make us twain!"

—Ednah Proctor Clarke.

The Java Python.

No creature of the jungles of Java is more feared than the terrible python. A hunter tells of his experiences with one of these huge snakes. "Gunning one day near the Wasil river, in the interior of the island," he says, "I watched a number of wild hogs coming to the water to drink. Suddenly the head of a snake rose above the grass and a hog squealed. A python had seized a full grown one, easily three feet high at the shoulder, and thrown two coils around the body. Under the tremendous pressure the hog seemed to lengthen, and when the snake uncoiled I saw only a strip of meat, nothing distinguishable but the head. I shot the snake. It was twelve feet long and seven inches through, and yet its coils had crushed the bones of its prey like chips. There is no doubt that hidden away in vast swamps of the interior are many anacondas of enormous size. Parties have been made up to hunt them, but the malarious climate drives them back."

Garland of Ribbon Roses.

For the young woman who has a fondness for pretty evening gowns make as a Christmas gift a garland of ribbon roses. This is done by making a rosette of loops of narrow ribbon and tying a knot in the top of each loop. In the center fasten a few pieces of yellow silk to make the stamens, the ends being knotted. These roses are from one to three inches in diameter and may be connected by strands or knotted wired stems of narrow green ribbon. Fasten the whole on a strip of stiff white bobbinet or scrim, and my lady can bedeck herself in the gayest and prettiest fashion.

"SAVINGS"

In Harvest time the farmer gather the fruits of his labours and lays by a portion for the winter—the time when all is going out and nothing coming in. This suggests the opportunity to all wage-earners and others of taking advantage of their "harvest time" (that is their earning period) to lay by a portion of their income for "life's winter" when the earning power ceases and expenses continue.

An Odds and Ends Dressing Table Box. Parisian Workbag Which Resembles a Melon

AN "odds and ends" box is an ideal thing for a dressing table, inasmuch as it does away with the rather finicking little trays and boxes generally found there.

To make this most useful ornament you will require a medium sized round cardboard box from which the lid has been taken, divested of its rim and cut into four equal parts. The interior of the box is lined with quilted silk and divided into four compartments corresponding with the sizes of those cut from the cover by means of satin covered cardboard fixed inside. The outside of the box is covered with any pretty material you like and the top edged with cord. Each piece cut from the lid must now be carefully lined with quilted satin matching the lining of the box and covered on the outside with the material used, embroidering on each piece respectively the words "Fancy Pins," "Hairpins," "Pins," "Trinkets." In order to give a slightly raised appearance cover the outside of each piece of cardboard with a little wadding and put the material over it, finishing off with cord used round the box. Each piece has a little loop at the extreme end, by means of which it can easily be lifted up, and is attached to the box as shown in the illustration.

Of course such a box can be greatly elaborated. It makes a pretty jewel case and can be decorated with painting, applique, embroidery or ribbon work.

Parisian Workbag.

Workbags are always popular presents, and the "melon" workbag, which is a Parisian creation, is one of the prettiest. To make it you must take eighteen long shaped pieces of cardboard measuring about two inches wide in the middle and gradually tapering off at the ends. The length of the pieces depends on the size of the workbag.

These pieces of cardboard must now be covered with satin that is a near match to the tints of a melon and lined with pale green silk. When completely covered sew them all together, with this proviso—that three of them, although joined, are left free at the outer sides, being sewn, however, a little way up from the bottom. The joining of the pieces must be very neatly done, and you can shade the outside in oil painting to imitate the markings of a melon. Draw some leaves on velvet and cut them out, stiffening them at the back by means of a little black muslin pasted on; this, of course, being done before the leaf is cut out to obtain nice sharp edges. These leaves are arranged at the top of the melon, a few falling down one side, and the vinelike tendrils and stalk are imitated in thick green silk wire. The "slice" cut out serves as an opening through which work can be placed in the bag and fastens at the top by means of a silk loop at the end and a velvet covered button hidden under one of the leaves. If one of the wire tendrils is bent into a round it will be found useful either for carrying the bag or to hang it by.

Melon bags are really very artistic, and in small sizes are invaluable for holding pieces of crochet or knitting.

A DAINTY BUREAU SET.

Cushion, Bureau Scarf, Laundry Bag and Hair Receiver.

A set consisting of bureau scarf, pincushion, hair receiver, work and laundry bags is a mighty nice present. The scarf, made to fit the bureau, is of cream scrim and finished with a one inch hem or hemstitching, depending upon the skill of the sewer. If hemmed, cover the stitches with an inch wide ribbon, then inside of this row run three rows of ribbon in graduated widths. If hemstitched, the sewing should not be concealed, of course, the widest ribbon being sewn on inside. The pincushion is oblong and will be bought ready for covering. This will be made exactly like the bureau scarf and will be held down at the four corners with small rosettes of ribbon. The hair receiver is just three long diamonds cut from cardboard, with three sections of scrim trimmed with ribbon to cover the outside and a colored material the same size for lining. One diamond larger than the other two forms the back, the smaller ones being sewn together and then to the background. Tiny bows adorn all the corners, and the receiver hangs by three ribbons. The workbag is of the old fashioned flat bit of cardboard order, covered on both sides, five square bags made of the scrim and trimmed with four rows of ribbon forming the sides. These are lined and then gathered up with draw strings of ribbon. They are now ready for sewing to the flat cardboard round.

The bag for small soiled articles has a similar piece of cardboard for its foundation, with three sections of scrim, each trimmed with the ribbon sewn together, then joined to the bottom of the bag. Small brass rings sewn on the inside for ribbons to pass through are more convenient than the draw strings, and one knot of ribbon on each seam just at the mouth of the bag where the sections join will be a pretty finish. The lining will of course correspond with the color of the ribbon chosen. Sateen, fine percaline, silkoline and silk will all answer.

CHRISTMAS SUGGESTIONS.

Why Not Make a Lamp Shade For a Gift?

Lamp and candle shades, whether purchased in the shops or made at home, are mighty nice Christmas gifts for the woman who entertains. The following suggestions may be helpful to those in search of novelties in this line: The newest shades for candles are of a thin metal substance perforated in more or less elaborate designs and lined with silks of different colors. These are most effective: The silver metal over pink or light blue and the gold over yellow or even over red, which gives almost a gaudy appearance.

These metal shades seem to have come as a reaction from the craze for beads, for not only beaded fringes, but whole shades made of tiny beads, have been universally seen. The reaction, however, seems to be by no means complete, for beads are still very much in evidence. Many of the shades of metal are finished with bead fringes that match the silk lining in color, while others are simply cut in rather deep points and have no trimming at the lower edge.

In spite of beads and metals, however, the candle shade of the fluffy "frilly" variety still obtains, and silks and ribbons and even tulle combine to make the daintiest shades imaginable. Of white and pink and blue and yellow they are charming in effect. The flower shades are very attractive. The lamp shade shown in the illustration is not difficult to make and is sure to prove an acceptable gift. It is made entirely of paper.

Fig. 1 shows frame, two narrow half inch strips of cardboard connected by wires which pass through holes in the cardboard and are then pinched firmly to hold them in place. It is a good plan to run another wire around the top band. Fig. 2.—Tie the bead on to the strip of paper two or three times to make it firm, and then cut the ends neatly and screw up the paper to hide them. Fig. 3.—Method of gathering narrow ruche: Do not use fine cotton, or it will tear the paper. Fig. 4.—Bead in position on fringe paper. Fig. 5.—Diagram of butterfly. Paint these on squares of paper and allow to dry before cutting out. Fig. 6.—Method of sewing paper fringe to cardboard edge. Fig. 7.—Method of gathering the shade with extra frill at top, which should be scalloped.

For one who crochets and knows the annoyance of having the spool of cotton roll about the floor, where it tangles and becomes soiled, a simple little spool holder as a Christmas present will fill a long felt want.

Procure a strong wire hairpin and pinch it together at the top, making a loop by which the holder is hung from a button on the wearer's shirt waist.

About three-quarters of an inch from the ends bend the points in, and these points can be sprung into the ends of the spool, which hangs in such a way that it unwinds easily with every move of the crochet hook. The hook is wound with baby ribbon.

STOMACH TROUBLES

To wrong action of the stomach and impaired digestion a host of diseases owe their origin.

When the food is imperfectly digested the full benefit is not derived from it by the body, and then stomach troubles start to appear.

Thus you become thin, weak, nervous and debilitated, energy is lacking, brightness, snap and vigor are lost and in their place come dullness, dizziness, loss of appetite, depression and langour. The great point is to get the stomach back into good shape again so it can properly digest the food, and the easiest, quickest and best way to do it is by the use of

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS

Miss Lizzie Furlotte, Jacquet River, N.B., writes: "I was very much troubled with my stomach and did not know what to do. I consulted several doctors, got medicine from them, but all to no purpose, and was constantly growing worse. One day I had the good luck to meet with a friend who had been troubled in the same way as myself. My friend told me of the wonderful cure Burdock Blood Bitters had made with her and advised me to try a bottle. I did so, and what a happy change the first bottle made. I took two more and am completely cured, and I shall ever sing the praises of B.B.B."

Price $1.00 per bottle or 6 bottles for $5.00.

Whitney Government Meets Reverses In East Hamilton.

ADVERSE MAJORITY IS 839

Government's Prison Labor Contract and Its Action In Removing Normal College From Hamilton Called Down by Electors—These Were the Principal Matters of Interest In Election—The Returns.

Hamilton, Dec. 5.—Mr. Allan Studholme, the Labor candidate, is now entitled to write M.P.P. after his name. The electors of East Hamilton gave him that right by their action yesterday at the polls in electing him to the Legislature by the handsome majority of 839 over Mr. J. J. Scott, K.C., the Conservative candidate.

The election passed off very quietly, and the result was doubtful till early in the afternoon, when labor men thought it looked very much as though their candidate would be elected. Previous to that time both parties seemed to feel sure of victory, but it is believed both had considerable doubt about the result. The general public had, anyway. While the election of either candidate could not make much change in the complexion of the House, the election was of considerable importance, inasmuch as its result was to indicate what the electors thought of the Whitney Government's prison labor contract and its action in removing the Normal College from Hamilton. That they condemn the Government action in both those matters Mr. Studholme's big majority amply proves. Those were the principle matters at issue in the contest.

Mr. Scott had said repeatedly that the Government had blundered in those matters, but he pledged himself to support the Government if elected. Mr. Studholme, on the other hand, not only condemned the Government, particularly on the prison labor contract, but promised to move a vote of censure if elected. His election is looked on as an endorsation of that policy by the workingmen of East Hamilton.

The result was a big surprise to every one, especially when it is remembered that Mr. Scott had a strong Conservative organization behind him. The Labor party had been organized only a few weeks, and as an organization was not to be compared with that behind Mr. Scott.

Mr. Studholme has the honor of being the first Labor candidate to be elected in Hamilton to take a seat in the Legislature. His supporters are greatly elated over their victory, and formd a big procession last night.

Returns by wards were as follows:
Ward 1—Scott, 254; Studholme, 286.
Ward 2—Scott, 228; Studholme, 363.
Ward 6—Scott, 491; Studholme, 751.
Ward 7—Scott, 539; Studholme, 841.
Totals—Scott, 1,502; Studholme, 2,341.

After his election Mr. Studholme addressed his supporters at his headquarters, thanking them for their hard day's work in his and labor's behalf.

Five passenger cars, worth in all $34,000, two of them worth $10,000 each, were totally destroyed. Two freight motors, one worth $10,000 and the other $2,000, and a sweeper worth $3,000, were burned. The barns and equipment were valued at $26,000.

The fire is believed to have been started by a live wire. Two men were working in the building, but the frame building spread the fire so quickly that all cars inside were burned. The loss is about half covered by insurance.

Toronto, Dec. 5.—It was announced at the chapel service in McMaster University yesterday morning that Mr. John D. Rockefeller had expressed his intention of contributing $60,000 to McMaster University. Mr. Rockefeller intimated that his gift is to be used for the erection of an additional building at the west end of McMaster Hall, which will provide several lecture rooms, a gymnasium, and dormitories for fifty students. The condition of Mr. Rockefeller's gift is that the denomination complete the collection of the $75,000 Forward Movement Fund and the subscription and collection of the amount ($55,000) required for the science building, now in process of erection.

CANADA'S RELATIONS TO UNITED STATES

Roosevelt's Message Brings Our Rights to Fore Again.

BEHRING SEA SEAL HERDS

Proposal to Have Dominion Relinquish Rights to Them—Adequate Compensation Suggested or Concessions on Other Pending Questions—Canada Not Inclined to Accede to the U. S. Request.

London, Dec. 5.—President Roosevelt's reference in his message to Congress to the negotiations between the United States and Great Britain over the Behring Sea relates to the long pending efforts to adequately protect the seal herds.

The negotiations have been conducted chiefly at Washington with the co-operation of the American embassy here, and appear to be part of a general plan to close up a number of outstanding questions in which Canadian interests are involved.

The recent trend of negotiations has been towards having Canada relinquish such rights as she possesses in Behring Sea in consideration for adequate compensation or concessions in other pending questions.

However, these exchanges have not made any notable advance, as Canada regards her rights in the Behring Sea in the light of a natural asset, and while disposed to make a reasonable adjustment she does not appear to be ready to give up her interests on the basis of concessions thus far tentatively proposed.

The negotiations therefore lack recent definite development, although the Government officials here hope that the appointment of a new ambassador to the United States may lead to clearing up of this and other pending questions.

HIS ANNUAL MESSAGE.

President Roosevelt Treats on Large Number of National Questions.

Washington, D.C., Dec. 5.—The President of the United States communicated his annual message to Congress yesterday. The salient points in the message are:

He advocates consideration by Congress of a progressive inheritance tax to reduce great fortunes.

He advocates the supervision by license or otherwise of all corporations other than railways doing interstate commerce business.

He advocates a bill providing for a more elastic currency.

He asks the eight-hour day for railway employes, and the adoption of the block signal system.

He favors publicity of campaign expenditures and the prevention of corporation contributions.

A Federal Divorce Law.

He advocates correction of divorce evils by a uniform federal law.

He condemns racial antagonism, citing the Atlanta and Brownsville cases, and asks a remedy for race solidarity in face of the enforcement of the law.

He does not touch on tariff revision.

He declares for drastic restrictions against undesirable immigration.

He asks for ample army and navy appropriations.

He asks assistance to the merchant marine for the purpose of extending the commerce of the United States on the high seas.

FELL TOGETHER TO DEATH.

Murderer Pleads That Sentence to Hang Be Not Commuted.

Valdosta, Ga., Dec. 5.—Rev. J. G. Rawlings and Alf. Moore, a negro, were hanged here yesterday for the murder of Willie and Carrie Carter in July, 1905. Both stepped upon the scaffold without a tremor; they stood on the trap together, and fell together.

Rev. J. G. Rawlings, who was hanged yesterday for murdering two children of his enemy, wrote the day before to the board of pardons to pay no attention to the pleas of his attorney for a commutation of sentence.

"I am going to hell, anyhow," he says in his letter.

Ever since his conviction Rawlings has fought every move to save him. He refused to allow his attorney to move for a new trial. He has spent most of his time on his knees in his cell praying to be executed.

IS BARGE HICKOX LOST?

Left Oswego Sunday For Belleville Loaded With Coal.

Belleville, Dec. 5.—Great anxiety is felt in the city in regard to the steam barge Hickox, which left Oswego on Sunday last, loaded with coal for Leavens of this city. Nothing has yet been heard of her. The Lloyd S. Porter left Oswego about two hours after the Hickox, and is now in Picton.

She sighted the Hickox once on the lake, then a snowstorm set in and sight of her was lost. The Hickox was owned and commanded by Capt. Smith of this city, and two of the crew are Belleville people, George Cole and Fred Fairman. The engineer is a Trenton man and the cook is from Kingston.

Harbormaster Vandervoot went to Kingston yesterday afternoon, engaged a tug and began a search for the missing craft.

PETERBOROUGH WEDNESDAY DECEMBER 5 1906

CANADIAN PACIFIC WILL MISS WARSAW, BUT THIS CITY WILL BE THE JUNCTION POINT

Superintendent Leonard, of C. P. R., Writes to Warsaw Board of Trade, Telling of the Decision Reached as to Route.

PETERBORO' THE CITY TO BE TOUCHED

The C. P. R. has, it is understood, reached a definite decision in reference to the route for the new grain line between the main line and the Georgian Bay, and it will be learned with pleasure here that this city has been selected as the junctional point.

No Hope For Them

The municipalities to the north of the city, particularly Lakefield and Warsaw, have been in communication with Mr. Leonard in reference to the question of route, advocating, of course, their particular claims to recognition when the matter of a route was to be considered, and the decision of the company in this respect has been communicated to the Boards of Trade representing these places. This decision holds out no hope of the new line touching either of these villages, and the intelligence is conveyed that Peterborough will get the new branch.

Pleasing News

It has been known for some time that there was a strong probability that this would be the decision of the company, but to learn that it has been practically announced from an official source will be gratifying news to those who have the best interests of the city at heart.

Lakefield Insistent

The Lakefield Board of Trade, however, dies hard, and it is understood that further efforts will be made by that body to induce the company to give that village the competition in railways, which the Board considers essential to the progress and prosperity of the municipality.

DRAMATIC CLUB WILL GO TO LAKEFIELD

Present the Play "The Ugliest of Seven" at Entertainment To-night

The Dramatic Club of All Saints' Church will go to Lakefield to-night to present the comedy, "The Ugliest of Seven," the entertainment to be given under the auspices of the Lakefield Anglican Church. In addition to the club, it is expected that a number of other local people will attend.

A POPULAR LECTURER AND AUTHOR COMING

Rev. R. E. Knowles, of Galt, will Give Lecture at Y. M. C. A. Here

Rev. R. E. Knowles, of Galt, author of "St. Cuthbert's" and "The Undertow," will lecture in Peterborough in January, under the auspices of the Young Men's Christian Association. Mr. Knowles has been secured through the kindness of Mr. D. Hughes Charles. The Educational Committee will meet on Friday evening to decide on the details of the arrangements.

Citizens of Peterborough will be glad of the opportunity of hearing Mr. Knowles, who so delighted the audience which greeted him when he lectured here some years ago.

EXCEPTIONS PROVE THE RULE

Successful Men Give Particular Attention to Dress and Address

To increase or emphasize individuality is to make a man noticed. In these strenuous days a man who is favourably noticed is on the high road to success.

All successful men are well dressed, and dressed so as to accentuate their individuality. The exceptions only prove the rule.

Being well dressed does not mean that a man must be a dandy. Few dandies are well dressed.

In the book, "Manners and Modes for Men," there are pictured suits and overcoats for various occasions and occupations. Published by the Semi-ready Company, these booklets may be had from any Semi-ready Wardrobe. Semi-ready tailoring is a synonym for correct form and cultured style. Their $20 and $25 suits and overcoats are not any better tailored than their $15 garments.

MR. JOLLIFFE'S WORK PLEASED TORONTO CRITICS

At His Recital Given There Last Night He Gave Evidence of His Musical Abilities to Large Audience

GLOBE SAYS HE HAS A FINE VOICE

Mr. R. Norman Jolliffe has given his first public recital in Toronto, and has pleased the critics. The Toronto Globe of to-day has the following to say of it:

Mr. R. Norman Jolliffe, baritone, a gifted pupil of Mr. August Wilhelmj, gave a recital last night in St. George's Hall, which was attended by a fashionable and appreciative audience. Mr. Jolliffe has a fine voice, mellow and sonorous, and he manages it with uncommon skill. He sings moreover with earnest expression, as was shown by his renderings of the Schumann "Evening Song," "Lovely Cradle of My Sorrows," and "Night of Spring." Later when he sang Schubert's "Erl King," he revealed a sense of the dramatic which made the number one of his most effective efforts of the evening. He was enthusiastically recalled and had to respond with an extra song. During the evening he sang other numbers by Schubert, Strauss, Mozart, Lautz, Wilhelmj and White, winning the critical verdict of the audience in all of them. He was assisted by Miss Allen, the brilliant piano pupil of Mr. Vogt, who played the Lazz ballade in D minor and two studies by Chopin, with excellent accomplishment of technique. Miss Millar, a soprano, with a light and attractive soprano voice; Mr. H. J. Lautz, accompanist, and by Mr. Wilhelj, who sang with his accustomed finish in a trio and duet.

WEDDING BELLS

ANDERSON--MORTON

A very pretty wedding was solemnized in the Methodist parsonage at Quill Lake on Tuesday morning, November 27, at 8.30 o'clock, when Miss Margaret Blanche Morton, of Campbellford, Ont., was united in marriage to Mr. Charles N. Anderson, of Quill Lake, Sask. Rev. Hugh Mixon performed the ceremony. Miss Morton arrived in town the previous evening from Winnipeg, where she had been visiting her sister for a short time on the way west. After the wedding the happy young couple drove to their future residence north of town, where Mr. Anderson has already a comfortable home prepared.—Quill Lake Quill.

SHERMAN W. D'WOLF ELECTED SENATOR IN IOWA

Nephew of Peterborough Lady Made a Great Run and was Elected State Senator for Grundy-Black Hawk District

A POPULAR MAN IN HOME COUNTY

In the recent elections in the United States, Mr. Sherman W. De Wolf, a nephew of Mrs. W. Spilsbury, of Perry street, Peterborough, was elected Senator for the Grundy-Black Hawk district, and, referring to his splendid victory, the Reinbeck Iowa, Courier, says:—

Sherman W. DeWolf surprised his friends Tuesday by the almost unprecedented run he made for State Senator from the Grundy-Black Hawk district. His most ardent supporters could scarcely believe the figures when it was found that he had carried his home county (Grundy) by nearly 600 and only lacked 416 of carrying Black Hawk county. The two counties are ordinarily Republican by overwhelming majorities, but this year the signs were right for Mr DeWolf and the landslide went to him. There were two paramount reasons for this, first, Mr. DeWolf was popular in his own county, as was plainly demonstrated by the handsome vote he received, and second, his opponent Mr. Longley, was extremely unpopular in his home county of Black Hawk. And we might add further, that Grundy county, though a small county, has got some men within her borders who know how to put up a fight — and they did it on Tuesday. The people of Grundy felt that the Senatorship should come this way this time, and though they asked modestly for it in the candidacy of Mr. Morrison, they were turned down by Black Hawk. But they (the voters of Grundy) were like the cat with seven lives — they came to — rallied to Mr. DeWolf's support — and the next senator will be from Grundy county, just the same.

PITTSBURG AND CANADIAN CAPITALISTS INTERESTED IN APSLEY MINING PROPERTY

Senator Brown, of Smoky City, Here Looking After His Interests—Owns Several Mines in That District.

CANADIANS ARE INTERESTED ALSO

Apsley, Dec. 5.—Considerable activity is being experienced here at the present time in mining matters, and the belief is expressed by those who are in a position to know, that Apsley will shortly see a revival in iron mining activity which will contribute very materially to the prosperity of this part of the county.

Pittsburg Man Interested

Senator Brown, of Pittsburg, who is largely interested in some iron properties in this district, has been here for a few days looking up matters in connection with his property here, and there may be some interesting developments in the near future.

Canadians Investing Too

A party of capitalists and prospectors from Montreal, who are said to be associated with Mr. Drummond, has also been staying at the village for some days, and their visit is taken to indicate that the Canadian iron and steel interests are becoming attracted to the wealth of the district of which Apsley is the centre, and that some active work may be looked for from this source.

Phoenix, Arizona, Dec. 5.—Private despatches say sixty lives were lost at Clifton yesterday in the flood, caused by the bursting of a dam that swept through the camp, practically destroying the business section; wrecking the smelting plant of the Arizona Copper Company and tearing out miles of track on the Arizona and New Mexico Railway.

BAPTISTS HELD SALE OF WORK AND CONCERT

A Satisfactory Sum Realized From the Sale of Articles Donated by Earnest Workers of Park Street Church

The sale of work conducted by the Ladies' Aid of the Park Street Baptist Church took place last night, the spacious drawing and dining rooms of Mrs. Wm. Pilling, Bolivar street, being well filled, and after a busy time in purchasing and the playing of innocent games, Rev. A. H. Brace called the company to order, when the Misses Leader each gave a sweet solo and recitation, both of which were much enjoyed. Miss Mollie Pilling also gave one number, after which Master Bunton, the baby nephew of "mine host," to the great amusement of all, recited "Two Little Eyes."

The proceeds netted $20, with a few articles yet to be disposed of.

Work Secured By An Examiner Ad

Two days ago a native of England, who had recently arrived in Canada and who wanted work, inserted a small advertisement in the want column of the Examiner and the result was quite satisfactory to him, for the advertisement had no sooner been seen by a farmer in Smith township than he had hitched his horse and was on his way to this office to file his application for this advertiser's services, and the latter's heart was made glad by the offer of steady and well paid employment.

WESTERN LANDS ARE MOST PROFITABLE INVESTMENT

Real Estate Firm From Regina Open Office in Peterborough to Handle Lands in the West

ALL LANDS ARE PERSONALLY INSPECTED

That "there is no better investment on earth than earth itself" is the statement made by Messrs. Wilson and Gibson, a new real estate firm opening an office in Peterborough, for handling western lands, both farm and city property, in their announcement made in to-day's issue of the Examiner, in which they give some interesting information concerning the west in general and of Regina in particular, in which city the firm has considerable city property listed for sale.

Extensive Business

Messrs. Wilson and Gibson will conduct their business here on a large scale and are prepared to handle any order for lands in the west no matter how large. Syndicates may be formed in which a number of small investors may unite and reap the benefit of the ever increasing values of farm or city property in the west.

Thirty thousand acres of choice land in the Regina district have been placed with this firm for sale, and there is a decided advantage in dealing with Messrs. Wilson & Gibson by reason of the fact that every acre of land they have for sale has been personally inspected by them, and guaranteed first-class. It will thus be seen that in dealing with this firm investors have the advantage of knowing that the land bought is suitable for the purposes stated, and that it is in a section in which land values are constantly increasing.

A Good Investment

Property in the city of Regina, of which Messrs. Wilson & Gibson have a large quantity, is an excellent investment, proof of which fact is found in the steady increase in value of land there during the last few years. There has been no boom growth, but a steadily increasing population and wealth, the result of which is seen in the substantial advances which the city has made. To-day Regina is the centre of the largest wheat belt in Canada, and has a population of 10,000, as compared with 2,645 four years ago. It is the commercial and distributing centre for a territory of 275,000 square miles. It will thus be seen that there is no risk in buying property in a city with the prospects of Regina.

A Peterborough Boy

Mr. Gibson is a Peterborough boy who has spent some time in the west and is as a result thoroughly conversant with the conditions there. In the real estate business, in which he has been engaged in Regina he has handled considerable Peterborough business and the result in every case has been satisfactory.

A Practical Farmer

Mr. Wilson has been a resident of the west for six years, and has been farming there, so that he knows exactly what he is selling when it comes to farm lands. His judgment as a practical western farmer should be of service to investors here who are looking for a profitable channel for the employment of their surplus capital. Prior to going to the west Mr. Wilson lived at Brampton, Ont.

The Peterborough offices of the firm are at 320 George street, where members of the firm will be found both during the day and evening to meet anyone interested in western lands or city property.

APSLEY PEOPLE WANT TELEPHONE LINE BUILT

And Are Willing to Give Reasonable Bonus to Bell Company if Line from Mount Julian is Extended to Apsley

DESIRED CONNECTION MAY BE GIVEN

Apsley wants telephone connection with the outside world, the residents of that section feeling that they have been isolated long enough.

As a result of this desire for the frills of civilization steps are being taken to induce the Bell Telephone Company to extend their lines which now run to Mount Julian, to Apsley.

Will Offer Bonus

In order to secure the desired 'phone service the residents of the township express a willingness to give a reasonable bonus to the company in view of the somewhat limited number of subscribers which the new line would have in that section.

It is quite probable that the request of the Apsley residents will be given a favourable consideration by the company, and that the deer hunters of Peterborough will be able in a few minutes' conversation over the telephone, to learn the facts about the hunting, instead of having to take a drive of forty miles.

BANQUET TO SUPREME PRESIDENT

One of Greatest Social Events in History of Lindsay

One of the greatest social events ever held in Lindsay was celebrated last night in the Pym House. It was the occasion of the banquetting of David Boxall, of the town, who was elected last August to the office of Supreme President of the Sons of England for Canada and South Africa.

The banquet was tendered by the Westminster S.O.E. Lodge No. 20, and was attended by three of the local brethren, Messrs. David Curtis, D.D.; Frank Kitney, W.P.; and Jno Brown.

Among the speakers of the evening were R.v. Canon Baldwin, of Toronto, and J. D. Flavelle, of Lindsay. About 100 citizens were present and gave Mr. Boxall a most enthusiastic reception.

NEW TRIAL ORDERED IN THE UNION STOCK CASE

Interesting Local Legal Case Disposed of in Divisional Court in Toronto—Defendants Pay Costs of Appeal

The Toronto Globe, in its legal column to-day, has the following:

Clarke vs. Union Stock Underwriting Co., of Peterborough. — Judgment (H.) on appeal by defendants from judgment of Falconbridge, C.J., of 11th June, 1906, in favour of plaintiff for the recovery of $7,000 and interest in an action on two promissory notes. Judgment set aside, and new trial directed. Defendants may amend if they desire. The costs of the last trial will be reserved for disposition at the next trial, but defendants must pay plaintiff's costs of opposing this appeal. H. E. Rose for defendants. G. H. Watson, K.C., and S. T. Medd (Peterborough) for plaintiff.

THE CARBON WORKS WERE THREATENED WITH FIRE

Brigade Called at Noon To-day to the Carbon Works—Damage Was Slight

The fire brigade were given another noon hour call to-day about 12.15, when fire broke out in the Carbon Works on Townsend street. The firemen were quickly on the scene, but there was practically nothing for them to do as the fire had been put under control by the application of the company's chemicals. This is an example of what modern fire-fighting apparatus can do and demonstrates their value in cases like that of to-day.

The damage was very slight, but it is mostly due to the promptness with which the flames were attended to.

Cold Spell Going But It Will Return

The back of the cold spell has been broken. This morning the thermometer registered 8 degrees above zero, and at noon it had gone up to 20 above, with the prospects of still higher temperature.

Snow fell to the depth of two and a half inches, but the sleighing is still rather poor. The prospects are that there will be more snow in the not distant future, perhaps turning to sleet, then becoming colder, though no severe cold weather is looked for until the end of the week, at any rate.

It would not be surprising if to-morrow should see some rainfall.

THE CONSERVATORY CONCERT WAS A SUCCESS

Delightful Programme Was Given Last Night at Warsaw—Contributed to by Members of Conservatory Staff

CHORAL SOCIETY DID GOOD WORK

The first concert under the auspices of the Warsaw branch of the Conservatory of Music was held on Monday night in the town hall, Warsaw, and was a success from every standpoint, the large audience which gathered expressing its approval in no uncertain manner of the work of the various artists contributing to the excellent programme. Mr. McCann has been singularly successful in his work with the choral society, which no numbers about fifty members.

Two selections by the society were given and merited the approval given evidence to by the audience.

A number of the pupils of the Conservatory here were also present, and their numbers were highly appreciated, as were also those of the teachers, who gave their services to contribute to the success and pleasure of the event.

Miss Bertha Parnell sang with much acceptance and musical finish, "Two Songs," by Johnston, while Miss Manning, a pupil of Mr. Maurice van der Water, was heard in two selections, in both of which she gave unmistakable evidence of the possession of a splendid voice capable of much expression and of good quality. Her numbers were "Elaine," by Bartlett, and "May Morning," by Tosti. Mr. Van der Water gave two solos, which were encored, and pleased the audience with his good tenor voice. His reappearance before a Warsaw audience will be warmly welcomed. Miss Reesor, a new member of the Conservatory of Music was heard in two solos. Miss Mabel Pringle delighted the audience with a reading in which she displayed considerable elocutionary ability. Mr. Gilbert Markle contributed two violin soloes to the programme, which were given in his usual finished style.

Mr. McCann acted as accompanist for the soloists, and by his work in this respect, as well as for the management of the concert, he deserves great credit.

WILLING WORKERS ANNUAL MEETING WAS HELD

WINTER FAIR

The annual meeting of the Experimental Union and the Winter Fair will be on at Guelph next week, commencing on the 10th, and ending on the 14th.

Every progressive farmer in Ontario will find it worth his while to spent at least part of the week at Guelph. The lessons to be learned from the exhibits of money-making animals on the hoof, and afterwards in the carcass, together with the information which may be gathered from the discussions in the lecture hall, will give ample return for the cost incurred in the journey.—Farmers' Sun.

THE BEST STRIKE-BREAKER

It is difficult to estimate the good that has been done by the good work of Mr. Mackenzie King, Dominion Deputy Minister of Labour, in settling the Lethbridge coal strike. If it had continued, a wide area of the Northwest, in the winter of a climate of rigid severity, would have been subjected to great suffering, if not actual loss of life, by lack of fuel. The brief duration of the strike created such conditions of stress and suffering that farmers grew desperate, and, it is said, even "held up" railway trains laden with coal and helped themselves to supplies to prevent their families from freezing. The coal company dealt with the strikers in a harsh and autocratic way, submitting terms conveyed in language insulting and irritating to the striking miners. Mr. King took the situation in hand, and drafted practically the same terms in conciliatory language, and the miners, thus appealed to, and also appealed to by a consideration of the suffering a continuation of the strike would entail, accepted the terms offered. He is given, and doubtless deserves, great credit for his firmness, energy and discretion in bringing the strike to an end. The credit extends further than to Mr. King; it extends to Sir William Mulock, who, as a Minister of the Dominion Government, first recognized the claims of labour and created a Department of Labour. Mr. King, as Deputy Minister, has done good work, and there are thousands of homes in the Northwest, saved from suffering, who bless him for his work. Mr. King is the ideal strike-breaker.

A GIGANTIC ENTERPRISE

The announcement is made through our news columns that three of the largest Canadian rubber manufacturing concerns have decided to form an amalgamation, the firm to be known as the Canadian Consolidated Rubber Company, with a capital stock of $5,000,000. The three companies in the merger are the Canadian Rubber Company, Granby Rubber Company, and the Maple Leaf Rubber Company.

The rubber business in Canada is at the present time, in a particularly healthy condition, and the new combination promises to be one of the Dominion's most prosperous concerns.

The three companies affected by the amalgamation are the largest and most progressive in Canada, and there seems every reason to believe that, with their interests consolidated, the business will prove a most profitable one to those interested.

MR. HYMAN'S RESIGNATION

Canadian Courier.

The Hon. Charles Hyman is an exception to the rule that Canadian Cabinet Ministers go south for coolness when the north gets too hot to hold them. Mr. Hyman's ill-health is not merely an excuse; it is a fact. His constitution, strong as it is, has been undermined by his faithfulness to duty. Mr. Hyman took his office seriously. In the language of the street, he was a horse to work. He used to put two eight hour days into every one.

Before he went away he resigned his portfolio. Was he right in doing so? Seeing that politics is a game, was this just the best way the game could be played? Does a man throw his cards on the table before the hand is fought out? Some of Mr. Hyman's best friends think he would have done better to sit tight until the other fellows got tired of bluffing.

If every Conservative paper in Canada demanded it of Mr. Hyman that would be no reason for him to resign, because the Conservative newspapers are the natural enemies of those at present in power at Ottawa. Their anger and their surprise at the wickedness of their political opponents is taken by the worldly wise with a grain of salt. If the weak sisters of the Liberal press joined in the clamour that would still be no particular reason why Mr. Hyman should yield points to the other side. Mr. Hyman's critics have no monopoly of virtue. If his accusers could wait a year to warm over their rotten herring, Mr. Hyman could fairly claim a similar period of time in which to think his resignation over. While it was very noble to give up the Department of Public Works at this stage, it would have been more discreet to have kept it until the election trial was over and he knew how the cards would stack for a new deal.

Mr. Hyman was the victim of a system of elections which has grown up in Canada whereby the statesman's right hand does not know what his left hand is doing. Which is to say, the rough chores of politics have fallen into hands not too nice. Very often the public man is up in the clouds where he cannot keep an eye on the unbridled enthusiasms which exist lower down. Whence come bribing, switching, ballot stuffing, and what is generally known as "fighting the devil with fire?" For many years before Mr. Hyman impigned on politics, London was a place in which both sides used the recognized means of combatting the Evil One with his own weapons. Mr. Hyman is the martyr of the bad practice, and the pity of it all is that the devil in this particular instance had no need of being fought that way. Although a good deal was said about the Autonomy Bill in that campaign, the Autonomy Bill was not the issue. Charlie Hyman was the issue. And the question was, would London turn him down for William Grey just when Sir Wilfrid Laurier had made a Cabinet Minister of him? Would London nip the career of a tried and favourite son just when it had burst into flower? London said no. And London was mighty proud of the man-to-man way in which the Cabinet Minister got out and made his canvass. Charlie Hyman would have won on his merits if there hadn't been a single dark lantern agent or one dollar of sly money in the constituency.

It is to be hoped that Mr. Hyman will find in the south not only health but courage. He can carry London again. His friends believe in him, and would like to see him back in the Department of Public Works, of which he has been an able and efficient minister. He has done nothing in office to reflect on Sir Wilfrid Laurier's good judgment in choosing him as a business man to run a business department in a business way. The remuneration of a Cabinet Minister is not an object to a man like Mr. Hyman, but the honour is a great deal. He has given Canada his best services and Canada is under obligation to give him fair play.

CURRENT PERIODICALS

"NATIONAL WEEKLY."

The Canadian Courier is the name of Vol. I., No. 1 of the latest canny in high-type weekly journalism. It is called a "national weekly," and, it its first number, comes well up to its title. Its articles and its several departments cover a wide range, and the writing is of high quality. The typographical style, paper, illustrations and general appearance of the Courier indicate its good character, as the cut, comfortable suit and material of clothes indicate the warmth of the wearer's bank account. Its editorial utterances under "Topics of the Week," covering mainly domestic and imperial politics, are thoughtful in conception well expressed, with a touch of ginger which gives piquancy and relish to the heaviest dish of the intellectual menu of the Courier. The first number consists of twenty well-filled pages, nicely illustrated, and we are promised that the number of pages will be increased at once, that "a staff of artists is now working on full-page drawings, on illustrations for stories and features and the first of these will appear next week," and "a splendid serial story will begin next week." The Courier is welcomed with the hope that, for heaven's sake, the newsboys won't cry the "Carryer."

"ROD AND GUN."

The December number of this, one of the most creditable—in its field—of Canadian periodicals, brings with it the warrant for the warm welcome its monthly visits receive. Its hundred pages are filled with matter of liveliest interest to the true sportsman. The illustrations, including a coloured, full-page frontispiece—"Herd of Buffaloes, Canadian National Park"—are both artistic and apropos, veritable illustrations. "Rod and Gun" reeks off good sporting stuff, and hits the mark every time.

A QUESTION OF ETHICS

Mr. John D. Rockefeller has offered to contribute $60,000 to provide additional buildings for McMaster University, Toronto. Rockefeller is estimated the richest individual man in the world, and his sixty thousand would represent no more of sacrifice to him than would six cents to a man of ordinary income. Some regard his money as tainted. It certainly smells of coal oil if that be considered a taint. Is any money tainted? If it is true that there is nothing in the world outside of the heart of man that is intrinsically bad, then in the bad use of things consist the only wrong. It is certainly good use of money to promote the interests of education. But is the money Mr. Rockefeller distributes so liberally for educational and religious purposes, his to give? He has, it is charged, gained a great deal of it by extortionate charges for coal oil, the only means of light to millions of households in the United States. He owes, it is stated, the bulk of wealth to extortionate methods, and therefor owes the bulk of it to those from whom he has extorted it by unrighteous combination. According to the laws of strict morality the money he is distributing is not his, but rightfully belongs to others. But in all ages the churches have never been known to regard the mouth of the gift horse with too nice scrutiny. The robber barons of old, after a life of pillage, robbery and outrage, thought to make their peace with Heaven by building a church or a monastery. The robber barons of today seem to hold the same view—and to act accordingly. John D. Rockefeller's money is not tainted in itself, as a mere medium of exchange—the question is whether its acceptance for religious purposes is, or is not, a tacit acceptance, as righteous, of the unrighteous means by which it is said to have been accumulated. A story is told of a judge who refused to accept a free "shine" from an admiring boot black, who had heard the judge sentence a murderer; he did not wish to subject his judgment to the risk of being influenced by even so trifling a favour.

A "GOOD BARGAIN"

At the time the Whitney Government granted the concession to the Right-of-Way Mining Company, Hon. Mr. Foy, who was acting Premier, declared that the Government had made an excellent bargain. The Conservative press, which came to the defence of the Whitney Administration when criticism of the deal was made by the Free Press, maintained also that the Government had driven a hard bargain, even venturing the opinion that the company would be unable to declare dividends after paying over the $50,000 cash bonus to the Government with a royalty of 25 per cent. on the gross value of ore taken from the mine.

With the start of mining operations on the property, it is clear that the deal was a "good bargain," not for the Whitney Government and the public, whose interests they are expected to protect, but for the concessionaires.

Government surveyors who have returned to Toronto, state that last Saturday the entire staff of seventeen on the Right-of-Way Mining Company's property took out four tons of ore valued at $10,000 from a continuation of the Timmins vein close to the track. On the day's proceedings the company got $7,500 and the Government $2,500. In one week's operation with the same small staff of men the company will be able to pay the entire cash bonus of $50,000.—Ottawa Free Press.

FAST HAMILTON

"Let him that standeth take heed lest he fall," is an injunction that may well be laid to heart by the Whitney Government. It got a double black eye in the East Hamilton bye-election yesterday. It lost a seat and by a majority that represents a loss of over 1,700 votes. Mr. Studholme, the Labour candidate, was elected over the Whitney Government candidate, by a majority of 844. The late Mr. Carscallen carried East Hamilton by a majority of 880. The result represents a great revulsion of feeling. The idea of a simple stove-mounter, "a common working man," contesting a seat with a Conservative lawyer and a K.C. at that, was regarded by the friends of the party candidate as preposterous. Of course the significance of the Conservative candidate's defeat is somewhat blurred by the fact that popular sympathy for labour evolved by the street car strike may have helped the Labour candidate. But this of itself could hardly account for the conversion of a Conservative majority of 880 into a minority of 844. The result shows that a Government with an overwhelming majority at its back cannot afford to take the high hand. Trading upon this majority and the erstwhile political subservency of East Hamilton the Government felt that it could remove the Normal College from Hamilton with impunity. It also, doubtless, felt that it could afford to outrage labour sentiment by perpetuating an odious 3-cent an hour Central Prison convict labour contract in the face of the promise to abolish prison labour as a competing factor with honest labour. A big majority in the House is only a certainty for four years—the day of reckoning comes quickly—and to repeat such a majority means an honest effort and successful, on the part of the Government to redeem its promises and govern the province on the line of the public interests.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Mr. Studholme, the victorious Labour candidate in East Hamilton bye-election is a stove-mounter, which explains why he made it so hot for the Conservative candidate.

The Toronto Mail and Empire has issued a splendid publication in large quarto size, illustrating the greatness of Toronto as a political, legal, educational, industrial and commercial centre. All Ontarians are proud of Toronto, the capital of our great Province, and the inland metropolis of Canada. The Mail and Empire's "Toronto, the Prosperous" is typographically worthy of its theme. Its 200 odd quarto pages of fine paper are studded with interesting information regarding the standing of Toronto as a great centre, illustrated generously by beautiful half-tone pictures of prominent citizens, buildings, public and industrial. The advertising pages bear eloquent testimony to the enterprise of its commercial princes. Toronto is a great and thriving city, and the pages of the Mail and Empire's beautiful publication is splendid evidence of this fact.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is constitutional remedies. Deafness is inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

GIRLS DIVE OUT CLUB WINDOWS

Neighborhood Hisses while Policemen Raid the Osceola Social Club.

New York, Dec. 3.—Capt. Miles O'Reilly "butted in" on a session of the Osceola Social Club at 178 Sullivan street, with four of his plain clothes men the other night, and then had to send for the patrol wagon and the reserves to get out again. The captain, in full uniform, was patrolling around the Mercer street precinct when he heard the laughter and music in the club rooms. Followed by his men, Phalen, Redmond, Tierney and Willemse, the captain marched into the club rooms. Instantly there was a stampede. Sixty persons, half of whom were girls and young women, began diving through windows, climbing fire escapes, and trying to hide behind each other.

"Don't be afraid," Capt. O'Reilly said. "I am not going to arrest any of you because of your youth. You should be at church instead of dancing, and singing, and drinking beer here." After delivering his lecture, Capt. O'Reilly looked out and saw in the street a surging mass of people.

The block approved of the club and was not slow in showing its disapproval of Capt. O'Reilly for invading it. When the captain saw the angry faces, he went to a telephone and ordered Sergt. McGloin to send the patrol wagon and the reserves. When the wagon arrived the uniformed policemen jumped out and rushed inside, seized the four plain clothes men and marched them out as though they were prisoners. When all were safely loaded in the wagon, Capt. O'Reilly, resplendent in his gold braid, came out and clambered in after them.

The young women waved him a good-bye from the windows and the crowds in the street hissed him as he left. Capt. O'Reilly said he had received complaints about the club in that it permitted young girls to join in the dancing and drinking of beer.

Fatigue From Poisons In Systen
AND GOOD HEALTH CAN ONLY RETURN WHEN THE BLOOD FILTERS, THE LIVER AND KIDNEYS, ARE SET RIGHT BY
DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS.

Tired, languid feelings are the result of the accumulation of waste products in the system. On the failure of the liver and kidneys to remove these impurities the blood becomes filled with poisonous substances which instead of aiding the functions tend to arrest them and give rise to pains in the limbs, backaches, headaches and tired, worn-out feelings.

There remains to be discovered a more prompt and effective means of enlivening and invigorating the action of the liver and kidneys than Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. In fact this medicine is unique in its combined influence on the liver and kidneys and to this double action is attributed its extraordinary success in the cure of complicated diseases of these filtering organs.

Biliousness, headaches, indigestion, kidney disease and constipation are promptly and thoroughly cured by Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and the whole system is cleansed of the foul impurities which result in disease and suffering.

Mr. John Gaheen, who is in the fish business in Port Hope, Ont., states: "In my business I do a great deal of driving over bad roads, and the constant jar of the rig, along with exposure to all sorts of weather, brought on kidney disease. I was in miserable health, and suffered a great deal with sharp pains in my back. I heard of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and decided to try them. Before I had used all of the first box I felt better, and three boxes have entirely cured me. I am very glad of an opportunity to recommend Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, for I have proven their wonderful control over kidney disease."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills succeed where ordinary kidney medicines fail, because of their direct and combined action on the liver and kidneys. This has been proven in thousands of cases of serious and complicated diseases of the kidneys.

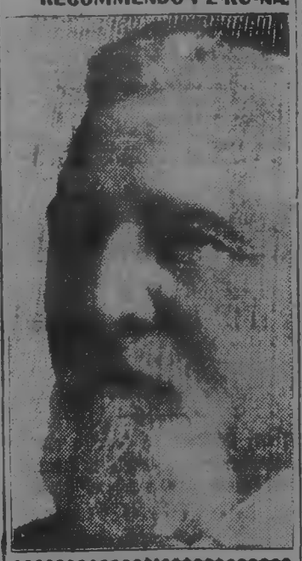
EX-MAYOR CRUMBO RECOMMENDS PE-RU-NA.



"My Endorsement of Pe-ru-na Is Based On Its Merits."
—Ed. Crumbo.

ED. CRUMBO, Ex-Mayor of New Albany, Ind., writes from 511 E. Oak street:

"My endorsement of Peruna is based on its merits.

"If a man is sick he looks anxiously for something which will cure him, and Peruna will do the work.

"I know that it will cure catarrh of the head or stomach, indigestion, headache and any weary or sick feeling.

"It is bound to help anyone, if used according to directions.

"I also know dozens of men who speak in the highest terms of Peruna and have yet to hear of anyone being disappointed in it."

Mr. Crumbo, in a later letter, dated Aug. 25, 1904, says:

"My health is good, at present, but if I should have to take any more medicine I will fall back on Peruna."

The New York Stock Market

(Furnished by J. R. Heintz & Co.)

New York, Dec. 5.—Further realizing, as expected, took place in the stock market to-day on the favourable view of the President's message and also because of the continued high manipulated money rates, but not much stock came out and the list acted well. The standard stocks met good buying today on weakness, and we believe they should be bought at such times without hesitation, discrimination, of course, always to be employed.

The dividend on New York Central was increased to 6 per cent. to-day the Car Foundry dividend meeting comes to-morrow and that issue may be put on a dividend basis. During the afternoon the market was highly irregular, being alternately weak and strong. A rumour that Secretary Shaw would announce some relief to the money market after the close was in circulation the last half hour and stocks rallied strongly, U. S. Steel common, Reading and Atchison being the strong features. The close was strong.

DRINK TEA SAYS DOCTOR TO KILL TYPHOID GERMS

British Army Surgeon Announces That Tea Drinking will Prevent the Disease

New York, Dec. 3.—Tea is a preventative of typhoid, it has just been announced in England. The discovery is made by Major J. G. McNaught, a surgeon in the British army, who acquaints the medical profession in America with the particulars of his experiments.

He finds that the typhoid germ, in pure culture, becomes greatly diminished in numbers by an exposure of four hours to the beverage. After twenty hours it was impossible to recover at all from the cold tea. He recommends the use of cold tea as a substitute for water in soldiers' canteens during active service. Even when water is sufficiently sterilized it is likely to become infected after sterilization, and bottles which have once been filled with contaminated water are capable of transmitting the infection for a long time.

Major McNaught suggests that everybody drink tea. If prepared in a proper manner, tea, according to physicians, constitutes a refreshing and not harmful beverage, for it is the tannin and other extractives, which are drawn out after continued steeping, that are productive of harmful consequences. "Boiled" tea gives a coppery coat to the stomach and a saffron hue to the face.

If employed in the manner indicated, in localities where typhoid is known to be present, tea may thus serve as one of the essential precautionary measures to guard against infection by this dread disease.

AN EPIDEMIC OF SNEEZING DISTURBS SUBWAY CAR

Meek Chinaman with Bag Said Nothing, but Escaped with the Goods

New York, Dec. 1.—Car No. 3,631 of the Bronx Park Subway express was full of "sneeze powder" when it pulled out of the Brooklyn Bridge station at 5 o'clock last night. Everybody sneezed except a Chinaman, who sat tight and looked solemn, and everybody roared with laughter as the epidemic spread until it brought watery eyes and sore noses.

It got to be so bad that several passengers appealed to the conductor. He got one whiff of the "sneeze powder," and went off like a Gatling gun. He couldn't locate the powder, except in the air. The protesting passengers, between sneezes, caught sight of the solemn Mongolian. Not a sneeze had ruffled the even temper of the Celestial.

"Put him off," yelled some passengers. Others thought they ought to capture the bag first. The Chinaman sat on it. The attacking party fell back with a volley of sneezes.

"Put him off," yelled the crowd. The conductor and three men led the inoffending Chinaman and his bag to the platform and the train started ahead, the Mongolian wondering what he had done to cause such a rumpus. The sneezes still vibrated when the train pulled out of Seventy-second street.

PETERBORO' MEETING OF THE INSTITUTE A SUCCESS

General Discussions Marked the Meetings Held on Tuesday—Farmers of Influence and Learning Were Present and Assisted Well

MR. G. A. GILLESPIE IS REPRESENTATIVE

The Peterborough meeting of the West Peterborough Farmers' Institute was held in the Council Chambers yesterday. The same gentlemen that officiated in Lakefield on Monday were present yesterday. Mr. J. N. Telford, the president, opened the meeting and made mention of the prosperity that the agriculturalist is enjoying to-day. He then introduced Mr. Glendonning.

Mr. Glendenning

Mr. Glendenning, whose address was on the subject, "Growing Red and Alsike Clover for Seed," stated that there is a better quality of red and alsike clover grown in Ontario than there is in the whole world. Besides, there has been more of it grown in a certain section of Ontario up to some years ago than there was produced in the whole world. This section extends west from this county to the county of Ontario. The clover delights in a clay loam soil and the seed should be the best that can be bought. Seeding should not be too thick, from three to four pounds to the acre being sufficient. Around here about five pounds of clover seed are planted to the acre. Alsike is not poisonous, as rumour states. The speaker has seen it used and has never heard of one instance of poison being transmitted to the animals. In fact, the most of these stories are false, as trial has proved. When it begins to bloom turn the stock into the field and let them have a good feed, but do not let them remain there continually. Let them feed for a while each day for about three days, and then take them out again. White cockle, and curled dock, the shepherd's purse, should be hoed out before they mature to seed. The seed of the latter weed may be screened out. Timothy can be cleaned out of alsike, but is very costly; the best way is to take a scythe and cut the blossoms before they mature. Do not cut too soon, because the seed is not of the best quality if cut when young. White clover is very injurious to alsike.

Mr. Wm. Little testified to having cultivated alsike, and it had brought him the worth of his land per acre.

Red Clover

Up to 1822 the clover crop could be cut at almost any time, but the fall frosts killed them. A blight on the clover occurred in 1882 and almost destroyed the plant here. In fact, the seed had to be imported from France. Mr. Glendenning then enumerated means by which the midge which destroys the clover seed could be destroyed. The bumble bee is required in a field of red clover if it is to be a success. The mammoth red clover produces a heavier crop and a greater weight of seed per acre than the common red clover, but that is all that can be said in its favour.

Mr. Telford said that he had learned something from Mr. Glendenning's address which he had never heard of before, and which should assist him in the future.

Mr. Clark

Mr. Clarke, the other speaker, dealt with "The Production and Handling of Milk." This subject has received a great deal of attention, and yet after all, there is still room for improvement. When a man goes into the dairy business he belongs to one of two classes: First, the man who has made a specialty of milk production, and, second, the man who makes the milk production only a side issue. A man has to give his attention to the dairy business if he wishes to make a success of it. The general purpose cow is not seldom met with. The best dairy cow is the special purpose cow that belongs to a good milking family. In almost every barnyard there are a few good cows, but those that are valueless are more numerous. Good cows are hard to buy, therefore, the best way to keep good stock is to raise your own stock. It pays a man to know what his cows are doing, and he may do this by weighing their milk. From the best cows, raise your calves. Mr. Clarke gave an account of his experience with his prize herd of Ayrshires. He has been very successful with his stock and has proved that advanced ideas are not merely fancies, but real facts. Mr. Clarke did not advocate the Ayrshire; he bred that line of stock merely through preference.

Stable Accomodation

A stable should be kept clean and have plenty of light. It should also be not too hot; it should be well ventilated. Ventilating pipes to carry off impure air are very useful. Cement floors are suitable in a stable. It enhances sanitation and is cheaper. Light is perhaps one of the most important considerations, and should be well provided for.

Provisions

It is important that a man should give his cows a ration which does not require to large a quantity of it to produce the necessary amount of nutrient. A good succulent food should be provided as an aid to digestion. Water is very important; good, pure water is necessary. Turning cows out to water is not a good method. The best way is to instal a small windmill, and thus have the water in the stable. The cow can then have water whenever it wants it and in whatever quantities it needs. This is a very important consideration. Cows should be given two months' rest from milking.

Care of Milk

The care of the milk is a very important matter to consider. After milking, it should be cooled as quickly as possible, as, at its temperature when it is freshly milked, bacteria are very likely to be developed. The speaker had a large tank at his farm containing ice, in which the cans were placed and thus cooled. Milk should be strained in a room apart from the milk stable.

In the handling of milk, the greatest care should be taken to cleanse the utensils thoroughly. Use pails of pressed tin, and see that there are as few seams as possible. Milk should not be allowed to harden in a vessel before it is washed and scalded. Mr. Clarke's address was concluded by a general discussion on important dairy matters.

Appointing Representatives

Mr. Glendenning then introduced the subject of appointing a representative to the Eastern Dairymen's Association from this district, which will meet in Ottawa. Mr. Jno. Riddel nominated Mr. Gillespie, seconded by Mr. J. J. Hogan. Mr. Riddel referred to the nominee as a man thoroughly acquainted with the dairy business and a fitting man for that position.

Mr. Wm. Collins likewise referred to the splendid services rendered by Mr. Gillespie last year, when the Eastern Dairymen's Association met in Peterborough.

Mr. Gillespie thanked the members for his election, and said that the farmers have never accomplished as much good work in the dairy business as they have done this year. He said he would carefully look after West Peterborough's interests at the meeting in Ottawa.

Mr. O'Reilly, of Norwood, secretary of the East Peterborough Institute, gave his opinions of the appointing of a man who was invested with the authority of inspector and instructor, and moved that the representative urge upon the meeting at Ottawa the advisability of appointing such a man, and that all factories shall be inspected.

Mr. White also moved that the meeting express their approval of the action of having the cheese makers and butter makers provided with a legal standing.

Mr. Jno. Riddel seconded the motion, which was heartily endorsed by all and declared carried by the president.

NORTH TOWNSHIPS ARE AFTER LOCAL OPTION

Thirty Residents of Burleigh and Anstruther Present Petition to Township Council, but it was Insufficiently Signed

NO VOTE CAN BE TAKEN THIS ELECTION

At the last meeting of the Council of the townships of Burleigh and Anstruther, a petition, signed by thirty ratepayers, was presented, asking the Council to submit at the next municipal election a bylaw to give the township local option.

The request of the petitioners, however, was not granted, the petition, having been insufficiently signed, and received too late to be acted upon at the first elections.

As a result, these townships will not have an opportunity of voting on local option until next year, at least.

LATE CAPT. BEATTY WAS MOST HIGHLY RESPECTED

Prominent Citizen of Hamilton, who was Related in This City, Died—Mrs. E. B. Clegg Attended the Funeral

The Hamilton Herald of Monday had the following reference to the funeral of the late Oliver Beatty, which was attended by Mrs. E. B. Clegg, from this city:

The largest funeral in years from the north end of the city was that of Capt. Oliver Beatty, which occurred yesterday from his late residence, 16 Simcoe street east, to St. Luke's church, where the beautiful burial service of the Church of England was conducted by Rev. E. N. R. Burns, assisted by a full surpliced choir. The church was far too small to accommodate all the friends of the deceased, many being unable to get inside the doors.

At the evening service the rector made kind references to the deceased and held up his life as an example that might be copied by all the congregation, in that he was always present at the services when his health permitted. Many relatives and friends from a distance were present to pay their last sad respects to the deceased, amongst whom were: Mrs. John Reid, a daughter, from Terre Haute, Ind.; Mrs. J. Behan, a daughter, and family; ex-Ald. Frank Woods, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. A. Legge, Toronto; Thomas Bard, jr., and family, Toronto; Mrs. Sam. White and Mrs. E. Clegg, Peterborough; Hugh Flook, Dunkirk, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Williamson, of Niagara Falls, N.Y.

Scranton, Pa., Dec. 4.—The coroner's jury which investigated the case of Thomas Dougherty, of Dunmore, who died two weeks ago as the result of a stab wound in the heart, alleged to have been inflicted by Miss Kate Burke, his sweetheart, returned a verdict to-day exonerating the girl. Miss Burke claimed that a needle in her waist pierced Dougherty's heart while he was embracing her.

THE TURKISH RACE THEIR RELIGON AND CUSTOMS

Subject of Lecture by Rev. Chas. H. Brooks, of Grafton, at All Saints' Men's Guild Meeting

A MISSIONARY AMONG THE GREEKS

"The People of Turkey and their Religion," was the subject of a most interesting address given by the Rev. Chas. H. Brooks at the meeting of All Saints' Women's Auxiliary last night. In the afternoon Mr. Brooks addressed the Women's Auxiliary on various phases of life in Turkey and in the evening dealt more with the people of that ancient European country, and their religions.

Mr. Brooks spent eighteen years of his life in Turkey as a missionary. While there he was situated at Constantinople, but frequently took journeys into the interior so that he came more or less in contact with the various classes of the inhabitants. It is now fourteen years since he returned to Canada, but the life, character and habits of the people of that country still remain fresh in his memory. He is now rector of the English church at Grafton, Ont., and is often called upon to give addresses on his experiences as a missionary in Turkey.

The speaker's discourse last night pertained chiefly to the people of that country and he dealt with their customs and religions in particular.

Three Classes of People

There are three classes of people in Turkey—the Greeks, the Armenians, both of whom are Christians, and the Mohammedan Turks. Mohamet, he explained was the same to the Turks as Christ was to the Christians. Nevertheless they respect Jesus as a secondary prophet as we do John the Baptist. They worship in a simple manner but retain the animal sacrifices and accept a great deal of the Old Testament as a foundation to their religion. They have one true God as we have.

Mohamet Was Great

The probable reason why they do not believe in Christ as their Saviour is because they defeated the Greek Christians so they believe Mohamed was greater than Christ. It is therefore a very difficult proposition for a Christian missionary to make any headway in dealing with the Turks and very few of them are Christians. They even threaten their lives if they listen to the teachings of of the Christian missionaries. The Sultan, besides being the head of the realm is also the official head of the Mohammedan Church and his decrees must be obeyed.

In this way the Turks are scarcely allowed to come in contact with the teachers of the Gospel and when they do they merely laugh at the missionaries.

Rely on Teachers

The Turks have great teachers and upon these the mass of the people depend for their instructon. The majority are industrious and business is brisk in the City of Constantinople. Friday is their holy day, when they worship their great master Mohamet.

Mr. Brooks' address was indeed a profitable one and was greatly enjoyed by the large number who assembled in the school room. He will go to Norwood after leaving Peterborough and while there will lecture in the Anglican church on the same subject.

PRESENTED WITH AN ADDRESS BEFORE DEPARTURE

Ladies' Aid of George Street Methodist Church Honour a Departing Member

MUSICAL PROGRAMME WAS RENDERED

The ladies of the George street Methodist church, met in the parlours of the church yesterday afternoon, and presented Mrs. J. J. Jeffries, who leaves towards the end of the year for Toronto, with a farewell address. Many of the ladies of the church were present, and assisted in the afternoon's programme in honour of Mrs. Jeffries, who has for a number of years been actively connected with the Society.

The following address was read by Mrs. Duncan Cameron:—

Peterborough, Dec. 4, 1906.

Mrs. J. J. Jeffries, City,

Dear Sister, — We have learned with regret of your early departure from our city, and consequently from our society and church.

We sincerely hope the change which means such a loss to us, will prove a decided benefit to you, and your family.

You have always been faithful to your duty, and have ever proven yourself to be one of the willing and ready workers who would not only do the pleasant part of our work, but also took your share cheerfully in the more irksome duties.

We feel assured that with such a loving and obliging disposition, coupled with the love for Christ and his work you'll find friends wherever you go, and we sincerely hope that you will continue in the work of the church in your new home that you have done so nobly for us here.

We are very glad that your home will not be far distant, so that we may often meet you, and that you will probably pay our city frequent visits, when we hope that you will remember that there will be a welcome for you in our society, and that you will meet with us whenever you can.

Signed on behalf of the Ladies' Aid Society of the George street Methodist church, Peterborough.

Bertha Armstrong, Pres.
Lizzie Cameron, Sec.

Mrs. Jeffries responded briefly, thanking the ladies for the kind sentiments on her behalf.

A delightful musical programme was also rendered which formed a very pleasant part of the programme. A solo, "If Heaven, I win," by Rudd, was sung by Miss Clara Belleghem. Miss Carrie Reesor, soloist at the George street church, sang "The Islands of Dreams," by Adams, and a solo was also rendered by Miss Muriel Crothers. The accompanists were Miss Dobbin and Miss Crothers.

After the programme refreshments were served, which brought to a conclusion the social event in honour of one of the departing members of the Ladies' Aid.

WANT MET BY EXAMINER "WANT AD CONTEST"

Addition to Funds of Children's Aid Society

"C.P.M.," the initials representing the name of the lady who won a prize in the poetical want ad. contest conducted by the Examiner, has donated the amount of her prize, one dollar, to the funds of the Children's Aid Society. This amount, though not a large one, meets a "want," much felt by the Society, which is in need of funds for carrying on the splendid work it is doing. Every little helps and a few hundred contributions as modest as one dollar would help the society. Not the society, however, but the community, for the work the society does in rescuing, ill-treated and neglected children, from squalid and vicious surroundings, helps society by robbing the ranks of vice of recruits.

TO ADVERTISERS.

As announced, copy for changes of advertisements MUST BE in this office before 5 o'clock of the day preceding he intended publication. It is in your interest as well as the publisher's that all mails be caught by the Examiner, and to do this the above rule MUST BE enforced.

Albert Sherwood, an employee of the Cavendish Lumber Co., was brought to St. Joseph's Hospital this morning suffering from a broken leg which he sustained in an accident yesterday. Sherwood was employed at Archie Jackson's camp, near Gooderham, and yesterday a number of logs rolled on him, breaking his leg above the knee. It was decided to bring the injured man to Peterborough. He drove nearly all night to reach here. His injuries were attended to by Dr. Greer, and he is now resting easily.

DELIGHTFUL AT HOME AT MRS. KERR'S RESIDENCE

Under the Auspices of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of St. Andrew's Church Yesterday Afternoon

The "at home" at Mrs. George Kerr's, 134 Gilmour street, yesterday afternoon, was, both in numbers and interest, a success. The event was one of a series of those very delightful gatherings held under the auspices of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of St. Andrew's Church, and proved the value of them to the social life of the membership.

For the sake of many of the young people of the church who are interested in the work of the W. F. M. S., the "at home" was extended to the evening hours, when games and a musical programme were enjoyed.

Miss Mae Lsing and Miss Ethel Hunt were the soloists, while Miss Lena Richardson was accompanist.

All who had the pleasure of attending, enjoyed the hospitality of Mrs. Kerr and her family.

RETURN TO SCRIMMAGE GAME APPEARS PROBABLE

Peterborough Club Will Support an Amendment to this Effect at Annual Meeting

THE NEW O. R. F. U. AMENDMENTS

In a letter from Mr. J. B. Hay, secretary of the O.R.F.U. to the sporting editor of the Examiner, a full list of the amendments to be considered at the annual meeting of the O.R.F.U. in Toronto on Saturday, is given.

Some of the amendments are very important, the most serious change proposed being the adoption of the Canadian Rugby Union's rules, which would mean a return to the scrimmage game. It is said that all the senior clubs favour this amendment. The Peterborough club certainly does and will vote that way on Saturday. It is felt that under the Canadian rules rugby is just as fast and clean as under the snap back rules and in other ways is much superior. The recent games between the Tigers and Montreal teams have demonstrated this fact to the satisfaction of every one and it would cause no surprise if the snap back rules were abolished at Saturday's meeting.

The other amendments proposed are not so important. One provides for the substitution of the scrimmage rule of the Canadian Union for that now in force and another for the substitution of the Canadian system of scoring.

An amendment proposes that in case of an injury to a player, he shall immediately be removed from the field and play shall continue without delay, the opposing team to drop player for player. Both may return to the game as soon as the injured player has recovered.

Still another amendment enacts that no player shall take part in a match unless the captain of his team shall have furnished the referee with the full list of the players and their playing certificates.

NAT RAY WON THE FIRST ENGLISH RACE

Famous Canadian Jockey Rode a Horse to Victory Last Week—His Riding Alone Responsible for the Win

Jockey Nat Ray, of Toronto, the famous Canadian steeplechase rider, won with his first mount in England last week.

Ray went down to the track merely to view the jumping races, and he was persuaded to don the colours of the owner of Aero. This horse had started in many a jumping race, but was never known to finish in one. He is noted in the old land as a notoriously bad actor. Ray took the mount after his friends advised him against it, arguing that his style of riding was so different from what Aero had been used to.

Ray lay well back with him until the last quarter, and won with something to spare.

It is now predicted that Ray's seat will become as famous in England through the field as Tod Sloan's did on the flat some ten years ago. It was noticeable next day at the races that there was a tendency on the part of the other jockeys to shorten their stirrups and sit still on their horses, as Ray does, in place of rearing back on them.

Ray's riding alone was responsible for his win, the horse acting as kind as a kitten with him.

GEORGE BALLARD IS THE NEW PRESIDENT

Hamilton Quarter-Back is Chief Officer of the O. R. F. U.—Others Withdrew

Owing to the withdrawal of W. J. Slee, and W. A. Hewitt, of Toronto, as candidates for the presidency of the Ontario Rugby Union, it again goes to Hamilton, George Ballard, quarter-back of the Tigers, being elected by acclamation.

Mr. Ballard is a keen Rugby enthusiast and a Varsity graduate, very popular throughout the Province, and should make an excellent presiding officer.

Mr. Hewitt has also withdrawn as a candidate for the vice-presidency, leaving W. J. Slee, of Toronto, and A. A. Hollingshead of Peterborough in the field.

W. H. Seymour, of Hamilton, has withdrawn from the nomination for intermediate representative, and the contest will be between W. J. Morrison, of Toronto and E. A. L. Clarke, of Dundas.

HOCKEY

This is the thirteenth day of the Examiner challenge to the Review. It begins to look as if the Tory seven had chilled extremities.

• • • •

The Canadian Soo needs hockey players, and needs them badly. Bruce Ripath recently declined an offer of $30 a week. Then it was raised to $35. Once more Bruce declined. Then the offer jumped to $40. Bruce again said nay, and now Roy Brown has sent the sterling little forward a fourth offer of $45 a week.

Bruce has also turned this down, and is determined to stay in Toronto and look after the professional team here, unless the Soo should jump the offer about $3 0a week.—Toronto News.

The Toronto Star last night said:—It is doubted in Ottawa whether Harold Armstrong will be fast enough to catch a place on the first team of that city. Art. Moore is said to be his rival.

• • • •

The Young Pirates have organized for the season and will apply for admission into the juvenile series of the City League. The following officers have been elected:—A. Davidson, Manager; T. Hanwell, Treasurer; D. Graham, secretary; Ross Little, Captain.

• • • •

Berlin, Dec. 4.—The hockey boys are busy these evenings playing the game of basketball, which Manager Boehmer has ordered his men to limber up on. Manager Schileman of the seniors has high hopes that his men will give a good account of themselves this coming season. The supply of good players this season is unusually large, and there is no reason why the Robertson cup should not return to Berlin next March.

• • • •

Mr. R. H. Howard, manager of the Brandon Hockey Club last year, is in the city a guest at the National.

RUGBY.

The Peterborough Club moves that the Canadian Rugby Union rules in their entirety be adopted, but this will hardly carry, in view of the many good features of the Ontario game that are not found in the other.—Toronto Star.

• • • •

The Peterborough Rugby Club is advocating the adoption of the entire rules of the Canadian Union, while some of the other clubs are in favour of merely adopting the scrimmage rule of that body. It is said that the latter change will in all probability be made as most of the clubs and the officials are in favour of that step being taken by the Ontario Union. If any change is to be made in the rules it would seem reasonable that the complete rules of the Canadian Union should be adopted as with the exception of the scrimmage rule there is very little difference between the two. If the important change of substituting the scrimmage rule for the snap-back is decided upon it would be advisable to adopt all the rules of the Canadian Union as all contests for the Dominion championship are governed by them and it would make the conditions a good deal easier for the champions of the O.R.F.U. in the final games for the Canadian honours.

BASKET-BALL.

A good exhibition of basket ball, is promised to take place at the "Y." on Friday night, when the Arrows, last year's champions, meet the Albert College five of Belleville. The boys from the Bay have a good record and should provide a good night's sport.

This game will be preceded by a preliminary go between the Harriers and the O. T. C. A small admission fee will be charged.

FRASER MISSION BAND'S VERY SUCCESSFUL SALE

Everything Offered for Sale was Quickly Disposed Of

The Fraser Mission Band of St. Paul's Church, conducted a most successful sale of work last evening, which was largely attended. The tables were covered with articles most suitable for Christmas gifts, and they were much in demand, so much so, indeed, that everything offered for sale was disposed of. The sale continued from 4 o'clock until 9, and the financial results were all that could be desired.

Messrs Davis-Thompson Company [Limited] announce to their many customers, and the public generally that MR. T. W. ROBINSON who is well and favourably known throughout the city and county, has associated himself with their "Insurance and General Agency" and is acting for them as a "Special Agent" for "Fire" "Life" "Accident" and "Guarantee Business."

NO GREASE OR DANGEROUS DRUGS.

In "Herpicide," the New Scientific and Successful Dandruff Treatment.

Have you dandruff? Then you have a contagious parasitic disease, unpleasant, unhealthy and one that will eventually lead to baldness. To cure it you must destroy the parasite that eats at the root of the hair. The only preparation for destroying these germs is Newbro's Herpicide. Charles Klein of Laramie, Wyo., says: "Herpicide allays the itching, cured the dandruff and stopped the hair falling out; and it is bringing a new crop of hair." Herpicide is free from grease or dangerous drugs and makes hair glossy and as soft as silk. One bottle will convince you of its merits. Sold by leading druggists. Send ten cents in stamps for sample to the Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Ormond and Walsh, special agents for Peterborough.

FARMERS' INSTITUTE MEETINGS IN MONAGHAN

Messrs. Glendenning and Clark Speak on the Live Topics of the Farm

LOCAL MEN ALSO GIVE ADDRESSES

A large number assembled at the town hall North Monaghan, last night, to listen to the able addresses of Messrs. Clarke and Glendenning, who have been in the county during the last few days in the interests of the West Peterborough Farmers' Institute. The president, Mr. Telford, occupied the chair.

The first address was given by Mr. Clark on "Grading up the Dairy Herd."

After a few preliminary remarks, he urged the necessity of knowing which were the cows that were being kept for profit. The best way to do this is to weigh the milk of each cow, and keep a record for the season, and by sending away to Guelph to have the butter fat of each tested, and to use only the best cows to raise the calves from, always discarding those that do not come up to a good standard. He urged the using of a pure-bred sire from a good milking strain, and always to keep on the same line of breeding.

He gave an instance where he had rented a farm of 100 acres for six years, and how he had from the product of twenty cows realised an income of over $1500 a year, showing that by keeping the best class of cows and handling them intelligently, more money could be made than in almost any other way. He condemned the general purpose cow, and said that he he were changing he would go over and handle one of the beef breeds of the best quality. He advised all to take one or other of these lines, to keep right along, and a good serviceable herd would soon be obtained. He would not advise crossing Jerseys with Ayrshires, or Holsteins, as they are all good breeds, and no better results could be expected from such a course.

No Entertainment

The president made mention of the fact that he had found out that although he understood there was a good supply of local talent, in the neighbourhood, no effort had been made to provide an entertainment to intersperse with the addresses, which is usually expected at the evening meetings of the institute.

Mr. Hunter's Address

An address was requested from Mr. T. M. Hunter, the ex-president, who responded. He made mention of our good market, which promised in the near future to be even still better, owing to the growth of the city. The only great drawback the farmer had to contend with was the labour problem, and he advised the farmers not to go to fast as these good times—crops and prices—might not continue for a very long period.

To Beautify the Farm

Mr. Glendenning next gave an address on beautifying the farm home. He spoke very strongly on the necessity of having good roads, and also advised the planting of trees on each side of them, rather than on the inside of the fences. He thought the former the best plan, but urged them not to plant the trees too close—no less than 30 feet apart. He advised the planting of evergreens as a windbreak about the barns or houses, but not to plant them too close to the buildings, so that the branches might overlap the roof. Try and beautify the present houses, he said, rather than build large extravagant houses on the farm, which very frequently run the owner into too much debt. The use of paints of the lighter shades, made a great improvement in the surroundings. A nice well kept lawn also adds much to the beauty. Our common cedar makes a very good hedge, and one of the cheapest and best. He also gave instructions as to trimming the hedge.

Mr. Ed. M. Elliott, County Clerk and Treasurer, was the next speaker. After a few complimentary references to the young people, who had come out on such a stormy night, which showed that the people were becoming more and more attentive to those things that were of such vital importance to them as farmers, he said that a great deal of information was being disseminated through the meetings of the Farmers' Institute. Mr. Elliott's was a very racy and instructive address given in his well known able and humorous manner.

Mr. Glendenning by request gave a few pointers on the culture and saving of clover.

Before closing it was moved by Mr Elliott, seconded by Mr. Brown, that the thanks of the meeting be tendered to the speakers for their addresses, which was heartily carried, and responded to by Mr. Glendenning. The meeting closed with the singing of God save the King.

PETERBOROUGH BOY'S RAPID PROGRESS IN INSURANCE

How Mr. E. W. Cox Has Forged to the Front in the Affairs of the Canada Life Assurance Company

GENERAL MANAGER AND VICE-PRESIDENT

(From Office and Field.)

Mr. Edward W. Cox, after a number of years' service with the Canada Life as general manager, has been promoted, and is now vice-president and general manager. It is not often that a single promotion in the service of a company is an affair of national importance, but, in view of the position of the Canada Life, and in view of the very large circle of friends, both personally and in business relations, who honour Mr. Cox for his many good qualities and rejoice in his success, it is not too much to say that his accession to his present place is an event of moment in the business life of Canada.

Mr. E. W. Cox is a native Canadian; he was born in Peterborough, Ontario, in 1861. As everybody knows who is at all familiar with the personnel of Canadian business, he is the eldest son of Senator George A. Cox, widely known as president of the Canada Life and as a moving spirit in a number of the great enterprises which are attracting to Canada the attention of the civilized world.

Many a young man with similar advantages to those enjoyed by E. W. Cox has used those advantages to indulge himself in a life of selfish idleness. But inherent good qualities, backed by sound training, brought Mr. Cox into the ranks of the workers, amongst whom he was destined to find so high a place.

After a high school training in his native town—now a prosperous city—and two years spent in University College, Toronto, Mr. Cox entered the office of his father, who was then general agent for Eastern Ontario for the Canada Life. He proved himself worthy of trust, and was taken into partnership by his father, the firm being known as Geo. A. and E. W. Cox. The branch had always been one of the most successful and satisfactory in the whole of the company's organization, and it even improved its position with the forceful and devoted service given by the new partner in the agency firm. The good work done was recognized by the company in the most practical way—by giving these successful agents more territory in which to carry on their work. In 1886 the limits of the branch were extended westward to include Toronto, and the branch head office was removed to this city.

From this time until a still more extensive sphere of action was opened to him the main work of the Eastern Ontario branch was done by Mr. E. W. Cox, his father devoting those abilities which have made him famous more in an advisory capacity and as a director of the company.

In 1899, while Mr. A. G. Ramsay was still president of the Canada Life, Mr. E. W. Cox was called to the general service of the company, being given the important position of assistant general manager. Three years later he was promoted to the general managership, which position he has held ever since. The consummation of that office with the vice-presidency will greatly increase his responsibilities but it will commensurately add to his power of rendering valuable service to the great company whose devoted servant he is.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

A MESSAGE FROM MARS

The comedy success "A Message from Mars" was the attraction at the Grand last night, and was greatly enjoyed by the large audience who saw the first production of this famous play in this city. It was voted one of the most enjoyable of the season's offerings and the applause was frequent and hearty.

"A Message from Mars" is a play with a moral which expressed in the mysterious messenger is as follows: "Self is the source of all the evils which burden the world." It strongly preaches against the selfish spirit which seems to have enveloped the world. Briefly told the story is that of a rich young Londoner upon whom the love of self has obtained such a thorough hold that even his friends have begun to become antagonized to him. He refuses to do anything to oblige anyone and even quarrelled with his fiancee on that account. He has a dream in which appears to him an inhabitant from the planet Mars. This strange visitor informs him that he has committed a crime in Mars and has been condemned to exile on the earth until he has converted the most selfish man on earth. The messenger effects this by subjecting the man of wealth to many forms of adversity. His money is taken from him, his house burns down and finally he becomes a beggar. At last his spirit becomes so changed that he is lead to do an act of unselfishness and the Messenger, his work done, departs with the words "Farewell, my pupil, to earth and you."

When he awakens from this dream Parker is an entirely different man, and shows this by many acts of charity and everything ends happily as usual.

The acting of David Proctor in the leading part was magnificent and no better work has been seen here this season. To him fell the greater part of the work and the many effective scenes lost nothing at his hands. Mr. Proctor was supported by a very able company all of whom are clever artists. Mr. John E. Macklin as the messenger from Mars, Anita Rotheas, Aunt Martha and Elizabeth Valentine, as Parker's financee all won favour from the audience, which was unstinted in its applause. Chas. Eldridge gave the most lifelike representation of a tramp seen on the local boards for a long time.

The scenic and electrical effets were unusually good and in fact the whole performance was much above the average. Those who were not present last night missed one of the most pleasing productions of the year.

TEMPLE OF FAME AT OMEMEE WAS A SUCCESS

The Village Brass Band Has Been Re-organized for the Season with Bright Prospects

SOWE OTHER LIVELY NEWS NOTES

Examiner Special.

Omemee, Dec. 3.—Winter has set in, and every farmer was ready for the change.

There was a large turnout of the patrons of the Omemee cheese factory to-day, rejoicing over the profitable results of the past season.

Mr. J. Weir, proprietor of the factory, is an Otonabee man and a graduate of Kingston Dairy School. His place would be hard to fill.

The repeated "Temple of Fame" entertainment, held here last week in aid of the Public Library, exceeded the most sanguine expectations. Everyone was pleased. The costumes were superb. The display of diamonds and jewels worn by the queens was estimated at $6,000.

The proceeds, amounting to $78, will be used in aid of the library.

Mrs. J. C. Eaton, as Melva, and her friends, who were in attendance from Toronto, declared that many of the dollar shows put on in the city were not as refined and educating as this was at 35 cents.

Rev. Mr. Strachan, Glencoe, occupied the Presbyterian pulpit last Sunday acceptably. No selection has yet been made.

Miss Kells, Millbrook, has been the guest of the Misses Curry for the last few days.

Most of our young men are back from Manitoba, and are still satisfied with Ontario.

Dr. and Mrs. Cameron arrived back from Vermillion, Alberta district, after a visit of three months with friends, and report this place as one of the most prosperous.

The Omemee Brass Band has been reorganized, the village instruments being given over to the adjoining farmers' sons, who are likely to become permanent residents. Hence we will not be troubled with many wild animals or other plagues next summer.

The House of Refuge at Lindsay has only one inmate, a native of this place, who got there through unavoidable cause. The Home is spoken of in the highest praise and Peterborough should rejoice in their opinion this rest for Christmas.

Mrs. R. Brown of Wm. Loves orchard for the Rouse contest for Emily township for 1907.

There is also some change spoken of for the village.

ON WITH HUGGING, LET JOY BE UNCONFINED

New York, Dec. 6.—It is no crime to hug a girl on a doorstep."

This important decision was handed down from the bench yesterday in open court by Recorder Goff. The decision was received with general satisfaction.

The way the ruling came to be made was as follows: Last summer, Policeman Ruth, of the Fifteenth Precinct, arrested William Kirkland and Phoebe McLane, and charged both with disorderly conduct.

He arraigned them before Magistrate Whale, who fined Kirkland $3, and discharged the woman. Both, the Magistrate was told, had been caught sitting on a doorstep, not far from a church, embracing.

Kirkland considered that an injustice had been done him and took an appeal to the General Sessions Court. Recorder Goff over-ruled the findings of the lower court. Kirkland will get his $3 back, and is glad that he committed no crime when, according to the policeman's testimony, he had his right arm around the young woman's waist.

AN ADVOCATE OF THE COW TESTING ASSOCIATION

A Practical Test Made by Mr. Clark, Speaker at the Farmers' Institute

The following is an extract on the value of testing the cow, taken from Mr. Clark's address at the Farmers' Institute meeting in Peterborough on Tuesday:—

Any farmer who has not gone to the trouble of weighing and testing the individual cow of his herd will find a great surprise if he will do so. In answer to a question what the average production of milk from his herd last season was, Mr. Clark replied that his average from 35 cows was 7,400 lbs, while 20 cows gave over 6,000 lbs. He had also six heifers, the first year in milk, which gave an average of 5,000 lbs; three of them gave 6,000 lbs. and one 6500 lbs. The other two were from his two poorest cows and did not come up to his idea of what the cow should, and would be turned to the butcher next season.

OPERATION AVOIDED

EXPERIENCE OF MISS MERKLEY

She Was Told That an Operation Was Inevitable. How She Escaped It.

When a physician tells a woman suffering with serious feminine trouble that an operation is necessary, the very thought of the knife and the operating table strikes terror to her heart, and our hospitals are full of women coming for just such operations.

Miss Margret Merkley

There are cases where an operation is the only resource, but when one considers the great number of cases of menacing female troubles cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound after physicians have advised operations, no woman should submit to one without first trying the Vegetable Compound and writing Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for advice, which is free.

Miss Margret Merkley, of 275 Third Street, Milwaukee, Wis., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:

"Loss of strength, extreme nervousness, shooting pains through the pelvic organs, bearing-down pains and cramps compelled me to seek medical advice. The doctor, after making an examination said I had a female trouble and ulceration and advised an operation. To this I strongly objected and decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. The ulceration quickly healed, all the bad symptoms disappeared and I am once more strong, vigorous and well."

Female troubles are steadily on the increase among women. If the monthly periods are very painful, or too frequent and excessive—if you have pain or swelling low down in the left side, bearing-down pains, don't neglect yourself: try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Barney's Fortune

By Constance D'Arcy Mackay

Copyright, 1906, by C. H. Sutcliffe

It was spring in Ballymoran, and the turf had taken on that vivid green seen nowhere beyond the shores of Ireland. The pungent peat smoke drifted lazily against the intense blue of the sky. Thrushes sang on the boughs of gnarled apple trees that skirted the low stone walls. Barney thought he never had seen the village look lovelier; but, then, as everyone knew, Barney was the most happy-go-lucky lad in the parish.

A thatched cabin of one room and a couple of pigs comprised his worldly possessions; but "Light of purse and light of heart," he often said, "is better than riches and the gout." He found only one drawback in poverty, and that was that he could not ask Eileen Kearny to marry him till he had more to offer her.

Yet hope is always astir when one is young, and Barney knew that with thrift and perseverance he could lay by enough; so, rain or shine, he worked in the peat bogs with a song on his lips, for he felt that every penny he laid by was bringing Eileen nearer to him.

He thought of this exultantly as he strolled with her in the long twilights when the wind was as soft as a caress and the scent of apple blossoms came faintly on the air.

Eileen was like an apple blossom herself, to Barney's thinking. She had the same delicate coloring and a grace as airy as the swaying of a bough. Yet if she loved him she gave no sign. If she smiled on him she also smiled on his cousin Hugh, a sullen mouthed lad far more prosperous than poor Barney.

Eileen divided her favors equally, and the village looked on and wondered which man would win. Now fate seemed inclined toward one and now toward the other.

The villagers themselves inclined toward Barney. Every one liked him, from the barelegged children to the wrinkled women who cowered above the hearthstones.

"TIS MY HEART I'VE LOST," SHE ANSWERED.

He was a favorite, too, with his old uncle, Seamus McShane, who had left Ireland for America years before when Barney was only a bit of a lad. But his uncle wrote to him every year, and it was an accepted fact that Barney would be his heir, though the legacy was a thing of the dim future—so dim that it hardly made a background for present need.

Seamus McShane came of a sturdy, long lived race. Therefore it was with a distinct shock that one fine spring morning Barney received notice of his uncle's death. The lad's first feeling was one of sorrow that Seamus should have died in a far land without either kith or kin, yet his uncle was only a memory, so it was pardonable that his next should be one of joy at the possibilities opened to him, for now he could marry Eileen. How much he had fallen heir to he did not know, but guessed it to be in the neighborhood of £40—not a large sum in itself, though it seemed like riches to the folk of that wind swept, famine ridden village.

As the news of Barney's fortune sped his popularity trebled.

"I always had a fondness for the boy," said Biddy McBride.

"'Tis a foine lad he is entoirely," agreed old Donnelly.

Barney carried himself modestly enough. He was not unduly elated at what had befallen him, though his heart sang within him at his luck, and his feet seemed scarcely to touch the earth as he went from house to house bidding his friends to the wake which he purposed having the following evening in memory of his uncle.

"'Tis no keening I want ye to do at all," he declared. "'Tis not in such mournful fashion he'd have us keep him in mind. But come and dhrink his sowl's peace with me."

No one in the village was neglected from this general invitation, and they arrived early at Barney's bare little home, where candles burned with a cheerful glow and where laughter and shuffling of feet half muffled the music played by a wandering fiddler. All the village was there save Hugh, and no one seemed to know where he had gone or what had become of him.

One of the children vouchsafed the information that he had been seen riding away from Ballymoran at a brisk canter, a piece of news to which Barney paid small heed so engrossed was he in watching Eileen as she swung through a reel, eyes alight and step as swift as a fairy's. It seemed to Barney that he never had been so happy. He went about among his guests promising gifts to this one and that and hardly hearing the thanks they gave him in return. Presently the door opened and Hugh appeared among them.

"'Tis late ye are, avick," said Barney, "but ye're none the less welcome."

"'Tis from the postoffice I am," answered Hugh and drew from the pocket of his mud bespattered coat an official looking envelope, the seal of which was not yet broken.

"Belike it's from Uncle Seamus," Hugh went on, and the guests gathered round him, while Eileen held the candle that he might read.

Barney sat on a table near by, swinging his feet. He stole a glance at Eileen and noted the shadow the candle threw across her face and how her dark lashes swept the rose of her cheek. "Arrah, my darlint," he whispered to himself, "before this evenin's gone I'll have your promise!" Then he composed himself to listen to the letter.

It was very brief—brief as the hopes of Barney, for it was to Hugh that Seamus McShane had left his fortune. When Hugh had finished reading the letter the guests drew a long breath. Barney was the first to come forward and congratulate him.

"Shure, there's no one more deserving of it than yourself," he said steadily, but his voice was lost in the general acclaim, for Hugh had become the hero of the evening. The attentions that had formerly been showered on Barney were now lavished on him. His good fortune went to his head like wine.

"Since I'm the heir," he cried, "ye must all come home with me and drink remembrance to Uncle Seamus!" This was greeted with a shout of acquiescence. The fiddler started up "The Rocky Road to Dublin," and, singing and laughing, the guests danced out the door. A few paused long enough to say good night to their host and could not pass without a word at his expense.

"Don't forget my red petticoat," says Biddy McBride, "and the package of tay ye were for giving me."

"Nor the baccy ye promised," chuckled old Donnelly, "and the dhudheen I'll likely be smoking next week!" To which Barney answered gayly enough, smiling with set lips. He had kept up gallantly before them, yet, after all, he was only a lad, and when the last guest had gone and his cabin was deserted he sat down by the table and buried his face in his arms.

Deeper than the disappointment over the money was the thought that Eileen had gone without so much as a word. "She'll marry Hugh," groaned Barney between his teeth. "She'll marry Hugh. And, och, if there's a miserable lad in the country that same is myself!"

The door creaked on its hinges. "'Tis only the wind," thought Barney. Then something made him turn and look. Eileen stood in the doorway.

"Have ye left something?" said Barney, starting to his feet.

Eileen's eyes were very bright and tender.

"'Tis my heart I've lost," she answered.

"Hugh's a lucky lad, Eileen," said Barney, "a lucky lad, and—and—I wish ye joy, the both of yez."

"'Tis not Hugh that has my heart," cried Eileen; "'tis—ah, Barney, can ye not see—can ye not understand"—

"Shure—shure, it's never me ye mean?" gasped Barney. "Why, Eileen, girl, I'm poor"— Suddenly a light broke on him, and he caught her to his heart. "No," he cried, "I'm the richest man in the whole wide wurruld!"

Thus fortune came to Barney after all.

Science and Manufacture.

In the Zeiss glass works at Jena fourteen doctors of science are employed, and these include mathematicians as well as physicists. The great German aniline color works employ more "scientific" than "technical" chemists. At one of them, for instance, fifty-five scientific and thirty-one technical chemists are engaged, at a second 145 scientific chemists and 175 technologists, at a third 148 scientific chemists for seventy-five technicists. The research laboratories of these works are lavishly equipped. One of them possesses a library of 14,000 volumes. A second spends 150,000 francs a year on glassware. These things are no doubt expensive, but these great factories still manage to pay a dividend of from 20 to 30 per cent. Every newly discovered substance which is usable is patented, and in this way Germany has managed to establish a monopoly. The house of Baeyer possesses a thousand patents at home and 1,200 in foreign countries.—London Graphic.

Food For The Growing Child

Whole-Grain Preparations Declared of Greatest Value In Development of Body and Mind.

"The growing child especially needs those elements that are found in whole grain preparations," says the writer of a recent magazine article on "The Best Foods for Growing Children."

Malta-Vita is the perfect whole wheat food, rich in every nutritive element demanded by the body of the child and just as healthful and strengthening for the child's parents and older sisters and brothers. Being a pure grain product,—simply the whole of the best white wheat and a little salt, mixed with pure barley malt extract—Malta-Vita supplies the body with all those food elements which make bone, blood, muscle and brain and bring perfect health.

The malt extract is added after the wheat has been thoroughly cooked and steamed and converts the starch of the wheat into maltose, or malt sugar, which is highly nutritious and easily assimilated even by very weak stomachs. Physicians recommend maltose for its strength-giving qualities and Malta-Vita is rich in it. After being treated with the malt extract, the wheat, rolled into little wafer flakes, goes to the ovens, where it is baked crisp and brown, delicious beyond description. All grocers, now 10 cents.

FOR A BOY'S STUDY.

Serving Trays and Leather Cushions the Latest Novelties.

In selecting gifts for a schoolboy's study or undergraduate's den sisters and girl friends are always on the lookout for novelties, as the furnishing and adornment are nowadays matters for consideration.

"Serving" trays are the latest craze. These consist of a flat circle of wood fitted with brass handles. A circle of dark brown linen covers the middle of the tray and is embroidered in an artistic design in light shades of silk, the outline defined with black silk or gold thread. The embroidered linen is stretched tightly on the tray and the raw edges covered with narrow gold braid, tacked down with tiny upholsterer's tacks. These trays are good for letter holders and can be pressed into service at afternoon tea.

Cut leather cushions are another novelty. These consist of soft leather perforated into a design for the top piece, which is mounted over a pillow of some contrasting silk or linen which shows through the cut leather. If preferred, the back can also be of leather, laced through to the front piece with leather thongs. Soft skins are used in attractive colors and the pattern transferred to the skin and cut out with sharp embroidery scissors, the edges afterward defined in india ink or gold paint. Leather pillows are really the most serviceable presents for a college room and are carried out in college colors.

Collar bags, tie cases and cuff cases are also made in this useful soft leather, cut bag shaped and lined with some pretty satin (also showing through a cut design), the lining and leather stitched together at the top and slashes cut at intervals through the leather a few inches from the top to allow a silk tying cord to be run through.

Numerous articles can be made with these two good friends, linen and leather. As the outfit required for tooling leather consists of two modeling tools, a pair of scissors, a sharp knife, a punch and a metal edged ruler, the expense is not a great item, and hand tooled leather is rapidly gaining popularity.

With regard to linen, its transformation into a thing of beauty only requires a good design, good colors and clever fingers.

New Handkerchief Bag.

Have you seen the handkerchief bag? It is just shown in the shops To make it for Christmas requires two flat disks crocheted of silk and beaded, about three inches in diameter. Join these flatly together, leaving an opening at the top. This quaint little affair, which looks like an exaggerated beaded watch and may be any color desired, is swung from the belt, with my lady's little lace handkerchief tucked therein. And, in truth, tiny as the kerchief is, it just fills the bag.

Right In His Line.

"Could you do the landlord in 'The Lady of Lyons'?" asked the manager of a seedy actor.

"Well, I should think I might; I have done a good many landlords."—Tit-Bits

Things to Make For the Christmas of the Baby

BABIES want so little at any time of year that the number of objects available for Christmas gifts to them is small. Rattles are toys that give them extreme satisfaction, and the only other amusement that they enjoy is, perhaps, a worsted ball on a ribbon. As they begin to toddle pretty reins are really liked. With the exception of garments and little toilet dainties there is not much left to make for them that they can use.

The ring rattle is always pretty. It is a small embroidery hoop, ribbon wound and with the same narrow ribbon sewed inside the hoop, so as to make a star extending to the hoop from a small inside square. Little bells outline the square. On a simpler form of the same thing the inside ribbon starts from a single point and forms rays to all sections of the hoop. Any fanciful arrangement of bells can be used on this.

Spoon Clothes Hanger.

Clothes hangers take the place of clothes trees, made conveniently low so that the clothes are easily got at while mother or nurse is seated. Sometimes they are more like a little clothes-horse got up daintily and probably set off with wide bows of ribbon. But a new one, most convenient of all when space has to be considered, is a sort of rack to hang on the wall, one made of burnt wood in the pattern of a silver spoon being particularly appropriate. Brass hooks or crystal hangers finish it. It hangs from a wide ribbon which balances it over a nail or is furnished with brass eyelets and brass headed nails.

Safety Pin Box.

A nest of boxes for safety pins, making a pretty gift for a baby's wardrobe, costs quite a little sum when bought in the stores, yet this dainty affair may be completed at home at very little time or expense. It is made of cardboard, with six little drawers, two in a row, above each other. But instead of taking this trouble you can get the kind that contains powders put up in drug stores from prescriptions which glued in their order together should answer equally well or better. On one end of each tiny brass rings sewed on will form handles and each two boxes will be marked "Small," "Medium," "Large." This complete, a broad white ribbon covers the four sides, and on the top this is tied into a large flat bow entirely covering the top, the ends displaying a spray of forgetmenots, hand painted. There is no back, and, failing the rings in the front doing their duty,

FOR SAFETY PINS.

the drawers may be quickly opened by gently pushing with the finger at the back. This is a very dainty trifle and suggests other possibilities and usefulness besides holding safety pins.

Small rosettes in delicate colored ribbons are easily made up and make pretty gifts. They are to be pinned to the little white dress when baby wishes to be especially decorated.

Shawl and Hood.

A fascinating little shawl and hood combined is knitted in nile green yarn, with squares marked off in white silk. The stitch is that employed in making old fashioned afghans or antimacassars. The design shows a deep point in the back, with smaller points over the shoulder, running up gracefully to the neck in the front.

An enticing hood of green yarn falls at the back. It is lined with a cobweb pattern in white silk, showing the green through it. The fringe is of white silk, and white cord and tassels are used for a finish.

The favorite combination is a fine wool yarn, overknit with silk threads, all worked in an open, shell pattern and with deep scallop. The silk is in the same tone as the wool thread or with a pale blue or a nile green wool a silvery silk thread is employed, like an overlaying mesh of metal.

ODDS AND ENDS.

Trifles In the Fancy Work Line Suitable For Presents.

A veritable ever ready friend in need is a reel for holding baby ribbon. When completed it resembles a very large spool of cotton. The starting point is to cut two circles in cardboard one inch larger in diameter than the roll of baby ribbon. These are covered on both sides with any material you happen to have that is pretty and appropriate, although linen on the outside and china silk on the inside are nicest Holes are pierced, through which the scissors are slipped. The other end holds a bodkin in a similar loop. The reel is an exceedingly compact little trifle, and there is no hunting for the right shade of ribbon or the implements to use with it.

BABY RIBBON REEL.

Pretty Book Covers.

A pretty cover for a book or magazine is always an acceptable small gift and need never be an expensive item.

First get a stiff piece of cardboard and cut it the exact size of the front and back of the book it is intended for, not, of course, including the back piece which holds the pages together. You must now select a material to cover the cardboard with, and of course any work in the shape of embroidery or painting must be done before the stuff is stretched over the cardboard. You have endless scope for your decorative capabilities. When linen is used a conventional design worked in flax thread is most effective; silk and satin display embroidery to perfection; figured materials can have their patterns outlined in gold or silver thread, and the covers de luxe can be painted with delicate sprays of flowers or small fruit.

Cut the material nearly an inch larger than the book when it is open and in cutting allow for the back piece. Now fold it over the cardboard covers and stick down with glue or photograph paste and remember to notch the material at intervals, as it lies better if this is done.

When the covers are quite dry take a piece of silk or sarcenet and sew it carefully around the edges of the cover and where the cardboard ends at the back piece stitch the sarcenet right through very neatly to the outer material. You must now put a piece of ribbon to the top and bottom of the back piece (to tie through the middle of the book covered), and you can edge all around with narrow silk cord if desired.

Pillow Cover.

The pillow cover in the illustration has a design of nasturtiums in all their exquisite natural shading and so should only be attempted by skilled fingers. The material is deep cream heavy satin cloth, with a conventional border in golden browns and greens, forming a charming background for the spray of flowers, pale yellow shading to deep orange, and the tender green of the leaves and stems.

NOVEL LAUNDRY BAG.

Christmas Gift That the Orderly Housewife Will Appreciate.

A novel laundry bag convenient and easily made has just appeared. It has two compartments, is flat and does not draw up like other receptacles for this purpose. To make this useful contrivance, two pieces of any desired material, as denim, cretonne, chintz or gingham, not necessarily alike if they will contrast well, are cut to form a bag, except that one piece is cut four inches longer than the other and is then slanted off to a point, this extension much resembling the flap of an envelope, and coming at the bottom of the bag. A third piece of white muslin is cut the same size as the part without the extension, and is placed between the two colored portions.

The bag has no mouth, as it is understood, the even edges of the three parts being basted together, then bound with a braid or ribbon, sewing up what would ordinarily be the mouth of the bag. The sides are then bound, taking in the three straight edges, and, lastly, the flap is bound. About three inches below the top of the bag a couple of rows of stitching are taken about an inch apart, forming a runner, and through this is run a short length of a wooden lath, acting like a draw string. Just below this runner in the center a vertical slit is cut on the two colored pieces, which must also be bound on their edges. Through these the soiled clothes are slipped. Then the flap is brought upward in the same way as you would seal an envelope were it inverted, and is secured by buttons and buttonholes, one on each corner of the flap. A cord is fastened at each end of the lath and forms a hanger. You will now discover the bag to be really two bags, the white intersection forming a partition.

When it is desired to remove the contents of the bag all that is necessary is to open the flaps, and everything immediately drops out—no pulling or tugging at draw strings, either in filling or emptying, the slits are most conveniently placed for slipping things into quickly, and only a moment is consumed in releasing the flaps, revealing at a glance the contents of the bag.

Stuffed Sweet Peppers.

Select the sweet green peppers which are very mild. Have some cold cooked meat chopped fine and seasoned with salt and pepper. Cut the tops from the peppers and take out all the seeds, being sure not to miss one. Fill with the meat and set closely together in a baking dish. For five peppers mix one cup of strained cooked tomato, two tablespoons of water, a rounding tablespoon of butter and half a level teaspoon of salt. Pour into the peppers, then bake them in a slow oven, basting occasionally.

A Handy Table.

The following time table should be preserved by every mother, as it is often a source of the greatest anxiety to know whether or not a child will develop a disease after having been exposed to it: Chickenpox, symptoms usually appear on the fourteenth day; diphtheria, second day; measles, fourteenth day; mumps, nineteenth day; scarlet fever, fourth day; smallpox, twelfth day; typhoid fever, twenty-first day; whooping cough, fourteenth day.

Could Use It.

"I heard of a man who laughed so hard at a story that he lost his voice," declared Kackson.

"What was that story" asked Famllyman, anxiously. "I'd like to tell it to my wife."—Tit-Bits.

WEAK HEART

SYSTEM WAS RUN DOWN

When the heart is healthy and performing its fuctions naturally, it should beat regularly seventy-two times a minute without causing its owner the slightest inconvenience or distress.

When it begins to beat irregularly or intermittently, palpitate and throb, skip beats, beat fast for a time, then so slow as to seem almost to stop, it causes great anxiety and alarm.

The least excitement or exertion seems to affect it.

Many people are kept in a state of morbid fear of death, become weak, worn and miserable, and are unable to attend to either social or business duties, through unnatural action of their heart.

To all such sufferers

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS

can give prompt and permanent relief. Mrs. F. Fletcher, Sault Ste. Marie, West, Ont., says: "I have been troubled for four or five years with weakness, and run down system. My feet were always cold and I felt almost dead. My heart was weak and I was so nervous I could hardly walk across the street. I started taking Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and after using three boxes I felt much better. I continued their use until I had taken twelve boxes and I am now well."

In Harvest time the farmer gather the fruits of his labours and lays by a portion for the winter—the time when all is going out and nothing coming in. This suggests the opportunity to all wage-earners and others of taking advantage of their "harvest time" (that is their earning period) to lay by a portion of their income for "life's winter" when the earning power ceases and expenses continue.

FOR CHRISTMAS.

Useful and Dainty Little Gifts—How They Are Made.

Somewhere tucked away in the bureau of that prodigy whom the rest of us long to believe purely mythical—the girl who is always ready for every occasion—are the first of her Christmas gifts, carefully laid in tissue paper, with some delicate, sweet smelling powder as accompaniment. For the foolish virgin who is apt to put off her gift making until the last moment the following suggestions may be of value:

A Bureau Basket.

A bureau basket is one of the collapsible creton covered wastebaskets in miniature. It is not more than three inches high, and both sides and base are made and finished separately and joined by narrow ribbons. The basket is left empty for the various little things or is partly filled with tape measure, scissors, thimble and emery.

On one side (outside) is a pocket, gathered on an elastic; on another is a fat pincushion, and a third has a needlebook. The fourth is left plain so that the basket may be set flat against the back of the bureau.

Like a number of other things, they may be quite elaborately got up of silks ornamented with tiny flowers and fitted out with all the tiny belongings, or they may be made of bits of creton, small patterns being best.

Kodak Film Case.

A unique and at the same time very useful souvenir which one may make to give to a kodak faddist is a film case. Use four pieces of cardboard, 6 by 8 inches, and cover them with brown linen. On the outside of one cover embroider the word "Films" in attractive script and with effective colored silk. Upon the reverse side outline a graceful spray of blossoms and work the monogram of the prospective recipient. To these ornate covers tie six envelopes with a harmonizing shade of ribbon, threading it through the flaps, also acting as a hinge to hold the covers. These envelopes should be lettered separately with water color paints upon the address side, "Contents," "Dates," "Incidents," "Scenes," "Persons," etc.

Workbag Apron.

For the woman who is expert at embroidery a workbag apron is just the thing. A square of muslin or china silk is trimmed all around with a narrow edging of lace, preferably valenciennes. In the center a large circle is outlined with beading, run with ribbon. When the worker is ready to put away her embroidery she drops the articles in this circle, and when the strings are drawn a dainty workbag is the result.

Baggage Tag Case.

Have you ever been able to locate baggage tags when you most wanted them? Save your friend from a misfortune of this kind by making her a case in which to place the tricksy pests. In shape this case reminds one of a rather large, old fashioned watch pocket, except that it would be square were it not for a point at the top of the case.

BAGGAGE TAG CASE.

A slightly stiffened coarse tan canvas goes into its manufacture. One piece about eight inches long and four inches wide is pointed at the top. A pocket half the depth of this foundation piece is attached, and both pieces of canvas are bound with half inch satin ribbon. Tied into the pocket with baby ribbon are a half dozen baggage tags. On this pocket flap and on the top of the foundation are sprays of flowers done in water colors. The particularly pretty case is made of tan canvas, bound with lavender ribbon and adorned with violets. Loops of ribbon are sewed at the top as a hanger.

New Cure For Rupture

New Scientific Appliance, Always a Perfect Fit—Adjustable to Any Size Person—Easy, Comfortable, Never Slips, No Obnoxious Springs or Pads --Costs Less Than Many Common Trusses--Made for Men' women or Children.

I Send It on Approval--You Wear It If You are not Satisfied, I Refund Your Money.

I have invented a rupture appliance that I can safely say, by 30 years' experience in the rupture business, is the only one that will absolutely hold the rupture and never slip and yet is cool, comfortable, conforms to every movement of the body without chafing or hurting and costs less than many ordinary trusses. I have put the price so low that any person, rich or poor, can buy, and I absolutely guarantee it. I make it to your order—send it to you—you wear it, and if it doesn't satisfy you send it back to me and I will refund your money. That is the fairest proposition ever made by a rupture specialist. The banks or any responsible citizen in Marshall will tell you that is the way I do business—always absolutely on the square.

Here is what Mr. Jas. Britton, a prominent manufacturer of Bethleham, Pa., writes:

"C. E. Brooks, Esq., Dear Sir, — I have been ruptured six years and have always had trouble with it till I got your appliance. It is very easy to wear, fits neat and snug, and is not in the way at any time, day or night. In fact at times I did not know I had it on. It just adapted itself to the shape of the body and clung to the spot no matter what position I was in. It would be a veritable God-send to the unfortunate who suffer from rupture, if all could procure the Brooks Rupture Appliance and wear it. They certainly would never regret it. My rupture is all healed up and nothing ever did it but your appliance. Jas. Britton."

If you have tried most everything else, come to me. Where others fail is where I have my greatest success. Write me to-day and I will send you my book on Rupture and its Cure, showing my appliance and giving you prices and names of people who have tried it and been cured. It is instant relief when all others fail. Remember I use no salves, no harness, no lies. Just a straight business deal at a reasonable price.

COBALT ORE SHIPMENTS.

For Last Nine Months Records Show $1,000,000 Exported.

The details of shipments forming the output of the silver-cobalt mines of the Cobalt region have just been issued by the bureau of mines for the nine months ending Sept 30 last.

The cobalt, nickel and arsenic contents of the shipments are to some extent estimated, since the purchasers of ore in most cases pay nothing for these constituents, and no assays for them are made.

The fact remains, however, that for the nine months there has been shipped 2,542,827 ounces of silver, worth $1,609,554, and in October 1,120 tons additional ore has been shipped. Averaging the price of this 1,120 tons at the same rate as for the 2,305 tons shipped in the preceding nine months it would come to close on $800,000, or, say, a total of $2,400,000 in round figures for the ten months of 1906.

The figures for the Cobalt shipments are as follows:

	Quantity.	Value.
Ore mined, tons...	3,196
Ore shipped, tons..	2,305
Silver in ore shipped, ounces 2,542,827		$1,609,554
Cobalt in ore shipped tons	138	110,400
Nickel in ore shipped, tons	69	16,560
Arsenic in ore shipped, tons	691	13,830
Total for nine months..		$1,750,344

The output of other metalliferous mines and works in Ontario, in addition to the Cobalt table, includes chiefly the nickel and copper from Sudbury and the iron ore of the Helen Mines. This is reckoned over again in the manufactured state as pig iron and steel. These items are, of course, increased by imported material.

The return for the nine months ending Sept. 30 follows:

	Quantity.	Value.
Gold, ounces	2,015	$ 34,377
Silver, ounces 2,542,827		1,609,554
Cobalt, tons	138	110,400
Nickel, tons	8,037	2,856,333
Copper, tons	3,900	600,000
Iron ore, tons	93,159	117,466
Pig iron, tons	208,094	3,194,206
Steel, tons	123,257	3,059,070
Zinc, tons	300	4,500
Arsenic, tons	691	13,830

These figures show a considerable advance over those for the same period of 1905, and indicate that the production for 1906 will be much the largest of any year in the history of metalliferous mining in Ontario.

"The greatest thing in the world is politeness. And no schooling is necessary to be agreeable. Simply have a little consideration for others and be quiet and modest.

THANKSGIVING TALK

HOW TO DECORATE THE FAMILY DINNER TABLE.

A Fruit Centerpiece Always Attractive—Unique Dinner Cards Aid Hostess In Seating Guests—Ice Cream Cases In Shapes of Turkeys.

Either flowers or fruits may be used as decorations for the Thanksgiving dinner table. If the former, a vase of roses, chrysanthemums or carnations may occupy the center of the table, and the same flowers, a single one or a loose bunch, may be placed for each guest. A simple and effective mode is to have a large rose bowl in the center and about it four small ones, all filled with the same kind of flowers. Brown oak leaves, chrysanthemums and red berries make an attractive center decoration and may be arranged in a rose bowl or a hollowed out pumpkin or hubbard squash, with delicate vines veiling the sides of the receptacle.

If fruit is employed for a center decoration it may be arranged in a low, broad bowl, having the sides covered with vines in a hollowed out pumpkin or hubbard squash, or in a pretty straw basket. Brown oak leaves and sprigs of red berries will help out this effect.

Unique Dinner Cards.

One of the most unusual cards shown in the shops is a feathered turkey for Thanksgiving dinners. The body is made of real turkey feathers, and the head and feet are painted on with water colors. There is plenty of unused cardboard surrounding the bird to write in a generous menu. Other appropriate decorations for this holiday are of painted turkeys, with an ax conspicuously displayed in one corner, or a bird on the run, with tail and wings spread and these words beneath: "It's my busy day." The space to be filled up with the dishes for dinner is either beneath the turkey or at one side. Then there are hand painted long necked "gobblers" dressed in fur boas and newest style picture hats, with an opera bag held jauntily in one claw as if ready for a matinee, and another that represents an old dowager in a poke bonnet, with a low cut evening gown with lace around the neck and folds of painted chiffon so arranged over the tail and wings that they look like a real dress with waist and skirt complete. This old hen turkey has lorgnettes in one claw and is looking scornfully through them at the menu on the end of the card.

Favors and Bonbon Holders.

Ice cream individual cases are made up in shapes of turkey, pumpkin and football.

Miniature champagne coolers are made to hold sugar plums and other sweets; holding favors are colored cardboard pumpkins, chrysanthemums, footballs, turkeys, etc.

The prices of these pretty boxes are low. You can purchase them singly or by the dozen.

Pumpkin lanterns are in four sizes, sold by the dozen for $1.10, $2.25, $3.40 and $4, the larger and more expensive size being made of tin.

Gobbler favors cost 15 cents each or $1.70 a dozen.

Turkey hens may be had at 10 cents apiece or $1.15 a dozen.

AN ARMY OF 750,000 WILL STAND

An Increase of Japan's Strength of Almost 50 Per Cent.

THE CABINET HAS DECIDED

Work of Rearmament and Reorganization to Extend Over Several Years —New Special Forces to Be Organized, Including Two Army Divisions to Replace Those to Be Recalled From Manchuria.

London, Dec. 6.—The Yokohama correspondent of The Daily Telegraph cables that the Japanese Cabinet has decided to provide, in the next budget, for the recall of the two army divisions now in Manchuria and Corea, and also to create two new divisions in 1907, availing itself of the increase in revenue without resorting to increased taxation or borrowing.

Furthermore the Cabinet will endorse the proposal to reduce the term of conscription from three to two years.

This, the correspondent continues, although it is a compromise with the demands of the War Office, means a tremendous increase in the strength of the army.

The Tokio correspondent of The Times telegraphs that the new army scheme signifies an increase of nearly 50 per cent. Six new divisions will be furnished for home establishments, making the strength of the army 19 divisions, including the guards. Three special forces will be organized, namely, the heavy artillery, the quick-firing field artillery and the cavalry. All will be horsed on the best cattle. The work of rearmament and restoration, the correspondent adds, which the Minister of War desired completed within a brief period, will extend over several years.

In conclusion the correspondent says when this program is completed Japan will be able to place an army of 750,000 men in the field.

Increasing China's Navy.

Shanghai, Dec. 6.—According to the native newspapers the proposed reorganization of the Chinese navy would cost $10,000,000 in addition to an annual expenditure of $8,000,000. The provincial viceroys, the papers add, are protesting that they are unable to raise the money and the carrying out of the scheme has therefore been postponed indefinitely.

SHEREMETIEFF SHOT.

Joins in Pursuit of Terrorist Assassin, Who Suicides.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 6.—Police Inspector Sheremetieff, who, after the anti-Jewish outbreak at Bialystok in June last, for which he was said to be responsible, was transferred to St. Petersburg, was shot and mortally wounded yesterday by a workman who then killed himself.

While the inspector was passing a house which was searched Tuesday, because it was suspected of harboring terrorists, a man who had been lurking in the courtyard entrance fired at him with a revolver. Though wounded in the head, Sheremetieff drew his revolver and joined in the pursuit of his assailant. The house was surrounded and the fugitive, seeing capture inevitable, committed suicide.

During the pursuit the terrorist inflicted a second and a mortal wound on Sheremetieff.

Sheremetieff had just been appointed chief of police of Bialystok, and was about to return there.

Russia Will Not Believe.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 6.—The reports of warlike activity on the part of the Japanese in Manchuria, published in London, are characterized at the War Ministry to be complete inventions. The officials here have not received any information tending to confirm the reports.

A MUSCULAR CHRISTIAN.

Sails Into Couple of Men Who Were Disturbing His Meeting.

St. Thomas, Dec. 6.—A sensation comes from Mapleton, where, on Monday night the pastor of the Disciples' Church, Rev. W. J. Charlton, undertook to punish two men, who, he held, were disturbing a meeting in progress in the church.

He biffed Clinton Smith on the ear and another fellow on the eye. County Constable Silcox, who tried to interfere, had to ward off an attack.

The pugilistic pastor expressed a willingness to continue the encounter outside the church, but hostilities ceased. The men assaulted, however, have laid a complaint, and Magistrate Hooke will hear the case.

Take Over C.P.R. Branch.

Rome, Dec. 6.—The recent illness of King Menelik of Abyssinia, it developed yesterday from further advices from Adis, Abeba, consisted of cerebral congestion, and although the danger is now over he has not regained his former lucidity, seeming to be in a state of slight torpor.

It is understood that the king adheres to the suggested arrangement, but with the reservation that it shall in no way limit his sovereign rights. HICKOX MYSTERY CLEARED.

Crew Got to Safety In a Yawl — The Vessel a Total Loss—Unfortunate Capt. Smith.

Belleville, Dec. 6.—There was much satisfaction here when it became known that the mystery of the missing steamer Hickox had been cleared up. The news first came through a telephone message from Capt. Smith himself, who announced his safety to his wife.

The captain's story of the disaster is that they left Oswego about noon on Sunday and encountered a heavy snowstorm and head wind, making slow progress against the heavy sea. Shortly before 10 o'clock on Sunday night, when within a few miles of the Main Ducks, an island in the lake, a short distance from the southern end of the Prince Edward shore, the Hickox was discovered to be on fire. The fire was in her coal cargo, and though the crew worked hard to extinguish the flames the fire gained such headway that it was soon seen the vessel was doomed.

Seeing that there was no hope of saving the Hickox, Capt. Smith headed for the Main Ducks, where he beached her. The crew then took the yawl and rowed ashore. They were then driven overland to McDonald's Cove. They were in an exhausted state, and after being attended to were driven to Picton, where they arrived yesterday morning.

Capt. Smith says his vessel is a total loss, as is also the cargo of 350 tons of coal. He has no idea of how the fire started, but thinks it was through spontaneous combustion.

Capt. Smith has been very unfortunate in former years in losing several vessels by fire. It is reported that there is an insurance against fire of $2,000 on the burned vessel, and an insurance of $1,500 on the coal. Vessel men in this city are wondering how the Hickox came to be so far east as the Main Ducks.

SACRILIGIOUS THIEVES.

Sunday School Boxes Emptied and Considerable Damage Done.

Brampton, Dec. 6.—Tuesday night several persons unknown entered a number of the churches here and created great havoc. At St. Paul's Church a quantity of money was taken from the children's Sunday school money boxes, and at Grace Church great damage was done to the Sunday school library.

The caretaker of Christ Church found two men sleeping in the kindergarten classroom. He gave the alarm, but upon re-entering found that the men had escaped through a window.

The communion wine had been taken, and everything turned upside down, from one end of the building to the other. A horse and rig were taken from Grace Church shed and driven some distance from the town where they were abandoned, the horse returning home.

IMPERIAL RECIPROCITY.

Beginning of Movement of Exchange of British and Canadian Troops.

London, Dec. 6.—Imperial reciprocity in soldiers promises to be one of the results of War Secretary Haldane's disbandment of some battalions of the British army in the furtherance of the general program of economy.

The new movement will be initiated by 150 men, who lately disbanded from the third battalion of the Manchester Regiment, who, in January, will proceed to Canada and join the Dominion forces. The men, their wives and their families will all be taken over at the cost of the Canadian Government, and it is understood that contingents of the garrison artillery, which shortly will be disbanded, will follow suit.

The War Office authorities are hopeful that the movement will develop, and that later a system of exchange will be arranged, by which Canadian troops can be sent to England and British troops to Canada, with the object of more closely welding the services into an imperial force.

Collingwood, Dec. 6.—Yesterday was another history-making day for the Collingwood Shipbuilding Co., the event being the launching of the steel steamer Midland Prince, the largest vessel yet built in Canada. The launch was witnessed by many hundreds of citizens, and a party composed of Charles M. Hays and thirty or forty friends from Montreal. At 1.30 o'clock Miss Hays, daughter of Charles M. Hays, general manager of the G.T.R., broke the bottle of wine across her bow, and pronounced the name, Midland Prince.

Montreal, Dec. 5.—Receipts were 1000 cattle, 2200 hogs, 200 sheep and lambs, 100 calves. Twenty carloads of these cattle and hogs did not reach the market until after 10 o'clock, owing to various delays on the road. A drover from Glengarry said that his cattle were 18 hours coming a distance of a little over 50 miles. The cattle standing in an open car for 18 hours in zero weather, with such strong winds as were blowing yesterday, were scarcely in a presentable condition when they reached the market this forenoon. Trade was slow, and prices had a downward tendency. Prime beeves sold at 4¼c to a little over 4½c per lb.; pretty good cattle, 3c to 4c, and the common stock, 2c to 3c per lb. The calves sold at 2½c to 5½c for grassers, and 4½c to 5c per lb. for good veals. Sheep sold at 3¾c to 4¼c, and lambs at 5½c to 6c per lb.

ROYAL Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

Healthful cream of tartar, derived solely from grapes, refined to absolute purity, is the active principle of every pound of Royal Baking Powder.

Hence it is that Royal Baking Powder renders the food remarkable both for its fine flavor and healthfulness.

No alum, no phosphate—which are the principal elements of the so-called cheap baking powders—and which are derived from bones, rock and sulphuric acid.

NEW PARLIAMENTARY RULE WORKS

Both Ways As Both Sides Found Out In the Commons.

MR. SPEAKER IN CONTROL

Hon. Mr. Aylesworth Prevented From Making a Statement—Mr. Borden Was Also Caught Napping — Mr. Fowler Makes His First Appearance This Session—Questions Answered by the Ministers.

Ottawa, Dec. 6.—A practical demonstration of the working of the new rule designed to avoid useless frittering away of the time of the House by motions to adjourn upon frivolous excuses or for the purpose of airing the personal views of members upon topics in which the great majority of the House take no interest, to the exclusion of the business for which Parliament assembled, was given yesterday. Application of the rule, however, was made in a totally unexpected direction. Usually the House has always been willing and anxious to listen to anything in the way of Ministerial explanations, which have hitherto been regarded as in order at almost any stage of the proceedings, it being generally recognized that the House and the public should have information which the Ministers have to impart regarding public affairs at the earliest possible moment.

Didn't Observe Technicalities.

This afternoon Mr. Geo. W. Fowler, M.P., took his seat in the House for the first time this session, and Mr. Rufus Pope, ex-M.P., also made his appearance in the corridors.

Mr. Aylesworth, Minister of Justice, took advantage of the opportunity to give to the House a denial of the statement made by Mr. Pope in British Columbia that a Judgeship in the Supreme Court of that Province was for sale. He had, however, omitted to observe the technicalities of the new rule, and the leader of the Opposition having called attention to the fact, Mr. Aylesworth was not allowed yesterday to give a denial to the statement.

A laughable feature of the incident was that before the Opposition had finished chuckling at their success in delaying, but not preventing, the explanation by the Minister of Justice, Mr. Borden himself and his lieutenant from Quebec, Mr. J. G. H. Bergeron, were also tripped up, and were called to order by the Speaker for transgressing the rule.

Lot of Private Business.

Private members succeeded in getting through a lot of business. Mr. Monk's bill providing for the incorporation of industrial and co-operative societies, and Mr. Lancaster's bill requiring masters and mates on Canadian vessels sailing the great lakes to be British subjects, were referred to special committees.

In answer to Mr. Monk, Mr. Brodeur stated that the dredge Galveston was purchased from H. A. Moss & Co., New Orleans, for $146,000; repairs and fittings had cost $10,942.14, and insurance $4,574.14. The dredge had given satisfaction.

Niagara's Water Volume.

Mr. Fisher, replying to Mr. Lancaster, admitted the importance of an accurate determination of the quantity of water passing over Niagara Falls on the American and Canadian sides respectively, but it could not be absolutely estimated. The United States army estimate had been adopted.

Some interesting statistics were given in reply to questions by members. Last year Canada imported 390,846,220 lbs. of raw sugar, of which 220,126,593 lbs. came from the British West Indies and 96,686,237 lbs. from Bermuda. Of our total imports from Great Britain in 1905 and 1906, less than 20 per cent. came through United States ports.

The Massey-Harris Co. of Toronto received in 1905, as a drawback on duties paid on raw material, the sum of $89,559.43, and in 1903 the sum of $83,153.59.

Ontario Leads.

In reply to Mr. Christie (North Ontario), Mr. Oliver stated that between April 20 and Nov. 30, 1906, there had arrived in Canada 137,506 immigrants, of which 23,420 came from the United States. Their destinations where Quebec, 18,191; Maritime Provinces, 4,051; Ontario, 37,188; Manitoba, 17,581; Saskatchewan, 17,157; British Columbia, 12,541.

It will come as a surprise to many that Ontario leads in the increase of population from immigration.

Militia In Civil Riots.

Ottawa, Dec. 6.—In the Senate yesterday afternoon Senator David gave notice of a motion for papers relating to strikes and the calling out of the militia. He also asked for the Buckingham strike correspondence. He declared he would offer an amendment to the existing law. He was opposed to municipalities being compelled to bear the cost of militia when it was ordered out for strike duty.

THE PAROLE SYSTEM.

Prisoners' Aid Association at Ottawa to Have Act Amended.

Ottawa, Dec. 6.—A Toronto delegation comprising Hamilton Cassels, K.C., Dr. T. J. Gilmour, warden of the Central Prison; Dr. Bruce Smith and Detective Rogers, interviewed the Minister of Justice yesterday to obtain an amendment to the parole system, and a probation system for first offenders. They urged that paroles were being granted indiscriminately. They asked for a commission of local presidents of the association, the prison warden and the crown attorney on the parole system to be responsible for the granting of parole, etc. The province should also have the power to appoint probation officers, and have charge of first offenders. The delegation also had a talk with Lord Grey.

POWER MEETING.

Berlin Has Forty Enthusiastic Delegates Who Talk Bylaw.

Berlin, Ont., Dec. 6.—Forty delegates from Galt, Guelph, Waterloo, Berlin, Acton and Mount Forest met in conference on the western power question in the council chamber here last night.

Mr. Beck was enthusiastically received and clearly outlined the scheme of the commission, and gave a stirring address on the opportunity of the hour.

The feature of the meeting was the unanimous adoption of a resolution endorsing the work done by the power commission and the municipalities' union. The meeting pledged itself to do all in its power to secure the submission of the necessary bylaws in the largest possible number of municipalities at the forthcoming municipal elections.

The engineer of the Hydro Power Commission estimates the cost to the people of Berlin will be, per horsepower, $17.85 to $20.

If half the estimated amount is used the cost will be, per horsepower, $18 to $23.50.

FIRE SCARE INJURES.

Young Women Match Employes Burned and Otherwise Hurt.

Indianapolis, Dec. 6.—A fire that started from an explosion of thousands of paper matches at the factory of Rathbun & Co., West Indianapolis, yesterday, resulted in the injury of eight young women, four of them seriously.

The others were painfully burned and injured in their frantic efforts to escape from the building.

The four most seriously hurt were burned and also injured by jumping from a second-storey window.

The fire was quickly smothered by other women employes.

Police Rescue Kidnapped Girl.

Chicago, Dec. 6.—After a desperate battle, in which a shotgun and several revolvers figured, and in which two doors were battered down by the police, Giovanna Umida, the 14-year-old Italian girl who was kidnapped bodily Monday night, was rescued Tuesday night from a vacant flat in the same building. Her abductors, Samuel Marino, 28 years old, who, with his brother, Charles, kidnapped her and detained her in the untenanted flat, was arrested. The little girl said the two brothers were assisted in their kidnapping by the wife of Charles Marino. The door was then locked by one, who pocketed the key and left her alone with the brother.

OVER A SCORE DROWN IN THE WEST

Floodwaters in Arizona Caused By a 30-Hours' Rain.

WATERS ARE NOW RECEDING

Exact Number of Deaths Cannot Yet Be Told—Looters, Refusing to Surrender, Are Shot—Detroit Copper Co.'s Reservoir Breaks and Causes Great Damage In Chase Creek, Arizona.

Clifton, Ariz., Dec. 6.—Floodwaters that caused upwards of a score of deaths and much property damage last night are receding rapidly and the 30-hour rain has ceased. No further damage is apprehended.

The bodies were recovered from the wreckage along Chase Creek, but the exact number of deaths cannot be told. Three men were caught looting, and on refusal to surrender, were shot and fatally wounded by officers.

The flood in Chase Creek was caused by the breaking of the reservoir of the Detroit Copper Co., and the freed water ran down the creek with a 7-foot breast.

Only one business house on Chase Creek escaped damage and many were destroyed. North Clifton was partly wrecked, nearly all of the residences in that part of the town being destroyed or damaged.

Though Coronado Railroad suffered damage all the way from Clifton to Metcalfe and it will be several days before trains can pass over the line. The first train out of Clifton since the flood started yesterday. It is doubtful whether it can get as far as Duncan, where the Gila River is higher and is still rising.

So many restaurants and hotels have been destroyed that it is almost impossible to find a place to eat or to sleep in the town, but there will be no shortage of provisions, as many stores escaped the floods.

Big Storm In Britain.

London, Dec. 6.—A severe gale is raging on the coast. The steamer Baltic was delayed many hours in sailing.

Among the many accidents reported is the destruction of the wireless telegraph tower at Machrianish Bay, Scotland, which was 450 feet high and weighed 2,000 tons. This tower was erected for wireless communication with America. It collapsed and crashed to the ground.

From Trains to Canoes.

Panama, Dec. 6.—Railroad communication on the Isthmus is still interrupted by floods and mails and passengers at some points along the line are transferred from one train to another in canoes.

Cases to the Courts.

San Francisco, Dec. 6.—Under orders from Washington the representatives of the Department of Justice in California have been instructed to begin an action in the courts to test the legality of the state statute, which provides that children of Mongolian descent shall attend a separate school.

Fell Under Train Wheels.

Jeanette's Creek, Ont., Dec. 6.—A Norwegian, name unknown, apparently on his way from North Dakota to Germany, fell from a train platform here yesterday. Both legs were cut off, and he died soon afterwards.

HALF A DOZEN FOR TRIAL.

Buckingham Strikers Arraigned and Held For Manslaughter.

Hull, Que., Dec. 6.—The six strikers accused by Coroner McMahon's jury and arraigned for manslaughter and rioting in the Buckingham trouble of Oct. 8, were yesterday afternoon committed for trial. The men pleaded not guilty. They are Hillaire Charette, Adelard Hamelin, J. B. Clement, George Robinson, Croteau; Colbert Bastien and Louis Landry. All furnished bail in $600 personal and two securities each of $300.

A week's adjournment was granted in the preliminary trial for manslaughter of Messrs. Alex. Maclaren, Chief of Police Frank Kearan, Bailiff J. C. Cummings, Chief Detective G. J. Thompson, P. Picard, R. Engrem and A. Lieot of the Thiel force, and Special Constables W. McManus and Joseph Delorme. The leading counsel for the defence, Mr. Henry Aylen, was ill, and his associates declined to go on without him.

Dr. Rodrigue, the Buckingham coroner accused of neglect of duty as a peace officer in not taking steps to prevent the riot, appeared also, and his trial was adjourned for a week till Wednesday, Dec. 12.

BRITISH REPRESENTATIVES.

Practical Means to Establishing Better Canadian Trade Relations.

Ottawa, Dec. 6.—R. Gregg, commissioned by the Imperial Government to visit Canada and enquire into the advisability of the appointment by the Imperial Government of commercial agents in Canada, has finished his tour and is in the city at present.

The general sentiment, Mr. Gregg ascertained, is favorable to closer trade relations with the motherland, and he believes that by the appointing of regular agents this end would be more easily brought about. His recommendation will be to that effect.

Schooner Wrecked.

Halifax, N. S., Dec. 6.—News of the wreck of the schooner Emma R. Harvey, at Granville Ferry, Annapolis Basin, near Annapolis, N. S., reached here yesterday morning. The crew suffered severely from cold and exposure. Capt. Berry is reported dead, and a number of the crew are frostbitten. The vessel is a total wreck.

Guilty of Manslaughter.

Ottawa, Dec. 6.—The jury on the murder charge against Hugh McMillan for causing the death of Oscar Laugon by striking him with a club, returned a verdict of manslaughter yesterday, with a recommendation for mercy. Judge St. Pierre, who is presiding at the Hull assizes, will not deliver sentence for a day or two.

Sealers Released.

Halifax, Dec. 6.—The Canada Sealing Co., owners of the schooner Alice Gertrude, has received a cable from the British Minister at Montevideo, Uruguay, stating that the four sealers arrested there six weeks ago without cause had been released and sent to Falklands.

Winners At Chicago.

Chicago, Ill., Dec. 6.—Canadians evidently guessed the wrong date for "Foreign Day" at the International Live Stock Show, for yesterday—just one day late—they almost swept the board of the leading awards. In the evening they figured strongly in the horse awards by winning blue ribbons in both stallion classes, defeating some of the best-known horses in the world.

CITY'S POSTAL REVENUE CLIMBS UP

Conpared with Other Provincial Minor Cities the Amount Taken in at Local Office Makes Very Good Showing.

REVENUE LAST YEAR $30,747

Some Interesting Comparisons of the Revenue of the Post Offices in the Cities of Province—Free Delivery Needed.

The postal revenue of a city may, other things being equal, be taken as an indication of the volume of business done, and, judging Peterborough by this standard it stands well up among the minor cities of the Province, indeed it is in a better relative position than a great many of them, while few, if any, have a better record.

A Good Showing

The last report of the Postmaster General gives some decidedly interesting information concerning the postal service of the Dominion, and from it is learned the fact that during the year covered by the report the revenue of the Peterborough office was no less than $30,747, a record which places Peterborough well up in the list of the cities of the province.

The volume of business done here is sufficient to warrant the consideration that the Government will consider Peterborough of importance enough to give it a delivery system. Barrie, with a revenue of $12,938 has a delivery system, and Peterborough, with a revenue two and a half times as great would seem to be deserving of the same consideration.

Up In The Lead

An interesting comparison of the revenues of the minor cities of the Province has been made by the Examiner and will show the reader that Peterborough has nothing to be ashamed of in the record of her postal business. It is as follows:—

PETERBOROUGH, $30,747.
Barrie, $12,938.
Belleville, $18,324.
Stratford, $18,904.
Woodstock, $21,558.
Berlin, $23,008.
St. Catherines, $23,076.
St. Thomas, $23,084.
Chatham, $27,287.
Windsor, $30,220.
Guelph, $34,654.
Kingston, $41,086.
Brantford, $48,510.

Comparative Population

In this connection a comparison of the respective populations of the above cities will prove interesting, and is given as taken from the Canadian Almanac, the figures, of course representing the population at the last general census in 1901, five years ago, and it must be borne in mind that in the majority of cases the population has materially increased, as will be noticed in the case of Peterborough. Judged by this standard, however, which is a fair one, Peterborough makes a good showing. The populations are as follows:—

PETERBOROUGH, 11,239.
Barrie, 5,949.
Belleville, 9,117.
Stratford, 9,959.
Woodstock, 8,833.
Berlin, 9,747.
St. Catherines, 9,946.
St. Thomas, 11,485.
Chatham, 9,068.
Windsor, 12,153.
Guelph, 11,496.
Kingston, 17,961.
Brantford, 16,619.

Revenue and Population

In the proportion of revenue to population Peterborough stands fourth on the list, with $2 8-11 per head of postal revenue, the figures for the other cities mentioned above being:—

Barrie, $2 1-5.
Belleville, $2 1-9.
Stratford, $1 8-9.
Woodstock, $2 3-8.
Berlin, $2 3-9.
St. Catherines, $2 3-9.
St. Thomas, $2 1-11.
Chatham, $3
Windsor, $2 5-12.
Guelph, $3 1-11.
Kingston, $2 5-17.
Brantford, $2 15-16.

CLYSDALE — McKEE. — At the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. McKee, in the Township of Seymour, on December 4, by Rev. W. Elliott, of Hastings, Geo. A. Clysdale, of the Township of Asphodel, to Miss Mary E. McKee, of the Township of Seymour.

Will Represent Peterborough County Dairymen On Eastern Dairymen's Associatlon Executive

The selection of Mr. G. A. Gillespie as the representative of the Peterborough County Dairymen on the Executive of the Eastern Ontario Dairymen's Association is a very wise one, and the dairymen of this district could not have made a better choice. Mr. Gillespie's wide experience in dairy matters and his good business judgment, evidence of which has been repeatedly given, make him a very valuable man to represent the dairy interests of the county on the executive of the governing body so far as dairy matters are concerned in the eastern part of the province.

Services Recognized

For a number of years Mr. Gillespie has worked hard, and sometimes in the face of discouragements to advance the dairy interests of the county, and that his labours have been successful is evidenced by the fact that the Peterborough District is now recognized as one of the best in the province, the cheese manufactured here being of a recognized good quality, while the dairymen of the district are modern in their methods and have demonstrated that the campaign of education which Mr. Gillespie has been carrying on has not been without results of the desired kind.

The Peterborough County Dairymen may be assured that their interests will be safe in the hands of Mr. Gillespie, and since they will have a friend at court they may expect greater consideration from the Association than has been received in the past.

Seventeen Elected

At the next convention of the Association, which will be held in Ottawa during January, seventeen representatives will be elected to the Executive, the change having been authorized, increasing the number of members of the executive from seven to the larger number, and the men nominated from the seventeen districts in the jurisdiction of the Eastern Ontario Association will, it is understood, be elected to fill the positions on the executive, which will in future be more thoroughly representative in the future than it has been in the past.

The coming meeting of the Association will, it is expected be one of the most successful in the history of that organization, the dairy industry this year having prospered to a greater degree than in any previous period in its history.

Mr. Rogers Purchases The Campbellford Mill

With Associates He Has Secured Controlling Interest in Paper and Electric Light Company in That Town.

Mr. R. B. Rogers together with a few personal friends has purchased a controlling interest in the Northumberland Paper and Electric Company at Campbellford. This is a very old established business, the products of the mills being well and favourably known throughout the Dominion.

The Products

The principal products of the mills are strawboard, millboard and housesheeting. There is besides on the property one of the greatest waterpowers in Ontario, only a small portion of which is at present developed. Mr. Rogers leaves in a few days for Campbellford to take charge of this property.

Dennis Daly Was Badly Used By Harvey Man

Was Assaulted While Staying with Ennismore Residents—Fred Pluard Arrested on the Charge of Assault.

Dennis Daly, a well-known local man, was badly injured last week as a result of an attack made upon him by someone unknown. He was employed by Mr. Twomey, of Ennismore, and one night last week, while the latter was out of the house, Daly was assaulted and badly beaten. He stated that he attack was made upon him by Fred Pluard, who lives in Harvey, and the latter has been arrested by High County Constable Cochrane, on the charge of assault. A rumour had spread around the city that Mr. Daley was dead, as a result of the assault, but, fortunately, the report is not true, although he was in a pretty serious condition.

It appears that Daly was engaged about two weeks ago by Mr. Twomey who came to Peterborough for him and drove him out. In the evening Mr. Twomey left Daly in the house while he went out to the stable and on returning found that the unfortunate man had been desperately assaulted.

Daly states that two men, one of whom was Pluard and the other a stranger entered the house and attacked him fiercely.

Zero Weather May Be Looked For

The prediction of the Examiner yesterday that we would have snow and sleet before long was realized. About eleven o'clock last night it began to snow, later turning to sleet, with a strong wind which blew all night. About two inches of snow fell and sleighing is now very good both in the city and on the country roads.

The moderation in weather which came yesterday is, as this paper predicted, to be short-lived. To-night the temperature will drop again, and strong winds will likely be experienced from the northern regions, resulting in a decided stiffening of the weather. This condition will also prevail to-morrow, and the prospects are that for the next few days zero weather will be experienced.

NEW CHARGE IS LAID AGAINST MR. M'GILL

Crown Now Enters a New Charge, that of Theft of $1,500,000 From Bank from 1901 to 1904

COMMISSION TO EXAMINE BROKERS

Special to The Examiner

Toronto, Dec. 6.—A new and sensational move was made in the case against Charles McGill, former manager of the Ontario Bank, when his case was called this morning.

The Crown laid another charge against Mr. McGill, charging him with the theft of $1,150,000 from the Bank of Ontario between the years 1901 and 1904.

The object of this charge is to secure the appointment of a commission to go to New York to examine a number of stock brokers there with a view of finding out something of Mr. McGill's financial transactions there.

Mr. McGill pleaded not guilty and was allowed out on $100 bail. He is already out on $100,000 bail on the other charges against him.

JAMES NUGENT TO BE PLACED IN THE ASYLUM

James Nugent, of Smith Township, who was brought to the County Jail on Monday, charged with insanity, will be taken to Toronto to-morrow and placed in an asylum, arrangements for his admission having been made.

County Constable Moore will have charge of the transportation of Nugent to Toronto.

THE VALISE WAS STOLEN, AND PETERBOROUGH PEOPLE ALMOST GOT OFF TRAIN AT MANVERS

Sly Trick Cost a Traveller His Grip and Made the Conductor on the Local Get Excited.

LOCAL PEOPLE INTERESTED IN THE FUN

The Peterborough people who were passengers on the C.P.R. parlour car last evening coming from Toronto witnessed a scene during the latter part of the journey which kept them wide awake. Their attentions, however, was so much taken up with the excitement of the incident that they almost stepped off the train at Manvers station instead of Peterborough.

Among others in the parlour car, said a local gentleman to the Examiner to-day, was a commercial traveller who had with him a large grip about two and a half feet long by a foot in width. He left the baggage between a couple of chairs and a few miles on the other side of Claremont station left the car, for another, and his grip too—which he afterwards repented.

The Trick Well Worked

While he was absent a tall, dark gentleman, rather slight in figure and wearing a light suit entered, carrying a small valise. He had a peculiar "squint" which affected him more particularly when another's gaze was fixed upon him and he took a seat beside the traveller's grip. Soon he informed the conductor he wished to get off at Claremont. The porter's assistance was commanded and the latter asked him if the grip belonged to him. The dark stranger replied in the affirmative and asked the porter to carry the large piece of baggage while he took the small one. The train stopped and he took his departure before the other man arrived on the scene.

The Owner's Return

When a few miles from Claremont the traveller re-appeared in the car and his baggage was gone. Excitement reigned supreme for some time when he discovered how he had been duped. The porter's mistake was revealed, but still the property was gone. At the next station, the telegraph wires flashed the news to Claremont where a search was made but no trace of the clever stranger could be found and nothing, as far as can be learned, has been heard of the lost grip.

The Conductor's Mistake

The excitement following the incident was great that the conductor on nearing Manvers station called Peterborough instead. The Peterborough people present were prepared with their luggage and wraps to descend and the mistake was only discovered as the train stopped and the surroundings were seen to be somewhat strange for Peterborough.

CRANE SMASHED THE MACHINE BUT MAN ESCAPED

William Green's Close Call at Wm. Hamilton Mf'g. Co's Machine Shop Yesterday—Travelling Crane Fell

A MIRACULOUS ESCAPE FROM DEATH

William Green, a machinist in the employ of the Wm. Hamilton Manufacturing Co., may thank his lucky stars that he is alive to-day, and no doubt he does. He had as narrow an escape from death yesterday as ever comes to a man and allows him of live to tell the tale.

A Narrow Escape

He was working on a boring mill yesterday morning and, because one of the other boring mill men was not at work, he was running two mills, his own and that of his fellow workman. While he was attending to the mill which he was running for the other machinist, about noon, a large travelling crane, operated by compressed air, and carrying a heavy water wheel casting, fell from the ways and came crashing to the floor, smashing the boring mill beside which Mr. Green was standing, and scattering pieces of iron and steel in every direction, but, strange to relate, not one piece struck him, though how he escaped is still a mystery, not only to himself, but as well to those who saw the incident.

Another Close Shave

Another machinist, who was standing near, saw the crane falling, and jumped in time to save himself, otherwise he would undoubtedly have have been seriously injured, if not killed, the casting falling on the exact spot on which he had been standing.

As to the cause of the accident, there is some mystery, but the supposition is that the ways on which the crane ran, spread, allowing it to drop to the floor.

MILLIONS OF PEASANTS ARE STARVING TO DEATH IN NORTHERN RUSSIA

Horrible Tales too Revolting to Believe Told of Suffering—A Mysterious Pittsburg Murder—No Smuggling of Christmas Gifts at Niagara Falls—Strangled Baby Left Three Hours in its Carriage

BABY FOUND STRANGLED TO DEATH IN CARRIAGE

Examiner Special.

New York, Dec. 5th. — With a silver-mounted cherry wood cane on which is engraved the name "C. A. Gassert" as his only clue, Police Captain Hussey said that he expected to make an important arrest soon in the case of the strangled girl baby, whose body was found in a wicker carriage at 99th street and Third avenue on Saturday night. Captain Hussey said:

"This baby was strangled to death in this precinct. I know who the man is whose cane I found in the baby carriage, and I expect to clear up the mystery in a few hours."

The dead baby was about four months old and was partially dressed. A white silk and lace cap and coat of silk covered the body. The body lay on two baby pillows. There was also a six inch bit of candle and the cane with the name "C. A. Gassert" in the gb-cart.

Stood Three Hours

The police were unable to find anyone who saw the baby left where it was. Hundreds of persons passed it without noticing anything unusual during the three hours the baby and carriage stood just off busy Third avenue.

Coroner Harbinger when he saw body said that the infant had evidently been strangled, and that it had been dead some hours when it was found. He ordered an autopsy to be made at the morgue.

CHRISTMAS GIFTS ARE BEING SMUGGLED

But Niagara Falls Customs Officials Say They Will Put a Stop to the Practice in the Future

Examiner Special.

Niagara Falls, Dec. 5. — Within the last week or so the Canadians have been flocking to the American side to buy their Christmas gifts. When the customs authorities learned of this they communicated with headquarters and received instructions to keep a strict watch on all Canadians entering the Dominion from the United States. The custom of buying Christmas gifts here is an old one and the Canadians and the authorities have decided that it must be stopped and to this end a patrol of Street cars passing over the upper steel arch bridge have been subjected to scrutiny by the customs inspectors. It is the intention of the authorities to board every car from now on until after Christmas, and if any of the passengers are taking stuff into Canada from the United States such articles must be declared and upon which duty must be levied, and confiscated.

It is expected that this will result in a substantial rise in the revenue,

RUSSIA'S MILLIONS ARE STARVING TO DEATH

Peasants Compelling Their Wives to Enter Brothels for the $14 They Receive—Tartan Maidens Sold Into Slavery

Examiner Special.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 5.—The newspapers are publishing terrible accounts of the famine in the Volga governments, in seven of which millions of people are said to be dying of starvation. Horrors are said to be suffered especially with the Russians.

In the village of Tetrushi eight tartar maidens have been sold to dealers in white slaves from the Caucasus at prices that ranged from $31 to $92. Russian peasants near Astrachan are taking their wives to that city and compelling them to enter the brothels, the husbands receiving about $11 in each case. The situation is one which is giving the authorities much concern, and measures may be adopted to deal with it in a drastic manner.

FOLLOWED 40 MILES BY MURDERER

James McMillan Shadowed by Assassins After the $2,200 Which He was Carrying—A Mysterious Pittsburg Case

Examiner Special.

Pittsburg, Dec. 5th. — A peculiar link in a strange tragedy seems to reveal that Jas. A. McMillan was followed from Johnstown by highwaymen to be murdered and robbed of $2200 he had collected in Cambria county on the eve of his death, by the assassins who struck him down when he had almost reached the protection of his home in the fashionable Squirrel Hill district one night in November.

Few hours before the murder, a big dressy man hurried into the barbershop of Michael Kuhn, Collins avenue near the Squirrel Hill district. His shoes were covered with mud, showing that he had been tramping through the country. He asked to be directed to Burchfield avenue, where the murder occurred. The volume collected is said to indicate that the man who was shadowing McMillan had arranged to prevent him getting home with the money even if the thugs who followed him, should by any chance lose sight of their victim.

A SOUTHERN FIND WHICH ENDED ON THE GALLOWS

Examiner Special.

Valdosta, Ga., Dec. 5 — The crime for which J. G. Rawlings and Alf Moore were hanged to-day present usual features. Rawlings and W. T. Carter were neighbours, twelve miles from here. Both were Baptist ministers. Several years ago a dispute arose as to the line between their respective farms. Litigation and bad blood resulted. Carter was wounded by a shot from ambush, and had Rawlings arrested on a charge of attempted murder. A few days later, on June 5, 1905, a night attack was made on the Carter house. Two of the children, Willie and Carrie Carter, were shot just outside the house, and shots were fired without effect at Carter and his wife and another daughter. The wounded boy informed his parents that Milton and Jessie Rawlings had done it. He died the next day. After shooting the children the attacking party attempted to set fire to the house but were fired upon and driven off without any further casualties.

A coroner's jury found that the crime had been committed by Milton and Jesse Rawlings, and Alf. Moore, a negro. The latter confessed, telling of a plot which had been planned by the elder Rawlings for the murder of the entire Carter family and the burning of their house. The elder Rawlings took no part in the crime, having gone to Valdosta to avert suspicion. The trial resulted in a verdict of death for the elder Rawlings, his sons, Milton and Jesse and Alf. Moore. A third son, Leonard Rawlings, was given a life sentence as an accomplice.

OWNER GOT HIS RING FINDER, THE DOLLAR

Roy Brandt's honesty was rewarded last night. On the previous day this lad found a gold signet ring on the sidewalk near the post office, and took the best possible means of restoring it to its owner, brought it to the Examiner office and asked that an advertisement be inserted calling for the owner. This was done and last night the gentleman who had lost it came to the office and identified his property and took it away, not, however, before he had left a dollar bill as a reward for Roy's honesty.

POSTAL PROSPERITY

The best evidence of the general prosperity of the country, is furnished by the report of the Postmaster-General. Correspondence, as a medium of business transaction, plays a most important part in our commercial and other activities, and there is consequently great importance in the fact that the postal revenue for the past year amounted to $7,708,142.27, resulting in a surplus of receipts over expenditure of $1,011,763.31. This is one of a long series of surpluses in the post office revenue which has followed the administration of the Liberal Government. When the Liberal Government assumed charge of the post office it had to assume a deficit of about three-quarters of a million, one of a long series of similar deficits. The prosperity which set in at that time, conjoined with energetic administration, soon overcame this handicap, and converted a deficit into a surplus, in face of the reduction of revenue represented by a reduction of the letter rate from three to two cents. The deficit in 1896 was $781,000. This was reduced to $47,500, and increased to $416,000 in 1900, the year the two-rate was adopted. This was overcome in 1902, and a small surplus of $5000 scored, which has grown year by year, till this year it reaches the grand amount of a million. There has been a great increase in the money order department in the past ten years. "In 1969, the money order business of the Dominion amounted to thirteen millions. It has grown year by year until in 1906 it has amounted to the large total of forty-two millions. In 1896, the number of letters posted in the Dominion was one hundred and twenty three millions. In 1906 the number had increased to three hundred and twenty-three millions. All this increase shows an increase in the business and prosperity of the country.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The city debt of Winnipeg is thirteen millions of dollars, and its annual tax rate is $1,900,000, nearly two millions. With great city growth comes growth of debt and taxation.

The Russian Rear-admiral who was mixed up in the sea scrap in which Japan wiped out the Russian fleet, Nebagotoff. He is to be placed on trial in St. Petersburg for surrendering to the Japanese.

A society lady from Pittsburg, U. S. A., the great breeding ground of fads, is occupying a hut in Darkest Africa learning the monkey language. If it proves to be as inane and agonizing as society chatter at a tea drinking, she will soon feel quite at home.

Mr. McLean, of the Toronto World, is walking on air—he has scored a great triumph. One candidate he supported has been elected, but he never will be really happy till he gets his fellow citizens ridden on a rail at the price per mile of a two-cent stamp.

Hon. Col. Hendrie says that the causes of the defeat of the Conservative candidate in East Hamilton were merely local. That may be but the effect will be general, so far as the Government is concerned. A man may get a terrible "jolt" in the solar plexus; the cause of his distress is purely local, but the effect is a general effness of the system.

A New York minister has introduced vaudeville into his church to maintain interest in the services. The first Sunday, a solo whistler who aped sacred airs was the attraction; the next Sunday, a performer on the musical glasses held the sacred boards. He should make the experiment of preaching the gospel as a novelty.

Brantford is to submit a bylaw to purchase power from the Hydro-Electric Commission. The lowest price offered by the Commission is $16.57 per horse power and the highest $19.30. To these figures are to be added $1.50 or $5.00 per horse power for the cost of distribution. Therefor Brantford's electric power at the least stands to cost $21.00, or at higher figure $24.80.

It is stated that another attempt is to be made to settle the pelagic sealing question in the North Pacific. The settling of the question, so far as the interests of Canada are concerned, can be cheaply and promptly effected. Leave the matter to Lord Alverstone, and Canada's rights will be given away with neatness and dispatch.

President Roosevelt recommends the passage of a law to prevent corporations from contributing to the campaign funds of either party. This may be quite disinterested advice, for there is no little ground for the suspicion that the presidential chair, occupied by Mr. Roosevelt, is pretty generously upholstered with corporation contributions to the campaign which resulted in his election.

School Inspector Hughes, of Toronto, is in favour of teaching swimming in the schools of the city. We have a great many educational fads these days, but a knowledge of swimming is a most important matter. Whether it can be tacked on the curriculum of our schools in a practical way is the question. The education of the mind may, equip a school boy and girl for success in life, but if they are to keep their heads above water, in every sense—be "in the swim"—they should be taught to swim as well as spell.

The Conservative wail, that Toronto gets the "throw down" from the Liberal Government of the Dominion on the head of its bad taste in electing parliamentary representatives, has a good deal of the ginger taken out of it by the fact that this year the Government has appropriated half a million dollars for public works in Toronto. Yet we don't hear any Conservative journals in Toronto singing the Governmennt's prices. "Hogtown" would not be completely satisfied if the whole of the Dominion estimates were poured into its lap.

HOME VIEW OF HAMILTON ELECTION

Outsiders may have their opinions on the Hamilton election formed from a view of the circumstances as seen from a distance. The opinions of those on the ground as having a more complete knowledge of the conditions are at least interesting. Here are presented local opinions from three points of view, Liberal, Independent and Conservative:—

Hamilton Times, (Liberal.)

Generally and locally the Whitney Government stands condemned by its acts of omission and commission. It took office with loud and boastful pledges and promises, nearly every one of which have been violated. It was to take the license question out of politics; it was to avoid the spoils system; it was to abolish prison labour; it was to practice economy; it was to develop and furnish cheap power; it was to diminish expenditure; it was to stop the "robbery" and "outrage" of the accession tax; it was to advance education, and secure for the people the benefit of the people's mineral and timber assets as never before. How it has failed to keep its promises we all know. It has generally introduced the worst features of the spoils system; it has made the license branch a party machine; it has botched the finances, at great loss to the country; it has weighed on its power scheme; it has made the succession tax "robbery" more burdensome; it has muddled the Education Department, it has multiplied offices, and greatly increased the cost of Government; it has given away our rich minerals, and it has made the worst convict labour contract ever made in Canada. These are but a few specimen instances of its general unfealty to its pledges.

Locally it had rendered itself specially odious by its treachery in the prison labour matter, because the Hamilton Tory candidates won last election by their florid denunciations of such contracts and pledges that there should be no more of them. In addition, there was the outrage perpetrated in robbing Hamilton of the Normal College. This act was inexcusable, and the people who saw that not only was educational ends not served by that blow at our city, but that difficulty was caused in arranging the course, could not be expected to condone it.

It was such a cause that Mr. Scott represented. How could he expect to succeed? That he was not the strongest man in the party may be admitted—a good many scores stood against him on personal grounds—but he was the strongest available, and Toryism did not have a man who could have carried the Whitney banner to victory. There have been indications that the Spectator faction was preparing to unload the blame of the machine's failure on Mr. Scott. That is neither honourable nor warranted by the facts. The loss which the machine sustains is due to Government lashes—to broken pledges, neglected policy, and a general failure to live up to anything like the standard of purity, efficiency and economy to which it was so ostentatiously pledged. Had Mr. Milne run, the result would have been similar. Mr. Milne realized that, and refused to be a sacrifice to Whitney's shortcomings.

Hamilton Herald, (Independent.)

These figures not only indicate a certain lack of interest in the election on the part of many voters, Liberal and Conservative, but they also show that there was a great slump of Conservative voters to the Labour candidate.

These voters were mostly Conservative workingmen. It was known that many Conservative labour-unionists were supporting Mr. Studholme; but very few would have suspected that the number would prove to be as large as the returns indicate. Labour in East Hamilton spoke yesterday so clearly and emphatically that its meaning cannot possibly be mistaken. It spoke in condemnation of the Government's prison labour policy. The Herald expected that some such expression of public sentiment would be given at the polls; but we confess to have looked for it rather in the form of a meagre majority for Mr. Scott, than in a tremendous majority for Mr. Studholme.

There is no personal humiliation for Mr. Scott in his defeat. It was not he who suffered defeat so much as the Government of which he declared himself to be a loyal supporter. It is now clear that any other straight Conservative would have met the same fate; and the rebuke to the Government measured by votes, would have been even more crushing but for Mr. Scott's diplomatic criticism of the Government's policy.

The Herald believes that the Conservative workingmen of East Hamilton, to whom Mr. Studholme chiefly owes his victory, will not have any cause to regret the votes they gave yesterday. The new member will not go to the Legislature as an opponent of the Government. His first care will be to oppose any policy or proposal, whether emanating from the Government or the Opposition side of the House, which is inimical to the working classes. On general questions he will use his own judgment, will be unfettered by party ties, and will very probably be found voting with the Government more often than against it. But doubtless his first act as a member of the Legislature, will be directed against the Government. That act will be a resolution condemning the Central Prison contract.

Hamilton Spectator, (Conservative.)

Mr. Scott was an exceedingly good candidate. He did all any man could do to win success and his failure was due to the fact that success under the existing circumstances was impossible for any Conservative candidate. No other man could have done better.

The Conservative party in Hamilton has suffered defeat—the first defeat in a long time. But if this defeat has the effect of directing the attention of the Government to the fact that there are some places in Ontario outside of Toronto, the defeat will in the end be a gain for the Liberal Conservative party at large.

MR. SOMERVILLE ON THE COW TESTING QUESTION

Has Been Engaged In Third Section for Past Two Weeks—Lectures on Important Subjects

ADVANTAGES FROM COOL CURING ROOMS

Mr. N. G. Sommerville, of Brockville, has attended a series of meetings in the Peterborough district at the annual meetings of the various cheese factories for the past two weeks, and addressed the meetings on the two very important subjects of testing the individual cow, and the cool curing of cheese. Both subjects Mr. Sommerville is able to deal with intelligently, having had practical experience in them. These meetings were conducted two years ago along the same lines, through the recommendation of Mr. J. A. Ruddick, Dairy Commissioner of Canada, and the results have been so beneficial that the factory men this year were unanimous in asking for Mr. Sommerville's services. At all the meetings attended the patrons have taken a deep interest and the discussion which followed will be a lasting benefit to each individual factory and to the patrons.

Mr. Sommerville was accompanied during his tour by Mr. G. A. Gillespie, who has done much for the dairy industry in this section and who has taken a deep interest in the cheese problem.

Mr. Sommerville in opening his address said it was a pleasure for him to be back among the patrons of the Peetrborough district again. It was also a pleasure to feel that the meetings of a few years ago had been appreciated by the patrons and from reports of the year just closed it was proven that the patrons of the Peterborough district were taking a deep interest in careing for the milk on the farm. "We must still push on in this work," he said, "as we cannot afford to stand still." There are yet some patrons who are careless and indifferent about the condition of the milk sent to the factory." He said that it was the duty of the cheesemaker to return such milk, giving the patron the cause for which it was returned.

Cheesemakers should stand shoulder to shoulder and insist on getting the milk in proper condition, and not accept milk which has been returned by another maker. The patrons who are sending good milk should insist on his neighbour doing the same.

There was another question which he brought before the patrons, which he thought if carried out in this section would greatly increase the average production of milk from each cow—that is the forming of a cow-testing association. The Department of Agriculture has decided to carry this work on during 1907, so as to show the farmers of Canada the results that can be obtained by a little extra effort on their part in weighing and testing the milk of the cows. For the year 1907 the Department will do the testing free furnish blanks for recording the weight of the herd, where twenty farmers will join an association known as the Cow Testing Association and agree to weigh the milk three days each month, take a sample from each cow's milking and place it in a bottle for the purpose, and deliver once per month to the factory for testing. The only expense to the farmer will be provide himself with a spring scale, a bottle for each cow, and a box to carry the same to and from the factory, the whole to cost about $3.00. He had conducted such an association at Brockville during the season just past and the results had been so startling that he promised if taken up by the patrons would be more than repaid for the work.

He next called their attention to some figures on the chart, showing the results of these experiments:

Chart No. 1

Chart No. 1 showed the comparison of results obtained from a herd of 22 cows during the month of June, 1901:—

Total lbs milk 17,845
Total lbs. butter fat 722.5
Average lbs. milk per cow 811
Average test ....4 p. c.
Average lbs. butter fat 32.4

In this herd the record showed that the lowest production of milk from an individual cow was 380 lbs. and from the highest 1115 and that 11 cows in the herd was under the average.

Chart No. 2

Chart No. 2 showed the comparison of cows which give a large flow of milk during the months of May, June, and July and fall off in the later months. The cow that is the persistent milker for 10 months gives the best results, hence the necessity of training the cow to be a long persistant milker.

Chart No. 3 showed a comparison of 2 herds owned by men of the same name, but who used different methods. A herd of cows from May to September 30, produced 50,984 lbs. of milk and 873.1 lbs. B. F.; the average production of milk being 6164; the average test 2.3; average lbs. butter fat 145.5.

The other man had twelve cows and for the same period they produced 32,749 lbs. milk and 1074.7 lbs. b. f.; the average lbs. milk being 2729; the average test 3.1; the average lbs b. f. 86.6.

The owner of the second herd is careless, said Mr. Somerville, and he showed how it payed to keep good cows and to care for them well.

This showed the comparative yield of 3 best and 3 poorest cows in the same herd. The total production for seven months from April 1st, to October 30th of 3 best cows gave 17145 lbs. milk; 729 lbs. butter fat; by valueing butter at 22 cents per lb. gave a total cash return of $159.10 or $48.71 more than the other 3.

The 3 poorest cows produced 12,997 lbs. milk; 501.3 lbs. b. f. at 22 cents cents for butter this gave a cash return of $110.39; best cow in this herd earned $24.77 more than the poorest in 7 months.

"Weed out the poor cows by scales and Babcock tester and aim at doubling the present average yield, per cow," he concluded.

After a person has gone to the trouble of grading up his herd, the care of the milk is very important. To outline, he advised the two important points—keep clean and cool. To do this it is necessary to introduce in the summer months conditions as near as possible to the fall months. In view of this he advocated the placing of a supply of ice in winter to be used in cooling the milk during the summer. In doing so the farmer would be well repaid as by cooling the milk down quickly after milking to a temperature of 60 or 65 degrees, he would have no trouble in incorporating the cream back into the milk. After cooling to that temperature, it is well to cover with a wet cloth to prevent evaporation, which causes a leathery cream and will not mix again readily with the milk. Consequently a loss is sustained by the extra amount of butter fat going to the whey tank.

A Competent Maker

After the milk has been cared for properly and delivered to the factory in good condition, the patrons should make sure they have a competent maker, and advised them to be sure and pay him a living price for manufacturing. Also make sure that he in return gives good service, and see that the factory is kept clean and in good condition.

Cool Curing Rooms

When cheese are taken from the press they are only half made. He strongly recommended the factories in the Peterborough section to adopt the cool curing system, as the benefit derived would greatly repay them for the expenditure. This saving goes directly into the pockets of the patrons, as any saving in the shrinkage is to their benefit alone. Consequently, he said that the patrons should bear part of the expense of the improvement. Here Mr. Somerville referred to a chart showing the great benefits of the lower and steady temperature by illustrating the relative shrinkage of cheese made from the same milk and cured at different temperatures—the curing temperature in one case ranging from 60 to 80 degrees, and in the other continuously at 58 degrees.

	60° to 80°	58°
Green weight July 8.	85 lbs 1 oz	84 lbs 9 oz
" " Aug 26.	82 lbs	83 lbs 8 oz
Loss in weight.....	3 lbs 1 oz	1 lb 1 oz
Gain for cool curing, 2 lbs

A Great Saving

He exhibited a second chart showing results of work at four Government curing rooms:

Total number pounds cheese received, 3,738,276.

Number pounds shrinkage saved, 46,022.

Value at selling price, $4,813.08.

Mr. Somerville urged his hearers to bear in mind the moral of the charts—that while it is important to save the amount of shrinkage possible, that while saving this shrinkage, they were improving the quality of Canadian cheese and enhancing its value.

Praise for This Section

In closing, he emphasized the importance of doing this work well and offered to give full details to any who intended to undertake it. He stated that in Belleville and Picton sections the farmers are taking up this matter rapidly, and he hoped to see Peterborough follow the example and so hold its present high standing as a cheese producing section on the markets of the world.

Toronto Globe Refers to Him as a Possible Entry in the Race

The Toronto Globe, speaking of the prospects for a mayoralty race in that city, says of Mr. Thomas Kinnear, whose new warehouse has recently been opened here: "There was talk in business circles down town that Mr. Thomas Kinnear wholesale grocer, could be induced to contest the mayoralty, and he has been spoken to about the matter. So far, however, he has declined to entertain the idea, pointing out that, having opened a new branch in Peterborough, he is more than usually busy."

Leading Slowly to Paralysis
BE EARLY DETECTED AND CURE BROUGHT ABOUT BY USING
Dr. Chase's Nerve Food

It is customary to consider paralysis, insanity and other diseases of the nerves as afflictions which come upon a person without warning and which are, therefore, unavoidable.

As a matter of fact such results are preceded by months, if not years, of symptoms which point to an exhausted condition of the nervous system. These symptoms are such, however, that many pass them by as not being of serious concern and thinking that they will wear away of themselves.

Sleeplessness, nervous headaches, indigestion, bodily weakness, fainting spells, twitching of the nerves, inability to concentrate the thoughts and loss of memory are among the most common indications of a run-down nervous system. It is sometimes only a step from such symptoms to prostration, paralysis, locomotor ataxia or insanity.

Stimulants and narcotics, though sometimes affording temporary relief, only hasten the exhaustion of the nerves. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, on the other hand, reconstructs and restores the wasted and depleted nerve cells.

Naturally, gradually and certainly this great medicine instils into the blood and the nervous system the life-sustaining principles which replenish the nerve force in the body and so effect lasting benefit.

Miss Emma Scott, Athens, Ont., writes: "Dr. Chase's Nerve Food has done me a world of good. I was troubled with fainting spells, bodily weakness and spent restless, sleepless nights. I frequently had cramps in the stomach and would at times become entirely insensible, not knowing what was going on until others told me afterwards.

"I doctored with several doctors and they told me I was threatened with paralysis. They gave me relief, but could not cure me. After suffering for three years I began the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and it has done me more good than all the medicines I ever used."

THE RAILWAY COMPANY SWINGS BRIDGE

Appeal in Supreme Court Decided Against C. P. R. in Case Referring to Trent Canal Bridge at Peterborough

In the Supreme Court at Ottawa yesterday a decision was reached in the case of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company vs. the King, in the Peterborough Bridge Case, the appeal of the former parties in the case having been dismissed with costs.

The first decision given in the Exchequer Court was to the effect that the railway company must be at the expense of maintaining and operating the swing bridge over the Trent Canal at Peterborough, in opposition to the company's contention that the Department of Railways and Canals should pay the costs, and in the belief an appeal was entered against the decision, which the Supreme Court has, after consideration, decided was good law, and the company will, as a consequence, be compelled to bear the expenses referred to.

The New York Stock Market

(Furnished by J. R. Heintz & Co.)

New York, Dec. 6.—The Street did not regard the treasury relief published this morning sufficient, and after a short covering movement the professional element hammered at the market. Not much stock was secured, however, and in the afternoon, when it was reported that Congress would soon begin hearings on a new currency law, there was further short covering by shrewd operators.

The market is in a trading rut for the present, but it would immediately emerge therefrom should favourable developments in money be presented. The high rates will prevail until the return flow from the interior shall be in volume, unless the Government will deposit, as rumoured from time to time.

In the late trading renewed hammering brought the low prices of the day, with Colo. Fuel and St. Paul showing great resisting power, however, and the close was irregular and heavy.

ANNUAL MEETING OF ENNISMORE FACTORY

Enthusiastic Assembly Lissen to Excellent Addresses

The annual meeting of the Ennismore Cheese Factory which was held last night in the Ennismore Hall, was one of the most enthusiastic in the factory's history. Mr. G. H. Sommerville was present and gave an excellent address on the Cool Curing question and the formation of a Cow Testing Association.

Rev. Father Fitzpatrick was also present and addressed the gathering. A large number of the patrons were in attendance and joined in the discussion.

It is practically assured that Ennismore Factory will form a Cow Testing Association and although they did not do so last night, will probably in the near future.

The financial statement showed that the factory had a very successful season.

THE QUAKER BANQUET AN ENJOYABLE EVENT

Merry Company was Honoured by the Champion Football Club at Hoopers' Parlours

SOME BOQUETS THROWN TO THE CLUB

A fitting culmination to a most successful season was the banquet tendered by the Peterborough Quaker Association Football Club last night to the members of the team, junior and senior champions of the Midland League and champions of the Midland League Trophy, Won by Quaker Association Football Team in 1906.

County of Peterborough for 1906. Besides the players of the association game, the Quaker rugby team were also honoured guests of the club. The scene of the interesting affair were the beautifully decorated Long's Palm Parlours.

Many were the pretty compliments given to the Quaker soccer team by various speakers during the evening. The team this year has a record unparalleled in the history of the county, and had they been treated fairly it is probable that they would have made a mark among the strongest and best association teams in the Province. They participated in no less than fourteen games during the past season and never had a single defeat chronicled against them and did not even play a tie game. They were the winners of four silver trophies, three of which occupied prominent positions on the banquet table last night.

The Quaker Rugby Club, too, received honourable mention from many of the speakers, and came in for their share of the bouquets.

Dr. Morgan, the president of the association club, made a most efficient toastmaster, and seated on his left and right were Mr. J. E. Sullivan, secretary of the Midland League and manager of the rugby team, and Mr. L. Bolin, a prominent member of the latter organization.

The menu was a palatable one, the refreshments being artistically arranged on tables beautifully decorated with red and white carnations, illuminated by wax candles mounted in silver candlesticks. Mr. Hooper and his assistants performed the catering excellently.

Among those seated around the festive board were Dr. J. A. Morgan, J. E. Sullivan, Jas. D. Clarke, S. Caniff, R. Baker, R. Best, L. Bolin, R. Evans, J. Crough, Walker, J. Collins, W. Hoaslip, mascot; Wallace Harris, mascot; P. McFadden, W. Boycott, C. Sisson, R. Glover, E. W. Wasson, J. Doris, Messrs. Giroux; Webb, T. Donaldson, D. McRae, B. Huston.

The Toast-list

When the appetites of all had been satisfied, Dr. Morgan, the toastmaster, rose and proposed a toast to "The King," which was heartily drank and followed by the singing of "God Save the King."

The next honoured was the "Quaker Association Football Club, champions of the Midland League," which was proposed by Mr. Jas. Clarke. Mr. Clarke expressed his pleasure at being present at a banquet given to such an organization as the Quaker team, and thought the city should feel proud of the splendid success it had achieved, having played through the season without the loss of a single game. In his estimation, the organization was one whose efforts could be appreciated and encouraged.

A Fitting Climax

This toast was responded to by Mr. J. E. Sullivan, one of the prominent promoters of both the Quaker teams. He considered the banquet a fitting climax to such a successful season as the Quakers had just realized. He then gave a concise history of Quakerism in Peterborough, tracing the club from its inception in 1903, when it entered the Midland League, until the present. In that year the club had reached the semi-finals in the league and won the city championship.

In 1905 the Quakers again entered the Midland League arena, reaching the semi-finals again and winning the city and county honours. The past year, of course, was the most successful of all. He attributed the success of the team to the co-operation of the players and the lively interest exhibited. The games had all been won with a total score of 37 goals to their opponents' 4. In conclusion, he hoped to see the Quakers enter the football arena another year, and also that they might win higher honours.

To the Rugby Team

The toast to the Quaker rugby was proposed by Mr. Richard Baker. The association players, he said, welcomed their sturdy brethren to the banquet, and complimented them upon the good success they had realized in the first season at the sterner game.

Mr. Stanley Caniff, captain of the team, responded by thanking the association club on behalf of his team. The rugby club, he said, was a new organization, but nevertheless, they were pleased with their first year's experience. They had tried to act gentlemanly on and off the field, and believed they had done so. During the season four games were played, three of which were won, and he complimented Messrs. Sullivan and Sisson for their work in assisting the team.

The President Honoured

The next toast was that to the president, Dr. Morgan, proposed by Mr. C. E. Sisson. The speaker made reference to the interest which Dr.

Mr. E. W. Wasson, Manager of the Quaker Team, Who Responded to Toast to Kindred Sports.

Morgan had always taken in football from the time the Y.M.C.A. had the leading team in the city. The doctor was always willing to assist in every way possible towards the success of the game, and his aid had been of much benefit and was greatly appreciated.

Dr. Morgan considered it an honour to be present at a banquet to such a winning organization, and to be chosen as toast-master. He assured the company that anything he had done had been a pleasure to him, as he had always taken a deep interest in the game. He was pleased to be associated with the Quaker football team which has won such distinction during the past season. He congratulated Mr. Ray Best, a member of the team, on the honour he obtained in winning The Examiner road race. Mr. Best briefly responded.

Kindred Sports

Mr. R. M. Glover, President of the Quaker Rugby Club, proposed the toast to Kindred Sports. He believed that the association football team which the Quakers had banded together this year was the best the county ever had. To make sports, as a whole, permanently successful in any city, each organization should assist the other, he believed, and none should make laws to conflict with the others.

This toast was responded to by Messrs. Percy McFadden and W. E. Wasson, who referred to the success of the Quaker clubs, and hoped for a continuance of the same in the future.

The Ladies Honoured

The important feature, the toast to the ladies, was ably championed by Mr. Louis Bolin, and blushingly responded to by Messrs. Stanley Giroux and Jas. Collins.

The toast to the Press was proposed by Mr. Ray Best, and replied to by the representatives present.

Dr. J. A. Morgan, President of the Quaker Association Football Club, Who Presided at the Banquet Last Night.

Before the delightful evening was brought to a close, the healths of the host and the mascots were drank and responded to by Mr. Hooper and Mr. Wallace. The hearty singing of "Auld Lang Syne" concluded the event.

Flash Light Photo

Just as the guests sat down to supper, a flash-light photo was taken by Mr. Fred Roy.

BOARD WILL DISCUSS MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP

Special Meeting of the Board of Trade Has Been Arranged For

A special meeting of the Peterborough Board of Trade will be held on Tuesday, December 18, when some important matters will be discussed. Among other things, the Board will talk over the municipal ownership and control of the steam heating plant, electric light, etc. With such an interesting bill-of-fare, there will no doubt be a large attendance.

Nurses Wanted

The Rev. Walter Hughson, some time rector of Trinity P. E. church, Detroit, but now rector of a church at Morganton, N. C., writes the P. E. church papers, that he is much in need of "two trained nurses" for his new hospital. As there were several such nurses among this reverend gentleman's congregation here, perhaps some one, if not two of them, would like to minister to their late pastor's necessities in this particular.

APPOINTED MANAGER OF RAPID TOOL COMPANY

Mr. E. B. Fowler, Late Secretary-Treasurer of the Canadian Cordage Company, Appointed to New Position with Tool Company

OPERATIONS WILL COMMENCE SHORTLY

The Rapid Tool Company will, it is expected, be in operation in less than ten days, and will commence operations with a staff of about twenty-five men, which will be increased in a short time, it is confidently expected, to a considerably larger number.

The Manager

Mr. E. B. Fowler, who since the Canadian Cordage Company commenced manufacturing in Peterborough has been a member of the staff, and who for some time has been secretary-treasurer and has had complete charge of the office and accounting staff, has been engaged by the Rapid Tool Company as manager of the business, and will leave the Cordage Company to accept this new position, which he is well qualified to successfully fill.

Quick Work

The Rapid Tool Company has lived up to its name in the preliminary preparations to commence manufacturing operations, the factory having been equipped in record time, and the enterprise which has been given evidence to in the initial work promises much for the successful prosecution of the future operations of the new industrial concern, which will undoubtedly develop into one of the city's most prosperous and substantial.

WATER LILY TOOK TRIP ON HER OWN ACCOUNT

Broke Away from Her Moorings and Drifted to McDonald's Point

The steamer Water Lily, of the Otonabee River fleet, apparently, is not satisfied that the season of navigation has closed, and last evening she started on a little voyage on her own account. The steamer was tied up near the C.P.R. bridge, and the pressure of the ice caused her to break from her moorings. She drifted down the river as far as McDonald's Point, where she became stranded, and was recovered uninjured by her brief voyage.

WELL KNOWN LADY DIED IN ARNPRIOR RECENTLY

Late Mrs. Gerald Jarvis, Formerly Miss White, was Frequent Visitor in this City Some Years Ago

Many persons in Peterborough who remember having met the then Miss Jessie White, daughter of the late Hon. Thos. White, when she was here as a guest of the Mrs. (Hon.) Hamilton at Auburn, will learn with very deep regret of her death, at Arnprior, late last month. Two years ago Miss White was married to Mr. Gerald Jarvis, of the Bank of Nova Scotia staff, and has lived in Arnprior for some little time.

During her visits to Peterborough the late Mrs. Jarvis made many friends who will be pained to learn of her untimely death.

THREE-CORNERED FIGHT FOR WATER COMMISSIONERS

Ald. Mason, V. Eastwood and W. H. Moore are Names Mentioned

Indications point to the fact that there will be a three-cornered fight for the vacant position of Water Commissioner next year. Mr. W. H. Moore's term is up, but he will again be in the field.

Against him in the race will be Mr. Vincent Eastwood, who has declared his intention of contesting the position. Mr. Eastwood has had considerable experience in matters concerning the public, having served for some time on the Board of Education.

A third candidate, in all probability, will be Ald. E. F. Mason, who, it is said, is willing to enter the race. He has served on the City Council for a number of years, and this year was chairman of the Finance Committee, which should be good training for a position on the Board of Water Commissioners.

ALL SAINTS' ARTISTS GAVE CONCERT AT LAKEFIELD

Very Enjoyable Affair Under the Auspices of the Anglican Church Last Night

PLAY WAS REPEATED WITH SUCCESS

The Dramatic Club of All Saints' Church drove to Lakefield last night, where they presented a delightful programme under the auspices of the Lakefield Anglican Church. The affair was held in the town hall and was a great success, the attendance being very large. The programme rendered by the local artists was evidently much to the liking of the audience, judging by the applause which followed each selection.

Mr. W. M. Graham, of Lakefield, made a very efficient chairman, and following programme was rendered:

Piano Duet—Misses Ida and Rose Mulholland.
Solo—Miss Marion Elliott.
Solo—Miss Olive Howell.
Solo—Mr. W. Coleman.
Solo—Miss Marguerite Fanning.
Solo—Mr. Chas. Coleman.
Solo—Mr. W. Williams.
Solo—Miss Mabel Rickey.
Musical Sketch—Messrs. Coleman Brothers.
Solo—Miss Mabel Rickey.

The programme included the presentation of the play, "The Ugliest of Seven," which was given with so much success and was received with so much favour here some weeks ago. The performance greatly pleased last night's audience, and the success of the first presentation was repeated.

At the conclusion of the programme, the visiting artists were entertained at a delightful supper at the residence of Mrs. Fitzgerald, whose hospitality was greatly enjoyed.

Three 'bus loads of Peterborough people went to Lakefield for the occasion and had a most enjoyable time.

ROBT. FAIR & CO.

W. J. O'BRIEN SELLS HIS BUSINESS

And has Accepted a Position as Traveller for American Tobacco Co.—Mr. Hy. Gainey the New Proprietor

Mr. W. J. O'Brien, who has for the past four years conducted a tobacco business on George street, has disposed of his interests here and accepted a position with the American Tobacco Co. as traveller, and will cover the ground in Eastern Ontario from Toronto to the Quebec boundary.

Mr. O'Brien's successor will be Mr. Harry Gainey, who has bought the lease, stock and good will of the business, and will take possession on December 12. Mr. Gainey is a native of Peterborough and is quite well known. He will no doubt make a success of the new business, as Mr. O'Brien has done during the four years that he has conducted it.

In taking the position with the American Tobacco Co., Mr. O'Brien is securing a wider scope for his undoubted abilities as a tobacco salesman, and that he will be successful those who have followed his business career during the last four years have no doubt.

The sale of Mr. O'Brien's business was effected through the agency of the firm of Messrs. Blewett and O'Brien, with whom it was listed. It is one of the best businesses of its kind in the city, and the new proprietor is to be congratulated upon having secured it.

CHINESE CAFE WILL OPEN IN THE CITY SOON

Will Occupy the Store Formerly Used by S. J. Sheridan—Celestial Chef will be Engaged to do Catering.

Next week a Chinese cafe will be opened in the store recently occupied by Mr. S. J. Sheridan, clothier, Market Arcade, 328 George street. These premises have been leased by Mr. Geo. Thomas, an experienced Chinaman possessing quick and intelligent business ability, who also carries on a cafe in Ottawa. He is accompanied by several other Chinamen, who will assist in the various duties connected with the business. The services of a first-class Celestial cook from British Columbia have been engaged as chef, who knows how to handle the chopsticks and compound "chop suey" and other savoury dishes. The premises are now being fitted up in genuine Chinese style, and will be a revelation to most Peterborough people. Special dining-room accommodation will be reserved for ladies desiring meals on luncheon; and a number of small stalls will be available for private parties. Business will be carried on from 11 a.m. to 2 next morning.

POLICE COURT STOCK SOARS HIGH

Took a Sudden Boost This Morning when $67.50 was Obtained From Peddlers

Two Hebrew peddlers were before Magistrate Dumble this morning charged with carrying on their operations without license. One of them, Abraham Miller, has been at work throughout Canada, and was never fined for not having a license. The Magistrate thought he needed a change. The merchants of this city would, at least, be protected to the full extent of the law. Miller, a name that has anything but an Oriental sound, arrived in Peterborough on Tuesday night and commenced operations on Wednesday. He said he did not sell anything, but merely endeavoured to receive orders. He had with him a valise of ladies' goods, but met with no success here. He said he did not wish to take out a license, but when Magistrate Dumble imposed a fine of $20 and $3.75 costs, he gave the matter a little more consideration, and decided that it was more profitable to obtain the license. The cost of this is $30, but Miller had also to pay $3.75 costs.

He had with him, as an assistant, another easterner, Harry Coplan, who was given the same judgment. They laughed when they were told that they had three alternatives, either to obtain a license at $33.75 each, or pay a fine of $23.75, or imprisonment.

They decided to take out licenses, and thus enrich the city's exchequer by $67.50.

NEARLY MILLION DOLLARS PAID ON BELLEVILLE BOARD

Belleville, December 6.—The number of boxes of cheese offered at the Belleville board during the season was 97,365; average price for season, 12c; with the returns amounting in cash to upwards of $1,000,000. Had all the salesmen who are members of the board strictly adhered to registering on the market regularly, there would have been at least 115,000 boxes for the season, representing the handsome amount of $1,200,000. Though the amount of cheese made this season is alone equal to the season of 1905, the price realized was the highest on record in the history of the trade.

ST. ANDREW'S CONCERT AT BUCKHORN A SUCCESS

Lecture by Rev. Jas. A. G. Sterling, at Entertainment to Provide Seating Accommodation in Buckhorn Presbyterian Church was Enjoyable Event

LAKEFIELD TALENT ALSO ASSISTED

The entertainment in the True Blue Hall, Buckhorn, notwithstanding other attractions and the somewhat unsettled weather, was a very enjoyable affair, and brought together a considerable number of people, even though the Scotch element in this district is not large. The first part of the programme was a lecture on "Bonnie Scotland and Its People," by Rev. James A. G. Stirling. The lecturer only delivered a portion of his lecture, in which he spoke on such subjects as Scottish poetry and music, wit and humour, the beauty and power of the Gaelic and Braid Scots' language, and the literary treasures therein contained, and the leading characteristics of the Scottish national charter. Speaking on the subject of Scottish literature, the lecturer said: "I would venture to say this to you, the young and rising generation of this great and prosperous Dominion of Canada, do not waste your time in reading trashy, sensational novels, but study the works of the great Scottish authors, such as Robert Burns, Sir Walter Scott, Professor Wilson (Christopher North), John Galt, Norman Macleod, George Macdonald, Sir Walter Scott's son-in-law and biographer; John Gibson Lockhart, Barrie, Crockett, Ian MacLaren and many others. Such studies will deliver your minds from petty cares and ignoble follies. They will inform the mind, cultivate the imagination, touch the heart, and cause to bubble up within you the pure well of hearty, gladsome humour, undefiled.

"The typical Scotchman, being always a religious man, likes to have Scripture authority for everything that he does. Is there any authority, then, in holy Scripture, for merry humour? Yes, there is. In the Book of Proverbs, revised version, chapter xvii., verse 22, we read: "A merry heart is a good medicine." There is nothing better fitted to produce a merry heart than the wit and humour of 'Bonnie Scotland.'"

The second part of the programme consisted of the following numbers:

Chorus, by the choir—"Scots Wha' Ha'e Wi' Wallace Bled."
Song, by the organist, Mrs. Crapp—"The Bonnie Banks o' Loch Lomond."
Scotch Reading, by Mr. M. T. Graham—"The Waggin' o' Our Dog's Tail"; author, Norman Macleod, D.D.
Trio, by Misses Muriel Jones, Gladys Pearson and Bertha Freeburn—"The Blue Bells o' Scotland."
Violin Solo, by Miss Ethel Girven, Lakefield—"Annie Laurie."
Violin Solo, encore, by Miss Girven "Home, Sweet Home."
Song, by Miss Clara Davis, Lakefield—"The Hielanman's Toust."
Scotch Reading, by Mr. John Jones—"Captain Frazer's Nose"; author, Norman Macleod, D.D.
Song, by Mrs. Richard Pearson—"Ye Banks and Braes o' Bonnie Doon."
Song, by Miss Nettie Nelson, Lakefield—"The Love of Old."
Violin Solo, Miss Violet Fitzgerald.
Chorus, concluding, by the choir—"Auld Lang Syne."

The accompanists were the following: Mrs. Crapp, Miss Muriel Jones, Miss Nettie Nelson, and Mr. Allan Hunter. The contingent of musical talent from Lakefield, added much to the enjoyment of the evening, and the people at Buckhorn gave them a hearty welcome. Mr. M. T. Graham made an admirable chairman. A special vote of thanks was accorded to Mr. Thos. Eastwood for providing the conveyance for the friends from Lakefield, and the usual votes of thanks were accorded to the performers and lecturer, and thus there was brought to a close a most delightful evening of Scottish reminiscences, music and song. The proceeds will be used for the purpose of providing better seating accommodation in the hall for the members and adherents of the Presbyterian Church at Buckhorn, and for the benefit of the tourists who come thither in great numbers in the summer time and crowd the Presbyterian services.

Tortures of Itching Piles

"I had tried very many so called cures for piles and can truthfully say that there is no remedy on the face of the earth like Dr. Chase's Ointment, for it has entirely cured me. I would not be without it for any amount of money, and can heartily recommend it to all sufferers. — Mr John Harvey, mayor of Arnprior, ont.

FAST BASKETBALL GAMES SCHEDULED FOR TO-MORROW

O.T.C. will Play the Harriers and Belleville College the Arrows

To-morrow night two important basketball games will be played in the Y. M.C.A. gymnasium. At 8 o'clock the Oval Tennis Club's quintette will meet the first Harriers and the game will no doubt be a fast one as both teams are about evenly matched.

At 9 o'clock a team from Belleville College will play the speedy Arrows. This latter game should be one of the most spectacular of the season as the teams are fast basketball players.

On account of the games there will be no senior class to-morrow night.

BRANDON PEOPLE THINK BOBBY MERCER THE GOODS

Says the Brandon Times:—Bob Mercer of Port Hope, the new goalkeeper, appears to be just the man that Brandon has been looking for for the last few years. So far he has shown himself to be an artist in front of the nets, and it is safe betting that the opposing teams will learn that five out of every six shots that are made on the Brandon nets will not find their way in, as they have done in other years.

Editor Post Card Column:

Dear Sir,—The re-appearance of the snow should again be a warning to those who have the snow ploughing contracts for the season of 1906-07. This morning several sidewalks were so well filled with snow that it was almost impossible for my children to get to school. I don't like to register kicks so early in the season, but if some of the snow ploughers would get out a little earlier in the mornings than they did this morning, it would be a great benefit to many of the citizens.

COMMENCED WORK ON GEORGIAN BAY LINE

An Orillia Despatch Says it will be Commenced in Two Weeks' Time—Orders to Push Work at Once

DOUBLE TRACK PROPOSAL REFUSED

An Orillia despatch says: — The Toronto Construction Company expects to begin work on the C. P. R.'s Georgian Bay and Seaboard Line within the next two weeks, having received instructions to go on with the construction at once. The officials here do not know the point at which the work will begin.

It is said that the Grand Trunk recently approached th. C. P. R with a proposition that they would double-track the Midland and give the C. P. R. the use of their line for their through traffic on easy terms, the G. T. R. to retain control of the local trafffic. The news that work is to be begun by the C. P. R. at once would indicate that this proposal, if made, did not meet with favourable consideration.

THE MACCABEES WILL HOLD DISTRICT CONVENTION

Peterborough Has Been Selected as One of the Eight Places in Ontario

IMPORTANT QUESTION FOR DISCUSSION

An important convention of the Knights of the Maccabees will be held in Peterborough some time between the middle of January and the middle of February, according to present indications. This morning Mr. O. S. Matchett, R. K., of the local camp received a letter from Mr. S. W. Trussler of Camlachie, Ont., Provincial Commander of the Maccabees, stating that it was the intention of Provincial Camp to hold eight district conventions in Ontario and mentioning Peterborough as one of the places selected.

Great Camp for Ontario

The conventions will last about two days and a question of great importance will be considered—that of the advisability of forming a head office or Great Camp of the Maccabees in Ontario. At present the affairs of the Camps in Ontario are all conducted by the Supreme Camp at Port Huron, Mich., where all the funds are sent. In the United States each state has a Great Camp of its own, all of which are subject to the Supreme Camp. Should the various District Conventions decide in favour of having a Great Camp for Ontario, they will appoint representatives to the Provincial Convention at Brantford next May to advance their opinions.

Many Delegates Here

The convention will be attended by delegates from Belleville, Campbellford, Colbourne, Cobourg, Picton and other places and it is probable there will be almost 100 visitors in the city at that time.

325 Tents in Ontario

In Ontario there are about 325 tents altogether and should a Great Camp be formed here, the funds of the various Tents would then be invested in Ontario.

Genuine Winter Weather Expected

At nine o'clock this morning the lowest temperature of the winter was registered, the thermometer at that hour reading 14 degrees below zero. At two hours earlier this morning it was one degree warmer, and during the entire night cold weather was recorded, though at no time was it lower than 13 degrees below.

Eight degrees below zero at one o'clock this afternoon, is pretty good for the first touch of winter, and puts many of the supposedly cold days following the increase in the length of days in the shade. It is a particularly low reading for the middle of the day, and may be taken as an indication that if the wind drops to-night, which it probably will do, the temperature will go down with it, and the lowest reading of the winter, so far, may be expected to-night.

There may be some slight moderation of the weather to-morrow, but it is not safe to count much on it—the Examiner would not advise you to—and the prospects, according to the opinion of this paper is, that we are in for some genuine winter weather, for a few days at least.

A number of persons have spoken to the Examiner concerning its weather forecasts, and some have been good enough to say that they have been interested in them, and to compliment the paper upon their truthfulness.

Do they interest you, and is it a feature of the paper which you would like to see continued? If so, perhaps you would not not mind saying so. Its continuance or otherwise will probably be determined by the answers received to this query.

WANT AD. BROUGHT THE DOG FROM DOURO

The sphere of influence of the Examiner evidently extends beyond the city limits, as the incident recorded shows. Mr. George Payne lost a valuable bull pup the other day. He placed an advertisement in the want ad. column of this paper, and the next day heard from Douro that his dog was there, the person who found it having seen his advertisement in the Examiner. Evidence of the value of this paper as an effective answer-bringing advertising medium seems to be accumulating at a satisfactory rate.

CAR SHOPS TO LOCATE AT WHITBY

Huron and Ontario Railway to Establish Shops There—It Cost the Town Something to Secure the Industry

Whitby, Dec. 6.—An agreement has been executed between President Kilgore, of the Huron and Ontario Railway, and associates and the town authorities for the establishment here of the National Car Company's works. The manufacture of railway cars and appliances will be carried on, not less than 40 men to be employed at a minimum monthly wage roll of $2,500, the buildings to cost at least $45,000, to be commenced within four months of the passage of the bylaw or the acceptance of a site of five acres to be given by the town, and to be completed for operation in 14 months.

The town agrees, besides, to pay $2,000 yearly for 12 years, and to exempt the works from municipal taxes. There is practical unanimity amongst the citizens in favour of securing this transportation enterprise upon these terms.

ONE MAN'S INDIVIDUALITY

How One Can Best Study the Suitability of a Suit

The less money a man wishes to spend on his clothes the more important it is that he should give careful thought to every little detail. A garment which must be worn for a whole season must be right, or it carries with it discontent whenever donned.

In the web of cloth no man can tell exactly how the suit will fit his individuality when made up. To get the right effect one must wear Semi-Ready garments. They are made to the finished-to-order stage and a man can put a suit or overcoat on and see just how its tone and expression suits his individuality. This effect is only possible in the Semi-ready garment, and is impossible to produce on any but this tailoring system. There is only one "Semi-ready." Sewn on the pocket as the trade mark label.

Cressman's have all the new Semi-ready styles, and the exclusive agency for Peterborough and district.

WINNIPEG HAS A BAD FIRE AT 39 DEG. BELOW ZERO

Canadian Northern Shops Destroyed There Last Night—Building a Heap of Ruins Within Half an Hour After Start

LOSS FROM $80,000 TO $100,000

(Examiner Special.)

Winnipeg, Man., Dec. 7.—The Canadian Northern Railways boiler shop here was destroyed by fire at 4 o'clock this morning.

Owing to lack of water and the inflammable nature of the building, the shop was a heap of ruins within half an hour after the fire started.

A locomotive undergoing repairs and much valuable machinery were destroyed. The loss is estimated to be between $80,000 and $100,000. The thermometer registered 39 below zero at the time of the fire.

THEIR PUBLIC SERVICES APPRECIATED

Mr. K. Eardley-Wilmot, who for about three years has been manager of the Bank of Montreal here, has received word of his transfer to the managership of the branch of the Bank of Montreal at Perth, for which town he will leave in a few days. He will be succeeded here by Mr. Montizambert, of Lindsay.

The removal of Mr. and Mrs. Eardley-Wilmot from Peterborough, will be very deeply regretted by the very many friends whom they have made during their residence here, both Mr. and Mrs. Eardley-Wilmot being very popular.

Mr. Eardley-Wilmot has identified himself with every movement which had for its object the material progress of Peterborough, and often at a personal loss and inconvenience, has given his services to this end, particularly in his connection with the Industrial Fair, of which he was for a year secretary-treasurer, working energetically for the success and progress of that function. He has also been associated with the Board of Trade, and no cause deserving of public support found him unwilling to lend his assistance.

In St. John's church, of which they have been prominent members, both Mr. and Mrs. Eardley-Wilmot will be missed and their places will be hard to fill. In musical circles, especially, Mrs. Eardley-Wilmot occupied a prominent position, and on many occasions she has given her services in aid of charitable objects. For some months, until a permanent leader could be secured, she took charge of the choir of St. John's church, and her work in this connection was very highly appreciated, both by the members of the choir and by the congregation.

ONE TROUBLE NEVER COMES ALONE

Lady Broke Her Leg and Almost Same Day Word of Her Son's Death Was Received

Mrs. I. Minniker, of Cramahe township sustained a broken leg last Sunday evening just after the service at the Methodist church, Colborne. She was in the act of stepping into her buggy when the horse made an unexpected start, causing her to fall. To add to the sorrow of the home, a telegram from Regina on Tuesday, announced the death of Herbert, the oldest son. The family were until recently most highly esteemed citizens of Morganston vicinity, and the death and affliction will be lamented by many.—Warkworth Journal.

UNION LABEL

FRIDAY, DEC. 7, 1906.

A GIGANTIC ENTERPRISE.

The announcement is made in our advertising columns that three of the largest Canadian rubber manufacturing concerns have decided to form an amalgamation, the firm to be known as the Canadian Consolidated Rubber Company, with a capital stock of $5,000,000. The the Canadian Rubber Company, Granby Rubber Company, and the Maple Leaf Rubber Company.

The rubber business in Canada is, at the present time, in a particularly healthy condition, and the new combination promises to be one of the Dominion's most prosperous concerns.

The three companies affected by the amalgamation are the largest and most progressive in Canada, and there seems every reason to believe that, with their interests consolidated, the business will prove a most profitable one to those interested.

A MISLEADING STATEMENT.

In Ontario, Liberal Governments granted three great power concessions on the Niagara River, giving all that was asked and retaining no power to review or fix rates.—Toronto News.

The Brockville Recorder remarks upon this that a half truth is often the greatest carricature on the real article, and will deceive more readily than a straight out untruth. The Toronto News, in endeavouring to make a point against the late Liberal Government in Ontario, wedges the above sentence in a long article discussing the question of public ownership. Of course, its own ideal Government does not come within measureable distance of public ownership in any single instance, except that of the Temiskaming Railway that was conceived, constructed and run by the Ross Government being for the people of Ontario. This single sample of Government-owned enterprise was sneered at by Mr. Whitney, and when Mr. Powell, of Ottawa asked, why not let a company build and run the road? his question was applauded by the men then on the left of the Speaker. So much for public ownership.

But as to the item, it is only a half truth. It is true that the late Government leased water power at Niagara that for centuries had been going to waste, and by the leases paved the way for a handsome annual income to the Province. Later, as the question of electric development began to force itself on the people of the world, the Liberal Government, to fully guard the rights of the people, made another lease, in which it was not only provided that the rights of Canadians to receive ample power were guaranteed, but the Government reserved the right to see that that power was also obtained at a fair price — just the facts the News suppressed in its article. Playing to the grand stand, the Whitney Government cancelled this last lease, protective clauses and all.

The new Power Act is, in a word, more comprehensive, and, in action, more expensive than the old one under which a municipal power commission was acting, but it remains yet to be seen whether it will fulfill expectations.

HASTEN GENTLY.

The Labour party in Hamilton are contented with their victory in electing to the Legislature their candidate as a protest against the odious Central-Prison 3-cents-an hour, convict-labour contract, and the public endorsation of their public ownership platform. They decide, and wisely so, not to enter a labour candidate for the mayoralty. Party questions whether of the Liberal, the Conservative or the Labour party, should not enter, as a controlling factor, into the consideration of fitness for municipal office. The fitness of a candidate to give a municipality honest, straight-forward, business-like, economical and effective service should be the only consideration, and if the Labour party of Hamilton unite with the citizens generally in leeting a city council embodying such characteristics the city will be well governed and the platform of the Labour party of that city in regard to public ownership will be advanced so far as it is in the public interest. The principle of public ownership and operation is all right so far as it is all right. Everything depends upon what it is applied to and the manner of its operation. Public ownership and operation of certain public utilities promise success from the beginning, that is with effective and business like administration. The wholesale application of the principle to every phase and department of civic interest, might not meet with as much success. The public ownership and operation — through a commission—of a water—works system has been successful in Peterborough, because it represents a public convenience of universal requirement—we must all have water—and because it has been efficiently managed so far. The municipal ownership of a lighting plant might be conducted with as much success on the same principle—that is, that light is a universal requirement. But would municipal ownership and operation of a street car line appeal to the experiment of public ownership and operation in the same way? The use of a street car line is optional. In the matter of a water system or lighting system, the people have practically to use the water and light provided or go without. In the matter of a street railway they would not have to stay at home if they did not use it—they could walk or drive. The Government practically owns and operates the post office system, and they make a success of its operation, because its use is a universal demand. Besides the postal system is a long evolution from very crude beginnings and the capacity for successful government operation has been evolved coincidently by long and costly experience. But supposing that the postal business had heretofore been managed by private enterprise, could the government take it over and manage it with the same success as at present attends their efforts? If not, then it is plain that municipalities should hasten gently in assuming the burdens of municipal ownership and operation. While the principle of such ownership and operation is not to be condemned unheard, it stands to reason that it should be adopted with only due and full consideration of all the conditions involved. Is it not wise to assume that it should be adopted gradually in order that municipal bodies should have a training—serve an apprenticeship—in the matter of municipal operation and gradually, and without risk of expensive experimenting or possible failure, learn how to successfully operate public utilities. Private business enterprises succeed for the main reason that the persons engaging in them feel that they have a call, so to speak, to engage in such and such a business, that they have a knowledge of the conditions involved and are adapted naturally or by previous training to the business. But, pitchfork a successful dry-goods merchant into a manufacturing enterprise, and with all his business aptitude, he might make a dismal muddle of it. Could it, in the light of such consideration, be expected that municipal bodies composed often of men having little business experience, could jump into the business of operating some complicated enterprise and make the success that private ownership and operation have achieved after years of experimenting and learning, and, possibly, failure in certain details. To hasten gently in assuming the burdens of municipal ownership and operation, is not unwise doing. No business man regrets carefully scanning every aspect of a projected or contemplated enterprise before embarking upon it, but a million regrets follow a plunge into business undertakings without the equipment of knowledge, experience and special business aptitude.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

It would appear that the Whitney Government has not succeeded in applying its spoils policy to the satisfaction of even its own party friends. The Spectator, the Hamilton Government organ, says:

In summing up the causes for the defeat of the Government candidate, it would be unfair to omit the fact that most of the appointments made in Hamilton by the Government since it came into power have not been at all satisfactory to the Liberal-Conservative party.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is constitutional remedies. Deafness is inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

A Cold Finds Your Weak Spot

HE BRONCHIAL TUBES AND LUNG ARE PROTECTED AGAINST THE EVIL EFFECTS OF COLDS BY

DR. CHASE'S SYRUP OF LINSEED AND TURPENTINE

You can never tell just what form a cold will take but you may be sure it will search out your weakest organ. With some it assumes a catarrhal nature, and affects the head principally; but with others it becomes bronchitis and there sets in a hard cough and severe chest pains. Then, again, it often leads to inflammation of the lungs, consumption, pneumonia or may settle on the kidneys or bowels.

Because colds do not always prove serious some people take great chances with them, but the risk is great. Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine is intended for people who want assurance against serious results from colds.

This great medicine has absolutely proven its extraordinary control over coughs, colds, croup, bronchitis, whooping cough, asthma and all such ailments, and for this reason has a place in the great majority of homes.

Mr. John Clark, coachman, Port Hope, Ont., writes:—"Being exposed to all sorts of weather I frequently catch cold. Last winter I was so bad with a cold that I could not speak above a whisper and had great pains in my chest. At last I feared that it would develop into consumption if I did not succeed in getting proper treatment. A friend advised me to take Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, and I began to improve before I had taken half a bottle. One bottle cured my cold which I believe would have proven very serious if I had not used this medicine."

Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, 25 cents a bottle, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. To protect you against imitations, the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W Chase, the famous receipt book author are on every bottle.

NO SOCIAL POSITION WITH SALARY OF $700

These are the Conditions which Prevail in Galt Says Secretary of the Y. M. C. A. in Frank Address to Members

SOME PLAIN TRUTHS WERE TOLD

Life, for a secretary of a Young Men's Christian Association, according to the statements of the secretary of the Galt Association, in a remarkably frank speech, which he is reported to have made at a recent gathering, is not "all beer and skittles."

The conditions spoken of by this speaker are not unknown in other Associations, and he offers some observations which might be taken to heart in other places besides Galt. The Reformer of that town, in referring to the address, says:

Mr. T. S. Cole, secretary of the Y. M. C. A. spoke very frankly to the audience at the Y. M. C. A. "at home" given under the auspices of the directors and the Ladies' Auxiliary in the Y. M. C. A. on Tuesday evening. Among many other things he declared that he had never been in a community where he had made so few friends as in Galt. This astonishing statement came as a surprise to many of those present, who were at a loss to understand it. Mr. Cole, however, was free to say that it was the result of a lack of sympathy.

When Mr. Cole came to Galt the conditions existing in the Y. M. C. A. were admitted to be anything but ideal. To him was assigned the task of bringing order out of chaos, and that he has been in a large measure successful is greatly to his credit.

"I have been criticized," said Mr. Cole, "for putting a lock on the bath room door. That an electric lock was placed on the door of this room was for no other reason than as a preventive measure for the members taking advantage of the bath-room privileges. A short time after I came to Galt, I was informed one evening by a member of the Y. M. C. A. that while he had been taking his bath $5 had been stolen from a pocket in his clothes, which were hanging on a peg in the room. I do not know of any association in Ontario where there is not a lock on the bath room door. A lock is necessary for if there is not this protection there is always the possibility of sneak thieves entering the bath room and picking the pockets of those who are using the baths. It is for this reason, and for this reason alone, that I had an electric lock placed on the door. It is no particular pleasure for me to sit in my office and press the button which opens the door and allows a member to enter the bath room. But there is this in it: I am now in a position to know who has been in the bath room should I receive any complaint of money having been stolen.

"Before I came to Galt there were men in the habit of using the baths who were not members of the association. This has been stopped. I have also inaugurated a set of rules which do not permit of the language being used in the gymnasium which was quite the fashion when I came here."

At this juncture Mr. Cole made the statement which so astounded the audience, and he offered a further explanation.

"I may say that I am not in Galt for the $700 salary which is attached to the office. I did not ask to come here. I was approached by the directors, told of the condition of affairs, and asked if I would take hold of the association. I accepted the position, believing it to be the call of the Lord to do so. I have been in the Y.M.C.A. for 30 years, in all that time have been independent of the association from a monetary point of view. It has always been my pleasure to give to the Y. M. C. A. work yearly as much as the salary I have received from my official connection with the association. I do not think therefore that I can be accused of being in the work for the money that is in it.

"I feel, however, that my work in Galt has not been the success I should have liked it to be. I was told recently by a Galt gentleman that I could never hope to have any social standing in Galt so long as my income was $700. I thanked that gentleman for his information and added that I did not care to have any standing in such society.

"It has not yet been my pleasure to point the way of salvation to any man in Galt, but I shall persevere in the work so long as I believe I am of service to the Master, whom I serve."

Mr. Cole closed his remarks by giving a brief resume of the work as it is now conducted under the association in Galt.

PASTOR A SCRAPPER SAYS YOUNG MAN AT MAPLETON

Baptist Pastor Summoned to Appear in Police Court on Charge of Assault Preferred by St. Louis Man

SLAPPED HIS FACE AND KICKED HIM

St. Thomas, Dec. 6. — Rev. M. Charlton, pastor of the Disciples' church at Mapleton, a few miles east of this city, has been summoned to appear before County Police Magistrate Hunt, on Friday morning, on a charge of assaulting Clinton Smith, of St. Thomas, in the basement of the church on Monday evening.

At the close of a large tea party, a bus load of young men and women drove down from St. Thomas. They arrived a little late and were compelled to take a back seat. It is reported that some mischievous boys who are seated behind them, were guilty of misbehaviour which caused the pastor and others annoyance. After the performance the St. Thomas people were waiting their bus to come for them, when Mr. Charlton, it is alleged, went to them, and made remarks which the St. Thomas people resented as unjustifiable. The pastor is said to have then struck young Smith in the face and kicked him out.

CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY MEETING

Annual Meeting for Presentation of Reports and Election of Officers will be Held Wednesday Afternoon Next

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Children's Aid Society, will be held in the city council chamber on Wednesday next at 3 o'clock, when the reports of the officers for the past year will be presented and the election of officers will take place.

The society has done splendid work during the past year, many children who, but for the kindly intervention of the society, would have suffered, have been taken care of and placed in the Shelter until they could be taken by foster parents. The reports of the year's work will no doubt, make interesting reading.

THE DREDGE "TRENT" FINISHES WORK OF SEASON

Appropriation for the Work Exhausted and No More Work on Dredging Will be Done Until April 1st Next

MR. WM. QUINN IN CHARGE OF WORK

The dredge, "Trent" which during the last summer has been engaged in dredging the Otonabee River between the C. P. R. and Hunter street bridges has finished work for the season and is being laid up for the winter, the appropriation made for this year's work having been exhausted. It will be remembered, however, that in the estimates for the year, recently presented to Parliament there was an item of $10,000 for dredging on the Otonabee River, and this will be used for a continuance of the work here. But, since this sum will not be available until April 1st, next the first of the fiscal year, no work will be done until that date.

Mr. Wm. Quinn, who has had charge of the work is to be congratulated upon the excellence of the job he has given the Public Works Department, which has been given good value for the money expended.

Mr. Quinn will, in all probability be given charge of the work next year, when it is resumed, and this fact is a guarantee that it will be well done.

CRIMEAN WAR CLOSED IN APRIL A. D. 1856

Millbrook Correspondent Gives Some Interesting Information in Regard to the Controversy

Millbrook, December 5th.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—In regard to the ending of the Crimean War, I beg to say that at the end of February, 1856, diplomats at Paris agreed upon an Armistice during the discussion of a Treaty of Peace. The immediate effect was observable in the Crimea as soon as the several commanders had received information, consequently through the month of March hostilities entirely stopped and April, 1856, brought with it the Treaty of Peace.

War with Russia was declared on Friday, March 28th, 1854, and ended April, 1856.

Yours truly,

A BURNING CHIMNEY SCARED THE NEIGHBORS

Brigade was Called Out to Investigate the Conflagration

These are the days of the burning out of chimneys when the fire brigade is unnecessarily called out in the cold. To-day an alarm was sent in from Elm street where a chimney was burning out. The brigade got part way there when the discovery was made that the fire had been extinguished.

DR. COUGHLIN HAS COMMENCED HIS DUTIES

Paper of the Institute Refers to His Inauguration as Superintendent

"The Canadian Mute," a paper printed by the pupils of Belleville Institute for the Deaf and Dumb, refers, in the December issue, to the inauguration of Dr. Coughlin as Superintendent. He arrived at the Institution on Thursday, Nov. 15th, but did not meet the pupils and staff until Monday the 19th. Speaking to the pupils he said he hoped they would all be good boys and girls and be obedient to their teachers, and would apply themselves to their studies. To the teachers and officers he said he hoped they would zealously apply themselves to their duties. He would always be the friend of the teacher or officer who faithfully attended to their work. They had all a common interest, namely, to do their utmost for the advancement of the pupils. He trusted that harmony would exist among the faculty and that by their united efforts past successes might be outdone. He made the suggestion that regular meetings of the teachers be held to discuss matters of interest to the welfare of the Institution. Although the Government supplied necessary funds yet it was expected that due care and economy be exercized. He urged upon the teachers, clergymen and all connected with the Institute to assist in making it the best in the province.

Mr. Coleman, the head teacher, and Mr. Denys, thanked the Superintendent for his kind words. They would heartily transfer the allegiance they had formerly extended to Mr. Mathison to the new Superintendent, Dr. Coughlin. Dr. Coughlin entered upon his new duties in a manner that gave great promise of a successful supervision of the Institute.

WHO PAYS THE DUTY?

Is the Money Lost to the Buyer when the Government Gets It?

Over seventy million dollars must be collected in Canada to meet the Government needs for nine months. That is a lot of money for carrying on the country's business.

Most of the money comes from the customs duties paid by Canadian buyers. Who pays the duty?

When a man buys a pair of American shoes he contributes a dollar to the fund. Does he get value for it? The Slater Shoe at $4 is made of the same leather and in good style and wears just as well as the American shoe, for which the dealer must get $5, for the buyer pays the duty. It's a dollar thrown away — of course the Government needs the money. But need we pay it? R. Neill, exclusive agent for the Slater Shoe in Peterborough.

WILL BANQUET THE CHAMPION BASE BALL TEAM

Three-Year-Champions of Guild Baseball League will be Tendered Banquet by Charlotte St. Guild on Thursday

EXAMINER CUP WILL BE PRESENTED

The Young Men's Guild of the Charlotte street Methodist church, will tender a complimentary banquet to the baseball team, winners of the Guild League Championship, for three years in succession, and holders permanently of the Stration cup.

The intention is to hold this banquet on Thursday, December 13th, in the Sunday school room of the church, and it is expected that about 125 persons will participate in it. Representatives of the different Men's Guilds in the city will be invited, as well as the captains of the three teams in the League this year. At the banquet the cup which the team has won for three successive years will be presented by Hon. J. R. Stratton, the donor of the trophy, and an extensive toast list will be run off.

In this function the ladies of the church are assisting the young men, and the event promises to be one of the most successful ever held in connection with the church. A committee, of which Dr. Neal is chairman, and Mr. Ira Moore, secretary, representing the Guild, has the arrangements for the banquet in hand, and the members are working energetically for its success, which seems to be assured. It is expected that Mr. Norman Jolliffe, who was a member for two years of the champion team, will be here, and will sing, while Mr. Van der Water is also expected to contribute to the programme, as well as other local musicians.

It has been decided to place the price of the tickets at 25 cents, and the number sold will be limited, the members of the Guild having the first call on the tickets.

JACKSON PARK WILL BE OPENED NEXT WEEK

Rink and Toboggan Slide are Almost Ready for Use

Jackson Park will open for the winter season next week and gives promise of being even more popular than ever this year. Great preparations are being made for the opening, and every provision is being made for the accommodation and comfort of the patrons of this modern winter resort. The skating rink is rapidly getting into shape, and it is probable that it will be opened on Monday or Tuesday night. A new waiting-room has been constructed for gentlemen, and is almost finished. The toboggan slide is being greatly improved by the addition of two more chutes, and will accommodate more people than ever. Another change is that the divisions between the chutes will be continued to the end of the slide, which will do away with all danger of the collisions which sometimes took place last year. The slide will be ready for use probably by Wednesday night of next week.

A TEAM OF HORSES IN WILD FLIGHT

Come to Grief on Lake Street, where They Hurl Themselves at a Train Without Serious Results

Just before noon to-day the residents in the vicinity of the Cordage Works witnessed a wild dash by a team of frightened horses. They were being driven along Rink street at a spirited clip, drawing a bobsleigh with the driver and another occupant, when, in some manner, they became frightened and started off at a Ben Hur pace. They turned at Aylmer street and ran south, the driver vainly endeavouring to hold them. In the short distance of about seventy-five yards the sleigh was upset and the occupants thrown from their seat. The horses freed themselves from the debris of lines, straps, etc., and raced on down Aylmer street more infuriated than ever.

Reaching Lake street, they turned west and ran on towards the Port Hope railway crossing. Precisely at that moment the 11.45 express was crossing the street and the horses rushed almost into it. They endeavoured to swerve south, but owing to the momentum acquired in their run they did not entirely succeed. As a consequence, they bumped against the baggage car and rebounded into the ditch. A moment earlier and the engine itself would have struck them, and it is not probable that they would have escaped. The train was stopped and backed up to Lake street, where the horses were lying in an exhausted condition. It was found that they had received rather severe injuries. One of them had a deep gash wound in the side, about a foot and a half in length, besides other injuries, while the other was badly cut about the mouth as it had struck the conch with its head. The owner was soon upon the scene, the Port Hope train proceeded on its way, and the horses were slowly led back up Aylmer street, a sadder but wiser pair of quadrupeds. It was not learned whether fatal consequences are likely to happen to the horses, but it is certain that it will be some time before they will be in condition for a similar dash.

INDIAN RIVER VISITOR LANDED BEHIND THE BARS

Became Rowdy on George Street and Was "Run In."

A visitor from the vicinity of Indian River created such a furore on George street early last night that he was forced to accompany P. C. Newhall to the "home for the wayward" on Water street. While there he was relieved of a couple of bottles of old rye by the officer, part of which he had imbibbed beforehand.

When found at the corner of Simcoe and George streets he was acting as an important official by forcing a pedestrian along the street against his will. The policeman ordered him to move on and attend to his own business whereupon he offered fight. After a few shakes he passively obeyed the officer and marched quietly to the police station where he pleaded in vain to be allowed to go as he wished to catch the local for Indian River.

After his debauch it was found out that the man arrested was Patrick Murphy, a well known individual in the Norwood-Indian River district. "Paddy" learned to his sorrow that the way of the transgressor is hard and that the minions of the law are always on the alert in this city. He was in the city an hour and a half and during that time he became intoxicated, raised a row, was relieved of nine dollars and as a fitting sequel was arrested. This morning Magistrate Dumble imposed a fine of $2, which was readily paid, and Mr. Murphy left the court to get out of Peterborough as quickly as possible.

ENJOYABLE EVENING FOR MEN'S GUILD

Young Men's Guild of St. Paul's Church, Entertained by Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Torrance

The Young Men's Guild of St. Paul's church held their regular meeting last night at the home of Rev. Dr. Torrance on Rubidge street. They were hospitably entertained by Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Torrance, and their meeting last night was the most enjoyable and successful one they have held in some time. The Guild was well represented, there being a large number of the members present.

A very entertaining address was given by Dr. Torrance on the subject "Dinah Morris." She was one of the important personages in George Elliott's novel "Adam Bide." Dr. Torrance dealt with his subject very thoroughly and at the same time made it very interesting. The young men hearing the discourse on "Dinah Morris" should forget the influencing story of "Man and Superman" as written by Bernard Shaw, if they have ever read it.

Mr. E. S. Clarry the president of the Guild, thanked Dr. Torrance for the splendid address he had given and the good advice contained therein.

Refreshments were provided and the evening brought to a pleasant close by speeches, etc. The hospitality of Dr. and Mrs. Torrance was appreciated by the members of the Guild and through their President, expressed their gratitude in no unmistakable way. With the assistance of Mrs. Torrance a fine musical programme was provided and served to enliven the evening. Altogether the meeting was a decided success and one which will not be soon forgotten by the Guild.

A Much Appreciated Gift From an Anonymous Donor—More is Needed at This Particular Time

The funds of the Children's Aid Society have been augumented by the donation of a much appreciated gift of $50.00, a cheque for this amount having been handed to the agent of the society by a gentleman who modestly asks that his name be withheld from publication and wishes it stated simply that a "friend" is the donor.

At this particular time the society's funds are not particularly strong, and this donation will gladden the hearts of the officers, as would any others which friends of the society might make.

STREET RAILWAY AWARD GIVEN OUT

Both Sides At Hamilton Say They Are Satisfied.

RECOGNITION OF THE UNION

One Great Point Secured In Favor of the Men — No Increase of Wages Pleases the Company—Award Regulates Hours and Working Conditions Generally on Several Lines of the Company.

Hamilton, Dec. 7.—The Ontario Railway and Municipal Board gave its award in the street railway dispute yesterday afternoon, and both parties express themselves as perfectly satisfied with it.

W. D. Mahon, President of the International Union said it was one of the best awards he had ever had anything to do with. The only regret he had was that the men were not given an increase in wages by it. But he felt the board's finding was just.

Hon. J. M. Gibson, President of the Cataract Power Co., said last evening:—"The award is practically what the company offered the men before the strike was declared."

Recognition of Union.

By the award handed out the men do not get an increase in wages, but the company is bound to recognize the union, and to treat with its representatives in the event of any dispute arising between them, and is not to discriminate in favor of its non-union employes.

The Scale.

The scale of wages of the street railway employes was fixed as follows:

Street railway conductors and motormen, first year, 16 cents an hour; second year, 18 cents an hour; after second year, 20 cents an hour.

Machinists, blacksmiths and linemen, 20 cents an hour; shopmen, 15 cents for the first year, 16 the second year, 17 the third year, and 18 the fourth.

All extra motormen and conductors who report at car barns and relief changes shall be guaranteed a minimum wage by the company of $6 per week, but should an extra motorman or conductor fail to report at any time during the week, then the company will not be required to guarantee the $6 per week.

For all work performed by motormen, conductors, linemen, shopmen, machinists and blacksmiths over schedule, and for all work performed on Sundays, they shall be paid at the rate of two cents per hour extra.

Pick of the Runs.

The finding provides that the men longest in the employ of the company shall have the pick of the runs.

The award fixes a ten and a half hour day, to be completed within 12 1-2 consecutive hours, on the regular runs, and 12-hour day on what are known as the "swing or mixed" runs. It is stipulated that the day shall not be shorter than eight hours on the latter.

On Other Lines.

The scale for the radial line is fixed as follows: First year 14 cents an hour; second year 15 cents; third year 16 cents fourth and after 17 cents. Extra and Sunday work to be paid for at two cents an hour above the regular rate.

The scale for the Dundas line: First year 14 cents; second year 16 cents; after second year 18 1-2 cents

The Board's Reasons.

The board gave the following reasons for not granting the increase in wages: "The board in this case are of the opinion that the company are paying all that they are able to pay for the following reasons: The company has twenty-one miles of track; the bonded indebtedness of the company is $500,000 which bears interest at 5 per cent.; the stock issue is $250,000, upon which no dividend has been paid for some years; the company pays to the city 8 per cent. on the gross earnings of the road, $400 for each mile of single track, and the ordinary city taxes, and they have to provide the labor necessary for the repair and maintenance of the streets upon which the railway runs between the tracks and for twenty-four inches on the outside of the tracks; the company is under an agreement with the city to sell to workmen at certain hours of the day eight tickets for 25 cents. The city contends that the word 'workmen' includes all citizens. The question as to the construction of this part of the agreement is still before the courts, but so far the decisions have been adverse to the company. The result of this is to depreciate the earnings of the company and traffic at the very hours of the day when the traffic is ordinarily most congested. The city and a large number of the citizens have made an application to the board to compel the company to put its tracks, rolling stock, and general equipment in a better state of repair, and to give them the most up-to-date cars and service. This application is still pending before the board. In view of the financial position of the company, as above outlined, the board feel that under the circumstances they could not increase the wages of the men above that awarded by the former arbitration, except that the agreement which the board directs the parties to execute is so worded that the men can earn the maximum of $1.60, $1.86, and $2 per day, which they were unable to do in the sixteen-cent class under the former award.

"Under the present award new men can earn $1.60 per day, whereas under the old award they could only earn $1.28, making an increase of 32 cents per day to men in the 16-cent class. Another reason which operated in the mind of the board is that the wages fixed by the board compare favorably with the wages paid by other railways operating in other cities in Canada. The board was asked by the company to declare who was responsible for the strike, but it replied that it thought no good purpose would be served in stating that, and added, 'Let the dead past bury its dead.'"

The New York Stock Market

(Furnished by J. R. Heintz & Co.)

New York, Dec. 7.—Developments this morning in a money way caused selling for both short and long account in the stock market, and a moderate repression occurred, but support was met from the larger interests of the Street. Upon this appearing the professional element covering contracts causing a recovery to and above the opening figures in some cases.

In the afternoon a sensational advance in C. P. R. which resulted that stock to 194, together with a decline in call rates to 2 p. c. from 37 p. c. brought a strong tone to the whole list. There was no news to account for the advance in C. P. R. but it was rumored there would be some more "rights" to stockholders. The market closed tremendously active and strong at the best of the day.

This suggests the opportunity to all wage earners and others of taking advantage of their "harvest time" (that is their earning period) to lay by a portion of their income for "life's winter" when the earning power ceases and expenses continue.

THE CANADIAN SOO LANDS MARTY WALSH

Clever Hockey Player, well Known in This City, Accepts Offer to Turn Professional and Will Play with Soo

HE IS A CLEVER ALL-ROUND ATHLETE

Kingston Whig: Another popular young Kingstonian leaves to-morrow to join the professional hockey team at the Canadian Soo in the person of "Marty" Walsh, who is probably the best and most favourably known local hockeyist to-day. "Marty" is an all-round athlete, playing baseball and football as well as hockey, but the latter has always been his strongest point. In 1899 he started his hockey career with the Frontenacs, and in 1900-2 was one of the best men in Dr. Clarke's famous Beechgrove-Frontenac team. In 1903-5 he was on the Queen's University senior team and gained the name of premier rover of the Intercollegiate League.

The management of the Soo team have been after him all season but, up till yesterday he held off, refusing all offers. A telegram received yesterday offered a sum never before received by a Kingston athlete and "Marty" finally succumbed. Although he has never played anything but amateur games, it is a foregone conclusion that he will make good with the best professionals to be found in Canada. The many Kingston friends of Mr. Walsh will watch the movements of the Canadian Soo team this winter, and if its manager has done as well in filling the other positions of his team as that of rover, the Soo team should easily be a winning aggregation this winter. "Dick" Wilson, also of Kingston, joined the Soo team last Saturday.

"Marty" Walsh has not arrived at this decision hastily, but has carefully weighed the question. His many Kingston friends are decidely sorry to see him go.

HAD THIRTY-TWO BOILS AT ONE TIME

Two Bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters Cured Him.

Imperfect organic action makes bad blood, so, too, bad blood, in turn, makes imperfect action of every bodily organ. If the blood becomes impure, poisoned or contaminated in any way from constipation, biliousness or any other cause, some especially weak organ must soon become diseased thereby, or the whole system may suffer in consequence.

Pimples, boils, blotches, ulcers, festering sores, abscesses, tumors, rashes or some serious and perhaps incurable blood disease may result. There is no medicine on the market to-day to equal the old and well-known remedy, for all cases of bad blood.

Mr. Ernest B. Tupper, Round Hill, N.S., says: "I think Burdock Blood Bitters a great medicine for boils. I had them so bad I could not work. I had thirty-two on my back at one time. I used only two bottles of B.B.B. and they completely cured me. I cannot recommend it too highly." Price $1.00 per bottle or 6 bottles for $5.00.

HOCKEY GAMES FOR THE HOLIDAYS

Princeton and Marlboro Teams May be Seen Here at Christmas Time
—A Series of Games

Another letter has been received from the Princeton hockey team with a view of arranging a game here during the Christmas holidays, and it is probable that the local team will take them on for a game about the time suggested. This team should make a hit here, as it will probably be the first American hockey team that he ever played in Peterborough, and, since the Princeton team is looked upon as one of the best of the American amateur teams an opportunity will be afforded for a comparison of the different styles of hockey played by the Canadian and American teams.

It is also probable that a game will be played here with the Marlboros on New Years night, a letter having been received from the manager of that team asking for a series of games, the first to be played in Toronto on Christmas night and the return game here on New Year's night.

YOU FELLOWS—I have some rar snaps for men who leave their measures before the holiday rush. Take stock of your wardrobe—count up what you need to complete your outfit—then call on ED. HUFF, tailor and draper, Hunter street, for an estimate.

PRACTICE HOURS FOR BROCK STREET RINK

Meeting to be Held to Arrange Schedule for the Season—All Teams Asked to Send Representatives

Managers of hockey teams in the city are reminded of the meeting with the secretary of the Brock street rink to-night at seven thirty in the Examiner office for the purpose of arranging hours of practise in the rink during the present season.

At the meeting to-night a schedule will be drawn up and all teams wishing practice privileges should have a representative at the meeting, as after the schedule has been drafted applications for practice hours may not be granted, only the spare hours remaining.

The meeting is called for seven thirty sharp, and a full attendance of all representatives desired.

BILLY BREEN RETURNS TO CITY; WILL TRAIN TEAM

Has Brought the Team Luck Two Seasons Already

Mr. W. F. Breen, of Toronto, better known as "Billy" arrived in the city last night to take charge of the Peterborough hockey team. There is no better trainer in Canada than Mr. Breen and he will soon have the seven in first-class shape to commence the season. It is an significant fact that the two seasons that Billy has trained the team the locals have captured the championship and it is to be hoped that he will prove a mascot again this year.

With the present cold weather the boys will soon be able to get out to practice and it is possible that the first workout will take place to-morrow night if the rink is in condition for skating.

FEW TEAMS ENTERED IN THE SENIOR SERIES

And Two Districts will be Formed for This Season—Teams for the Series

Ten teams are in the senior O.H.A. this year, fifty in the intermediate and thirty-five in the junior, Argonauuts, Marlboros, St. George's, 14th Regiment, Kingston; Peterborough, Midland Guelph, Berlin, Stratford, and Galt form the senior. They will be divided into two series.

THE TORONTO RINKS ARE AWAY BEHIND

Those in Eastern Ontario—Peterborough will Have Skating and Hockey Days Before Toronto

Toronto may be ahead of Peterborough in some respects, but when it comes to making ice this city has the Queen City faded. In a telephone conversation with the manager of the Mutual street rink, in Toronto this morning, the Examiner learned that there was about half an inch of ice on the board floor at that rink, and it will be several days yet before it will be possible to give skating or hockey on it.

During the summer the rink was used as an automobile garage, and when the machines were taken away it was found that in many places oil had accumulated on the floor, the result being that trouble was experienced with shell ice. It will require some days yet before a permanent foundation has been secured, and after that some more time to build it up, all of which means delay for the Toronto hockey teams.

It is probable that the local team will be able to practice to-morrow night on the rink here.

HOCKEY

Kingston News.

One thing is certain, in "Marty" Walsh the Soo has secured a player the superior of whom in his particular position never stood on skates. With whirlwind speed, clever dodging ability, and skilful stick-handling, he combines a good head, abundance of sand, and the best of character and constitution. He has been up against the top-notchers in the hockey world, and made them all step to keep in his class. There can be no doubt that he has a brilliant future before him in the world of sport, and otherwise we bespeak for him in his new place of residence that same universal popularity which makes his departure from this city a thing to be most deeply regretted.

• • • •

The first meeting of the new Executive Committee of the O. H. A. will be held to-night at the King Edward Hotel, commencing at 8 o'clock, sharp. There is a lot of business to transact, the most important of which will be the grouping of the teams in the different series. There will be some changes from last year, and the arrangement of the districts will likely occupy considerable time. Clubs desirous of playing in the O.H.A. this year, who have not declared their intention so far, should notify the secretary, W. A. Hewitt, Star office, Toronto, to-day.

• • • •

Special to The Star.

Midland, Dec. 6. — Captain Edward Gould of Midland seniors is going to Toronto to-morrow, and intends buying some sets of Dunlop horse shoe pads. They keep men from falling on slippery places. Honest, Peter is going to fit them on for him. Then he talks of going to Peterborough some time this winter to look for the source of the Nile.

• • • •

Secretary Graham, of the Peterborough team has communicated with Queen's and Varsity with the view of having those teams playing here around Christmas. Varsity have replied that their team is yet an unknown quantity and no reply has yet been received from Queen's.

BASKET-BALL.

To-night the Arrows play the Belleville College basketball team at 9 o'clock. This promises to be one of the fastest games ever played in the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium and should not be missed by the lovers of the game. At 8 o'clock the Harriers play the O.T.C's.

RUGBY.

The annual meeting of the O.R.F.U. will be held in Toronto to-morrow and it is likely that the local club will be represented. They are advocating the adoption of the complete rules of the Canadian rugby union.

SCIENCE SCORES AGAIN.

A Preparation That Will Destroy the Dandruff Germ Discovered.

Finally the scientific student has discovered a certain remedy for dandruff. When it first became known that dandruff is the result of a germ or parasite that digs into the scalp and saps the vitality of hair at the root, causing falling hair and baldness, biologists set to work to discover some preparation that will kill the germ. After a year's labour in one laboratory, the dandruff germ destroyer was discovered; and it is now embodied in Newbro's Herpicide. It prevents baldness, stops falling hair and speedily eradicates dandruff. "Destroy the cause you remove the effect." Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Ormond & Walsh, special agents.

REWARD GIVEN TO BEN. SIMPSON

Hamilton Board of Education Gives Him $100 Increase in Salary and Promotion in Collegiate Institute

Ben Simpson gets his reward. A despatch from Hamilton to-day states that last night the internal management Committee of the Board of Education met and decided to give the great halfback of the Tiger rugby team a promotion, and an increase in salary of $100, from $1,000 to $1,100, as a science teacher of the Collegiate Institute. It is pretty safe to say that the promotion will be received with favour in the Ambitious City.

SELL TURKEYS NOW AND GET THE TOP PRICE

Some Timely Advice Offered to Turkey Raisers by One who Refers to Experience of Last Year

An exchange says:—Last December the majority of the poultry raisers waited too long to bring in their fowl and leaving far too much for the third week in December. Our market is growing so rapidly for turkeys, geese, chickens and ducks, that it is absolutely necessary to have poultry brought to our market by the 10th of December in order to reach the northern towns in time. They are anxious to get poultry and are willing to pay the price. We expect the quantity required this year will be greater than ever because of the greater population. If the fowl are not brought in to our market by the date mentioned it will probably be too late to ship them to the more distant towns. The city market will possibly have a greater supply then than they need and prices will drop, as they did a year ago.

APPLICATIONS FOR MILK LICENSES CONSIDERED

Police Present Report as to the Sanitary Condition of Milk Dealers' Premises

ELEVEN LICENSES HAVE BEEN GRANTED

A meeting of the Board of Health was held this morning for the purpose of dealing with the applications from residents of the city for milk vendors' licenses under the bylaw, which came into force on Saturday last. As a result of the meeting it was decided to give licenses to eleven persons, while four more will be given when the applicants give satisfactory affidavits that the places from which they secure their milk are in a sanitary condition.

There were present at the meeting Messrs. Wm. Eyres, chairman; R. Neill, A. Parker, Dr. Burnham, and Dr. Bingham, Medical Health Officer.

Inspector's Reports

Reports were received concerning the premises of the applicants. The work of inspection had been done by the police and most of the premises were found in a clean and sanitary condition. In fact, there was only one case in which attention was called to unsanitary conditions. Several of the vendors, however, buy their milk from persons out of the city and do not keep cows themselves. In these cases, the Board of Health will require to know where they obtain their milk in order to ascertain if the source of supply is sanitary.

Licenses Granted

The following, whose premises were declared sanitary and clean by the police were given licenses: Walter J. Hooper, Wm. Eyres, Nicholas Bibby, Robert Cox, Fred Cunningham, J. T. Bothwell, John Brumwell, Richard Holland, Mrs. Hughson, Joseph Foster and John Scott.

Licenses will also be granted to Hugh, Mark Robinson and Ernest Rich, on condition that they show that the premises of the persons from whom they obtain their milk are in a satisfactory state, and have the approval of the inspectors.

In the Townships

Reports were also received from the local Boards of Health of the townships, and licenses will be given to the persons whose premises have been declared satisfactory, on application to the City Clerk. Some of these persons have already taken out licenses, and the others are in a position to do so.

Smith Township

F. J. Bell, Clerk of Smith, reported that W. J. Cullen, the Sanitary Inspector of that township, had inspected the premises of the following persons and had found them satisfactory: Jas. McCrea, Robt. McMullen, Francis Dick, T. J. Hetherington, Sid. Middleton, Geo. Walton, Robt. Edmison, F. Sanderson, H. Milburn, Mr. Polson, E. McEwen, John Stothart, I. Lang, Isaac Hetherington, Geo. Raper, Thos. Chapman, Wm. Brown, B. Middleton, Mr. Carr, Isaac Milburn, Mr. Metcalf, Thos. Stothart, W. Hetherington.

North Monaghan

Geo. W. Bennett, secretary of the local Board of Health of North Monaghan, reported that the following have satisfactorily carried out the provisions of the Public Health Act: Wm. Dummett, Mr. Hunter, James Lillico.

Report From Douro

Jas. J. Allen, secretary of the Board of Health of Douro made a similar report from that township, and licenses have been granted to Edwin Curtis and Thomas Deck.

THE MISSIONARIES LEAVE FOR THE FAR EAST

Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Robertson, with Large Party, Depart from Vancouver, on Trip Across Pacific to Mission Fields

NOTABLE EVENT IN MISSION CIRCLES

Victoria, B.C., Dec. 6.—The large missionary party representing Canadian Methodism started for the scene of their labours by the Empress of China. Those bound for Japan will land at Yokohama. The large proportion of the party are, however, bound for Western China, and will proceed to Shanghai, where, after a few weeks delay, they will start on the longer part of the voyage up the Yangste River to the provice of Sy Chuan, in which the Methodist church is carrying on its evangelical work. The native methods of navigation on the rivers is such that weeks will be required to travel many miles.

There was a large number of friends of the party at the Outer Wharf to bid them "Good-bye." As the Empress came into the dock those of the party who had not come to Victoria, but remained in Vancouver, were welcomed by their comrades with the Victoria university yell, which was returned in kind.

The whole party of missionaries that went out on the Empress was composed as follows:

Rev. C P Holmes and wife, Miss F G Worston, Rev. W E Simley and wife, Rev. C J Jolliffe and wife, Rev. E W Wallace, Rev. N E Bowles, Rev. E W Morgan, Mr. H D Robertson and wife, Miss M Brinston, Miss H Woodworth, Miss C Wellwood, Miss M Steele, Rev. C J Carson and wife, Rev. R B McAmmond and wife and B Gage and wife.

Among them are several musicians, notably Rev. Mr. Sibley and wife.

Realizing the great advantages of music in connection with the church work the party is well provided with musical instruments. Several cabinet organs are included among these and are of the best quality. This is necessary, as it is acknowledged to be useless to take poor instruments.

NEW COUNTY COUNCIL WILL HAVE 16 MEMBERS

Municipality of Otonabee, the Only One to be Represented by Both Reeve and Deputy Reeve

OTHERS HAVE NOT REQUIRED POPULATION

The system of the appointment of the County Council has been changed. This is known to most of the interested parties in the county, but few are fully acquainted with the nature of the change. Next year there will be sixteen members in the council, which will include the warden. The reeves of the various townships and villages will perform the duties of the council next year, and under certain conditions the deputy reeves wil laiso be among the number,

The exact law governing this legislative body is the following:

1. The County Council will be composed of the reeves of the different townships and villages within the county.

2. Where a municipality has more than 1000 names on the voters' lists that are entitled to vote at municipal elections, that municipality will be entitled to a deputy reeve also to represent it in the County Council.

Otonabee is Prominent

In view of this latter condition, the township of Otonabee appears to be distinguished. From all that can be ascertained at present, Otonabee is the only municipality within the county that has the requisite number of voters to entitle it to have a deputy reeve to represent the municipality along with the reeve, consequently there will be sixteen members in the County Council for 1907.

Almost Seventeen

Smith township comes very close to having two representatives. It is only about ten voters short of the requisite number, and it is probable that next year they will have added a few more names to the voters' list.

The three villages Norwood, Lakefield and Havelock, will be represented by their reeves, but as Galway and Cavendish townships, Burleigh and Anstruther townships, and Belmont and Methuen townships, are joined, as far as the council is concerned, only three reeves will represent them.

The County Council will therefore consist of the reeves of the various townships, the reeves of the three villages mentioned above, and the deputy reeve of Otonabee. The Warden will be chosen from the council at their first meeting in the New Year.

VERY USEFUL CHRISTMAS GIFTS ARE FURS

And Clarke's is the Right Place to Buy Them—The Latest in Styles and the Most Moderate in Prices

There is a growing tendency to give useful presents at Christmas, and the present weather reminds us that nothing could be more appreciated than furs—and after all, the greatest source of satisfaction in making gifts is the realization of the fact that the recipient appreciates the gift—and when thinking of furs, it is natural to associate your thoughts with Clarke, the furrier, where it is possible to get the very best in fur garments, at the very lowest price, consistent with quality.

Mr. F. A. Clarke has a splendid, well-selected stock of furs, and this season has has made special provision to cater to the needs of everyone thinking of purchasing furs, either for themselves or for a friend.

There is style in furs as there is in dresses, and it is important that to be up with fashion's decrees, one should consult a furrier who keeps in touch with the latest ideas in the trade, which Mr. Clarke does, and those who buy from him may be assured that what they are getting is absolutely right.

Mr. Clarke is making a special announcement through the columns of the Examiner of suitable Christmas gifts in furs, which he is in a position to supply, and anyone who has thought of buying furs should watch Monday's Examiner, in which details of prices, etc., will be given.

Typhoid Fever And Filtration

Judging by reports from American cities in which expensive filtration plants have been installed with a view of purifying the water supply Peterborough Water Commissioners acted very wisely in not recommending to the ratepayers the expenditure necessary to provide one of these systems for Peterborough. The somewhat surprising information is received from Philadelphia that coincident with the placing in operation of a large filtration system the number of cases of typhoid fever in the city increased, instead of diminished, as one would naturally expect to be the case. The Buffalo Courier, referring to this fact says:—

"During November there was a large increase in the number of cases of typhoid fever in West Philadelphia, and the Philadelphia papers are pointing out the disturding fact that the increases has been coincident with the enlarged distribution of filtered water. It appears that in those parts of the city where filtered water is distributed consumers have ceased to boil the water as heretofore, on the assumption that the city's enormously expensive filtration scheme had sufficiently purified it to make it safe for drinking purposes. The Inquirer says:— "When the filtered water area was last April so extended as to comprise a population twice as large as before, typhoid immediately spread. In the next six months seven times as many cases had occurred among the population of 80,000 persons as had occurred among 40,000 persons during the whole of the previous year." There may be a satisfactory explanation of these surprising facts. It should be said, however, that the experience of Washington with its filtration plant has been similar to that of Philadelphia."

SHE BEGS GOVERNOR TO SAVE BROTHER

Sister of Chester Gillette Sends Message to Governor of State—Declares Her Brother is Not Guilty

Chicago, Dec. 5.—Miss Hazel Gillette, sister of Chester E. Gillette, who now faces death in the electric chair at Herkimer, N.Y., is in a state of hysterical collapse at her home in Zion City.

Carefully watched by her friends at the home of Mrs. Frank Brooks, 742 Carmel Boulevard, Zion, Miss Gillette to-day between short prayers for the deliverance of her brother, penned a letter to the Governor of New York.

In that letter she poured out her heart and prayed the Governor to pardon Gillette.

"He did not do it. He is not guilty. He is too good a boy. Do not send him to the electric chair. If you must punish him, send him to jail. Please let him live."

Another letter followed the first to the boy in a cell at Herkimer, awaiting death for a crime which he has steadfastly declared he did not commit.

In a telegram to her convicted brother she said:—

"Trust in God. He is merciful. I am praying for you."

The Board of Education of Greater New York has decided not to introduce simplified spelling into the schools under its control.

HAD APPENDICITIS; WAS ARRESTED AND DIED

A Washington, D.C., Negro Placed in Cell and Denied Relief—Died Next Morning After An Operation

LAY ALL NIGHT IN JAIL SUFFERING

Washington, Dec. 6.—Arrested for spitting on the sidewalk, William C. Colson, a negro, was kept for twenty hours in a police cell, and died of appendicitis fifteen minutes after being arraigned in court.

The man was in agony and could hardly stand when put in the prison pen at the police court with other prisoners. His groans attracted the attention of Judge Kimball, who asked what was the matter. He hobbled to the side of the pen and begged to be allowed to see a doctor. Judge Kimball saw that the man was desperately ill, and directed that he be sent to the Emergency Hospital, across the street.

There it was found that he had appendicitis. An immediate operation was determined on. Just as Colson was lifted to the operating table he died.

Colson told the doctors who examined him that he was on his way home when he was taken ill on the street, and that Policeman J. D. McQuade arrested him despite his protests that he was very ill. He was put in a cell, and although he repeatedly asked for medical attendance, nothing was done for him.

MR. JOLLIFFE PLEASES TORONTO MUSICAL CRITICS

Saturday Night's Musical Editor Praises His Work, And Says He Should Take Prominent Place Among Toronto Vocalists

HAS A FINE RESONANT BARITONE VOICE

In his recital in Toronto this week, Mr. R. Norman Jolliffe demonstrated to the satisfaction of the musical critics of that city that he possesses more than ordinary ability as a singer. The Toronto Saturday Night's musical editor, whose opinions are considered worth while, referring to his recital, says:

One of the most successful local recitals of the season so far was that given in St. George's Hall on Tuesday evening by Mr. R. Norman Jolliffe, a specially talented pupil of Mr. August Wilhelmj. There was a representative gathering of society people, who evinced great interest in the concert, and extended inspiring encouragement to the beneficiare. Mr. Jolliffe should take a prominent position among our local vocalists. He has a fine, resonant baritone voice, smooth, even and well-trained, and sings with considerable fervour of expression. His selections, which included three numbers by Schumann, three by Schubert and single numbers by Strauss, Mozart, Rossini and Wagner, gave him opportunity to reveal uncommon versatility. The Schumann "Evensong" was well phrased, and inferred a cultivated appreciation of tone colour. In the Schubert "Erl-King," Mr. Jolliffe showed fine dramatic instinct, and gave a vivid rendering that made the number his most seizing success of the evening. Schubert's "The Double" and "The Wayside Inn," both sombre pieces, were interpreted with admirable suggestiveness, the singer at the same time avoiding the suspicion of monotony. His other numbers were the Schumann "Lovely Cradle of My Sorrows" and "Night of Spring," Wagner's "Star of Eve," Strauss' "Ich Trage," Mozart's "Dal Vino" and an excerpt from Rossini's "Barber of Seville." The soprano was Miss Millar, who sang very prettily Gounod's "Ave Maria," and joined Mr. Jolliffe in a duet from "I Pagliacci," as well as in a trio by Kreutzer, Mr. Wilhelmj assisting.

THE "GODS" WITNESS GUN PLAY AFTER THE SHOW

Teamster was Affected by the Sensational Melodrama

Examiner Special.

Detroit, Dec. 7.—The stirring scenes depicted in the melodrama, "Behind the Mask", which closed its week's engagement at the Lyceum Saturday night, evidently affected William Holbrook, a teamster, who enjoyed a seat in the "gods", for at the door he got into an altercation with the Negro doorman and went to his hip pocket for a revolver, it is alleged.

Patrolman Dan Coughlin was across the street and caught Holbrook's hand as it was making the return trip and wrenched a 32-calibre revolver from it.

A touching scene took place at the Central Station a few moments after. "Just let it drop, officer," he airily remarked to Lieut. Lewis. "I'll go home and never do it again."

"I'm afraid it's gone too far for that," suggested the lieutenant.

"Oh, pshaw, can't you overlook a little thing like that?" he inquired. "It was broke, anyway."

"Well, the gentleman you flashed it on didn't know that, so I guess you'd better go down to Woodbridge station," was the reply.

"That is a brilliant suggestion," said Chris, eagerly. "And if we only had the frame I could set Lord Littimer's doubts to rest entirely. I happen to know that the real thief came and went by the cliff under the terrace. If the frame was thrown into the gorse, there it——"

"Might stay for ages," Littimer exclaimed. "By Jove, I'm just in the mood to carry this business a stage or two farther before I go to bed. Bell, there are two or three cycle lamps in the gun-room. You used to be a pretty fearless climber. What do you say to a hunt for an hour or two whilst the house is quiet?"

Bell assented eagerly. Chris waited with what patience she could command till daylight began to show faintly and redly in the east. Then she heard the sound of voices outside, and Littimer and Bell staggered in carrying the frame between them.

"Got it," Littimer exclaimed, with the triumphant exultation of a schoolboy who has successfully looted a rare bird's-nest. "We found it half-way down the cliff, hidden behind a patch of samphire. And it doesn't seem to be any the worse for the adventure. Now, Miss Wiseacre, seeing that we have the frame, perhaps you will fulfil your promise of convincing me, once and for all, that yonder Rembrandt cannot possibly belong to me."

"I am going to do so," Chris said, quietly. "You told me you had to cut the margin of your print by an inch or so round to fit that quaint old frame. So far as I can see, the print before you is quite intact. Now, if it is too large for the frame——"

Littimer nodded eagerly. Bell fitted the dingy paper to the back of the frame and smiled. There was an inch or more to spare all round. Nobody spoke for a moment.

"You could make it smaller, but you couldn't make it bigger," Littimer said. "Bell, when I have sufficiently recovered I'll make a humble and abject apology to you. And now, wise woman from the West, what is the next act in the play?"

CHAPTER XXXIV.

Chris smiled with the air of one who is perfectly satisfied with her work.

"For the present I fancy we have done enough," she said. "I want to go to bed now, and I want you both to do the same. Also I shall be glad if you will come down in the morning as if nothing had happened. Tell Reginald Henson casually that you have been convinced that you have done Dr. Bell a grave injustice, and give no kind of particulars. And please treat Mr. Henson in the same fashion as before. There is only one other thing."

"Name it, and it is yours," Littimer cried.

"Well, cut the margin off that print, or at any rate turn the margin down, fit it into the frame, and hang it up as if nothing had happened."

Littimer looked at Chris with a puzzled expression for a moment, and then his features relaxed into a satyr-like grin.

"Capital," he said. "I quite understand what you mean. And I must be there to see it, eh?—yes, I must be there to see. I would not miss it for strawberry leaves.

The thing was done and the picture restored to its place. Bell drew Chris aside for a moment.

"Do you rise early in the morning?" he asked, meaningly.

"Always," Chris replied, demurely. "I find the terrace charming before breakfast. Good-night."

Bell was down betimes despite the fact that it had been daylight before he was in bed. Along the terrace, looking over the cliffs, Chris was already walking, a great cluster of red and yellow roses in her hand. She looked as fresh and bright as if she and excitement were strangers. All the same she seemed to avoid Bell's eyes.

"Isn't it lovely here?" she exclaimed. "And these roses with the dew still upon them. Well, Dr. Bell, have you made fresh discoveries?"

"I have discovered that Henson is going to take his breakfast in bed," Bell said gravely. "Also that he requires a valet at half-past ten. At that time I hope to be in the corridor with Lord Littimer and yourself. Also I have made a further discovery."

"And what is that, Dr. Bell?"

"That you and I have met before—once before when I attended you in a kind of official capacity, and when I behaved in a distinctly discreditable professional manner. Dr. Walker was present. Dr. Walker seems to have been singularly short-sighted."

The roses fell from Chris's hands on to the path. Her face had grown very pale indeed; there was a frightened, appealing look in her eyes.

"Dr. Bell," she gasped, "do you suppose that anybody else knows—Henson, for instance? And I imagined that I had utterly deceived him!"

Bell smiled meaningly.

"I don't think you need have the slightest anxiety on that score," he said. "You see, Henson is comfortably assured that you are dead and buried. Whereas I know all about it. Fortunately for me, I became mixed up in this strange business on behalf of my friend, David Steel; indeed, but for Steel, I should probably have given you away to our friend Walker."

"But surely you guessed that——"

"Not for the moment. You see, it was only a few minutes before that a flood of interesting light had been let in upon Henson's character by your sister to me, and my first idea was that Henson was poisoning you for some purpose of his own. Subsequently Steel told me all about that side of the story on our way back to Brighton."

"How did you penetrate my disguise?"

"My dear young lady, I have not penetrated your disguise. Your disguise is perfect—so quaint and daringly original—and would deceive even Henson's eyes. I guessed who you were directly I found that you were taking a philanthropic interest in our friend. It came to me by a kind of intuition, the knack that stood me in such good stead in my professional days. When you said that you had been warned of Henson's coming by telegram I was certain."

"Then perhaps you guessed that Enid sent me the telegram?"

"That was obvious. Also it was obvious that Henson brought Frank Littimer along."

"Oh, he did. It was Frank's mission to steal the picture. I confronted him with a revolver and locked him in one of the bedrooms. It took all my courage and good resolutions to prevent me from betraying myself to the poor fellow."

"Rather cruel of you, wasn't it?"

"Well, yes. But I wanted to make the exposure as complete as possible. When the time comes to strip Reginald Henson of his pretentions and flog him from the family, the more evidence we can pile up the better. But Frank is not bad; he is merely weak and utterly in the power of that man. If we can only break the bonds, Frank will be a powerful factor on our side."

"I daresay. But how was the Rembrandt stolen? Littimer's, I mean."

"It was worked through an accomplice," Chris explained. "It had to be done before you arrived. And there was no better time than night for the operation. I guessed that when Henson drew the fact from me that I liked the terrace after dinner. By a bit of good luck I found the accomplice and himself together in the day; in fact, I forced Reginald's hand so that he had to introduce me to the man."

"In which case you would know him again?"

"Of course. Presently I am going to show you a little more of the comedy. Well, I was on the terrace pretty late when I heard dear Reginald down the cliff calling for assistance. He pretended that he had slipped down the cliff and could not get up again. By the aid of a rope that fortunately happened to be close at hand I saved our dear friend's life. I have learnt from one of the gardeners just now that Reginald placed the rope there himself—a most effective touch, you must admit."

"Very," Bell said, drily. "But I quite fail to see why——"

"I am coming to that. Don't you see that if anything happened Reginald could prove that he was not near the house at the time? But just before that I saw his accomplice come up the cliff; indeed, he passed quite close to me on his way to the house. Reginald quite overlooked this fact in his heed for his own safety. When I had effected my gallant rescue I heard an owl hoot. Now, there are no owls about here."

"I guessed what that meant—it was a signal of success. Then I went back to the corridor and the Rembrandt was gone. The stays had been cut away. At first I was dreadfully upset, but the more I thought of it the more sure I was that it was all for the best."

"But you might have raised an alarm and caught the thief, who——"

"Who would have been promptly disclaimed by Reginald. Let me tell you, sir, that I have the theif and the lost Rembrandt in the hollow of my hands. Before the day is out I shall make good my boast. And there's the breakfast bell."

It looked quite natural some time later for the three conspirators to be lounging about the gallery when Henson emerged from his bedroom. He appeared bright and smiling, and most of the bandages had been removed from his throat. All the same he was not pleased to see Bell there; he gazed uneasily at the doctor and from him to Littimer

"You know Bell," the latter said, carelessly. "Fact is, there's been a great mistake."

Bell offered him his hand heartily. It cost him a huge effort, but the slimy scoundrel had to be fought with his own weapons. Henson shook his head with the air of a man extending a large and generous meed of forgiveness. He sought in vain to read Bell's eyes, but there was a steady, almost boyish, smile in them.

"I indeed rejoice," he said, unctuously. "I indeed rejoice—rejoice—rejoice!"

He repeated the last word helplessly; he seemed to have lost all his backbone, and lapsed into a flabby, jellified mass of quivering white humanity. His vacant, fishy eyes were fixed upon the Rembrandt in a kind of dull, sleepy terror.

"I'm not well," he gasped. "Not so strong as I imagined. I'll—I'll go and lie down again. Later on I shall want a dogcart to drive me to Moreton Wells. I——"

He passed again, glanced at the picture, and passed heavily to his room. Littimer smiled.

"Splendid," he said. "It was worth thousands just to see his face."

"All the same," Chris said, quietly; "all the same, that man is not to leave for Mereton Wells till I've had a clear hour's start of him. Dr. Bell will you accompany me?"

CHAPTER XXXV.

Lord Littimer polished his rarely used eye-glass carefully and favored Chris with a long, admiring stare. At the same time he was wondering why the girl should have taken such a vivid interest in Reginald Henson and his doings. For some years past it had been Littimer's whim to hold up Henson before everybody as his successor, so far as the castle went. He liked to see Henson's modest smirk and beautiful self-abasement, for in sooth his lordship had a pretty contempt for the man who hoped to succeed him. But the will made some time ago by Littimer would have come as a painful shock to the philanthropist.

"It is a very pretty tangle as it stands," he said. "Miss Lee, let me compliment you upon your astuteness in this matter. Only don't tell me you schemed your way here, and that you are a lady detective. I read a good many novels, and I don't like them."

"You may be easy on that score," Chris laughed. "I am not a lady detective. All the same, I have detected Mr. Reginald Henson."

"You think he is at the bottom of the mystery of the other Rembrandt."

"I am certain of it; unless you like to believe in the truth of his charming scheme to give you a lesson, as he called it. As a matter of fact, Mr. Henson discovered the existence of the other print; he discovered that Dr. Bell possessed it—the rest I leave to your own astuteness. You saw his face just now?"

"Oh, yes. It was a fine study in emotions. If you could find the other picture——"

"I hope to restore it to you before the day has passed."

Littimer applauded, gently. He was charmed, he said, with the whole comedy. The first two acts had been a brilliant success. If the third was only as good he would regard Miss Lee as his benefactor for ever. It was not often that anybody intellectually amused him; in fact, he must add Miss Lee to his collection.

"Then you must play a part yourself," Chris said, gaily. "I am going into Moreton Wells, and Dr. Bell accompanies me. Mr. Henson is not to know that we have gone, and he is not to leave the house for a good hour or so after our departure. What I want is a fair start and the privilege of bringing a guest home to dinner."

"Vague, mysterious, and alluring," Littimer said. "Bring the guest by all means. I will pledge my diplomacy that you have a long start. Really, I don't know when I have enjoyed myself so much. You shall have the big waggonette for your journey."

"And join it beyond the lodge-gates," Chris said, thoughtfully. "Dr. Bell, you shall stroll through the park casually; I will follow as casually later on."

A little later Henson emerged from his room dressed evidently for a journey. He looked flabby and worried; there was an expression very like fear in his eyes. The corridor was deserted as he passed the place where the Rembrandt hung. He paused before the picture in a hesitating, fascinated way. His feet seemed to pull up before it involuntarily.

"What does it mean?" he muttered. "What in the name of fate has happened? It is impossible that Merritt could have played me a trick like that; he would never have dared. Besides, he has too much to gain by following my instructions. I fancy——"

Henson slipped up to the picture as a sudden idea came to him. If the picture had not been removed at all the stays would still be intact. And if they were intact Merritt was likely to have a bad quarter of an hour later on. It would be proof that——

But the stays were not intact. The heads had been shaved off with some cutting instrument; the half of the stays gleamed like silver in the morning light. And yet the Rembrandt was there. The more Henson dwelt upon it the more he was puzzled. He began to wonder whether some deep trap was being laid for him.

But, no, he had seen no signs of it. In some way or another Bell had managed to ingratiate himself with Littimer again, but not necessarily for long. Henson told himself, with a vicious grin. Nor was Littimer the kind of man who ever troubled himself to restrain his feelings. If he had got to the bottom of the whole business he would have had Henson kicked out of the house without delay.

But Littimer suspected nothing. His greeting just now showed that Bell suspected nothing, because he had shaken hands in the heartiest manner possible. And as for Miss Lee, she was no more than a smart Yankee girl, and absolutely an outsider.

Still, it was dreadfully puzzling. And it was not nice to be puzzled at a time when the arch-conspirator ought to know every move of the game. Therefore it became necessary to go into Moreton Wells and see Merritt without delay. As Henson crossed the hall the cheerful voice of Littimer hailed him.

"Reginald," he cried, "I want your assistance and advice."

With a muttered curse Henson entered the library. Littimer was seated at a table, with a cigarette in his mouth, his brows drawn over a mass of papers.

"Sit down and have a cigar," he said. "The fact is I am setting my affairs in order—I am going to make a fresh will. If you hadn't come down last night I should probably have sent for you. Now take my bank-book and check those figures."

"Shall we be long?" Henson asked, anxiously.

Littimer tartly hoped that Henson could spare him an hour. It was not usual, he said, for a testator to be refused assistance from the chief benefactor under his will. Henson apologized, with a sickly smile. He had important business of a philanthropic kind in Moreton Wells, but he had no doubt that it could wait for an hour. And then for the best part of the morning he sat fuming politely, whilst Littimer chattered in the most amiable fashion. Henson had rarely seen him in a better mood. It was quite obvious that he suspected nothing. Meanwhile Chris and Bell were bowling along towards Moreton Wells. They sat well back in the roomy waggonette, so that the servants could not hear them. Chris regarded Bell with a brilliant smile on her face.

"Confess," she said, "confess that you are consumed with curiosity."

"It would be just as well to acknowledge it at once," Bell admitted. "In the happy old days your sister Enid always said that you were the clever and audacious one of the family. She said you would do or dare anything."

"I used to imagine so," Chris said, more quietly. "But the life of the last few years tried one's nerves terribly. Still, the change has done me a deal of good—the change and the knowledge that Reginald Henson regards me as dead. But you want to know how I am going to get the Rembrandt?"

"That is what is consuming me at present," Bell said.

"Well, we are going to see the man who has it," Chris explained, coolly. "I have his address in Moreton Wells at the present moment, and for the rest he is called the Rev. James Merritt. Between ourselves he is no more a reverend than you are."

"And if the gentleman is shy or refuses to see us?"

"Then he will be arrested on a charge of theft."

"My dear young lady, before you can get a warrant for that kind of thing you have to prove the theft, you have to swear an information to the effect that you believe the property is in the possession of the thief, and that is not easy."

"There is nothing easier. I am prepared to swear that cheerfully."

"That you actually know that the property is in the possession of the chief?"

"Certainly I do. I saw him put it in his pocket."

Bell looked at the speaker with blank surprise. If such was the fact, then Chris's present statement was exactly opposed to all that she had said before. She sat opposite to Bell, with a little gleam of mischief in her lovely eyes.

"You saw that man steal the Rembrandt?" Bell gasped.

"Certainly not. But I did see him steal my big diamond star and put it in his pocket. And I can swear an information on that."

"I see that you have something interesting to tell me," Bell said.

"Oh, indeed, I have. We will hark back now to the night before last, when Reginald Henson made his personal attempt to obtain the Rembrandt and then played the trick upon you that was so very near to being a brilliant success."

"It would have been but for you," Bell murmured.

"Well, really, I am inclined to think so. And perhaps Lord Littimer would have given you in custody on a second charge of theft. If he had done so it would have gone hard with you to prove your innocence. But I am wandering from the point. Henson failed. But he was going to try again. I watched him carefully yesterday and managed to see his letters and telegrams. Then I found that he had telegraphed to James Merritt, whose address in Moreton Wells I carefully noted down. It did not require much intellect to grasp the fact that this Merritt was to be the accomplice in the new effort to steal the picture. Mr. Merritt came over and saw his chief, with whom he had a long conversation in the grounds. I also forced myself on Mr. Merritt's notice.

"He was introduced to me as a brand plucked from the burning, a converted thief who had taken orders of some kind. He is a sorry-looking scoundrel, and I took particular note of him, especially the horrible smashed thumb."

"The what!" Bell exclaimed. "A thumb like a snake's head with a little pink nail on it?"

"The same man. So you happen to have met him?"

"We met on our way here," Bell said drily. "The rascal sent the dogcart away from the station so that I should have to walk home, and he attacked me in the road. But I half-expected something of the kind, and I was ready for him. And he was the man with the thumb. I should have told you all this before, but I had forgotten it in watching your fascinating diplomacy. When the attack was defeated the rascal bolted in the direction of the cliffs. Of course, he was off to tell Henson of the failure of the scheme and to go on with the plot for getting the other picture. If he had stolen my Rembrandt then the other would have remained. I couldn't have turned up with a cock-and-bull story of having started with the picture and being robbed of it by a total stranger in the road . . . . But I am interrupting you."

"Well, I marked that thumb carefully. I have already told you that the thief passed me on his way to the house when he came up the cliff. I was leaning over the terrace when I saw him emerge into a band of light caused by the big arc in the castle tower. I forgot that I was in deep shadow and that he could not possibly see me. I jerked my head back suddenly, and my diamond star fell out and dropped almost at the feet of the intruder. Then he saw it, chuckled over it—placed it in his pocket. I was going to call out, but I didn't. I had a sudden idea, Dr. Bell—I had an idea that almost amounted to an inspiration."

Chris paused for a moment and her eyes sparkled. Bell was watching her with the deepest interest and admiration.

"I let the man keep it," Chris went on, more slowly, "with an eye to the future. The man had stolen the thing and I was in a position to prove it. He would be pretty sure to pawn the star—he probably has done so by this time, and therefore we have him in our power. We have only to discover

After an inspection of the season's millinery one wonders where there is a woman brave enough to risk even her average good looks under the huge and heavy hats that are thought so smart.

The new combination of yellow and red velvet used as a piping appears on the collars of handsome suits. These shades are particularly good style on a gray and black checked costume.

The real touch of smartness on tweed suits is a vivid green or yellow collar edged with soutache. Broadcloth allows of more elaborate trimming than the rougher materials, and one's fancy may have full play on such a gown.

Street skirts are laid in every known plait to make a tremendous spring from the hips. Box or single, inverted and outside, stitched and loose, all sometimes on the same skirt, is the fashion.

The smart little hat illustrated is one of the fetching shapes of the season. It is carried out in black silk beaver and trimmed with a scarf of grass green chiffon that falls low over the hair. Shaded green and black wings are perched jauntily at one side.

SHADOW APPLIQUE.

A Fascinating New Embroidery Very Like Shadow Work.

Following close in the wake of the, to most people, fascinating shadow embroidery comes a novelty which has been christened shadow applique. This work differs from the original shadow work in the fact that the "shadow" part of the design is accomplished not by stitchery, but by the use of another material, somewhat heavier, which is applied to the wrong side of the work and held in place by stitches on the right side.

Sheer lawn or linen is used for the background, while the material which is applied should be of a coarser and heavier quality. Both materials must be shrunk before using. If this precaution is not observed the result might be disastrous when the articles become soiled and have to be laundered, inasmuch as the two materials would probably not shrink alike, and the work would be thus drawn out of shape.

Having the design stamped on the right side of the material, begin the work by basting the material to be applied smoothly on the wrong side, being careful to have the threads of the two materials run parallel. This is most important to insure successful and perfectly finished work. After the applique pieces have been basted smoothly to the material run each figure along the outline (see one petal in detail illustration), taking the stitches through both the foundation and applied piece. The embroidery should be done with one of the mercerized embroidery cottons, using a size suitable to the background material.—Delineator.

Oyster Dishes.

Oyster Griddle Cakes.—To one cupful of milk seasoned with salt and pepper add two tablespoonfuls of flour and six common crackers rolled to a powder. Add one-half pint of oysters and two eggs beaten until very light. Beat all together and fry slowly on a hot buttered griddle. Serve hot with melted butter.

Oyster Salad.—Cook very slowly one onion chopped fine in two teaspoonfuls of good butter. Set on the back of the stove, add one tablespoonful of sugar, one-third of a nutmeg grated and simmer slowly until the onion is well done. Simmer one pint of oysters in their liquor. When plump drain and chop fine. Rub one teaspoonful of dry mustard and one tablespoonful of flour together, add cream enough to make a thick paste and when smooth add the well beaten yolk of one egg and one-half a cupful more of cream. Add to the onion and butter and cook slowly five minutes in a double boiler, beating in slowly one-half a cupful of good catchup and two tablespoonfuls of good vinegar. Chill both oysters and dressing. Mix before serving, seasoning the oysters with salt before mixing. Serve garnished with thin slices of lemon.

SNAPSHOTS OF STYLE.

Furs For Schoolgirls—Yellow Evening Gowns Latest Fancy.

The ideal furs for schoolgirls are ermine, beaver, black or gray astrakhan, squirrel and otter. Long haired furs are never suitable and also have an untidy appearance when the hair is worn hanging down the back. The fur should be introduced in the form of trimming on a coat rather than as a separate accessory, and when worn with muff and cap to match it has a particularly neat appearance.

Yellow evening gowns are very smart this winter, but one must be careful how she wears this color, as a shade too light or dark has been known to ruin an otherwise charming toilet. There is an enormous range of tones from which to select, grading from pale primrose to deep orange.

Most of the expensive hats depend almost solely upon their attractive shape and handsome material for their chic effect.

White net waists with cluny lace yokes, collars and cuffs are mighty useful and serviceable affairs to own. A waist of this kind may be worn separately or will do duty for a bretelle frock of the "jumper" variety.

One of the prettiest little pattern frocks shown to dressmakers lately has a little fichu with shoulder bretelles attached, which is made to cross over and fasten under a buckle at the back, with ends sticking down below the waist line. This is made with two straight pieces, which are laid in plaits surplice fashion, the bretelles being cut all in one piece and a narrower extension being put on the surplice ends in front, so they girdle the waist like a belt. Buckles may be added to cover these points and to match the buckle in the back.

Very French are the model stocks sent over from Paris. In the shops these neck pieces are very expensive, as the work is all done by hand, but to the woman handy with her needle they are easily made. The illustration will aid in their manufacture.

MILLINERY MODES.

Charming Color Combinations Seen In Hats—Red a Smart Shade.

A great deal of blue in dull, electric and Wedgwood tones is seen in fashionable millinery, giving an entirely new and rich effect to combinations of color which must make their own appeal to the artistic taste.

It is the mode to trim picture hats with whole birds with wonderful tail feathers that are all curves, but no curls. Many of these adornments are made at the bird factories and for this reason should not prove obnoxious to bird lovers.

The reds in fuchsia, jacqueminot, cardinal and motor have a vogue all their own, and red hats are used with good effect by women of taste to top their frocks of brown and bronze cloth. Some striking hats in brown are also trimmed with jacqueminot and American Beauty roses, while plumage in all shades of red is considered the height of fashion.

Browns in the russet and tobacco tones are holding their own in the season's hats. Rivaling the browns, olive and moss green appear in many of the most admired French models. Very charming Paris hats are in taupe, or moleskin color, smoke and the metallic grays, and rich raspberry red, plum, petunia and iris and strong dark blues are all seen in the imported models, while black hats are growing in demand. Then there are the green and gold shadings, the old rose nuances and the green and brown conjurings and indeed such subtle and unexpected inspirations as quite bewilder the seeker after millinery.

The hat illustrated is of fine French felt in the fashionable smoke tone. The feathers shade from dark gray to white at the ends and are held in place by a single red rose.

FRIBBLES OF FASHION.

Sailor Hats For Simple Wear—Two Classes of Street Frocks.

There are any number of round hats this season and many of the plain sailor shapes that by being tilted a little to one side are exceedingly pretty, but the sailor is now only made use of for the simplest sort of wear.

As last year, a bit of contrasting color is often found on the revers or on the waistcoats of even quite severe tailor mades. Plum color, a peculiar deep blue and certain shades of red are used in this fashion on black, blue, gray and even pale shaded frocks.

All over braided jackets are to be much worn with perfectly plain cloth skirts.

The mushroom shapes of the summer have survived in a lot of fetching little turbans, with their brims turned down instead of up. Tulle and artificial plumage that can give no offense to the most sensitive member of the Audubon society are the trimmings most often used on these desirable hats.

The frock sketched is of a simple little evening toilet for a young girl. The material is dotted pink muile. Insertion edged with narrow black velvet, put on in a fanciful design, trims skirt and shirred bodice.

THE VALUE OF COOL CURING ROOMS SHOWN

Central Smith Factory Saves $339.00 by Having Them Installed There This Season

COW TESTING ASSOCIATION FORMED

The Central Smith Dairy Company held its annual meeting Thursday afternoon in the Temperance Hall, on the fourth line of Smith, when the business of the company for the past year was satisfactorily concluded. Central Smith is distinguished by being the first and only factory in the county which has established cool curing rooms, and the results as shown below are certainly very gratifying to the patrons of the factory who are very much interested in their presence.

The Central Smith factory has also formed a Cow Testing Association, by reason of the able addresses delivered by Mr. Somerville. This makes the fourth association formed in the Peterborough district, with the probability that others will be formed in the near future.

Central Smith Creamery

Besides the manufacture of cheese the factory has also a creamery in connection with it, which has been a most profitable investment this season, the amount distributed for butter sales being $3,572.11. The following are the secretary's figures with reference to the creamery:

No. lbs. milk received, 414,422.
No. lbs. butter made, 18,093.
Average price butter per lb., 23c.
No. lbs. milk to lb. Butter, 22.9.
Value to patrons, $3,572.11.
Cost of manufacturing, $568.22.
Received from buttermilk sales, $33.12.
Gross value, $4,193.45.

Report of Cheese Factory

No. lbs. milk received, 1,518,125.
No. lbs. cheese made, 139,671.
Average price per lb. cheese, 12.11 cents.
No. lbs. milk to lb. cheese, 11.03.
Value to patrons, $15,136.96.
Cost of manufacturing, $1,484.01.
Value of whey, $321. 64.
Gross value, $17,242.61.
Aggregate business, $21,436.06.

The New Officers

The officers of the factory for the coming year were elected as follows:
President — J. A. McGregor.
Secretary—George A. Gillespie.
Maker—A. H. Campbell.

Cow Testing Association

The officers of the Cow Testing Association, which is the fourth formed in the county, are as follows:
President—J. A. McGregor.
Vice-President—F. Mahood.
Secretary—C. E. Moore.
Committee of Management — Jas. A. Young, S. Blewett, R. Scott.

Saving From Cool Curing

The Central Smith factory has installed cool curing rooms, which have been used during the past year. The results obtained have been most satisfactory to the patrons, and should be a good object lesson to other factories.

The amount of shrinkage, shown to be saved by this new process was 2800 lbs., which at the average price per lb. of 12.11 cents amounts to $339.00, which was saved by the factory this year. No stronger argument than this should be necessary to convince cheese factories that the erection of cool curing rooms is a paying investment, and from present indications many of the factories of the Peterborough district will follow the lead of Central Smith.

A brilliant yet mellow and sympathetic tone of wonderful carrying power is procured through the use of this bridge, which is cast in the plate in one solid piece. Results that have been despaired of for years by piano-makers are attained at last through this exclusive New Scale Williams patent.

It Didn't Happen

The enviable position attained by the New Scale Williams in the esteem of particular musical people is not the result of chance. The best brains, highest scientific knowledge and experience and skill of an exception y high order have been employed for years in experimenting, testing and discarding until a piano could be produced that would be really great and compare to advantage with other great pianos either in Europe or America.

SOME REFLECTIONS ON FARMERS' INSTITUTE

Agriculture and Dairying Are Becoming Scientific Problems to the Farmers.

ATTENDANCE SHOULD HAVE BEEN BETTER

The winter meetings of the West Peterborough Farmers' Institute are now past and a few reflections upon the work done by this body may not be amiss. The Lakefield meetings enjoyed the largest attendance, but the enthusiasm displayed was about the same at the three convocation halls. However, that held in the village to the north was the most successul.

The first question that arises to the mind of the average citizen, is, why more interest is not shown in the Institute's work by the farmers, and why there are not larger attendances. The Institute is purely a farmers' society; its main purpose is to assist them in developing their farms and stock, instructing them in the improved methods of agriculture, and dairying, and improving and beautifying their homes. The Government has sanctioned this work and is assisting the societies to go even further, and helps them in every way. Hence, one would suppose that the farmers would appreciate what is being done for them. True, it is, that they are enjoying great prosperity, and it may seem that they are getting from the land all that is possible. But they should strive for moe. Their farms should be modern in every respect, and they should endeavour to keep abreast with the times.

Now, agriculture and dairying, presents a greater latitude for improvements and inventions than almost any other study; because it is but recently that the science of agriculture has been commenced and, therefore, there is a great scope for agricultural genius to work.

The Government or, rather, the Department of Agriculture, is notified of something new that has been discovered at one of the colleges and schools it supports, and if, on investigation, it proves to be a boon for the farmers, steps are taken to acquaint them of it. The Institute helps in this work, by the addresses given by men appointed by the department. They are gentlemen who have proved themselves to be modern farmers; they do not follow in the same old rut of their grandfathers; they are men who are always seeking to better their farms and stock, and to apply science and advanced methods where custom and main ignorance were formerly followed.

If all the farmers on a community were to attend the Institute meetings think of the grand results. First successful men would give their experience with experiments tried by them, and that one man's discovery is made known to the whole community; second, there would be a greater interest shown in raising stock, etc., for there would be a friendly rivalry existing among the farmers; third, all would hear the testimony of the best stock raisers. They would hear also the result of the department's work, and in many other ways could the farmers gain knowledge of some kinds.

What class of farmers attend the meetings? This is easily answered —they belong to the up-to-date class. They are successful farmers. They have made their farm pay. They are liberal minded men who are not so ignorant as to believe that science has no relation to the farm. For there really are many farmers who say: "Oh, these agricultural colleges are no good; their speakers do not know what they are talking about." These are the men who are conspicuous by their absence at the meetings. They are easily distinguished. The liberal farmer reads the newspapers; he knows what the world is doing. His farm equipment is modern in every particular. What he learns he puts into practice. These statements are not exaggerated, although many good farmers are not present because it is impossible for them to do so, but at this time of the year there is little excuse for a man being absent.

Again, matters of vital interest to a whole community are discussed by the members of the Institute. The purchaser of blood stallions and bulls for breeding purposes in the community, the repair of roads, the ownership of threshing machines, these and very many other topics are considered and often action is taken.

The representative from the West Peterborough Institute to the Eastern Dairymen's Association has been urged upon by the members present on Tuesday to support the appointment of a cheese instructor and inspector in the community. He will be one man invested with the dual power: 1, to instruct makers, etc., this is an educational idea; 2, a legal power, to enforce strict sanitation in the factory and on the farm. If there is a farmer sending milk from a diseased cow to the factory the inspector compels him to cease. Again, he instructs the farmer in milk cooling methods. He investigates the matter of cleaning utensils and vessels used in holding the milk. He also looks after the sanitary conditions about the factory. The local representative is also instructed to support the motion that all cheesemakers have legal qualification for their position.

This innovation seems to be a step in advance. The patrons of the factory will thus be protected, as only the best men will be given certificates. Good makers, that is men who have proved themselves to be first class practical makers need not fear losing their positions as they will be protected. It is the inexperienced man who is being aimed at, and if such a bill should come to pass he will certainly receive a severe wound. Of course the meeting of the association is yet distant, but Mr. G. A. Gillespie, the local representative, will be prepared to support the enactments, if they are brought up. The farmers who are interested in the dairy business should give these matters a little attention and careful consideration. If more had been at the meetings a good idea of the general opinion of the farmers about these matters could have been obtained.

From the work done by the Institute it behooves every farmer to become a member. The fee is merely a nominal one, 25 cents a year, and the reports of the department together with other literature, are sent gratis to each member. With a large membership the society would soon be in a flourishing condition, and far better work could be done.

The present officers are doing what they can to make a success of the Institute, and they have made splendid progress, but they need more help and the co-operation of all the farmers of the community.

Tortures of Itching Piles

"I had tried very many so called cures for piles and can truthfully say that there is no remedy on the face of the earth like Dr. Chase's Ointment, for it has entirely cured me. I would not be without it for any amount of money, and can heartily recommend it to all sufferers. — Mr John Harvey, mayor of Arnprior, ont.

The "White Slave" Traffic

It is reassuring to know that Commissioner Sargent, of the bureau of immigration, is vigorously fighting against the "white slave" traffic into this country. Seventeen aliens were deported last year for having been brought here for immoral purposes. Thirteen criminal proceedings were instituted against those who brought them, ten convictions being secured, and three cases still pending.

Methodists at it, Too

The Northwestern Christian Advocate prints the following item:—

Rev. W. P. Workman, headmaster of the Kingston school, Bath, Eng., for the sons of Wesleyan ministers, has mentioned the remarkable fact that the number of children born to Wesleyan ministers now is only a third of what it was in 1883, and that this must soon affect the attendance at the school.

SCOTLAND

An audacious and impudent fraud was perpetrated on a Buchan crofter a few days ago. It appears the crofter's two sons left for foreign country and, for a time, kept up a regular correspondence with those at home. About two years ago, however, the usual letters ceased, and the whereabouts of the two men was, for a time, a mystery. However, one morning recently a letter arrived purporting to be from one of the missing men, stating that he had met with misfortune abroad, and had worked his passage to London on a cattle boat. He had got work in London after landing, but met with an accident to his right hand and arm, and was at present in hospital. A friend was writing the letter for him. He had no money left, not even so much as to pay the postage of the letter, and he asked his father to forward a pound or two so as to enable him to get home—the home he was longing to see again. The receipt of this pathetic epistle evoked joy in the crofter's household at finding their supposed lost son, and sorrow at the plight in which he was placed. No time was lost in having a goodly sum of money on its way to London by registered letter, addressed "To be called for." After showing the letter to several neighbours, who were not slow to doubt its genuineness, the father's suspicions began to be aroused, and early next morning he apprised the local police of his fears. A telegram was immediately despatched to Scotland Yard to intercept the letter, but it was, unfortunately, too late by three-quarters of an hour. The bird had flown.

An exciting encounter with a shark recently occurred off Buchan Ness, Aberdeenshire. While the crew of the small haddock fishing boat Myrtle, consisting of Messrs. Robt. Cordiner ("Ridley") Alexander Stephen, and George Anderson had just commenced to haul, their line appeared to be fast to the bottom. It soon became apparent, however, that this was not the case, as the line began to ease a little, but the fishermen were aware, owing to the difficulty they were having, that something unusual had fastened to it. Gradually the line was brought to the surface, and the crew saw that a shark had become fast by the tail. Anxious to capture the shark, the crew by means of a tackle brought it round to the stem of the boat. The shark was made fast and towed to Boddam Harbour. Before the boat was moored one of the crew was just in the act of loosening the rope, when making a final dash for liberty, the shark towed the boat through the harbour until it completely exhausted itself. The monster, which is well on to 12 feet in length was then landed on the pier.

Scotland shares in the general decline of the birth rate. That is the most pronounced feature in the official record of births, deaths and marriages for 1901, which has just been published. The birth rate per thousand of the estimated population in 1901 was 28.65, a rate which is the lowest record for Scotland in the annual reports of the office. It is 0.51 less than that of the previous year, 1903, which is the smallest birth rate previously recorded, and is 1.11 less than the average of the rates recorded during the previous ten years. 1904 is the first year in which the national birth rate has fallen below 29 per thousand. The chief decline came from the principal town districts. The birth rate of the principal towns ranged from 38.90 in Hamilton to 23.41 in Edinburgh, 23.93 in Perth, and 26.82 in Kirkcaldy. The birth rate of the year in Scotland was 1.2 more than that of the United Kingdom, 0.8 more than that of England, and 5.1 more than that of Ireland.

A romance of the baronetage was recalled by a declaration by Lord Dundas in the Court of sessions at Edinburgh recently that the parents of Sir Edward Berkley Mansel, of Norwich, had gone through a Scottish marriage, and that Sir Edward was legitimate. The technical defendant, Mr. Cecil Courtenay Mansel, a nephew of Sir Edward, said that after his father's death he first became aware that his father had brothers and sisters, and in 1903 he saw a trust deed of 1858, by his grandfather, recognizing Sir Edward as his son. He then satisfied himself that his uncle was the eldest legitimate son of his grandfather, and, in consequence, discontinued the use of the title as an act of justice to his uncle in 1903.

ENGLAND

An amusing comedy is being played on the border line between Leicestershire and Warwickshire. A band of Hungarian gypsies, who have been removed from county to county by the police, attempted to enter Warwickshire from Leicestershire, to attend the Rugby horse fair. When the cavalcade, escorted by the Leicestershire police arrived at the boundary of the two counties they were met by a strong body of Warwickshire police, who resolutely refused to allow them to cross over Warwickshire. After an angry altercation the gypsies turned along the road, the police filling along on each side in their respective counties. At each succeeding turn in the road to Warwickshire, the band attempted to force a passage, encouraged by the Leicestershire police force, which had been with the gypsies for three days and three nights. The invasion was however vigorously prevented. On arrival at Calthorpe, a point on the boundary where another road to Rugby is situate a still more determined attempt to get through was made, and the Leicestershire police actively assisted the gypsies in trying to push the leading carts over the boundary line, the women of the band meanwhile violently belabouring the defending force with hedge sticks. A long and arduous struggle ensued, but the Warwickshire police prevailed. A parley between the heads of the two police forces and the gypsies resulted in the latter proceeding quietly along the road until they entered Northamptonshire, and there they encamped for the night. Now it is Northampton's move.

In the middle of, last month, Thomas Anderson, an American, was peacefully sleeping in a house boat, anchored off Long Key, on the coast of Florida, when to his great surprise, and much against his will, he embarked upon a series of adventures and a voyage which finally landed him in Liverpool. Employed by the Florida East Coast Railway Company as a labourer in the construction of the Long Key Viaduct, he together with about 140 men, was accommodated for sleeping purposes in a house boat. A gale sprang up which caused the vessel to drag her anchor and drift out to sea. The storm increased to a cyclone, which quickly capsized and wrecked the little craft, throwing all the occupants into the water. To save their lives they had to cling to whatever wreckage there was to hand, and Anderson managed to get hold of a sixteen foot plank. For nearly fourteen hours he was tossed in the raging sea, when he saw a light gleam through the pitch darkness, and it turned out to be from the Harrison liner Barrister. The vessel came right on towards him, and actually ran into the plank to which he was clinging, hurling it several yards away. The man, however, managed to hail the steamer, and was taken on board.

There was a lively interlude in a recent sitting of Parliament. Mr. Balfour had just sat down after speaking on the plural voting Bill, when the attention of the members was arrested by a voice in the Strangers' Gallery calling, "Gentlemen, before any reply is made, I want to say that I have come here from Almighty God." On looking up the members saw a striking figure of a coloured man with a long purple robe with a girdle around his waist, waving his hands in a frantic manner. For a minute or so the attendants seemed to be rivetted to the floor by the startling interruption, and the proceedings were brought to a complete standstill. Unconcerned, however, the man with body swaying, and arms swinging, continued his speech, but before he had got far he was seized and requested to leave the gallery. This he refused to do, and resisted the efforts which were made to eject him. "I am a British subject," he declared, "Wait, wait, wait!" Guard failing to induce him to leave quietly the attendants had to resort to coercive measures, and he was carried up the stairs, shouting at the top of his voice, and struggling to get free. He had then worked himself into such a state of excitement that the perspiration was standing in thick beads on his forehead.

Many young women have recently been taken on at the Elswick works of Armstrong, Whitworth, and Company. Capt. Lloyd, one of the directors, said in regard to the classes for lady tracers, he could not help remarking that so long as women would remember that they were ladies there was no possible harm in their going into the workshops. Their were many things their delicate fingers could do much better than the coarser fingers of the men. In their drawing offices the tracers were of the greatest value to them. Their neatness was phenomenal, and they got through their work splendidly. Tracing in the drawing offices offered a nice opening to many young ladies. They were now taking them into their shops at Elswick. Some of them were under his charge and he tried to make it a point that they should always appear neatly and nicely dressed, for he was persuaded that so long as the young ladies paid attention to their appearance they would always command respect from the other sex.

IRELAND

Despatches received at Queenstown recently contain particulars from depositions taken at Herschel Island by a commissioner of police who held an inquiry into the death of Chief Engineer Jackson D. Paul, of the whaling vessel Olga. The deceased was shot and killed by Capt. Klengenberg on board that vessel when she was near Prince Albert Land, in the Arctic Sea. The chief engineer, who had previously threatened to shoot the captain, was ordered to join the rest of the crew in drawing wood, as the ship was going into winter quarters. This he refused to do, and the captain went to deceased's cabin, where the engineer grabbed one rifle and the captain another. The latter succeeded in discharging his weapon first, and the engineer was shot. The injured man remained in his bunk for a week, at the end of which time the captain ordered him to be disarmed. None of the crew, however, would go near the injured man for fear of being shot, and finally the captain himself went. When he entered Paul's cabin, it is alleged, the wounded man commenced to swear at him and then grabbed his rifle. The captain did the same, and in the scuffle the captain shot the engineer dead.

Giving evidence recently before the Royal Commission on Congestion in Ireland, Mr. Michael Finucane, one of the Estates Commissioners, said that if it were desired to deal with the problem of congestion in a comprehensive and systematic manner it would be necessary to buy up, in geographical order, county by county, all the congested estates in those counties, and to keep them on hand for a period of a few years; to buy all untenanted land that might be rendered available, and which was required for enlargement of small holdings where necessary, and apportion the untenanted land among those most in need of such land, and most capable of working it successfully. This scheme, he thought, would involve compulsion. The total valuation of the congested counties was £577,000, and, taking an outside, and what he considered an extravagant valuation, the total sum required for purchase of the congested district counties and untenanted land he would put at £14,500,000.

THE TRAGIC ENDING OF A CLASSIC RACE OF GREEKS

Recalled by Painting of the Famous Spartan Runner, Sodas, by F. M. Bennet

The picture of the tragic ending of Ladas, the famous Spartan runner, by F. M. Bennet, was exhibited in the Royal academy at London during the last exhibition. The runner has just been awarded the laurel crown of victory. Suddenly, amid the plaudits of the multitude, the crown falls from his hand. His other hand is strained to his heart, and he drops lifeless before the horrified gaze of the onlookers.

The exponent of modern athletics would doubtless hold up this example as an argument that the games of today were no more harmful or dangerous than those of the Greeks, which are frequently advanced by reformers as the ideal form of sport. In all probability he would receive the same contention in reply that is always given to-day, namely, that it was lack of condition. History records several instances of this type. The proverbial swiftness of Ladas has been handed down in a number of ways. There was a monument to his memory on the banks of the Eleotus, a statue in the temple of Apollo Lycius at Argos, and still another in the temple of Aphrodite Nicephorus.

Best Kidney Remedy Known To Science

For pain in the back—scanty urine—highly colored urine — irritated bladder — irregular bowels—bad stomach — there is nothing that will bring such quick relief and so certain a cure as FRUIT-A-TIVES.

These marvelous tablets are nature's natural remedy for irritated or weakened kidneys. They act directly on the kidneys—soothe the irritated membranes—clean, heal and strengthen the organs—and help them to new vigor with their work.

Often kidney trouble is not due to any organic defect in the kidneys. If the bowels are constipated—if the skin does not throw off the tissue waste of the body—then these impurities are carried to the kidneys. In a vain endeavor to rid the system of impurities, the kidneys are overworked—the blood vessels are dilated—the nerves inflamed. That causes a host of kidney troubles.

Fruit-a-tives

OR "FRUIT LIVER TABLETS"

not only heal and strengthen the kidneys but they also increase the action of the skin, and act directly on the liver, thus curing the constipation.

FRUIT-A-TIVES are the natural and logical cure for all kidney troubles. They are made of fruit and tonics—are pleasant to take—and a guaranteed cure when faithfully used.

50c. a box or 6 boxes for $2.50. Sent on receipt of price if your druggist does not handle them.

WHILE SEVERAL SAILORS ARE DROWNED

Officials of Government Railway Haggled Over Terms.

THEY MUST MAKE ANSWER

Agent of Marine Department In Prince Edward Island Is Charged With "Red Tape" Practices In an Emergency—Agent Had Been Instructed by Telegraph to Do Everything Possible.

Ottawa, Dec. 7.—The Minister of Marine and Fisheries has ordered a searching investigation into the circumstances under which several members of a Norwegian schooner wrecked at East Point, P.E.I., a short time ago were allowed to drown when their lives might have been saved had aid been rendered promptly. Mr. Brodeur is unable to understand why proper steps to accomplish the rescue of the castaways were not taken in view of the fact that Agent Lud of Charlottetown was told by telegraph to do everything in his power to save the shipwrecked mariners.

This message was sent in response to an urgent wire from Lloyd's agent that a Government steamer be ordered to the scene of the wreck. The steamer went to East Point as directed, but, it is alleged, could not get near enough to take off the survivors, and returned to Charlottetown. It was then proposed to send a lifeboat by special train from Charlottetown. For this service $60 was demanded by the officials of the Government railway. Mr. Brodeur wants to know why Agent Lud did not pay this money himself when human lives were at stake, or obtain sanction from Ottawa to do so. Nobody here would have complained of any expenditure for such a purpose, and there are no rules or regulations that debar Government officers from immediate action where it is a question of saving lives.

The Prince Edward Island officials will also, no doubt, be asked to explain why they stopped to barter over the price of a special train when drowning men were calling for aid.

COVENTRY FOR CASTELLANE.

Half Leave Chamber When Count Gives Talk On Morocco.

Paris, Dec. 7.—A remarkable scene followed the interpellation of the Government on the Moroccan question in the Chamber of Deputies yesterday, by M. Jaures, the Socialist leader. Count Boni de Castellane unexpectedly ascended the tribune, whereupon half the deputies abruptly left the House.

Count Boni, however, was not greatly disconcerted. Wearing a red necktie and a lavender-colored waistcoat, and with his hands in his pockets, he addressed the Chamber after M. Jaures, airily arguing that France was continuing the policy of ex-Foreign Minister Delcasse, which aimed at the conquest of Morocco.

The Chamber originally adopted a vote of confidence in the Government by 457 ayes to 56 noes, after which Algeciras committees were ratified unanimously.

Britain Warmly Approves.

London, Dec. 7.—Great Britain has made known to France and Spain her warm approval of their joint naval and military demonstration at Tangier, and the purpose of Great Britain to continue her attitude of "hands off," while France and Spain are carrying out the spirit of the Algeciras conference. Both the British and French Governments were pleased to hear that Germany has approved the joint action of France and Spain.

The exchange of views between Foreign Secretary Grey and the French and Spanish ambassadors shows fairly well that if French-Spanish forces are landed in Morocco they probably will stay there until the Franco-Spanish police force is established, in accordance with the terms of the Algeciras conference.

All Are Satisfied.

Paris, Dec. 7.—The French Foreign Office has been advised that not one of the signatories of the Algeciras convention to which the recent French-Spanish agreement regarding Morocco was presented raised any objection to the terms of the new understanding.

EXPLOSION OF A BOILER.

Conflagration Follows—Over $500,000 Damage At Lynn, Mass.—Eleven People Seriously Injured.

Lynn, Mass., Dec. 7.—The explosion of a boiler in the four-storey factory building of the F. J. Harney Shoe Mfg. Co., and the fire which immediately followed destroyed fourteen buildings in the West Lynn manufacturing district, causing a total loss estimated at about $520,000. Eleven persons were injured, one, Miss Cecilia Trandeberg, an operator in one of the factories, having her skull fractured. She is in a critical condition at the hospital.

That no lives were lost or more people injured is attributed to the fact that the explosion occurred before the factory operatives had assembled. Twenty minutes later there would have been 600 employes at their machines. The flames spread with great rapidity, driven by a south-east gale, and swept through the district in West Lynn. A general alarm summoned help from Boston, Salem and Saugus, and after two hours of fighting, the flames were under control.

The cause of the explosion is not known. Many thrilling rescues were effected, the police department being especially conspicuous for its heroism, while the fire fighters devoted their efforts to keeping the blaze confined to a narrow territory.

The Harney Co. lose $300,000, with insurance of $256,000; Tufts & Friedman, $150,000, insurance $60,000; John H. Owens Co. $45,000, insurance $25,000; Jacobson & Jacobs $20,000, insurance $12,000; Russell factory $5,000, insurance $4,000. The losses on the other buildings were apparently small.

NHE ATTITUDE OF SIR WILFRID LAURIER

The Railway Commission Should Regulate the Rates.

MR. MACLEAN'S 2-CENT BILL

Sir Wilfrid Says Numerous Other Points Covered by Bill Might Very Well Be Inquired Into—Some Opposition From Conservative Members — Settlement of the Lethbridge Coal Strike.

Ottawa, Dec. 7.—In the House yesterday afternoon Hon. Mr. Lemieux, Minister of Labor, gave details of the settlement of the Lethbridge, B.C., coal strike, in reply to Mr. Smith (Nanaimo), as follows:

An increase in wages amounting to practically an extra ten per cent. for most of its employes was granted by the company, which also agreed to the appointment of a check weighman to protect the interests of the men, and to deduct from its employes through the pay roll, the amount necessary for the payment of such check weighman; except in the case of deductions for the check weighman, the company is not to make any collections through the pay roll, save in respect to rent, doctor and hospital fees, coal, powder, oil and other supplies furnished by the company, and, if the men so desire, for a sick benefit fund and library.

Employment Open.

It was agreed that the company would not object to its employes being or not being members of any organization, but all employes, whether members of any organization or not, are to be upon an equity in the company's employment. Preference in employment before strangers is to be given by the company to any of its employes involved in the strike, providing they make application within a reasonable time.

To avoid the possibility of future strikes or lockouts, it is agreed that in the event of a dispute or grievance arising on the part of one or more of its employes, which cannot be adjusted through a reference to the pit boss, the same may be appealed to the superintendent of the mine, and further, if necessary to the general manager; and a committee of two of the company's employes are to be allowed to appear on behalf of the employes seeking redress; failing an adjustment by appeal to the general manager, the matter is to be referred to arbitration, both parties agreeing to abide by the award of the arbitrators. The terms set forth in the manner in which the arbitrators are to be appointed.

Demands Strikers Withdrew.

The strikers withdrew their demands for a complete recognition of the union for the deduction of union dues by the company, for an eight-hour day and less important concessions.

Negotiations were conducted by MacKenzie King, the Deputy Minister of Labor, under the Conciliation Act, 1900. The intervention of the department was requested by Hon. Walter Scott, Premier of Saskatchewan, both parties accepting the good offices of the Deputy Minister of Labor on his arrival at Lethbridge on Thursday, Nov. 22. After several interviews with each of the parties a joint conference was arranged by the Deputy Minister of Labor between the representatives of the company and the men, which conference was held on the 25th and 26th of the month. As a result of this conference, a basis of settlement was reached, which but for one clause, in regard to the wording of which the parties disagreed, would probably have resulted in a termination of the strike on Nov. 27. By Dec. 1 the difficulties in regard to this clause were overcome, through the acceptance by each of the parties of a clause drafted by the Deputy Minister of Labor, as a substitute.

Strike Declared Off Dec. 1.

The strike was declared off on Saturday, Dec. 1, by the district president of the union, whose action was ratified by the men at a meeting on Dec. 2. Work was resumed at the mines on Monday, Dec. 3.

Mr. Armstrong asked: What is the nature of the postal express legislation referred to in the speech delivered by the member for South Grey on Friday, Nov. 30, 1906?

Mr. Lemieux replied: The postal express legislation referred to in the speech delivered by the member for South Grey, on Friday, Nov. 30, 1906, foreshadowed an arrangement for the transmission and delivery of post parcels C.O.D. It is contemplated that the postoffice should be the means by which parcels could be despatched and collections of any charges thereon made by the department, on some definite scale. The details have not been perfected, but are now the subject of consideration. Parliament will be more fully informed when the project has been completed.

Mr. Maclean's Bill.

Mr. Maclean's bill bringing telegraph and sleeping car companies under the jurisdiction of the Railway Commission, fixing two cents per mile as the standard passenger tariff rate, and compelling telephone companies to exchange business over local as well as long-distance lines, was sent to the Committee on Railways, Canals and Telephone lines. Sir Wilfrid Laurier concurred in the view that sleeping car companies, being transportation companies, should come under the Railway Commission, and telegraph companies should also. Control of rates having been given to the commission, the Premier thought it better, owing to the difficulty of fixing a uniform rate for the whole Dominion, to leave the task of regulation to that body. The question of exchange of telephone business was, he suggested, a delicate and difficult one, requiring careful deliberation and debate. As it was possible the matter had not been fully thrashed out last year, no harm would follow sending it again to the committee.

Mr. Lancaster Opposes.

Mr. Maclean's views upon the principle of the bill were not allowed to go unchallenged by his fellow-members to the left of the Speaker. Mr. Lancaster, who has by persistent study and close attention to railway legislation attained the position of a leading Opposition critic on railway matters, vigorously combatted Mr. Maclean's views.

Compulsory Voting.

Claude Macdonnel (South Toronto) introduced a bill providing for compulsory voting, and to compel employers of labor to give two hours on election day to employes for voting.

MUNICIPAL POWER FAVORED.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier's Reply to Deputation re. Beauharnois Canal.

Ottawa, Dec. 7.—A deputation from Montreal City Council arrived in the capital yesterday to interview Sir Wilfrid Laurier in regard to the sale, lease, or use of the waterpower of the Beauharnois Canal.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier expressed himself as favorable to leasing available power on the Beauharnois Canal to one of the municipalities, on condition that the latter should expend $60,000 the first year on urgent improvements, $20,000 a year to maintain the canal for the purpose of navigation, for which it is still required to a certain extent, and $100,000 for the installation of necessary plant to take full advantage of the available power.

If the power was subsequently leased to any company, the latter would first have to guarantee to furnish Montreal, Beauharnois and Valleyfield with whatever power they require at market prices, subject to approval. The prevailing price for power in Montreal now is from $25 to $30. The price of power from the Beauharnois would be based on the cost of delivering the current in the metropolis. The canal would ultimately cease to have any value for purposes of navigation, and when this time came there was no reason why it should not be sold altogether.

LA GRIPPE

This distressing and unfortunately very common malady easily takes rank among the very "meanest" of the diseases to which people living in this climate are liable.

La Grippe is no respector of persons; it attacks the young and the old, the rich and the poor with the utmost impartiality.

Except in the cases where Pneumonia develops, La Grippe is seldom directly fatal; the real danger lies in the after effects. Even when the patient has fairly well recovered from an attack (and it is very hard to tell just when he has fully recovered) the muscles are relaxed, the nerves unstrung, the heart and lungs weak, the throat and bronchial tubes irritable and tender and the whole system depressed, run-down and in no condition to resist the attack of any other disease to which it may be exposed.

This condition is fraught with danger and demands instant and intelligent attention, the system must be built up and restored to a normal and healthy condition—advice easy to give, often very hard to follow.

The appetite is liable to be poor and the digestion impaired so that it is almost impossible to consume and digest sufficient ordinary food to do the work quickly and effectively. What is required is a concentrated food, palatable, easy to digest and containing the elements necessary to repair the waste which La Grippe has committed.

Just such a food is found in

a scientifically prepared emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, Iron and Phosphorus, palatable, digestible and effective. FERROL contains just what the run down system needs and all it requires. Cod Liver Oil to restore the lost flesh and make what is left firm and healthy, Iron to enrich the impoverished blood and restore elasticity and firmness to the relaxed muscles, Phosphorus to tone the nerve and brain as nothing else will.

Two or three bottles of FERROL, taken after the acute stage of La Grippe has passed, will do more to repair damages than can possibly be accomplished in any other way. Try it and see.

LIGHTS DISAPPEARED AT NORWOOD CONCERT

And Entertainment Abruptly Closed—Death of a Respected Citizen.

MODEL STUDENTS TO HOLD AN AT HOME

Norwood, Dec. 5.—Sunday and Monday, December 2 and 3, were observed in the Methodist Church as anniversary days.

Rev. Mr. Copeland, of Campbellford, occupied the pulpit at both services on Sunday, and gave two eloquent and instructive addresses, which were highly appreciated by all who were fortunate enough to hear him.

On Monday evening a fowl supper and entertainment were held under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid of the church.

The weather was all that could be desired, and as a result large numbers turned out to enjoy the sumptuous repast which had been provided. The beautifully decorated tables were laden with viands from all parts of the country, which were certainly enjoyed by the "biped without feathers" who flocked there to eat them. The tables groaned beneath their load of choice viands, but as their weight decreased, the tables were turned and—the people groaned.

After supper had been served, all repaired to the auditorium of the church to listen to a programme of addresses and music.

Addresses were delivered by Rev. Mr. Copeland, of Campbellford; Rev. Mr. Elliott, Hastings; Rev. Mr. Johnston, South Dummer; Rev. J. Deason and Rev. E. W. Pickford, of town.

Mrs. M. R. Callander and Rev. G. A. MacLennan, of town, delighted the audience with their rendition of two duets. The solos by Mrs. Harold Howson and Miss Una Duffield were very much enjoyed, as was also the music by the choir.

The entertainment was, unfortunately, brought to an abrupt close by the sudden disappearance of the electric lights.

On Tuesday evening a social and magic lantern were given at which about $10 was realized.

Mr. R. Lees is inspecting the public school here this week.

Mr. Fleming is busily engaged making preparations for the opening of the rink in the very near future.

Mr. Ashton Lillie, Peterborough, spent Sunday under the parental roof.

Miss Flossie Foster has accepted South Dummer School at a salary of $400.

Miss Madge Lees, a student at the Model, has secured a $150 school near Peterborough.

Mr. Harston, Warkworth, was in town Tuesday.

Miss F. N. Pettigrew returned last week from Gravenhurst, where she had been for nearly three months.

Dr. and Mrs. F. C. S. Wilson returned to town on Friday last.

Dr. Weldon spent Sunday at his home in Lindsay.

Mrs. A. Graham and Mr. Cardwell, of Westwood, were in town Wednesday.

At the last meeting of the Norwood Lodge No. 223, A. F. and A. M., the officers elected for the ensuing year were:

W. M.—Bro. W. H. Harper.
S. W.—Bro. B. W. Squire.
J. W.—Bro. J. F. Pearce.
Chaplain—Rev. Bro. Pickford.
Treasurer, V. W.—Bro. J. B. Pearce
Secretary—Rev. Bro. MacLennan.
Auditors—Bros. J. A. Finlay and J. G. Keefer.
Tyler—Brp. Jas. McMullen.
W. Bro. S. P. Ford is the Immediate Past Master.

After the election of officers, the first degree was conferred, at the conclusion of which refreshments were served.

Rev. C. H. Brooks, of Grafton, for several years a missionary in Constantinople, lectured on "Religious Customs of the East" in Christ Church on Wednesday evening. A collection was taken in aid of the foreign mission fund of the Church of England.

The students of the Norwood Model School are preparing for their "at-home," to be held in the Model School rooms on Friday evening, December 14. Refreshments will be served during the evening, and a good programme of music, recitations, etc. will be given. The valedictory will be read by Miss Annie McDonell, of Norwood, who secured the highest number of marks for teaching during the term.

Mrs. E. Bongard and Mrs. Fraser, of Revelstoke, B.C., daughters of Mrs. Chas. Stevenson, are visiting friends in town. Their niece, Miss Myrtle Cathels, is with them.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Bias, of Killarney, have gone to spend the winter with friends in Hastings County.

The Farmers' Institute meetings were held in the town hall of this village on Wednesday afternoon and evening. Addresses were delivered by Mr. Clarke, of Ottawa, and Mr. Glendenning, of Manilla.

On Wednesday evening, at his home, Peterborough street, the death occurred of Mr. John McMillan, of this place. Mr. McMillan had been in poor health for some time, but was not taken seriously ill until about two weeks ago, when he had an attack of heart trouble, which ultimately caused his death.

Mr. McMillan's lifetime was spent in this village, of which he was a very highly respected citizen and a staunch member of its Presbyterian Church.

About thirty years ago he was married to Miss Maggie Wilson, daughter of the late Robt. Wilson, who pre-deceased him about nine years. Five years ago he married Miss Annie Raddon, daughter of Mr. Jas. Raddon, of this place, whom he leaves to mourn his loss. Three brothers Andrew, James and Thomas, of Dummer, also survive him.

The funeral will take place on Friday afternoon to the Norwood Cemetery, from his late residence.

Deceased will be very much missed by a large circle of friends, as he was a genial, true friend and a kind neighbour. His relatives have the sympathy of his many friends.

ELOPERS HURRIED BACK HOME TO MILK THE COWS

Truly Rural Romance Speeded Along by Town Clerk, who Could Also Tie the Knot

Winsted, Conn., Dec. 3.—It was not the prospect of an angry father on their trail, but of lowing kine in the barnyard, that rushed through the marriage of an eloping pair last night.

Otto Anderson and Lucy Winery, a widow, both of Burlington, are of age to know their own minds. He is 50 and she 52; but they slipped off yesterday to the adjoining township of New Hartford to indulge in the romance of a secret wedding.

Now, the Town Clerk, Frederick Jewell, is Judge of Probate, Justice of the Peace, Attorney and Representative to the Legislature. He is all the officers in one necessary to sign, seal and deliver a wife to a man; therefore, Anderson, when the license was handed him, contracted for the ceremony. As Jewell hesitated, Otto added:

"I really haven't time to look up a minister. It's long past milking hour, and it don't do the cows any good to go too long without being milked."

The argument proved convincing, and the knot was tied.

VEGETABLES ARE SCIENTIFICALLY PREPARED. EDIBLE?

Paris, Nov. 29.—The Academy of Sciences listened yesterday to Professor D'Arsonval describe artificial vegetables, which he exhibited, and which were produced by the methods of Professor LeDuc of the Nantes Medical School. Prof. D'Arsonval interested his colleagues greatly, but unfortunately for the lay public he did not say whether these so-called vegetables are edible. While they were described as vegetables, they have nothing of the vegetable in their make-up, but they behave after their production as do the real vegetables they resemble under natural conditions.

Important Business Letters To City's Executive Unanswered

Proposal That Peterborough Should be Made Location of National Dairy Show Received no Consideration from the Mayor, According to the Charge

Editor Cowan Says Letters to Mayor Were Ignored, and Peterborough as a Result May Lose a Show Which Would Have Given This City Still Greater Prominence as a Dairy Centre

The Examiner to-day received a most remarkable letter from Mr. H. B. Cowan, editor of the Canadian Dairyman, Toronto, and secretary of the special committee appointed by the Eastern Ontario Dairymen's Association, charged with the selection of a location for holding a National Dairy Show.

City's Interest Neglected

The letter needs no comment—a perusal is sufficient to impress the reader with the fact that, if the statements made are correct, there has been in this instance, at least, a woful neglect of the city's interests, so far as its material progress is concerned.

If important letters like that referred to below went unanswered, have the citizens any assurance that other communications, of as much, or even greater importance, received any better treatment?

The Charge

The letter of Mr. Cowan is as follows:—

Toronto, Ont., December 5, 1906.

To the Editor of the Examiner,
Peterborough, Ont.

Dear Sir, — Will you kindly let me know what is the matter with the Mayor of Peterborough? As you probably know, there is a movement on foot to establish a National Dairy Show, either at Guelph, Toronto or Peterborough.

A joint committee was appointed some time ago by the Eastern and Western Dairymen's Associations, and the Holstein, Ayrshire and Jersey Breeders' Associations, to look into the matter. I am the secretary of that committee.

Early last summer I wrote to the Mayor of Peterborough, asking if Peterborough has any buildings or accommodation for the holding of such a show. A couple of weeks ago I wrote him again, telling him that as I was secretary of the committee, I would run down to Peterborough, if necessary, to look over any available buildings there might be.

As yet I have received no reply from either of these letters. If the committee is to understand that Peterborough does not want the show, well and good; but in such acase it seems to me that the Mayor, at least, should have the courtesy to reply to my letters.

An early reply from you will be much appreciated, as the committee has to present its report at the meeting of the Dairymen's Associations, to be held in January. We desire to look over the ground throughly in advance.

Yours truly,
H. B. COWAN, Editor.

The City Clerk advises The Examiner that at the last meeting of the Council, a letter was read from Mr. Cowan in reference to this matter, and that it was referred to the Finance Committee. Mr. Cowan, however, had evidently not received any acknowledgment of his communication when he wrote on the 5th.

ENGINEER AND FIREMAN ON NOON G. T. R. TRAIN INJURED IN "RUN-OFF" AT OMEMEE

Engine Left Rails Taking the Siding and Dumped Into Ditch --Fireman Has Broken Leg-- Engineer Hurt in Head

PASSENGERS WERE BADLY SHAKEN UP

The noon G.T.R. train due here at 11.45 a.m., came to grief at Omemee, and as a result did not reach this city.

It appears, according to the statement of the railway officials here, that some repairs were being made to the main line of the track at Omemee, and the siding was being used for traffic to-day. Just as the engine was going on to the siding, it jumped the rails, taking with it the tender and the baggage coach, all being dumped into the ditch.

The engineer, Peter McCloskey, and Albert Bishop, the fireman, were both injured, the former being cut in the head and the latter suffering from a broken leg, received when the engine turned over on her side. They were brought to the Nicholls Hospital, where they are both reported to be doing well, their injuries being more or less of a minor nature.

Fortunately, the train was not travelling fast, and the passengor coaches remained on the rails, and their occupants, beyond a severe shaking up, received no injuries.

Word was sent to this city of the accident, and the Lakefield train was despatched to the scene of the wreck to convey the passengers and mail to this city. This train proceeded to Port Hope, the destination of the wrecked train, and the Belleville train took the trip to Lakefield, and upon her return from that village went on the regular run to Belleville.

The auxiliary was sent from Landsay and was soon engaged in clearing the track for traffic. It is expected that the line will be cleared by to-night, when regular traffic will be resumed over the track.

The engine is considerably damaged by its flight from the rails, while the tender and baggagge car are also shattered, and will have to enter the repair shop before they can be again placed on the road.

GOOD SAMARITAN TO STRAYED HORSE

Mr. J. T. Braund Took it in, Clothed and Fed it and Now is Looking for the Owner

Mr. J. T. Braund last night about o'clock saw a horse wandering down George street with no blanket on it, and no harness. It was a pretty cold night for a horse clothed only with a rope tied around its neck to spend outside of shelter, so he took pity on the animal and stowed it into his stable, where he gave it a bed and breakfast, and a blanket, for which, no doubt, the horse was duly thankful.

But Mr. Braund wants to find the owner of the horse now, and is advertising in this issue of the Examiner for him. The owner may have the horse on application to Mr. Braund, corner of Smith and George streets.

Crippled by Kidney Disease.

"I was troubled for years with kidney disease, but Dr. Chase's Kidney Liver Pills have entirely cured me. When I began the use of these pills I could only walk from my bed to a chair. Now I can go a field and work like any other man." — Mr. W. H. Mosher, South Augusta, Gronville county, Ont. This statement is certified to by the Rev. E. H. Emmet, Baptist minister, of Brockville, Ont.

Brock St. Rink Opens To-night

Ten days earlier than last year, the Brock street rink will open for the season to-night. The cold weather of the last few days has enabled the superintendent to get ice made quickly, and the sheet now is much better than it was on the opening night last year.

A good many midnight hours have been spent by Mr. Thirnbeck and his assistants, and when the skaters are admitted to the ice to-night at 8 o'clock, it is safe to say that they will be agreeably surprised at the condition in which they will find the ice.

Peterborough is in this respect, considerably ahead of the majority of other Ontario cities, and, no doubt, the patrons of the rink will appreciate the enterprise of the directors in thus giving them the privileges which patrons of other rinks will not enjoy for some days yet.

A large band from the 57th Regiment will be in attendance to-night.

ANOTHER LETTER BOX FOR WEST END RESIDENTS

New Letter Receptacle will Probably be Placed at the Corner of Edinburgh and Stewart Streets

Another letter box for the convenience of the residents of the west end of the city has arrived, and will be placed in position at the corner of Edinburgh and Stewart streets, at the extreme summit of the Smithtown hill, where it will do a great convenience to the residents of that section of the city.

A NEW PRECEPTORY WAS FORMED

At Lakefield Last Night—Mr. W. H. G. Armstrong of This City the Instituting Officer—The New Officers

A new preceptory of the Royal Black Knights of Ireland was instituted in Lakefield last night. A number of Sir Knights from this city drove up for the purpose, and notwithstanding the extreme coldness of the weather, a large number from Lakefield and the surrounding districts turned out for the occasion. Many of them had to drive long distances in order to be present. The new preceptory begins under most favourable auspices and consists of many of Lakefield's prominent citizens.

The following Knights were present from Peterborough: W. H. G. Armstrong, instituting officer, representing the Grand Master; H. T. Everett, Robt. Juky, E. P. Clarke, John A. McWilliams, T. C. Holden, A. MacDonnell and Jas. Trew.

The new preceptory will be managed by the following able staff of officers:

Sir John A. Burgess, M.D.; W. P.
Sir Wm. Allen, D. P.
Sir Wm. M. Graham, Chaplain.
Sir Wm. J. Charleton, Registrar.
Sir Sid. Hunter, Treasurer.
Sir Wm. D. Edwards, 1st Lecturer.
Sir Andrew Young, 2nd Lecturer.
Sir David Charleton, 1st Censor.
Sir Henry MacNorton, 2nd Censor.
Sir Samuel J. Charleton, 1st St. Br.
Sir Bert Everett, 2nd St. Br.
Sir Richard White, Persuivant.
Sir Sherman Garbutt, 1st Com.

During the evening the visiting brethren were provided with a sumptuous repast, which was enjoyed and appreciated by all, especially those who came from a distance. The members from Peterborough reached the city about 6 o'clock this morning, well pleased with their night spent in the village to the north, and speak in high terms of the hospitality extended to them.

SECRETARY WILL SELL SEASON SKATING TICKETS

At the Brock Street Rink To-Night—Persons Wishing Them May Procure Them at the Rink

The secretary of the Brock street rink will be at the rink to-night to supply season tickets to those who may wish to purchase them then. This season skating is being given much earlier than usual, consequently those who buy season tickets now will get the worth of their money.

CHESTER GILLETTE CONFESSES TO MURDER

Admits to His Counsel That He Did Murder Grace Brown Hit Her With Tennis Racquet

SOME STARTLING NEW DEVELOPMENTS

Special to the Examiner from the Buffalo Courier.

Herkimer, Dec. 7th. — Chester Gillette, according to reliable authority, has confessed that he killed Grace Brown. It is said that he has confessed to his lawyer, Senator Mills, and that the jail officials overheard him.

District Attorney Ward was asked to-day if there had been a confession; if the alleged remark of Gillette had been overheard. He refused to answer. "Then, that's a confirmation, isn't it?" the reporter asked. The prosecutor smiled, and walked away.

One man who has been connected with the case admits that the Sheriff's department could have said more on the stand than it did, and that the defence should be thankful to it for holding its tongue.

This it what it is alleged Gillette said to his counsel, by a slip of the tongue:

Senator Mills had visited Gillette in his cell, and casually asked him to "go over the story of the tragedy once more."

Gillette ran along glibly with the details of his manufactured version, and when he reached the point where "she jumped out of the boat" he said inadvertently:

His Confession

"When she came up the first time after sinking in the water I struck her."

"You wretch!" exclaimed Senator Mills, "Why didn't you tell me this before?"

"Yes, I did kill Grace Brown!" said Gillette. "She stood up and came from her end of the boat toward me and was crying, and said that she wanted to end it all.

"I took my tennis racquet out of the straps of my dress suit case and struck her twice.

"She fell full length backward, her head striking the seat; then I dumped her overboard."

So the old attorney decided that his client's position could not be much worse if he went on the stand, and his associates agreed with him.

Lawyer Disgusted

Gillette was silent, and the angry lawyer left the cell. The next day when the trial was resumed, it was observed there was a coolness between Gillette and his lawyers. Mills and Charles D. Thomas, his other lawyer, did not sit near him, and until the end of the trial they seldom spoke to him. The prisoner's confession was the cause of this aversion of the two lawyers for the man they were fighting for to save from the death chair.

Looking more like the original Chester E. Gillette than he had at any time during the last two weeks of his trial, the convicted murderer of Grace Brown occupied his accustomed chair in the court house this afternoon for ten minutes.

During that time, Mr. Thomas, one of his attorneys, secured a temporary stay in the passing of sentence, which will allow time for an effort to gain the Courtland youth a new lease of life.

He will come up for sentence on Monday morning at 10 o'clock. Judge Devendorf informed Mr. Thomas he wanted the case disposed of as speedily as possible.

PRESENTED WITH OPAL RING BY EMPLOYEES

Miss S. S. Moynes the Recipient of Ring From Central Mill Employees

Yesterday afternoon an interesting event took place in the Central Milling Company's office, when the employees gathered together to bid farewell to Miss S. S. Moynes, who for some time has been engaged in that office as stenographer. Miss Moynes was presented with a beautiful opal ring as a token of the esteem in which she is held by the employees, and as a remembrance of the pleasant times spent in the mill office. In an accompanying address, Miss Moynes' capability was attested to, as well as her pleasant manner and bearing while in the office. Miss Moynes thanked the donors for their thoughtfulness and kindness, and expressed her appreciation of the beautiful token with which they had presented her.

In severing her connections with the Central Mill, that company is losing the services of a very efficient stenographer. Miss Moynes intends to return to her home in Lemoton Falls.

A Poorly Clad Boy Appears Before The County Magistrate

Arrested in Cordova on a Charge of Arson—Only Support for His Poor Mother — Assisted by Some Kind Friends

A little fourteen year old boy stood before Magistrate Edmison this morning on the criminal charge of arson. rane. He was arrested yesterday at Cordova by High Constable Cochrane on a charge of setting fire to a haystack, the property of Mr. W. Teal.

It was alleged that he in company with his brother who is some three of four years younger, burned the haystack about two weeks ago.

Mr. Cochrane relates that the family are in a pitiful condition. The boy who was brought to Peterborough last night, was the only person whom the mother had to cut the wood and do the chores. His little brother who was jointly accused with him was so ill that the constable left him at his home.

The young prisoner was taken to the Shelter last night where he was fitted out with underclothing and an overcoat by Mr. Henry. This morning he appeared before the Magistrate and pleaded not guilty to the charge. The Magistrate remanded him and the trial will come off as soon as possible in Havelock. The little fellow was given his liberty by the Magistrate on promising to appear in Havelock whenever called upon. Some kind friends gave him enough money to pay his fare to Cordova by train and stage, and also 25c to get his dinner at Havelock, whereupon his face lit up with smiles as he remarked he would buy 10c worth of cakes for his dinner and take the remainder home to his mother.

IMPRESSIONS OF MR. SOMERVILLE ON HIS TOUR

Peterborough District will be Dairy Centre of the Province in the Near Future

PLEASED WITH THE RESULTS OF TOUR

Yesterday afternoon, Mr. N. G. Somerville, of Brockville, completed his lectures, save one, in the Peterborough district on the cool curing and cow testing questions. Mr. Somerville has, in all, lectured at eleven annual cheese factory meetings to about half a thousand farmers in the county interested in the revival of these important dairy problems. He left this afternoon for his home in Brockville, after a most successful tour in the district, having formed four cow testing associations and aroused the farmers' attentions to the cool curing problem.

In conversation with The Examiner this morning, Mr. Somerville stated that he was very much pleased with the results of his tour. What struck him more particularly than anything else was the great sociability which pervaded every meeting held in the county. He referred principally to that of the Lakefiled factory, where the social interests were superior to any other annual meeting.

He was also much gratified to find that the Peterborough district was taking such great interest in the revolutionizing of the dairy industry. He had introduced the cow testing question for the first time here, and at very short meetings, where a great amount of other business was attended to, he had seen four associations formed, with good prospects of more to follow. He believed that the Peterborough district was among the best he had ever visited with regard to liberalism in its actions upon the questions he placed before them, and in a short time he considered that this district would supersede any in the Province with respect to the dairy industry.

Mr. Somerville also paid a compliment to Mr. Geo. A. Gillespie for the time he has expended, gratis, in the interests of better cheese making by attending every meeting and assisting in every way possible. Next week Mr. Somerville will return to attend the annual meeting of Buckhorn factory, where he will again deliver his lectures.

The late Duke of Portland used to spend, it is said, over $6,000 a year upon newspapers, all of which he had carefully filed.

There are 50 manufacturers of imitation butter in Germany. A factory in Mannehim produces daily 6,000 lbs. from a preparation of cocoanuts.

In Destitution And Wanted To Sell Watch To Relieve Their Wants

A Montreal Man in the City and His Unfortunate Experience— How He Was Cared for by Kindly Disposed Citizens

An attempt to sell a watch yesterday revealed a case of destitution which, happily, since its discovery seems likely to result in an alleviation of suffering, was made to a kindly disposed citizen. The man who wanted to raise money on his watch, with which to supply his family with the necessaries of life has been in the city only a short time and his household goods had not yet arrived from Montreal. He came here to work, but the construction work on which he was employed was stopped, and the result was that he found himself without means and living in a house without a bed or the means to buy one.

A Fortunate Circumstance

He was in this condition when he decided to sell his watch and raise some money. He went to a local gentleman and told his story with the result that he refused to take his watch, but at once took steps to see that his wants were relieved, until he could secure work and receive his furniture from Montreal. A few gentlemen in the city were communicated with and together they attended to the wants of the family, the members of which had not even a bed to sleep on last night.

24 Below Zero Was The Record

Peterborough, Dec. 8, 1906.

Dear Sir,—If the Examiner has any inside information regarding the weather to be, for goodness sakes let us have it.

SUBSCRIBER.

The Examiner received the above post card to-day at noon, and, while it does not profess to be able to give all the information asked for it can hold out no hope for any very warm weather in the near future.

It may be a surprise to many to learn that last night the thermometer went down to 24 degrees below zero, and it will be another surprise to find that this is two degrees from the coldest day of last winter, when, on Feb. 16th it registered 26 below.

This morning at seven o'clock it registered 17 below, and at noon it had risen to 7. It feels a little milder to-day, but that is because we are getting somewhat used to the weather.

The wind has shifted to the east somewhat and there will probably be some snow this evening and during the night, and the temperature will be more moderate for a few hours. But this condition will not likely continue long. The Examiner looks for strong winds from the north and north-west to-night and to-morrow, and by to-morrow night or Monday morning it will probably be as cold as ever.

It will thus be seen that accepting the Examiner's pronostications as true—we are likely to have some more winter weather before it gets much milder.

Peterborough appears to have been hit about the hardest of any of the Ontario cities in this cold snap, indeed, according to the weather reports received by the Toronto observatory this morning only two places in Canada reported lower temperature, Qu'Appelle and Winnipeg, with 28 degrees below each.

The storm which passed across the great lakes yesterday is now centered in the Gulf of St. Lawrence, and gales are blowing in the Maritime Provinces. Extremely cold weather now prevails throughout the Dominion, exclusive of British Columbia and Nova Scotia.

EARLY MORNING DRIVER HIT WITH CAR

Suddenly Side Stepped in Front of an Auburn Street Car

A driver of a team of horses attached to a sleigh loaded with iron, had a miraculous escape from serious injury this morning in the north end of the city. He was driving his team northward on Water street, just beyond the Grand Trunk tracks, while he himself walked beside the sleigh. He suddenly stepped on the street car track, when Car No. 13, approached from the rear striking him between the shoulders. He was thrown violently into the snow, and sustained some painful injuries, although none were considered serious.

Mr. E. Howson, of Peterborough, has been appointed to succeed Mr. F. Adams as secretary of the Peterborough Lock Manufacturing Company and will commence his duties on Monday next.

Mr. Howson is a young man of energy and application and was for a couple of years in the office of the company, before accepting a potion with Mr. W. H. Hill.

HONOURED BY HEAD COUNCIL OF WOODMEN

Mr. Wm. Gibbs Has Received a Beautiful Signet Ring and Appreciative Letter

Mr. William Gibbs, of East City, has recently received from the head Council of the Woodmen of the World, a handsome recognition of the many services he has rendered the Order. It is in the form of a beautiful gold signet ring, suitably engraved with the emblem of the Order. Accompanying the gift was a letter from Mr. W. C. Fitzgerald, containing many appreciative remarks on Mr. Gibbs' efforts in the advancement and welfare of the Order in this city. He has been a most untiring worker on behalf of the Woodmen, and the gift shows that his services have not been unappreciated by those at the helm.

COOL DIP IN WATERS OF CHEMONG

Mr. Albert Whetung Almost Loses a Horse—Followed a Treacherous Track

Last night as Mr. Albert Whetung, son of Mr. Dan Whetung, the Chemong stage driver, was returning from Peterborough, his horse broke through the ice on Chemong Lake, and had a very narrow escape from drowning. He followed a track close to the shore, which had previously been made by a lumberman. The ice had probably been cracked by the heavy load, causing his horse to break through. Mr. William Braden, who lives near by, came to his assistance with a horse and drew the unfortunate animal from his precarious position in the icy waters.

ANCIENT LANDMARK TORN DOWN

Stood on the Banks of the Otonabee River for Over Half a Century

One of the oldest landmarks of the city was razed to the ground yesterday — a house which has for over half a century served various purposes. It was situated on the property of the Peterborough Cereal Co., and yesterday Mr. W. H. Maidrum had it pulled down. According to the best authority it was built in the fifties, by the late Benjamin Green, father of Mr. Edward Green, Water street, and was one of the most ancient landmarks in Peterborough.

The house, which was first used as a dwelling, was studded and sheeted with lumber, the interior being filled in with mortar. At one time it was used as a bakeshop, and a portion of the old brick oven can still be seen.

During the past six or seven years the building was turned into a stable and before being torn down was used for that purpose. The property on which it was erected was formerly owned by Mr. Mills, from whom the Cereal Company purchased it.

OBITUARY

MRS. AMOS JONES

The death occurred at the Nicholls Hospital this morning of Mrs. Minnie Jones from heart failure, after undergoing an operation.

The deceased lives with her husband, Mr. Amos Jones, in Douro, and has been fairly well until about a week ago, when an operation was decided on. It was performed yesterday morning and she seemed to be recovering, when she was suddenly taken off, due to weakness of the heart.

Mrs. Jones was formerly a Miss Minnie Evans of Rochester, in which city she was married to Mr. Jones. They lived in the vicinity of Bridgenorth for a number of years, and later moved to Douro, where they have resided for the past two years.

EARLY SHOPPING

The days are drawing near, in fact are here, when everybody's fancy turns to thoughts of Christmas gifts. Purchasers are confronted with two difficulties, lack of means and lack of decision. Some few are not troubled with the financial consideration, but nearly everybody finds it difficult to decide upon a gift suitable to both purse and person. If this question is not settled before a shop is invaded the difficulty is intensified by the bewildering array of presents displayed, by the presence of other persons in a similar quandary. It would be a good thing for undecided persons to study the advertising columns of the newspapers—especially, of course, those of the Examiner. Once the nature of the present is decided upon there should be prompt decision to purchase. Early Christmas shopping—rather Christmas buying — should be the rule. It should be done from purely selfish reasons. By early shopping—before the rush is on—you will be able to select more carefully and with less jostling and confusion than at a later period. You can and will get better attention from the shop people. While your own comfort and convenience are thus served you will have the added consciousness and comfort that you are in nobody else's way. If shopping is delayed till the last moment there is bound to be a rush, and consequently confusion becomes worse confounded. Shop girls cannot give satisfactory service, no matter how desirous of doing so. Another feature of late buying is, perhaps, worth considering from the public, as well as the shopman's point of view. With a crush in a shop there is sure to be more or less pilfering, because, for one reason the opportunity is so tempting to persons of light fingers and dark morals. The difficulty of locating the culprit leads to the tendency to suspect everybody and thus perfectly innocent persons are in danger of being suspected of shoplifting—something has been stolen—somebody in the crush must have done it, and you or another equally honest and innocent person may be wrongly subjected to suspicion. Seriously, however, there is every reason for early shopping, in the interest of both buyer and seller. There are some, of course, so situated, for various reasons, that they have to postpone their buying till the last moment, but the great mass of the citizens can give these persons a good chance by practising early shopping.

INDEPENDENT ORGANIZATIONS

While it is a very good thing to be on terms of amity with our southern neighbours, to have unhampered trade interchange and all that sort of thing, it would seem that in our purely domestic matters Canadians should have the control. It is cited as an objection to some benefit societies, that they have their headquarters in the United States, and are controlled from that country, to which their funds are sent and in which they are administered. Some societies of that kind have broken away and become independent Canadian organizations, instead of an appendage of United States societies. There is complaint sometimes made that labour organizations in Canada are subordinate to, and minor element in, American organizations. This is not desirable for more than one reason. In the first place, it puts Canadian unions in a position of inferiority and dependence, and the humiliation is not lessened when Canadian labour organizations have to take their orders from an alien authority upon purely home matters. It has often occurred that strike orders from a central organization in the United States, thousands of miles from the scene of trouble, have been issued and obeyed, thus closing mines and industrial works to the great detriment of local interests, and not infrequently interests, and not infrequently against the will of many of those compelled, by virtue of their membership in a union, to join in a strike, against their judgment and knowledge of local conditions, at the dictation of an alien authority. While it is desirable that the most friendly terms should exist, and the greatest feasible and reasonable co-operation should obtain, between United States and Canadian organizations, it seems improper that a United States citizen, living on his own soil, should have the power to close or open a Canadian coal mine, as at Lethbridge, and at a time of the year when such closing stood to inflict terrible suffering upon Canadian citizens, in a sub-Arctic climate, dependent for fuel supplies upon mines closed by order of a foreigner. The British Columbia Labour Commission, which sat a few years ago, tersely indicated this anomalous and dangerous condition, when it said: "Whether the wheels of Canadian industry shall run or shall rust, ought not to depend upon the decrees of a secret council at Denver." It seems to be time that Canadian labour organizations should consider the wisdom of standing alone. They would certainly get more sympathy from their fellow citizens in Canada if they occupied an independent position and were not mere "side shows" to the great American labour organizations. No doubt, Canadian labour interests would resent overt combinations between United States and Canadian capital, in which the latter would occupy a subordinate and dependent position and have its policy towards employees dictated by aliens. Surely, Canadian workingmen have enough brains and ability to manage their own affairs.

Conservative journals have adversely criticised Mr. W. L. MacKenzie King, Deputy Minister of Labour, because in his work of settling the Lethbridge coal strike, he found it necessary to go to Indianapolis to confer with Mr. John Mitchell, President of the Miners' Union. Mr. King is not to blame. The fault is with the situation. If Canadian unions have their headquarters in, and take their orders from, the United States, it is necessary in dealing with the central authority to go where that authority is. If the headquarters of the Canadian Union of Miners had been in Canada Mr. King would not have to have humiliated Canada and himself by going to a foreigner in the effort to settle a little family trouble.

THE LATEST SPORTS

FIVE TEAMS ARE TO PLAY IN THIS DISTRICT

O. H. A. Executive Met Last Night and Drew Up the Districts for the Season

MR. GRAHAM IS TO BE THE CONVENOR

The O.H.A. Executive met last night to draw up the districts for the season and the Peterborough team will be in a district with the Argonauts and Marlboros, of Toronto, Midland and the 14th Regiment of Kingston. Mr. C. G. Graham, the secretary of the local club is the convenor of the group and the teams will meet here for the purpose of drawing up the schedule for the season.

With such a district the hockey seen here this year should be very fast, and the prospects are that some of the fastest games ever played in Peterborough will be seen here this season. Kingston has made a name for itself as hockey town and now that they are back in the senior series should do much to keep up that reputation. The Argos last year ran Berlin a close race for the championship and it is said that they are as strong or even stronger than last year. As for the Marlboros and the Midland teams they have always made a good showing and no doubt will do so again this winter.

In addition to their own games it is probable that the local people will see another game in the senior series played here this year. Midland and the 14th Regiment have been ordered to play a sudden death game either in Peterborough or in Toronto and it is said that they will play here. The long heavy travelling expenses between Midland and Kingston have forced the O. H. A. to take this step.

The application of Preston to play in the senior series was refused by last night's meeting.

ARROWS DEFEAT ALBERT COLLEGE

By the Score of 61-55—A Fast Game Although College Checked Loosely—Arrows Shot Splendidly

In one of the fastest games played in the "Y" recently, the Albert College basketball team suffered defeat at the hands of the Arrows by the score of 61 to 55. It was a good game throughout and at times was very fast and although the Belleville bunch were huskier than the locals still this was practically no hindrance to their playing. The score denotes, justly, the abilities of the two teams. The college boys missed a large number of baskets, but they did not display the same speed as the Arrows. They checked very loosely and their combination was not as effective as the locals'. The half time score was 30-22 in favour of the Arrows, but later on the visitors let loose and once were a few points ahead. But not for long, as the Arrows, then, suddenly braced up and played better than at any other period during the game. The second half was much better, snappier ball being played. The local team played exceedingly well, no weak spots being evident in the team. Darling and Dobson watched the back division in a thorough manner, the former also made splendid shots on goal, especially in the second half when he scored quite a number.

Richardson played his usual effective game at centre. Miller and F. Cressman had their men beat a mile as the saying is. The latter was closely watched in the second half but got away at an opportune time for a pretty basket. His work during the first half was very effective. G. Miller played a steady game throughout and scored a number of baskets from difficult positions.

The Arrows are a well-balanced bunch that can pull off fast plays when forced. Belleville secured quite a number of points on fouls.

The line-up of the teams was:—

Albert College.		Arrows.
	Backs
Goddard		Darling
Frost		Dobson
	Centre.
Dyer		Richardson
	Forwards.
Perkins		G. Miller
Wheeler		F. Cressman

Mr. Dingman made a very successful referee, his decisions being wholly unchallenged.

After the game the Arrows banqueted the College team at McColtum's, where a splendid spread had been prepared. Speeches were made by members of both teams and very pleasant time resulted. Mr. Dingman occupied the chair and assisted very much in making the evening a success.

Notes on the Games

Fred. Cressman would make a good man for a "Follow-your-leader" game.

Dobson played a strong game all through.

Mr. Dingman makes a good referee.

The Arrows had the happy faculty of being on the spot when the ball was there.

Belleville had a number of rooters along and made themselves heard once or twice.

The presence of the large number of ladies was a great encouragement to the boys.

PRACTICE HOURS AT BROCK STREET RINK

Seniors and Four City League Teams Have Arranged Schedule of Hours for the Season

The schedule of practice hours for hockey teams at the Brock street rink for the present season was decided on last night at a joint meeting of the managers of the four City League teams and the secretary of the Rink Company. The senior team will practice this season on the same nights and hours as last year, Monday, Wednesday and Friday from seven to eight o'clock, and the other teams will have the use of the rink on the hours as follows:—

Tuesday and Friday, 5 to 6, Bankers.
Tuesday, 7 to 8, Charlotte Street.
Tuesday, 10 to 11, Strathconas.
Saturday, 7 to 8, Auburns.

It is probable that the City League games will occupy the whole of Thursday evening, the proposal being to run off the junior games between seven and eight o'clock.

HARRIERS THE WINNERS OF FOUR STRAIGHT CAMES

Defeated the O. T. C's Last Night by the Close Score of 44-38

The Harriers last night notched their fourth straight game of the season by trimming the O. T. C's in a scheduled game by 44 points to 38. The victors have not yet been defeated this season but the score last night was the closest against them. The game was a sensational one by way of so many fouls, the winners being more adept on this particular point than the losers.

The Harriers, however, are a fast bunch of basketball players and played much the better game while their shooting was superior to that of the O.T.C's, whose defence was the strongest point.

This game places the Harriers on top of the list, while the O.T.C's are still at the bottom. H. Cressman referred very satisfactorily.

The line-up of the teams was:—

Harriers—Defence, Richardson. Campbell; centre, McIntosh; forwards, J. Best, Robertson.

O. T. C's.—Defence, R. Best, Stratton; centre, Dingman; forwards, McRae, Hurdon.

Referee—H. Cressman.

The first hockey practice of the season will be held to-night at the Brock street rink at 7 o'clock. Not many of the seniors will be able to be out to-night owing to business engagements.

The prospects for the City League this year are of the brightest, judging by the way the newcomers to the city with a reputation as hockey players are being pursued by the energetic managers of the City League teams. Some of the late arrivals are reported to have promised to play with several of the League teams. Every available player in the city is being signed by the teams and the race promises to be more than usually interesting.

Mr. T. W. McDonough is in Toronto to-day representing the local club at the meeting of the O.R.F.U. Some important amendments are to be discussed among them the proposal to adopt the Canadian rugby rules, which is fathered by the Peterborough Club.

BENSFORT FACTORY HAD GOOD SEASON

Annual Meeting of the Factory Was Held Yesterday—Secretary's Report was Favourable

Bensfort Cheese Factory held its annual meeting yesterday afternoon when the affairs of the season were satisfactorily wound up. Mr. Somerville was present and gave an address on the formation of a Cow Testing Association. Although an Association was not formed yesterday it is quite probable the patrons will again take up this important question.

The secretary's report showed that the season had been a splendid one financially, cheese being worth on an average of 12.10c per lb.

The Bensfort factory was distinguished from others, whose reports have been published, by having the lowest quantity of milk to a lb. of cheese.

The officers of the factory are:—
Salesman and Treasurer—John Riddel
Secretary—W. C. Wood.
Maker—J. P. Andrews.
Directors—Jas. Jackson, Robt. Deyell, Wm. Armstrong.

The secretary's report showed the following figures:—

No. lbs. milk received	1,584,486
No. lbs. cheese	176,423
Ave. lbs. milk to lbs. cheese	10.64
Amount received for cheese	$21,359.64
Amount received for whey	$376.89
Amount of interest	$9.95
Total	21,936.48
Ave. price per lb. cheese	12.10c

The New York Stock Market

(Furnished by J. R. Heintz & Co.)

New York, Dec. 8.—Profit-taking sales to-day following yesterday's advance, checked the upward movement in stocks somewhat. Opening prices were generally fractionally lower, but there was little change from that until the close. A buying movement in Republic Steel carried it to new high figures, as predicted a couple of weeks ago, talk of a dividend for the common soon being responsible for the advance. C.P.R. was held steady by realizing sales at about a point lower.

The bank statement, as expected, was very bad, and after its appearance the market sagged a little and then rallied toward the close. Money is the predominating influence in stocks, and upon it will depend the course of prices for the next few weeks. We will surely see higher prices if the monetary situation be relieved, as we believe it will be.

MR. PERCY WHITE RETURNS FROM VISIT IN THE WEST

Spent Four Months in Manitoba and May Return to Calgary in Near Future

Mr. Percy White returned to this city last night after a four months' visit in the West. He reports having had a very good time, as well as a fairly busy one. He left Peterborough in August and since then has been in most of the important cities and towns in Manitoba. At present the farmers are busily engaged in drawing grain and as there is a very great scarcity of freight cars on the elevators, are nearly all filled up. Mr. White spoke as though the West pleased him very much, and, in fact, he may return to Calgary where a good position has been offered him.

AT CORNELL UNIVERSITY

Slowly Roasted Under a Heap of Burning Debris of Beautiful Chi Psi Fraternity House, Which Was Totally Destroyed—Heroic Attempts at Rescue—Whole City of Ithaca, N. Y., in Mourning.

Ithaca, N.Y., Dec. 8.—All day smoke has drifted across the Cornell campus from the ruins of the Chi Psi fraternity house, the burning of which at an early hour yesterday morning was attended with a loss of life that has thrown not only the university, but the whole city into mourning.

Last night the dead numbered seven. Of these four were students, and the others prominent townsmen, who had responded to the alarm as volunteer firemen.

Among the students who escaped death in the flames, seven were injured, and of these C. J. Pope of East Orange, N.J., it is feared, will not long survive. He was removed to the City Hospital after having been badly burned, and last night his condition has not perceptibly improved.

The bodies of the dead, with the exception of those of W. H. Nichols of Chicago, and F. W. Grelle of East Orange, N.J. were recovered. Last night it was decided to dynamite the ruins to facilitate the search for the missing bodies. The dead:

The Death Roll.

Attorney Alfred S. Robinson, hook and ladder company No. 3.

John C. Rumsey, hardware merchant, Hose Company No. 1.

E. J. Landon, salesman, Hose Company No. 4.

F. W. Grelle, East Orange, N.J.

O. L. Schmuck, Hanover, Pa.

W. H. Nichols, Chicago.

James McCutcheon, Jr., Pittsburg.

Injured: W. W. Goetz, Milwaukee; H. A. Uihlien, Milwaukee; C. R. Sailor, Pittsburg; C. J. Pope, East Orange, N.J.

The heroism of the volunteer firemen who died at the fire was matched by the heroism of Schmuck, who re-entered the flames in a futile effort to save Nichols, his room-mate, and who died later from his injuries; and by the courage of McCutcheon, who remained in the flames until fatally burned to assist his comrades to escape. Pope, who is a freshman, received his injuries while seeking to rescue other members of the fraternity.

Origin a Mystery.

The cause of the fire probably will never be known.

The building is an unsightly wreck, with no particle of its inner furniture remaining. Cornell is deprived of one of its landmarks. The lodge was built in 1881 by Jennie McGraw Fiske, at a cost of $130,000. The daughter of the lumber king, John McGraw, who was one of Cornell's early benefactors, however, never enjoyed her palatial home after death. Around the house have clustered the memory of the great fight for the Fiske millions waged between Prof. William Fiske, the husband, and Judge Boardman, as the representative of Cornell, to which Mrs. Fiske had left the bulk of her estate.

Exhausted Nerves Lead to Insanity

IT IS WISE TO KEEP THE NERVOUS SYSTEM IN FULL HEALTH AND VIGOR BY USING

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food

The leading artist of a great New York newspaper committed suicide recently because, on his return home he found his apartments in disorder, the painters and decorators being in possession.

This is an illustration of overwrought nerves leading to insanity, and, whatever may be the last straw to unbalance the mind, there can be no doubt that exhaustion of the nerves is always a cause of mental collapse.

Diseases of the nerves are common to all walks of life, and the earlier symptoms are sleeplessness, nervous headache, loss of memory, inability to concentrate the mind, indigestion, tired, languid feelings, discouragement and despondency.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food cures diseases of the nerves in the only natural way, by actually increasing the amount of nerve force in the body.

By its regular and persistent use the most severe forms of nervous exhaustion, such as partial paralysis, prostration, and locomotor ataxia, are thoroughly and completely cured.

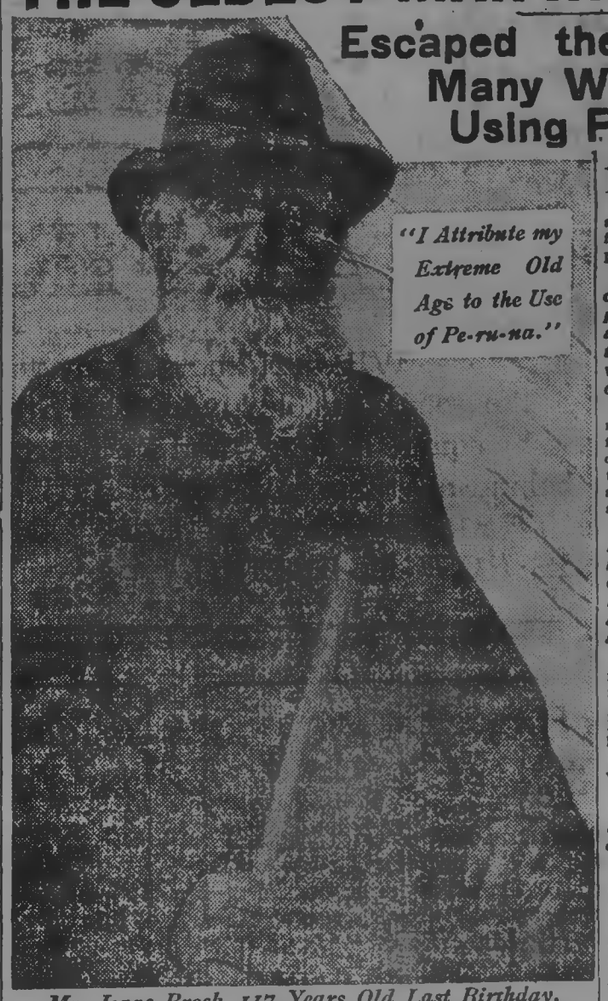
Mrs. J. Hatcher, 224 Sherbrooke street, Peterborough, Ont., and whose husband is a moulder at the Hamilton Foundry, writes:

"I had an attack of inflammatory rheumatism, which left me in a very run-down state of health, and in fact, my whole nervous system seemed exhausted and worn out. I could not sleep, and at times the pain in my head were almost unbearable. As a result of these symptoms, I was unable to attend to my house work, and felt miserable most of the time. On the advice of a friend, I began using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and can say that it has proved a very great benefit to me. I am able to do my own work now, and feel stronger and healthier than I have for years. I can truthfully state that this is due to the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, which I consider a great health builder."

If you would feel strong and well and avoid all the ills and weaknesses and avoid all the ills and weaknesses so common at this season, enrich your blood and revitalize your nerves by the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. 50 cents a box, 6 boxes for $2.50 at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.—5

THE OLDEST MAN IN AMERICA

Escaped the Terrors of Many Winters By Using Pe-ru-na.



"I Attribute my Extreme Old Age to the Use of Pe-ru-na."

Mr. Isaac Brock, 117 Years Old Last Birthday.

ISAAC BROCK, a citizen of McLennan county, Texas, has lived for 117 years. For many years he resided at Bosque Falls, eighteen miles west of Waco, but now lives with his son-in-law at Valley Mills, Texas.

Some time ago, by request, Uncle Isaac came to Waco and sat for his picture, holding in his hand a stick cut from the grave of General Andrew Jackson. Mr. Brock is a dignified old gentleman, showing few signs of decrepitude. His family Bible is still preserved, and it shows that the date of his birth was written 117 years ago.

Born before the United States were formed.
Saw 22 Presidents elected.
Pe-ru-na has protected him from all sudden changes.
Veteran of four wars.
Shod a horse when 99 years old.
Always conquered the grip with Pe-ru-na.
Witness in a land suit at the age of 110 years.
Believes Pe-ru-na the greatest remedy of the age for catarrhal troubles.

IN speaking of his good health and extreme old age, Mr. Brock says:

"After a man has lived in the world as long as I have, he ought to have found out a great many things by experience. I think I have done so.

"One of the things I have found out to my entire satisfaction is the proper thing for ailments that are due directly to the effects of the climate. For 117 years I have withstood the changeable climate of the United States.

"I have always been a very healthy man, but, of course, subject to the affections which are due to sudden changes in the climate and temperature. During my long life I have known a great many remedies for coughs, colds and diarrhoea.

"As for Dr. Hartman's remedy, Peruna, I have found it to be the best, if not the only, reliable remedy for these affections. It has been my standby for many years, and I attribute my good health and extreme old age to this remedy.

"It exactly meets all my requirements. It protects me from the evil effects of sudden changes; it keeps me in good appetite; it gives me strength; it keeps my blood in good circulation. I have come to rely upon it almost entirely for the many little things for which I need medicine.

"When epidemics of la grippe first began to make their appearance in this country I was a sufferer from this disease.

"I had several long sieges with the grip. At first I did not know that Peruna was a remedy for this disease. When I heard that la grippe was epidemic catarrh, I tried Peruna for la grippe and found it to be just the thing."

In a later letter, Mr. Brock writes:

"I am well and feeling as well as I have for years. The only thing that bothers me is my sight. If I could see better I could walk all over the farm, and it would do me good. I would not be without Peruna."

Yours truly,

Isaac Brock,

When old age comes, it brings with it catarrhal diseases. Systemic catarrh is almost universal in old people. This explains why Peruna has become so indispensable to many old people.

FATAL HEAD-ON COLLISION.

Fireman Wedged In Debris Could Not Be Saved From Cremation.

Lewiston, Maine, Dec. 8.—Four persons were killed and three others seriously injured in a head-on collision between a special and a regular freight train on the Maine Central Railroad near the small station of Annabessa cook late Thursday night. The wreck was said to be due to a misunderstanding of orders. Both trains were going so fast when they met that eight of the thirteen cars of the special were hurled over the engine and demolished with the greater part of the contents. The track was blocked for hours.

Fireman Hodges of the special was wedged so tightly between the engine and tender that it was impossible to remove him, and he was slowly burned to death by the live coals of his machine. Engineers Harriman and Fletcher, and Brakeman Rowe were buried in the piles of wreckage.

Plows Through Work Gang.

New York, Dec. 8.—A theatre train on the New York Central and Hudson River Railroad about midnight last night plowed through a gang of workingmen on the Harlem River bridge of the New York Central and Hudson River Railroad, instantly killing one of the men and fatally injuring another. The workmen were installing a signal system on the third rail system for the Central Electric trains. The man killed was John Kaiser, address unknown, and the man fatally hurt, John Baumgarten.

C.P.R. Elevator Burned.

Fort William, Dec. 8.—The Canadian Pacific Railway's elevator, "D," caught fire yesterday morning and was totally destroyed by 1 p.m. The origin of the fire is unknown. Loss, $350,000; insured.

C. N. R. Shops Burn.

Winnipeg, Dec. 8. About 4 o'clock yesterday morning with the thermometer 39 below, fire broke out in the C. N. R. boiler shops. A locomotive undergoing repairs and much valuable machinery was destroyed. The loss is estimated at $60,000. The fire is supposed to have originated from a workman's torch.

Fires Elsewhere.

Adams, Mass., Dec. 8.—The Susan D. Anthony House in this town was burned yesterday at a loss of $12,000.

Walpole, Mass., Dec. 8.—Fire early yesterday destroyed the main building of the Bradford Lewis & Son paper mills in this town, causing a loss estimated at about $50,000.

Holyoke, Mass., Dec. 8.—Two large business blocks on High street, in the centre of the Holyoke business district, were destroyed by fire yesterday, causing a loss of $200,000.

Pittsburg, Dec. 8.—The plant of the International Portland Cement Co. at Elizabeth, Pa., near here, was damaged by fire yesterday, to the extent of $200,000.

The Brooklyn suspension bridge cost $16,000,000, which is much more than the cost of the Forth bridge.

BRONCHITIS CAN BE CURED

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup Will Do It.

Bronchitis is generally the result of a cold caused by inclement weather or exposure to wet, and is a very dangerous inflamatory affection of the bronchial tubes.

The symptoms are tightness across the chest, sharp pains and difficulty in breathing, and a secretion of thick phlegm, at first white, but later of a greenish or yellowish color.

Neglected Bronchitis is one of the most general causes of consumption, so cure it at once by the use of

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup

Mrs. S. Fidder, Linton's, N.B., writes: "I feel it my duty to let you know of my experience with Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. My little girl was very low with Bronchitis and our doctor did all in his power for her, but could only give her relief for a short time. My husband saw your medicine advertised, and immediatly procured three bottles. I never saw anything give so much relief in so short a time. It stopped the annoying cough at night and she is now perfectly cured. I am so glad I can hardly express my gratitude for what Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup has done for us."

EMPLOYEE OF DREDGE PICKED UP HUMAN SKULL

Was Brought From the Bottom of the Otonabee by the Big Shovel

Yesterday Mr. Allen Armstrong, who has been employed at the dredge which is orking below the Hunter street bridge, called at the Examiner office with a human skull, which he had found while at work the other day. Mr. Armstrong stated that it had been pulled from the bottom of the river by the big shovel of the dredge. It was sent down on a truck with the debris to be deposited where the river front is being filled in. While Mr. Armstrong was spreading the material he discovered the skull.

It was very thick and appeared to have been used by a medical student, as several marks were made as if they had been cut with a saw.

PETERBOROUGH BOY GREETED FELLOW STUDENTS

Rev. A. J. Brace Met Methodist Missionaries at Vancouver and Wished Them Godspeed on a Long Journey

A UNIQUE GATHERING OF VIC STUDENTS

The departure of the Methodist Missionaries for the far East to engage in work, under the auspices of the Missionary Society, has a peculiar interest to Peterborough residents, by reason of the fact that one of the most popular young ladies in the city was one of the party, and Mrs. H. D. Robertson's many friends here, as well as in other Ontario cities will be interested in the following story of their departure from Vancouver, as told in the Toronto Globe despatches:—

The above arrived at Vancouver on the preceding Saturday, and on Sunday a great field day was held, at which they all spoke of their aims and of their hopes with regard to their new field. On Monday evening the majority came down to Victoria and a platform meeting of great interest was held in the Metropolitan Methodist Church. A dramatic touch was given to this service by the presence of Rev. Dr. E. Robson, who has been fifty years a minister, and who was one of the four original missionaries to be sent to British Columbia from New York, and the last of that hardy band to survive. They travelled by way of Panama. Dr. Robson on being sent from New York received the blessing of a venerable doctor of divinity, at that time the last remaining link between the Methodism of Canada and of the States. As the surviving tie between the British Columbia Methodism of to-day and its pioneer form, he transferred that benediction to the band who have just departed for the far East.

Mr. Brace There

Another incident of unique interest might also be mentioned. At the outbreak of the Boer war A. J. Brace, then a theological student at Victoria College, Toronto, volunteered for service as a trooper in one of the mounted rifle contingents. The students of Victoria turned out en masse to give him a fitting send-off. By one of those odd coincidences which show how small the old world is, five of the boys who helped to cheer Brace to the front, were in the party which left here yesterday, and Brace, now secretary of the Victoria Y.M.C.A., gave them the Victoria College yell lustily as they in turn steamed off for the "firing line" in far Sychuan.

The Methodists of Toronto and of Ontario generally will doubtless be interested in hearing of the last few moments these young people spent on Canadian soil, and of how they went to their duties. Most of the day was spent most enjoyably, the guests of Victoria Methodists, in tally-ho drives and other forms of entertainment, in weather of the delightful character which has made Victoria's climate famous. About 4.30 in the afternoon they gathered at the ocean docks to await the outbound Empress of China. It was about 5 in the evening when the long, yacht-like lines of the C.P.R. liner could be descried through the gloom which was gathering over the sea, and it was then that the spirit of jollity which had been prevalent sobered somewhat. On the end of a pile Mr. Wallace wrote out a farewell message to the venerable Missionary Secretary, Dr. Sutherland, which all signed. The next hour was spent in finding state rooms and watching a multitude (about 600) of Chinese, bound home for New Year's, get themselves and their varied beauu-baggage aboard. At 6.30 the bell rang to clear the ship, fast adieus were taken, the lines were cast off and the great craft drew out to sea. It was a time to test men as well as women, but one and all bore it like Trojans. Jolliffe's young bride turned her face away as her husband shouted gaily to friends on the wharf, "We've crossed the Rubicon," but it was only for a moment. Like the other women, she smiled bravely as the vessel cleared the docks.

Those who remember the doleful accompaniments to the sailing of such parties even ten or fifteen years ago will scarcely be prepared for the statement that there was absolutly nothing lugubrious in the leave-taking. A verse or two of "God Be With You Till We Meet Again" was sung, but not by the missionaries. Instead in stentorian tones the young fellows bellowed the "Rah, rah, rah!" of old Victoria College, and sang the college songs. Pride of alma mater as well as religious zeal was everywhere evident. It was fitting that there, the knight-errantry of modern Methodism, should go to their places with a militant shout upon their lips rather than the sombre songs which in other days were the invariable accompaniments to such a farewell.

The party have a long and tedious river journey to negotiate, which will likely employ them till March, when they expect to reach their destination.

WEDDING BELLS

NICHOLLS--NELSON

The Lakefield News says this week: At 6 o'clock on Wednesday evening a very pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thompson Braden, when Mrs. Braden's youngest sister, Mrs. Ada E. Nelson, was married to Mr. Raymond Burritt Nicholls, of Memphis, Tenn. The bride was given away by her uncle, Mr. L. Steele, and wore a pretty gown of cream voile with lace and medallion trimmings, and carried a sheaf bouquet of white chrysanthemums. Only the immediate relatives of the bride and groom were present. The officiating clergyman was Rev. S. Sutherland Burns. After congratulations, an adjournment was made to the dining-room, where the wedding supper was served. Later in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Nicholls left for Peterborough, and from there left for Chicago to visit friends, on the way to their southern home. Mrs. Nicholls will be much missed in Lakefield, but her many friends wish both her and her husband many years of happiness.

MINATURE TOBOGGAN SLIDE; A UNIQUE DEVICE

Window of Mr. A. Gibson is Attracting Great Attention

A very unique and attractive window can be seen at the store of Mr. Alex. Gibson, George street. The formation of the window represents a hill of snow with a neat toboggan slide, over which pass toboggans laden with some exquisite designs of pins and brooches, suitable for Christmas gifts. The toboggans are always in motion, being driven by clockwork, and the slide is a very clever and ingenious mechanical device. Much credit is due Mr. A. Sollett, who is deserving of the highest praise for his original design. The window is one of the most unique advertising designs seen here for a long time.

A BOBCAYGEON RECTOR GOING TO LAKEFIELD

Rev. Mr. Creighton Decides to Accept Invitation of St. John's Church, Lakefield, to Become Rector of that Church

SEVENTEEN YEARS IN BOBCAYGEON

The Bobcaygeon Independent says: For some little time it has been understood that Rev. Mr. Creighton might possibly sever his connection with the parish. Rev. Mr. Warren, of Lakefield, having decided to take a Diocesan appointment, the congregation of the Lakefield church expressed a preference for Rev. Mr. Creighton, as a successor. The Bishop of the Diocese notified Mr. Creighton of the wishes of Lakefield, and expressed his approval if Mr. Creighton should accept. On Sunday last Mr. Creighton announced to the Christ Church congregation that after serious reflection, he had accepted the call, and his resignation of the incumbency would be made. Mr. Creighton had had charge of the parish for the last seventeen years, and has made friends with the whole community through his uniform agreeability. His influence has been towards a drawing together of the various branches of the church, and the establishment of a general feeling of that good fellowship which undoubtedly should exist in every Christian community, professing good will and charity to all men. Mr. Creighton has many friends who will regret his departure, and wish him a successful and pleasant career in his new field of labour.

TURNER'S HOSPITAL TENTS ARE IN DEMAND

Ten Orders From Stratford, Another From Millbrook—Toronto Camping Party Outfits at Local House

The hospital tents manufactured by Messrs. J. J. Turner and Sons evidently give good satisfaction. To-day the firm received an order from Stratford for a double tent, which makes the tenth tent ordered by that city from the local firm. To-day an order was also received from Wobbwood for a double hospital tent. A large order was received by telephone from Toronto, from a party of eight who are going to Cobalt to camp. They are ordering everything necessary to a camping outfit, and left the selection entirely with the Messrs. Turner, an evidence of the confidence which they place in the judgment of the firm. That a Toronto party should pass over the camp outfitting firms in that city and come to Peterborough to do their buying is a tribute to the quality of goods manufactured by the local concern.

SYDNEY COMPROMISES A SETTLEMENT

Steel and Coal Companies Patch Up a Truce For Two Years.

AN ALL NIGHT CONFERENCE

Steel Company to Get Coal at a New Figure and Courts to Decide Validity of Old Contract—Large Part of Credit of Settlement Due to Hon. W. S. Fielding Who Worked Untiringly.

Montreal, Dec. 8.—After an all-night session, the Dominion Coal and Steel Companies patched up their now famous dispute. It is not a final settlement; that has to be determined in the courts; but a two years' agreement has been entered into by which the Steel Company pays the Coal Company $1.50 aditional per ton, making the price about $2.75 instead of $1.24, as formerly.

The Steel people will receive the grades of coal they desire at the new prices.

In the meantime a friendly suit, if there be such, will be indulged in by the two companies to have the courts decide what damage, if any, the Coal Company shall pay for their refusal to allow the Steel people to pick their coal. If the court decides in favor of the Coal interests, then a new contract at the increased prices will be made at the end of the two years.

Mr. Plummer is emphatic in his statements that the present arrangement is binding for two years only.

A very large part of the credit of settling the dispute must be given to Hon. W. S. Fielding, who came down from Ottawa Thursday and practically spent all day and night in conferring with the two boards and bringing them to terms. Some days ago a settlement seemed as far away as ever, but the friendly offices of Mr. Fielding have worked wonders.

General satisfaction is expressed here among all classes of people at the successful termination of the long-drawn-out dispute, and warm words of praise are given to Mr. Fielding for his splendid success.

GERMANY AND MOROCCO.

Bill Ratifying Algeciras Convention Passes Reichstag.

Berlin, Dec. 8.—The Reichstag yesterday discussed the Algeciras convention. Foreign Minister Tschirsky explained Germany's position throughout the Moroccan conference. In the meanwhile, the secretary added, preparatory steps had been taken for the enforcement of the Algeciras convention.

In reply to a question, he said the Franco-Spanish note contained a declaration that the measures of the two powers were only designed to have a quieting effect upon the Moroccan population. The same note had been handed to all the powers. Germany, the secretary continued, had no occasion to oppose the joint action of France and Spain.

Finally the bill ratifying the Algeciras convention passed its first and second reading.

FEARS FOR LAKE STEAMERS.

Sarnia Crew, Lost Sight of In a Storm, Is Missing.

Detroit, Dec. 8.—Grave fears are entertained regarding the steamer Lake Michigan and the wooden steamer Sidney C. McLouth.

The Lake Michigan, with a crew of 12, mostly from Sarnia, Ont., has not been reported since she cast away the barge Wawanosh, in Thursday's storm, the barge being wrecked later near Oscoda.

The McLouth, formerly known as the Rochester, of the Union Line, carries a crew of 20 men, most of whom reside at Marine City, Mich. The McLouth left Fort William Monday night for Buffalo. Capt. J. M. Shackett commands the McLouth and Capt. Charles Millard is master and part owner of the Lake Michigan.

BOLOMEN ATTACK AND KILL.

U. S. Detachment Loses Five Killed and Ten Wounded In Philippines.

Manila, Dec. 8.—Later reports of the fighting in the Island of Leyte, Dec. 5, show that Capt. Samuel V. Ham, with a detachment of Company L of the 8th Infantry, and a force of constabulary under Lieut. Ralph P. Yates, Jr., were attacked by 60 bolomen near LaPaz on the Taragona trail.

The Pulajanes, who had a few guns, fired a volley, and then made a rush upon the American force with their bolos. Five Americans were killed and ten were wounded. The enemy lost twenty killed. A detachment has started in pursuit of the insurgents.

Admits Forgery.

London, Dec. 8.—At the police court yesterday morning Frederick Ryckman, the young man who was arrested Thursday on a charge of forgery, pleaded guilty to four charges of forging cheques, and was remanded until Saturday, Dec. 15, for sentence. Ryckman is married, 27 years of age, and came here with his wife from Hamilton to reside about three weeks ago.

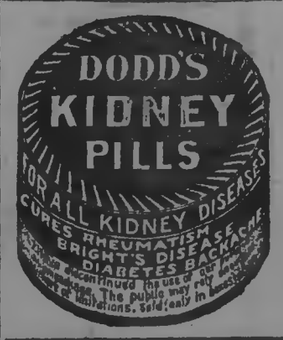
Ottawa Wins Inter-College Debate.

Toronto, Dec. 8.—Ottawa College and University of Toronto debated last night on the subject, "Resolved, that the action of the British House of Lords in relation to the English education bill of 1906 is justifiable." Ottawa took the affirmative, and won.

Rome, Dec. 8.—Dr. Lapponi, physician to the Pope, died at 7 o'clock yesterday morning. He had been seriously ill for some time of cancer of the stomach, and, pneumonia setting in, he could not in his weakened condition withstand its ravages.

It is reported that before losing consciousness Dr. Lapponi, referring to the Pope, said:

"He has a strong constitution and, having studied him carefully, I think he will live longer than Leo XIII."



EMIGRANTS IN TROUBLE.

Thousands Held In Italian Ports .... Through Strike of Sailors.....

Naples, Dec. 8.—The strike on the part of the men employed on the trans-Atlantic steamers has resulted in a serious congestion of emigrants here. All sailing dates for America have been cancelled.

Thousands of the emigrants held in Naples are in a most critical condition. Having sold all they possessed they are practically without resources, and are losing opportunities previously secured to go to work in America.

The emigration bureau of the Government has ordered that the concentration of emigrants in Italian ports be discontinued, as disorders are feared.

Want Share of Profits.

Genoa, Dec. 8.—The managers of the Italian steamship companies whose vessels call here have decided to suspend all sailing dates for December.

The strikers have issued a statement setting forth that the expenses incurred by a company for the round trip of an ordinary steamer like the Lombardia are $33,600. The gross returns amount to $76,200, and the net profit is consequently $42,600. The strikers ask that $2,600 of this net profit be devoted to meeting their demands.

The companies, because of the strike, have already returned to would-be passengers a sum equivalent to 10,000 paid fares.

'FRISCO'S BIG FIRE LOSS.

25,000 Buildings Destroyed, Valued at $350,000,000.

San Francisco, Dec. 8.—The report of the special committee of the board of trustees of the Chamber of Commerce on insurance settlements after the big fire, which has just been published, says:

"The total area burned was about 800 acres, or about 4.7 square miles, containing 520 blocks and about 25,000 buildings, one-half of which were residences.

"The amount of insurance covering property in the burned district was approximately $235,00,000 (estimated). The value of buildings and contents destroyed in the fire must have been about $350,000,000, being an estimate upon the insurance liability, the known ratio of insurance to value (about 70 per cent.) and a guess that there was about 5 per cent. of property that carried no insurance."

California Quakes Again.

San Luis Obispo, Calif., Dec. 8.—At 10.40 o'clock Thursday night this city experienced an earthquake which lasted more than 30 seconds. The shock was from north to south. Half an hour later a second shock was felt, but was not so pronounced as the first. The earthquake also was felt at Santa Maria, Quadalupe, Cayucos and Cambria. At the latter place articles were shaken from shelves. No perceptible damage was sustained here.

LONDON AND POWER.

Hon. Adam Beck Explains Liability of Taxpayer and Municipality.

London, Dec. 8.—Hon. Adam Beck and the engineers of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission were here yesterday, pointing out to a score of delegates from the municipalities of Woodstock, St. Thomas, Tillsonburg and Ingersoll, the various aspects of the Niagara power project.

Mr. Beck explained that the position of the taxpayer was simply this: No debentures were issued, no capital invested, the credit of the city was not impaired, because the Government's credit brought the power to the door of the municipality. The Commission regulated the rates to consumers. The taxpayer who did not use the power did not pay one dollar. The consumer paid the shot.

The liability of the municipality, Mr. Beck explained, as at Brantford and Berlin. He touched on the observations of a Toronto engineer, that stepping up the power for that city would cost more than the commission estimated.

"There will be no further expense," said the chairman of the Commission, "in stepping it up to 60,000 volts at Niagara Falls, ready to send out to Toronto. We have our contract already."

New Rules For Trains.

Ottawa, Dec. 8.—The Railway Commission has prepared rules to govern the operation of trains at level crossings throughout the country that are protected by interlocking and derailing appliances. When a clear signal is shown passenger trains must be reduced to a speed of 38 miles an hour and freight trains to 20 miles an hour.

THE POLICY ON COLD STORAGE

Hon. Sydney Fisher's Scheme Endorsed by the House.

TO IMPROVE OUR PRODUCTS

Has Already Added Greatly to Country's Wealth—Cheese, Fruit and Other Exports Enormously Increased In Value by System—Resolution Reported and Bill Based Thereon Given Its First Reading.

Ottawa, Dec. 8.—Hon. Sydney Fisher's scheme to still further increase the prosperity of the agricultural, fruit-growing, and fishing communities of the various Provinces by encouraging the establishment and operation of cold-storage warehouses is meeting with general favor from both sides of the House. The debate on the resolution was confined to members representing rural constituencies, and the only discordant note was sounded by Mr. Geo. Taylor, Chief Conservative Whip, who asserted that this was another fad of Mr. Fisher's. Messrs. Derbyshire (Brockville), Dr. Sproule (East Grey), M. S. Schell (South Oxford), Dr. Chisholm (East Huron), David Henderson (Halton), and Mr. R. L. Borden all endorsed the proposition. It was suggested that the grant be made in a lump sum, and that it might be advisable to complete the chain by providing similar facilities at Liverpool. The latter suggestion was received sympathetically by Mr. Fisher, who expressed his readiness to consider a practical suggestion.

Mr. McCarthy introduced his bill to amend the steamboat inspection act, 1898, having reference to the granting of certificates to engineers on steamboats, which was read a first time.

The Cold-Storage Warehouses.

The House then proceeded to consider the cold-storage resolutions introduced by the Minister of Agriculture. Supplementing his previous remarks, Mr. Fisher said that he thought it was the duty of the Government to assist an industry which would confer great benefit on the country and be a profitable investment. He thought that the country would be hurt if the cold-storage industry were not firmly established, and it was for these reasons that the scheme was placed before the House. The only excuse for the Government giving this assistance was that there was a sure hope and expectation that local cold-storage warehouses would be profitable. Therefore, the Government were justified in helping in the preliminary period when an unaided enterprise might not prove profitable enough in the ordinary commercial sense, to secure a fair return for the capital invested and insure the proper carrying on of the enterprise. The Government had a precedent in the creameries which private enterprise attempted to establish in Alberta some twelve or thirteen years ago. The people of that time were not sufficiently favorably disposed towards the scheme to secure the profitable working of the creameries. Perhaps the enterprise was a little before its time and the new settlers did not take hold of the intention of the enterprise in the same intelligent way as the farmers in other parts of Canada did. In 1896-7 the Government found considerable capital invested in those creameries, the majority of which were either in liquidation or arrested in their operations. The country was suitable for the establishment of creameries, and in a few years after the Government took action they were established on a firm basis and now formed the most successful organization of the kind in Canada. Something similar was done with regard to cold-storage on steamships, with the result that practically all the ships now coming to Canada were fitted with cold-storage or cooling chambers for perishable products.

Help Them In the Beginning.

Already certain cold-storage enterprises had been established privately, which had got through the initial stages and become useful to the community, proving the value of the system. In a large section of the country, however, there was no such accommodation, and it seemed to him that as a consequence trade in perishable food products was suffering. He felt that at the present time eggs, poultry, meat, especially, and fish, were crying out for cold-storage accommodation, and that the time had arrived for those demands to be met if possible. The reason Government assistance was necessary was in order that investors might be encouraged to put their capital into these enterprises, of which they were a bit fearful. They would be assured of safety during the unprofitable period, and he was sure that two or three years would be sufficient to place the enterprises on a profitable basis. At the conventions of fruit-growers and others during the last year or two there had been a constant demand for cold-storage, which would enable the people to hold their crop until the market was suitable to take it. While he could not accept all the estimates of waste in the apple crop owing to lack of cold-storage, or of the extent to which that waste would be prevented, such losses were no doubt great. If local cold-storage were established apples could be held, preventing waste, and an enormous profit brought to those engaged in the business. In estimating the cost of the establishment of cold-storage and the profits to be gained, the value of the articles stored must be considered. Apples were a difficult article to store, and were of comparatively low value. For instance, a cubic foot of butter was worth ten times as much as one of apples, and therefore in applying the scheme all these points of demand and cost would have to be considered. Cold-storage for fish was required in the Maritime Provinces. To a large extent the supply of fresh sea fish for Ontario came through the United States from the Canadian Provinces, owing to lack of cold-storage in that part of Canada, and it was hoped to make some advance in that direction by means of the present scheme.

Inspection and Control.

It was intended to provide for periodical official inspection and sanitary control. With regard to the manner of giving assistance, Mr. Fisher repeated his proposals that 10 per cent. of the total cost be paid on completion of the building, and 5 per cent. per annum for four years, making a total bonus of 30 per cent. This he considered would give the necessary assistance over the unprofitable period. He would have liked to introduce a regulation whereby the continuance of the use of the building for the purpose for which it was erected would be secured after the bonus period, and security for the investment be assured, but was afraid any suggestion of mortgage or lien would prevent the rapid and immediate investment he desired to encourage.

After speeches by Messrs. Derbyshire, Taylor, Sproule, Schell, Smith, Chisholm (Huron), Henderson and Borden, the resolution was reported, and a bill founded thereon was given first reading.

The House adjourned at 6 p.m.

Promoters' Must Pay.

London, Dec. 8.—(C. A. P.)—In the King's Bench Division Christopher and Roney, solicitors, recovered £623 against White, Leachman & Workman, promoters of the Western Canada Pulp Paper Co., for work done in the formation of the company. The defendants' counter for alleged negligence was dismissed.

Dinner to "Tiger" Captain.

Hamilton, Dec. 8.—Last evening at the Waldorf Hotel a complimentary dinner was tendered by the Hamilton Football Club to S. S. Dumoulin, the Tiger captain, who has been made manager of the Teeswater branch of the Bank of Hamilton. A Persian lamb cap and gauntlets were presented to Mr. Dumoulin.

NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE

"I am sending you my photograph to show what Newbro's Herpicide has done for me.
Since I first tried Herpicide upon my hair I have used it exclusively in giving scalp treatments to others, and I would not think of trying to get along without it."
(Signed) MRS. ANNA CONNER.
2807 Archer Ave., Chicago, Ill.

Mrs. Anna Conner

Hundreds of lady scalp specialists and hair dressers use and recommend Newbro's Herpicide, instead of products of their own manufacture upon which a much larger profit could be made. They claim that Herpicide makes friends for them and gives much better satisfaction. Some hair dressers use Herpicide for obstinate cases only, but why not use the best first?

Herpicide is a delightful dressing that can be used when there is no disease of hair or scalp, and as an actual remedy for dandruff, itching scalp and falling hair it stands in a class singularly its own.

Many ladies object to a gummy and sticky hair dressing, or one that is full of sedimentary chemicals intended to dye the hair. The marked preference for a clean and dainty preparation, particularly one that overcomes excessive oiliness and leaves the hair light and fluffy, is reflected in the enormous sale of Newbro's Herpicide. Discriminating ladies become enthusiastic over its refreshing quality and exquisite fragrance. It stops itching of the scalp almost instantly.

To do something, however small, to make others happier and better, is the highest ambition, the most elevating hope, which can inspire a human being.—Lord Avebury.

WITH THE SAGES

If you are dreaming of a future goal,
When, crowned with glory, men shall own your power;
Be careful that you let no struggling soul
Go by unaided in the present hour.
—E. Wheeler Wilcox.

Life is a duty which we must fulfill. We are in the world, doubtless, in order to be happy; but the well disposed find their highest happiness in the performance of their duties.—Von Humboldt.

The good things of life are not to be had singly, but come to us with a mixture; like a schoolboy's holiday, with a task affixed to the tail of it.—Charles Lamb.

Whether you be men or women, you will never do anything in the world without courage. It is the greatest quality of the mind, next to honour.—James Allen.

Trials teach us what we are; they dig up the soil, and let us see what we are made of; they just turn up some of the ill weeds on to the surface.—Spurgeon.

You must make it quite clear to your own mind which you're most bent upon, popularity or usefulness—else you may happen to miss both.—George Eliot.

We must not only cultivate our friends, but our own power of friendship; we must preserve it with care, tend it and wear it, so to speak.—Joubert.

I have lived to know that the great secret of human happiness is this; never suffer your energies to stagnate.—Dr. Adam Clarke.

All the work of the world is merely partaking advantage of energies already there.—Henry Drummond.

If we cannot get what we like, let us try to like what we can get.—Spanish Proverb.

Opportunity is more powerful even than conquerors and prophets.—Disraeli.

The greatest misfortune of all is, not to be able to bear misfortune.—Bias.

Who overcomes by force hath overcome but half his foe.—Milton.

S. S. LESSON.

Lesson x., December 9.—Jesus on the Cross.—Luke, 23; 33-46.

Golden Text.—"Father forgive them; for they know not what they do."—Luke 23; 34.

NOTES.

The Place and the Time—Jesus was crucified just outside the city of Jerusalem, on a skull-shaped mound called Calvary. This term is from a Latin word meaning a skull; the Greek equivalent, Golgotha, comes from the Aramaic. The Crucifixion tookkp lace on Friday, April 7, A. D., 30 and lasted from 9 a. m. to 3 p.m.

Between the Lessons.—Pilate, realizing that the Jews had determined that Jesus should die, took water and washed his hands to signify that he was innocent of the blood of the Sinless One. At the same time, fearing the people, he delivered Jesus to his enemies and to death, and released Barabbas. After Jesus and again been mocked, the purple robe was taken off and his own clothes returned to Him He then went forth to the place of crucifixion, bearing his ccross. On the way, the procession met Simon, a Cyrenian, who was compelled to help Jesus carry the cross. Jesus turned to the crowd, and bade them weep not for Him, but for themselves and their children. In due time he and the two malefactors who were led forth with him arrived at the place of crucifixion,

The third word from the Cross is the sweetest to Mary, "Behold thy Son" to John, Behold thy mother!" Thus it is, following His example upon the Cross, that Christ would have us care for His brothers and His children whom He left upon the earth; for, as He said, whoever does the will of His Father, the same is His brother, and sister, and mother. The most human of these utterances is the fourth, "I thirst". His physical sufferings were far less we know, than those of the soul, and yet they were terrible. If we pity them, and wish to make some return for them, He has provided an easy way. We have only to give a cup of cold water to one of His little ones, and we are giving it to Him.

The saddest world from the Cross, the saddest words ever spoken, is the fifth, My God, my God, why hast Thou forsaken Me?" That sense of separation from His Father was the climax of Christ's sufferings, and nothing but our sins could have caused it. What return for that can we make, save to separate ourselves from our sins, forever?

The most regal word from the Cross is the sixth, "It is finished." What was finished? Christ's part in our salvation. What was not finished, because it could not be? Our part. What glory, to be allowed to complete something that Christ has begun!

The most peaceful word from the Cross is the last 'Father, into Thy hands I commend My Spirit." It was a dark way upon which our Lord was entering—dark to Him, but no longer dark to us, since He has illumined it. We may be at perfect peace, in life or death, if we place ourselves in the hands of the Father whom Christ revealed.

CRITICAL NOTES.

33. The place which is called The skull. Now commonly believed to be a knoll outside the Damascus Gate. The malefactors. Two robbers, quite possibly brigands. Luke 23: 32; Matt. 27: 38. Both of them, perhaps, had at first reviled Jesus (Matt. 27: 44) but one was touched and converted as he hung on the cross. Luke 23: 40-43. Matthew and Mark group the two robbers as another class of mockers, not because both of them jeered at Jesus, but because from this group on the cross, as from other groups of men, came words of derision. V. 39.

34. Father, forgive them. The first of the "seven words". See further John 19: 26, 27; and note on Luke 23: 46. His garments. Sandals, headgear, girdle, mantle, and tunic. John 19: 23; compare ch. 3: 16; Matt. 27: 28, 31.

35. The rulers also. As well as "they that passed by". Matt. 27: 39, 41. His chosen. The one whom God desires and delights in. Matt. 27: 43.

36. The soldiers also mocked him, tantalizing Him by offering Him vinegar. From a vessel containing a quantity of vinegar intended probably for their own refreshment. John 19: 29.

NORTH MONAGHAN MEN HAVE A LITTLE WRANGLE

A Question of Wages—The Disagreement Settled Out of Court

There was nothing doing at the police court this morning although a case was settled out of court. Two North Monaghan farmers were in Peterborough last Saturday and in one of the hotels they were speaking about a little money matter. One of them a man named Clark owed his neighbour, Mr. Gallipan, a sum of money which the latter was trying to obtain. They were talking it over in a friendly manner when a stranger "butted in" and turned the conversation towards Mr. Gallipan and incited Mr. Clark against him. It resulted in Clark calling Mr. Gallipan an insulting name, which the latter resented and went to law about it. Later he was sorry he had been so hasty and on Friday asked that the case be settled out of court. This was done and Clark paid the costs of the case.

THE AMBULANCE QUESTION

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—Certain events transpiring in our City Council, are, in themselves, trivial, yet the principle is momentous. I refer to the wrangling concerning who should be caretaker of the "Dan Spence Ambulance". An opposition man wants the other fellow's job and tenders for it at a price that leaves no margin for either party. Now why should an old servant be thrust aside when he is willing to work for the same remuneration as the other man, who, wonderful to relate, has a well equipped ambulance of his own, yet he wants the whole ambulance business. Looks like a monopoly. Now, I think, every unbiased right-thinking man will agree that when the trumped up charges can not be verified, Mr. Bellingham should still have the care of Dan Spence ambulance.

Yours truly,
AN OLD COUNCILLOR.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

VICTOR'S VENETIAN BAND

The music-loving citizens of Peterborough are under a weighty obligation to the Fifty-Seventh Band, in a musical sense—first, for the splendid music provided by themselves at different times, but in a special sense for the magnificent musical treat represented by their bringing to Peterborough that artistic organization, Victor's Royal Venetian Band, which was heard with great delight at the Opera House last night. Owing, perhaps, to the intensely cold weather, somewhat, and somewhat to insufficient publicity, there was not as large an audience as the merits of the programme should have attracted. If the people of Peterborough had known as well yesterday, as those present last night know to-day, what splendid music the fine Italian band of Signor Victor presents, the house would not have held the audience. The Italian colony in Peterborough was well represented, about forty being present, including several from Lakefield.

The Royal Venetian Band contains only about twenty performers, but there has never been a band in Peterborough, with anything like that numerical strength, that in any way was superior in the beautiful balance of instrumentation and the individual and ensemble excellence of achievement. Every member seemed to be an artist, even the drummer's work being a triumph of tympanic technique. The conductor, Victor, was also an artist as a conductor. At first his gestures seemed extravagant, but every gesture had a meaning to his well-drilled corps, and his earnestness was only an expression of Neapolitan temperament.

The programme opened by a striking and tuneful march, "Canadian Beauties," composed by the leader. To the overture, "Il Gurany," succeeded a splendid selection from Faust. This revealed the musical capacity of the company, the beautiful crescendi, the perfect phrasing, sharp attack, captivating, clean and finished execution, fire and feeling, which characterized the whole of the programme. This, as, indeed, every succeeding number on the programme, was enthusiastically encored—and was followed by "The Maple Leaf," as the "Blue Danube" waltzes, given with great spirit, was succeeded by the Mascagni intermezzo—from Cavalleria Rusticana. The grand performance of the Zampa Overture was encored, and in response, national airs were played — "The Red, White, and Blue," "Dixie," and the air to "Lucy Lockett," a popular cavalier song in the time of Charles I.—otherwise, the air now known as "Yankee Doodle." The "Lucia" sextette received splendid treatment, but perhaps the best was kept to the last—"Poet and Peasant," a familiar work, which, however, received, in this case, an originality of treatment very interesting. The opening movement was played in almost largo time, while the closing movement was a magnificent frenzy of furiously rapid tempo, without the loss of one iota of individuality or the slurring or omission of a single note or nuance. In a word, Victor's Venetian band scored a great triumph in Peterborough. This triumph was shared by the vocalist of the evening, Miss Emily Frances Scott, who sang herself into the hearts of the audience, if one may judge by the hearty applause which compelled her to give an encore song to her first number—"Love Me, and the World Is Mine." Her encore number was "Good, Old Canada." Her second selection won for her a double encore.

"CHARLEY'S AUNT"

"Charley's Aunt," which has had the longest run of any play ever produced, will make its re-appearance in this city on Monday, December 10. Seeing the play, however, makes the reason quite clear, and explains not only its popularity here, but in all the leading cities of the world. In voting it one of the merriest and most original of farcial comedies, and accentuating the opinion by making it a standard for the future in the matter of continuous presentation, this city has merely ranged itself on a side of a big majority during its recent visit to the city. "Charley's Aunt" would have no reason for existing if there was not a sanitary and soul value in hearty laughing, but since it is the case every minute of its three acts is sixty seconds' worth of health and animation. Not to see it is indirectly an attack on one's personal right to be as happy as the law allows.

EMPLOYEES ENTERTAINED BY THEIR EMPLOYER

Mr. A. W. Cressman was the Host of a Very Pleasant Gathering

The male employees of Mr. A. W. Cressman's store, were most pleasantly entertained at dinner at the residence of Mr. Cressman, on Thursday evening, when a most enjoyable time was spent. The sumptuous repast provided was done ample justice to, and afterwards there were speeches and songs, and a pleasant social time in the drawing room and during the evening employer and employees had a talk over matters of interest in the business in which they are engaged.

Mr. and Mrs. Cressman were a splendid host and hostess, and did everything in their power to make the evening an enjoyable one, and they succeeded admirably.

COLD WEATHER CAUSED DEPLETION IN MARKET

Attendance Was Not as Large as Usual—Frost Prevents Sale of Fruit and Vegetables

Owing to the severe cold, the Saturday market was not as largely attended as it usually is. Especially on the outside there was a decided falling off in the number of farmers present and the supply of vegetables, etc., was practically a nonentity. There was an abundance of beef and pork and a good sprinkling of lamb. The meats were all a little cheaper than a week ago, owing perhaps to the large supply. The inside market was a large one and everything was quickly bought up. Butter, eggs and fowl were well represented and were practically the same as on last Saturday. Turkeys are commanding high prices and there seems to be a fair supply ready for Christmas. Apples, like the vegetables were very scarce on account of the low temperature that prevailed. The following is a list of the prices:

Potatoes, per bag		to	1 00
Apples, per bag	75	to	1 00
Onions, per peck	25

24TH ANNIVERSARY OF RESUSCITATION OF THE LODGE

Otonabee Lodge Was Revived on December 8th, 1882, After Being Dormant for Thirty-two Years

THE LODGE'S INTERESTING HISTORY

To-day is the 24th anniversary, of the resuscitation of Otonabee Lodge, No. 13, Independent Order of Oddfellows. On December 8th, 1882, the Lodge was resuscitated, after having been dormant for 32 years, and the Examiner of Thursday, Dec. 14, 1882, gave an interesting report of the ceremonies which took place on the notable occasion.

First Officers

Otonabee Lodge, No. 13, was instituted on the 13th of March, 1846, and Judge G. B. Hall was the first Noble Grand. The first officers were as follows:

Noble Grand, Judge G. B. Hall
Vice Grand, Chas. Perry.
Treasurer, Henry Easton.
Secretary, Wm. Cluxton.
Warden, Jas. Scott.
Conductor, Jas. Forrest.
Right Hand Supporter, William Murray.
Left Hand Supporter, George P. Grover.
Vice Right Hand Supporter, Wilson S. Conger.
Vice Left Hand Supporter, Francis Murphy.
Right Hand Scene, Dougall McKeller.
Left Hand Scene, F. Ferguson.
Inside Guardian, Bro. Tremaine.
Outside Guardian.

Speaking of the original Lodge, the Examiner says: "The members of those days were nearly all wealthy, and the Lodge as a Lodge, lived rather high." In those days, too, the people were generally well-to-do, there was little sickness to relieve, no poor to care for, from sheer lack of objects for the exercise of the cardinal principles of the Order, adn the ambitionns of members having been satisfied, by passing through the chairs, interest in the Order began to wane, and continued to do so, till in 1850, the Lodge as such, ceased to exist.

The Resuscitation

Preliminary steps for the resuscitation of the Lodge were taken by Messrs. G. B. Sproule, Dr. Bell, E. E. Henderson, Jos. McClelland, and the reception committee was composed of Messrs. John McKee, W. Cluxton, J. Stevenson, Dr. R. W. Bell and H. H. Smith, the then Mayor of the town.

The instituting officer was Grand Master Robertson of Collingwood, assisted by Grand Secretary J. B. King, of Toronto. The latter is still Grand Secretary, and was here at the Grand Lodge meeting in August last.

Officers of 1882

The following officers were installed:

Wm. Cluxton, N.G.
Jas. Stevenson, V. G.
Dr. R. W. Bell, R.S.N.G.
John McKee, L.S.N.G.
William Ross, R.S.V.G.
H. H. Smith, L.S.V.G.
E. E. Henderson, Sec.
G. B. Sproule, Tres.
Jos. McClelland, P. Sec.

Nearly all these offficers have passed away, Mr. Jas. Stevenson being the only one now living in the city, and he is not now a member of the Order. In fact the only gentlemen who were members at the time of the resuscitation and who are still united with Otonabee Lodge, are Messrs. W. G. Green and D. Belleghem.

THE PETERBOROUGH CLUB HOLDS ANNUAL MEETING

Judge Weller was Re-elected President at the Annual Meeting which was Held Last Night

Last night the annual meeting of the Peterborough Club was held in the club rooms, with a large representation of the members present. The election of officers took place and resulted as follows:

President, Judge Weller.
Vice-President—Dr. Boucher.
Secretary-Treasurer — Mr. W. R. Morris.

In the case of the President and Vice-President, these gentlemen were re-elected, having served in those offices last year, while Mr. Morris had been acting secretary during a portion of last year, so that his establishment in that office, too, is practically a re-election.

The annual at home of the Club will be held on Dec. 29th.

ENTERTAINMENT AT HALL'S GLEN WAS MUCH ENJOYED

Zion Church Sunday School Pupils Gave a Delightful Programme at Annual Concert on Thursday Night

The entertainment under the auspices of the Sunday School of Zion Methodist Church, Hall's Glen, held on Thursday night, was a gratifying success, those having charge of the affair having every reason to be satisfied with the outcome. There was a good attendance, the good sleighing no doubt accounting for this fact to a considerable extent. A splendid varied programme of music, instrumental and vocal, recitations, dialogues, etc., was given, and a pleasing feature was a number of selections given by Mr. A. C. Carveth on his gramophone.

The chairman was Rev. Geo. Nickle, of Warsaw. During the evening, prizes were presented to the members of the school.

MAILS OF THE COUNTY AND THOSE WHO CARRY THEM

Some Interesting Extracts from Annual Report of the Postmaster-General

MANY MAIL CARRIERS IN THE COUNTY

At first glance one would hardly imagine the annual report of the Postmaster-General to be a very entertaining publication, in fact, one would be very much inclined to set it aside as an extremely dry collection of formidable statistics. First appearances are generally deceiving, however, and such is the case with the blue book in question as a member of the Examiner staff found the other night, when he happened to delve into the hitherto unsolved mysteries of the report.

Those Who Carry Mail

For instance how many people know the names of the men who carry the mails in this district; the number of miles they have to travel and the remuneration they receive for their services? They know that mail is carried, they are always ready to swear at the postman if the expected letter does not arrive, but beyond that their knowledge of the postal service is extremely hazy.

The little pamplet issued by the Postmaster-General, (it contains some one thousand pages) gives all this interesting and valuable information. True it is in such a form that it would in all probability be passed over by the few people who have the courage or the curiosity to attack such a dreary looking compilation of figures, but is there, nevertheless.

Something About Salary

The remuneration of the contractor does not always seem to correspond with the distance that he has to carry the mails. For instance A. McMullen carries the mail between Anson and the Railway station, a distance of 200 yards and receives for his services the sum of $45 per year, while A. White, the contractor for the Apsley and Loon Lake branch, has to make a trip of seven miles to earn his salary of $25. J. Blackburn is the mail carrier between Apsley and Coe Hill, a distance of 21 miles, and is paid the sum of $271.89. R. J. Porter is the postman between Bailieboro and Millbrook, and his yearly salary amounts to $198. This apparent discrepancy is probably explained by the fact that in some cases the carrier plies some other business, such as stage coach, and the carrying of the mails is only an incidental matter.

Peterborough Contractors

In Peterborough, A. Reid is the contractor for the mail service between the post office and the railway stations. He has to travel one-quarter and one-half miles respectively; makes 92 trips each week of the year, and receives for his services the sum of $719.85. A. Kingscote is paid $17 for making special trips and $238.29 for collecting the mail in the street letter boxes to do which he has to make twelve trips per week. On each trip he covers a distance of 5 miles. P. J. Scollard travels 10 miles six times a week between Peterborough and Ennismore to earn his salary of $291, while $265 is paid for the carrying of the mails between this city and Warsaw a distance of 16 miles.

The Longest Trip

It might be interesting to note that P. Kennedy has the longest trip of any mail carrier in the county, in fact in the Kingston postal division. He connects Lakefield and Apsley, and has to cover 31 miles each way, receiving for his services $429.33.

The shortest trip in the district is that made by A. Kidd, between the Fraserville post office, and the railway station, only a few yards. His remuneration is $20 per year.

Many Mail Carriers

Peterborough county affords occupation to many mail carriers, accounted for by the fact that it is a large county and that there is no railway communication with the back townships. The lot of the mail carrier, especially in the winter, is not a bed of roses, and the salary as in most cases earned by hard work, as anyone who has travelled in the northern part of the county will appreciate.

There are thirty five mail contractors in Peterborough county, and the distances covered range from a few yards to 31 miles, while the salary runs from $20 to $719.85.

Small Revenue

By the way, one would imagine there was not much money in the post office business, when a comparison is made between the revenue of some offices and the salaries paid to the postmasters. In many cases the revenue does not come anywhere near paying for the salary of the official. Take for instance the post office at Cole Harbour Road, in Nova Scotia. The salary paid there, $25, does not look large, but it looms into princely magnificence when compared to the year's revenue, which amounted to exactly $2.00. That this is not an isolated case, is made apparent by a study of the official statistics. The Maritime provinces seem particularly favoured in this respect. At the Donegal office in Kings and Albert District, New Brunswick, the revenue was only two dollars while the salary was twenty-five. This sorte of affairs is eclipsed by the Fairview office in Westmoreland, N.B., where the revenue last year was $1 and the salary $25. Even Peterborough County shows similar cases. At Hiawatha, for instance, the postmaster receives $25, and the revenue was $5.43. Jumper Island postoffice, the headquarters for Stony Lake mail, is a more prosperous institution. The revenue was $153 and the salary $66.

Unusual Articles

An interesting feature of the report is the table showing the articles of value that are sent through the mail. The list is an extensive one and would make a departmental store look as small as a Christmas present from a rich relation.

Among the unique articles sent through the mails are the following: Acorns, artificial teeth, Bristles, smoking caps, Hebrew New Year's cards, casket plates, chewing gum, chest protectors, Easter eggs, herbs and roots, milk and cream, mustard, peanuts, plum pudding, bottle of rye, muskrat skins, bear's teeth, false teeth, etc.

Whisky Goes Through the Mail

Everyone knows that whisky goes through the mail, and temperance advocates state that it goes through the "male" in more ways than one. As this is not a temperance article, only one way will be considered. The records show that four bottles of whisky were sent through the mail, and two of these are now in the dead letter office awaiting an owner. This is certainly one case in which whisky went wrong. A bottle of rye was also handled through the mail during the year.

Dead Letter Office

The dead letter office must present a unique appearance. Among the collection of things sent to that branch during the last year are one parcel of false teeth, artificial flowers, four parcels of fur boots, ten brooches, ten cakes, seventeen packages of cigarettes, etc.

USE TELEGRAPH WIRES FOR DUAL PURPOSE

C. P. R. Decides on a New Method of Communication—Given Trial on North Bay to Montreal Division

To discover whether or not telegraph wires would be utilized for telephoning purposes, the C.P.R. conducted tests between North Bay and Montreal, a distance of 600 miles. The experiment proved successful, and it may be that the C. P. R. will employ their wires for a public telephone business. The company use telegraph wires for telephoning in various points in Ontario and the West at the present time, and many local railway officials are confident that the new idea will be put into extensive use next year. — Toronto World.

THE INSIDE HISTORY

Covering Eight Years of Splendid Energy in Introducing New Systems and Methods

When the history of Semi-ready tailoring comes to be written, as it should be written, now that the Company has conquered and overcome every obstacle, there will be a proud story of Canadian enterprise and energy. The development of an original conception is no easy matter when one has arrayed against a new project many men of power and much capital, and when one has to surmount the apathy of men who prefer former customs to better ones.

A year ago, after spending $100,000 in developing the American field, the affairs of the Semi-ready Company reached a crisis, the inner history of which may never be told.

To-day the Semi-ready Company is in a stronger and better position than it ever was, and chiefly because men everywhere have recognized the system of tailoring which has proven itself. The popular verdict is a great boon. The Semi-ready trade-mark label on a suit is the emblem of correct form, of good style, and of superb tailoring, whether that label be on a $15, $20 or $25 garment.

Cressman's have all the new Semi-ready styles and the exclusive agency for Peterborough and district.

NIPISSING SLUMP AFFECTED AFTER ISSUES

And as a Result Trading in Cobalt Stocks in Toronto is Dull—Reason Assigned for New York Brokers' Action

CAPITALISTS VISIT TRETHEWAY MINE

Examiner Special.

Toronto, Dec. 7.—The unsettled condition of the principal of the Cobalt stocks in the New York market has served for the present at least to prevent buoyancy in any other of the various issues which are traded in on the market. Innumerable reasons are put forward for the break in the Nipissing stock, but the one which finds the readiest belief among financial houses is that the big interests at New York found it necessary to check speculation in the Cobalt stocks and other shares dealt in on the New York curb in order that more attention may be paid to the various stocks regularly listed on the New York market.

For the time being the only purchases on the Standard Cobalt stocks at Toronto are those from straight investors. Trading brokers and outside speculators have ceased to attempt to keep up the operations of that of a couple of weeks ago. The statement given out by the local Government that the shipment of carloads of ore for the month of November totalled 44 cars is convincing in its character as to the growth of the legitimate mining.

A party of local financiers accompanied by some New York bankers left to-night to visit the Tretheway mine, principally for the object of advising clients in the purchase of this security.

A MYSTERIOUS NEW YORK JEWEL ROBBERY

Detectives Working on it but Refuse all Information as to Owners

New York, December 9. — The Detective Bureau at Police Headquarters is working on a mysterious robbery of jewelry amounting, it is said, to $15,000. All the jewelry is new, and bears the Tiffany trade mark, and a scratch number on each article.

All information in regard to the robbery was refused at headquarters, but it was admitted that Detective Ware had been working on the case for several days. Numerous uptown loan shops also admitted that Detective Ware of the Police Headquarters staff, had called in search of possible clues to the missing jewelry. He carried a list of the articles, including rings, brooches, pins, and studs of diamonds, pearls and emeralds, but refused to let the pawnshop keepers see this list. He is in hope that the thief or thieves have tried to raise money on the goods.

At the Tiffany store, 35th street and Fifth avenue, Supt. Hyde said, "There has been no robbery here. The fact that the goods stolen came originally from one of our establishments only means that some one of our customers has been robbed, perhaps. The scratch number on the articles, a number so faint and vague as to be almost unnoticeable to the naked eye, does not convey any information. Supt. Hyde refused any further information as to whether any loss had been reported by the customers of the store.

From another source it was learned that the robbery was from the home of a private person and that the goods had not been long in the possession of the owner. All of the jewelry, including pieces of especial value and beauty, containing rare sapphires, was made to be worn by a woman.

Detective Ware, it was said at headquarters, had left town for the day, though where he had gone could not be learned. It was believed that he was following a clue outside of the city.

AMBULANCE QUESTION TO COME UP AGAIN TO-NIGHT

Fire, Water and Light Committee will Make Another Effort to Settle Matter

The Fire, Water and Light Committee will meet to-night to make a final effort to settle the vexed question of the ambulance contract. Ald. Johnston will occupy the chair for the first time to-night. There will probably be a great deal of discussion over the question of the ambulance, with which the Committee and Council have been playing tag for months.

Heredity Ability

GEORGE Bernard Shaw was once attacking the implicit belief which the world placed in science, and, referring to the generally accepted theory of heredity told the following story to illustrate his point:—An old woman had a daughter who played the piano. "Your daughter plays well," a lady said to her. "Yes," the old woman replied, "she does have a fine touch, and it's no wonder, for she loves the piano, and never tires of it. Ye see, she's a great taste for music, but then that's only natural, for her grandfather had his skull fractured with a cornet at a picnic."

"SAVINGS"

In Harvest time the farmer gathers the fruits of his labours and lays by a portion for the winter—the time when all is going out and nothing coming in. This suggests the opportunity to all wage-earners and others of taking advantage of their "harvest time" (that is their earning period) to lay by a portion of their income for "life's winter" when the earning power ceases and expenses continue.

CRISIS OF GIRLHOOD

A TIME OF PAIN AND PERIL

Miss Emma Cole Says that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has Saved Her Life and Made Her Well.

How many lives of beautiful young girls have been sacrificed just as they were ripening into womanhood! How many irregularities or displacements have been developed at this important period, resulting in years of suffering!

A mother should come to her child's aid at this critical time and remember that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will prepare the system for the coming change and start this trying period in a young girl's life without pain or irregularities.

Miss Emma Cole of Tullahoma, Tenn., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:

"I want to tell you that I am enjoying better health than I have for years, and I owe it all to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"When fourteen years of age I suffered almost constant pain, and for two or three years, I had soreness and pain in my side, headaches and was dizzy and nervous, and doctors all failed to help me.

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was recommended, and after taking it my health begin to improve rapidly, and I think it saved my life. I sincerely hope my experience will be a help to other girls who are passing from girlhood to womanhood, for I know your Compound will do as much for them."

If you know of any young girl who is sick and needs motherly advice ask her to write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., and she will receive free advice which will put her on the right road to a strong, healthy and happy womanhood. Mrs. Pinkham is daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham and for twenty-five years has been advising sick women free of charge.

Zutoo, the Japanese headache cure, is a friend in need.

Don't without a trial, condemn it as something that will hurt you.

Taken when you suspect a headache, it will ward it off. Taken later it will cure the headache in twenty minutes. In every case it will leave you feeling good. It is harmless as the soda which is one of its ingredients.

If it does not do all that is claimed for it, then discard it. But don't confound it with the drug cures and condemn it without a trial. That isn't fair to

Campden's Shave

By FRANK POWNALL

"Surely you are not going to break our engagement just because I shaved off my mustache?" pleaded Campden. "That isn't just fair, you know. I can grow one again in a few weeks. Don't spoil a lifetime."

"It's not so much the loss of the mustache," said Mabel Devant. "You should know what I mean, though of course you will pretend to be ignorant. I hate duplicity."

"'Oh, what a tangled web we weave,'" he quoted. "You don't mind telling me what particular sin you have found out in me, do you? I admit that I did buy some candy for Miss Travers, if that's what you are making all this talk about. I might add in self defense that it's the littlest Miss Travers; she's five, I believe."

"If you are going to indulge in such brutal joking I shall say nothing further," said Miss Devant haughtily. "I have been singularly patient. If you only had confessed I should have had no more to say. As it is, I can see nothing in your conduct for which I can find the slightest excuse."

"But see here, Mab," he explained, "I haven't been doing anything. I haven't murdered a man for at least a week, and my last bank robbery is two months back. I feel that I have a clean slate so far as this last unhappy week is concerned, and yet you come back from town and want me to confess to a calendar of crimes on the argument that a good husband should tell his wife everything. I don't admit that argument, but all the same if you'll give me a clew to the sort of crime you want me to confess to I'll try to think up something."

Mabel turned on her heel and walked off. It was not a very straight nor steady tread, but she held her head high and tried to keep back the tears until she reached her room. She succeeded until the elevator left her at her floor; then she ran down the corridor, the picture of woe.

When she finally recovered her composure and went down to dinner there was no Harry Campden waiting for her in the hall. Instead she ran into Nettie Braden, who appeared to have been waiting for her and who led her out on the almost deserted piazza.

"I think it's a shame!" began Miss Braden. "That awful man packed up his things and went to town on the afternoon train."

"Harry?" asked Miss Devant comprehendingly.

Miss Braden nodded.

"Without even a goodby," she admitted. "I think it's just too terrible. Come in and have dinner and forget that such a horrid man ever lived."

"I don't feel hungry," declared Mabel, blinking back the tears and seeking her room for the second time.

The next few days were as miserable for her as they were for Campden up in town. He and Mabel were to have been married in October, and while he puzzled his brain for some explanation of the mystery she took refuge in a woman's comfort and went about the beach with an ever ready handkerchief.

The Harrises were giving a house party through September, and Mabel accepted their invitation because she knew that they were not acquainted with Harry and that there she would be safe. For the first time since the break she felt happy as she came down the stairs the morning after her arrival.

The boat had been becalmed, and she had arrived late, but the fresh morning air was a temptation, and she ran down the stairs just as the servants were opening the house.

Out on the piazza she paused a moment to observe a blue coated back; then she advanced with an air of carelessness and made for the opposite end of the porch.

At the sound of the steps the man sprang up, and she gave a scream as she recognized Campden.

"I did not know that you were to come," he began, as he approached her. "I just met the Harrises, and was not aware that they knew you."

"They are very old friends," she said coldly. "I used to go to college with Mrs. Harris."

"That's nice," he observed conventionally. "But see here, Mab, if we are going to be fellow guests for a few days, won't you please tell me what all the row was about?"

"You should know," she said severely.

"I should," he confessed, "but I don't. All I know is that you ran up to town for a week. When you came back to the beach you asked me to confess my sins, and when I said I had nothing to confess except the self evident fact that I had shaved off my mustache you made that the excuse for breaking the engagement."

For a moment Mabel paused, then desire for the truth overcame her reserve. "I wanted to see if you would tell me the truth," she explained. "When I went away you promised to tell me if you had misbehaved. You got into some lovemaking scrape and never told me a word about it."

"So, that's it, is it?" he asked. "You want to know why I kissed Beth Connors on the piazza."

"I see you realize at last what the offense was."

"I did not know until just this moment that you knew Nettie Braden. She and Mrs. Harris were schoolmates. So were you. You must all have known each other. Miss Braden was a western girl, and I never supposed you had met her."

"I don't see where Miss Braden figures in this story," she said severely "I believe it concerns Miss Connors."

"Nettie Braden is the heroine," he explained. "The Connors person is just the villainess. Promise never to tell!"

"No, I shall make no promise."

"Very well," he said. "If you don't care, that puts things in a different light." He had half turned away when a hand was lightly laid upon his arm.

"Please go on," said Mabel penitently. "You know I care. I shall not tell."

"You know Miss Braden came the day after you came up to town?" he began, leaning comfortably against the railing. "She was awfully in love with Dick Harrington. I used to chum with Dick a little when I was out west, and I sort of pitied him. Miss Braden was awfully jealous and so lovey dovey that the whole piazza was laughing.

"You know what a little mischief that Connors girl is? Well, the night of the hop she ran into Dick on the piazza just alongside of an open window. Just because she knew that Miss Braden was on the other side of the window she kissed him with a smack that could be heard a block away.

"Dick saw that she saw, but, like the wise boy he is, he never let on. Instead he hunted me up and got me to go upstairs and shave. We looked so much alike that when Miss Braden accused him of flirting he blamed it on me. It would never do to tell her that it was all done out of devilment, you know, just because she had been so mushy. She never would believe that. I thought you never would find out. I bet she knew of our engagement and sat right down to write you. Did she?"

Mabel nodded. "She thought she was doing a kindness," she defended. "You see, she knew we were engaged."

"And that was what you wanted me to confess when you urged me so?" he laughed. "I shall have to tell Dick the trouble he got me into."

"Don't you dare," she pleaded. "Promise you won't."

"On conditions," he offered.

"Well?" she asked.

"First," he began, "that you promise never to be jealous again."

"I promise," she agreed.

"That you take back the ring you gave me the other day and promise to keep it on this time until I add to it a wedding ring."

She stretched out her hand in answer.

"There's a third condition," he insisted.

"That you give me what I did not get from Beth Connors," he teased as he bent his head to her lips.

Marriages That Made History.

The marriage of Ethelbert, king of Kent, with Bertha, the Christian daughter of Charibert, king of Paris, paved the way to Christianity in England. The marriage of Henry VIII. with Anne Boleyn was one of the principal factors leading to the reformation. Ethelred the Unready's marriage with Emma of Normandy gave the conqueror an excuse for asserting his claim to the English throne. The marriage of Henry I. with Matilda of Scotland reconciled the people of England to the conquest by restoring the line of Cedric. Henry II.'s marriage with Eleanor of Aquitaine made England the first continental power in western Europe. The marriage of Henry VII. with Elizabeth of York closed the bloody wars of the roses. The marriage of Margaret, daughter of Henry VII., with James IV. of Scotland ultimately led to the union of England and Scotland. Finally the marriage of Sophia with the elector of Hanover put a line of German princes on the English throne.—St. James' Gazette.

Don't Meddle.

One of the most irritating feelings against which the best people need to be on their guard is meddlesomeness. The chances are that by our meddlesomeness we mar more than we mend. The probability is that the cook broiled the breakfast bacon better than we could have done it, and the tailor cut the coat better than if he had followed our directions. No one can ever be happy in this world who fancies himself or herself born to "set it right." It would do us all good at times to sit with the pupils instead of taking uninvited the seat of the master and the critic. One of the most useful lessons any man can learn is to let things alone. Let the chair stand where the maid placed it. Let the dinner be served without protest as the good wife ordered it. And remember that the world will have to get along without us some day; that if we keep hands off from it for a little while it may be learning, as it must learn, to eventually get along without our suggestion or interference.—Temple Bar.

Mazoomdar Opposed to Hindu Emigration From India.

"I have written to every prominent newspaper in the Punjaub, advising the editors to use every effort to stop the emigration of Hindus to British Columbia. My report to the communities of Bengal that sent me here to investigate will be of exactly the same nature."

This was the remark made by Mr. T. C. Mazoomdar of the University of Allahabad, who has been investigating the conditions as affecting emigrants from Hindostan to this province for some considerable time, writes the special corresponden of The Globe at Victoria, B. C. Mr. Mazoomdar is an educated Bengali, who came here to look into the prospects and circumstances of the Hindus already here, and of the many who had hoped by selling their farms to come to this province. Despite glowing reports from Hong Kong that induced the invasion, this competent investigator has decided against British Columbia and Canada generally as an outlet for the overplus population of India.

"Oh, not only the cold weather you have in the mountains caused me to come to my conclusion," he said, "there are many other things. Everything here is so different. Punjabis do not know your manners and customs, and besides religious and other considerations are strongly against them. There is no organized effort to send Hindus here, and the rumor of 1,000 coming in one steamer is, I am sure, erroneous."

"How many have come to this continent already?"

"The exact figures are 1,482," was the reply; "but not all these are in British Columbia. There are a few in Seattle, about 40 around San Francisco, and a dozen or so in Oakland. Of the balance, roughly speaking, 1,400 at the most are in Vancouver and vicinity, although a few are on the island and Victoria. Of those in Vancouver, about 900, are at work, while others are idle. There are 400 out of work."

"What is the reason of so many being unemployed?"

"Well, those who went to the mills near Revelstoke found the climate of the mountains too cold. They came back to Vancouver, and, though some got jobs, many are destitute. Another reason why some are out of work was trouble with the Royal City planing mills. There are 200 working there, and an arrangement was made that they should get $1.50 a day, but when pay day came they only got $1.25. Of course they quit. Many others have never secured employment."

"And what is the principal work of the employed?"

"There are about 200 at the American mill, and most of the rest work on the C.P.R. track running east from Vancouver. I like British Columbia very much, and believe I could get along well here, as I have received an English education," Mr. Mazoomdar concluded.

The Outlook in Klondike.

There is a note of real cheerfulness in the paragraph given below from The Dawson News. The means of communication with Klondike are such that it is now a good while past Thanksgiving, but the paragraph is worth reading, as showing that, in the opinion of those on the spot, Klondike is far from being a played out mining camp. The note reads:—"Today is Thanksgiving Day. Klondike is among the districts which can return thanks with no straining of the imagination. We can be thankful for the most perfect public health of any section of the Dominion; for the most glorious weather; for uninterrupted navigation; for a past season of activity and profit; for the doubling up of the value of claims; for an entire season of full employment for our workers; for a cessation of political wrangling; for many beneficial laws enacted; for the absolute promise of greater prosperity next year; for the closer of a season more profitable to the country than last; for a year of no idleness in the camp which was not voluntary; for the restful certainty that the coming year is to require an army of employed double that of the last year; for a nearly complete absence of disaster, and for a well-stocked market and the wherewithal to purchase our turkey."

The cleverest way of marking handkerchiefs is to embroider the whole of the first name, as if it were written on, copying the signature of the person for whom you are doing it as nearly as possible. Embroider over a thread for padding.

A new opera bag may be made of gold or silver cloth, gathered at the top with square rings, crocheted in gray for silver, yellow for gold, green for green colored, silver or gold cloth, and so on. In a very short time this may be decorated with a small design of silk and bead embroidery.

CONSTIPATION CLOGS THE BOWELS

No other cause produces so much sickness as constipation, and therefore it is dangerous to allow the bowels to become clogged up. Bad blood, dyspepsia, headaches, biliousness, boils, pimples, and piles, are all caused by constipation.

Avoid all of these troubles by the use of nature's remedy for all diseases of the stomach, bowels and blood. It acts on the bowels and promotes their free and regular action, curing constipation and all troubles which arise from it. It has been on the market for over thirty years so you are not using a new and untried remedy. B.B.B. has cured thousands of others and will cure you. Mr. B. Woodcock, Nashwaak Bridge, N.S., writes: "For over two years my wife was troubled with constipation. She tried several physicians but could get no relief, but after taking three bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters she was completely cured and is to-day in good health. My wife and I cannot speak too highly of B.B.B.

No Trespassing

By IZOLA FORRESTER

Copyright, 1905, by Ruby Douglas

Sue Varian pulled up the bay mare short in the middle of the road and stared at the objects in the shade of the maples. There were two—that is, two as main points of interest. One was a large red automobile. The other was a young man lying comfortably on the front seat of the red automobile, fast asleep. Incidentally, even to the lay eye of inexperience, there was unmistakably something the matter with the red automobile. It was lop-sided, and the front part—Sue didn't know the technical term—but the main front part appeared to be dislocated. It looked like a toy tin auto that had been stepped on.

But there was nothing the matter with the young man. He was sleeping peacefully, calmly, his knees elevated tentwise, his arms folded like a slumbering brave in effigy on his breast, and Sue laughed softly to herself and looked up and down the road.

It was deserted. Between 6 and 7 hardly any one ever passed along the shore road. It was the dinner hour up at the inn. And people who knew what they were about never took the shore road, anyway, not with red automobiles. It was a short cut, of course, to the inn, but primarily—and legally—it was a private road leading to the Varian estate, and to Hartley Varian's mind the only blot on the fair face of nature in the summer time were summer boarders and red automobiles.

Suddenly the young man moved restlessly. Mosquitoes were plentiful in the shade of the maples. He sighed, opened his eyes, caught sight of the bay mare and neat black road cart and sat up.

"Has he got back?"

The question was one of dazed concern. Sue returned his stare with grave interest.

"I don't know what you mean. You have had some accident?"

"Some accident!" The young man became troubled and explosive. "We came mighty near killing ourselves and smashing the machine to splinters over that—that—rope. Didn't you see the rope?"

"A rope?" Miss Varian's tone was mild and sympathetic.

"Stretched across the road on purpose, and we rode bang into it. Wilson, that's the chauffeur, has gone somewhere to get help. We missed the road a few miles back."

"Were you hurt?"

"Just a little jolted. I presume the owner of the rope hoped for funerals"—

"There was a funeral here a few days ago," interposed Miss Varian gently. "That is why the rope was put up, I believe, to turn back any stray autos and prevent any more funerals. A red one ran over a calf"—

"Calf?"

"It was a pet calf," resumed Miss Varian firmly, "and it was with its mother. It had a perfect right to ramble along this road and automobiles haven't. It's a private road. Didn't you read the sign on the stone gate posts as you came in?"

"The sign said simply: 'No Trespassing. Tramps and Dogs Keep Out.' I'm neither a tramp nor a dog, so I came in."

"Well, the rope wasn't stretched for a tramp or a dog."

The trespasser was silent for the first time. Climbing out of his machine, he strode over to the cart and looked up at the girl in it. She was young, about seventeen, he thought. Her waist was a white linen boyish affair that a very young person might be expected to wear, with plain turn down collar and short sleeves. The white linen skirt was short, too—ankle length. He could see the low heeled tan oxfords. And her hair was braided and wound around her head like a misplaced aureole that had slipped down. Worse than all, she was laughing at him. He knew it when he saw her eyes.

When he spoke again it was with a less obvious reference to his own wrongs.

"Can you tell me where I am?"

"Seven and a half miles from Glenmore. You missed the main road about two miles back. This leads to the Varian house."

"But that's where I want to go!" exclaimed the young man. "I thought Wilson was making for the inn. I am bound for Varian's place."

"Then why did you come in an automobile? Don't you know Mr. Varian personally?"

"Haven't seen him for years. He must be a jolly old beggar to judge from the rope—real sweet, neighborly disposition, hasn't he?"

"I think he was perfectly right and justified," said Miss Varian, with sudden haughty defiance. "It was the dearest little calf, and it belonged to me."

The young man began to smile, smile in a gradual dominance of the situation. It was a smile to resent, because it showed premeditated triumph and foreknowledge. But it improved him. Even with the dust of the road overlaying the tan of his face and the general disheveled condition of his makeup the smile was frank and friendly and altogether desirable.

"I'll bet forty-seven dollars and two cents that you're Susie," he said happily.

Miss Varian tucked in her side locks deftly, loftily. They were darling side locks, curly, tantalising wisps of loose sunshine that knew their business and escaped from the side comb whenever there was a propitious moment.

"My first name is Suzanne," she said.

"No, sir, it isn't; it's Susie, and your hair used to be red. Remember the day you climbed our wall and tried to get up in the big apple tree after a blackbird's nest I told you was there? And your foot caught, and you tumbled down, and I had to climb up and take your shoe off before you could get your foot out of the cleft in the trunk. Do you remember, Miss Susie Freshie?"

He was laughing now, laughing wickedly, joyously. Miss Varian blushed, hesitated, caught the merry gaze of the brown eyes of the trespasser and laughed too.

"I remember. You did use to call me that, didn't you?"

"And it fits you yet," he retorted calmly. "Any one who'd sit and gloat over a poor stranded, wrecked devil for the sake of an idiotic calf is nothing but a fresh kid. I'm going to ride home with you, Sue. Sit over on the other side and give me those reins."

"I shall drive"— began Sue resolutely, but the reins were taken from her.

Down the road a figure was coming, and they waited. It was Wilson, the chauffeur.

"It's all right, Bob," he called. "I saw the old man and fixed it up with him. He says to come on up to the house, and he'll phone to Glenmore for some one to fix the machine."

"Well, you'd better stay and watch it until you hear from Glenmore, Wilson," said Bob Morrison kindly. "I'll hurry ahead with Miss Varian."

Wilson climbed wearily into the automobile and watched the road cart out of sight. Miss Varian was silent. It was eight years since Bob Morrison had left Greyrocks school, just eight years since his mother had died and the great old house up on the bluff had been closed up. She had missed her neighbors. So had her father. Greyrocks and The Maples were the last of the old estates along the shore to hold out against the encroachment of summer hotels. She stole a side glance at the figure beside her, knowing how warm his welcome would be at the house in spite of the red automobile.

"Caught you peeking," laughed Bob, looking down at her and swinging the bay mare easily around the last curve. "Why don't you say you're glad I'm home?"

"We heard you were going to Europe after you left college," she said.

"Well, I'm not," he retorted deliberately. "Dad's had about enough city whirl, and I'm going to take this place and settle down here at Greyrocks—that is, if my neighbors treat me right."

"The rope wasn't for neighbors," said Sue slowly. "Just for trespassers And anyway a neighbor would know the way, the cross lot path over the wall, past the big apple tree. That's the way neighbors pass from Greyrocks to The Maples."

"We'll tear down the wall and travel cross lots every day, won't we, Suzanne Susie Sue?"

He was laughing, but there was an undercurrent of serious intent that brought the quick warm color to Sue's face. She wondered if he was thinking of the last time they had traveled cross lots, the day he had left for school, and at the old stone wall he had kissed her goodby and snipped off a lock of her hair with his pocket-knife.

Bob shifted the reins to his left hand and reached for his inside pocket. From a small Russia leather bill book he took a bit of curly red hair with a piece of black thread, boy fashion.

"It was red those days," he said thoughtfully, and Sue said never a word.

"I hope there isn't any trespassing sign on the apple tree," he told the bay mare's ears.

"Neighbors aren't trespassers," said Sue softly, and he slipped the red curl back in the bill book as they drew up before The Maples. It was his welcome home.

GOT A PAIN IN YOUR BACK?

You get a pain in your back, and you wonder what is the matter. You perhaps pay no attention to it. Backache is caused by imperfect action of the kidneys, in fact, is the first sign of kidney trouble to follow.

The kidneys, proper, are composed of a close network of fibrous tissue, interlaced with tiny elastic fibres. Their object is the excretion of the uric acid, and other poisonous matter composing the urine, from the blood.

They are continuously at work to preserve the general health of the body and most people are troubled with some form of kidney trouble, but do not suspect it.

Some of the symptoms are: A feeling of weakness in the small of the back, sharp pains in back, puffiness under the eyes, and swelling of the feet and ankles, urinary troubles such as supressed urination, excessive urination, cloudy, thick or highly colored urine, etc.

Mr. J. L. Whiting, Osnabruck Centre, Ont., writes: "I suffered for two years with kidney trouble. I had terrible pains in my back, hips and legs. I could not sleep and had a poor appetite. I took four boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills, and the pains left me, my appetite returned and I now sleep well. I can recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to anyone suffering from kidney trouble.

Doan's Kidney Pills are 50 cents per box or 3 boxes for $1.25 at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The Doan Kidney Pill Co., Toronto, Ont.

LOW SENSE OF HONOR.

York Grand Jury Scores Electors Who Are Crooked.

Pointed references to what was termed a "low sense of honor among electors" were made by the Grand Jury in the Assize Court in Toronto before Mr. Justice Teetzel the other day with regard to the revelations consequent upon recent investigations. The Bench agreed with the jurors that it was a lamentable thing that so many prominent citizens should furnish such low ideals for the younger generation. A portion of the presentment reads as follows:

"We must express our amazement at the low sense of honor existing amongst the electors, as revealed in the evidence of the perjury cases, and from the numerous election suits arising from time to time in widely divided parts of the Dominion. It would seem as if all the electorate was tainted, void of all sense of honor, and as if the end in all cases justified the means. We beg to suggest that a law be formulated in which the receiver will be punished as well as the giver, and that severe penalties should be meted out to all participants in political corruption, as would debar and prevent repetition of such deplorable scandals."

So incensed were the jurors at the state of affairs they found at the Toronto jail that they brought in a true bill against the city, charging the Corporation with maintaining a common nuisance. In this indictment the present buildings are said to be in a foul, noxious, unwholesome, uncomfortable, offensive and inconvenient state for want of due alteration, reparation, accommodation, ventilation, cleansing and amendment. It was further stated that the cells were in such a condition as would hardly be tolerated in a first-class stable.

Why Did They Go?

Why were the early settlers of Manitoba drawn so largely from the counties of Huron and Bruce? asks a writer in Toronto News. Are they more rocky and less fertile than other Ontario counties, and did the people go because population over-ran the growth of wealth, just as Scotchmen have been popularly supposed to be shoved out from their barren land to conquer the world? There may be something in that, but the writer, never having seen either country, cannot say. But, looking at the map, and remembering the process of settling the Western United States, one is inclined to believe that proximity and ease of travel had much to do with it. Steamers ran from both Lake Huron and Georgian Bay ports for Duluth long before the Canadian Pacific Railway was built. Water travel is cheap and the tendancy would be for adventurous spirits to go up to have a look at the new country. Some of them would be seized of its advantages, and after the first score started, and reports were received of their prosperous spirits to go up to have a look at the new country. Some of them would be seized of its advantages, and after the first score started, and reports were received of their prosperity in the new land, their relatives and neighbors would follow. There is no immigration agent like the prosperous settler, and so it happened that there was a large colony from those counties in Manitoba before the rest of Ontario had fairly awakened to the fact that there was such a place. If that is not the true explanation, perhaps somebody who knows can give it.

Sending Home the "Bores."

In South Africa candles are used for lighting purposes in the homes, and when a young Boer maiden has gentlemen visitors the mother sticks a pin in the candle, and when it has burned to the pin the callers understand that it is time for their departure. Mrs. Early, a society matron of Washington, recently made a visit to the Transvaal and was so impressed with the custom of the Boers that she determined to introduce it into her own home. Consequently the electric lights were removed and candles substituted in the drawing room. Mr. Staylate, a frequent though not always welcome caller, was one of the first visitors to call after the inauguration of the new custom. He witnessed the placing of the pin in the candle by Mrs. Early and after she had gone ventured to inquire:

"Why, Miss Early, does your mother stick a pin in the candle?"

"Oh," responded the young woman, with an air of apparent innocence, "mother learned that in South Africa as a way of sending home the Boers."—Harper's Weekly.

A Blade of Grass.

As an English writer has written: "Whenever you can find a single blade of grass, however small, there you stand face to face with the mystery of life and all the responsibilities of existence. It is of more interest than many of the stars, for, if astronomy is right, some stars are ceaselessly burning, and therefore, beautiful as they are from a distance, life upon them (in the sense in which we understand life) is impossible. The roots of the humblest blade of grass go down to the beginning of life in the world, and its tip points to the sky. If you should chance to find a blade of grass withering in a rocky place, carry it a little water for the sake of the thoughts that spring from it."

Chronicles of Don Q.

BY K. AND HESKETH PRITCHARD.

(Copyright by Pearson Publishing Company.)

THE EARS OF THE GOVERNOR.

A new governor had lately been appointed to the prison at Castelleno.

Don Hugo was a roystering blade, handsome, noted for his gallantries, and early successful in his career. In an ill-advised hour he delivered a speech in public, wherein he observed that Don Q. was a happy nickname for the brigand chief, who for so long had terrorized the district. He recounted some of his crimes, and fulminated against him the penalties of the law.

All this Don Q. read in his mountain eyrie with exceeding relish. It flattered his self-esteem. The speech was fully reported in the local journal, which we may call El Mundo, but the sting lay waiting in the last clause: "And yet this reputed king of the mountains," concluded Don Hugo, is, after all, a miserable wretch, poorer than the meanest ass in Spain for he carries but one ear!"

Whatever his other bodily infirmities, the bandit possessed both his ears, yet the libel was of a nature which could never be forgiven. His diseased vanity dwelt upon it with an ever-growing bitterness. The slumbering devil in him awoke, tormenting him to fury.

Upon this day, which followed an interval of terrified quietness, the robbers' valley was thrilled by an excitement, hot with the double seasoning of novelty and danger. A party scouring the lower hills, according to their practice, had met with a lady—a very great lady she seemed—who far from objecting after the usual manner to being carried prisoner into the sierra, instantly demanded to be taken into the presence of the dreaded chief.

In the dusk Don Q. lifted up his head. "Do not keep me any longer, I pray, Gaspar," he said in a sharp, sibilant voice, "what is it?"

"Lord, a senora would speak with you," stuttered the man.

Don Q. paused. It must be confessed that a lady desiring an interview with him was something of a novelty.

"Good. The senora's name?"

"The lady would tell you that herself, lord."

"Let her come." Gaspar turned away with relief, but the chief stopped him. "Stay, Gaspar. Make up the fire, and light a torch, fix it up there behind me. I trust Gaspar, you have not inconvenienced the senora by keeping her waiting? I will ask her, and if—" the silence was eloquent.

A few minutes later a lady swept into the circle of light within the cave. Her face was hidden by a mantilla, but she moved with the air of acknowledged beauty, audacious and graceful.

Don Q. rose from his seat in the gloom beyond the fire and bowed.

"I am the chief of the sequestradores, and the senora's very humble servant."

The words uttered in purest Spanish with the soft tone of courtesy almost startled the hearer. She peered across the smoke and flames, but the torch had been set to baffle her vision.

"I have come, senor, to implore your aid," she said impulsively.

At the same instant she flung back her mantilla and disclosed her features. Don Q. gazed at her for a moment in silence. She was a golden Spaniard; dark-eyed, with a mouth like a red blossom, her somewhat cruel-looking but extreme beauty enhanced by a skin of exquisite fairness, and crowned with golden hair.

"Senora," began the soft voice after a pause, which the lady fully appreciated as a tribute to her charms, "am I permitted to ask by what name I may remember such loveliness?"

"Catalina, the Condessa—" She broke off excitedly; she had an end in view, and wished to gain it without delay. "I was told that you were kind to those in distress, and would help a woman when you could."

"I rejoice that there are still some speakers of the truth under the mountains. Be at ease, Dona Catalina, my pleasure at the sight of so much beauty is only equalled by my impatience to know in what manner I can show my gratitude for the honor of this visit."

"Senor, I am the wife of the handsomest caballero in Spain, alas!"

"Ah! And the countess dwells—"

"In Castelleno," she answered.

"In Castelleno?" The fact was pertinent to the moment. "Be seated, senora. You are doubtless acquainted with the governor of the prison!"

"Why, yes."

"Is he not an ugly, pimple-faced fellow?" questioned Don Q.

She replied hotly: "On the contrary, he is an exceedingly handsome man."

He cut her short. "Pardon me, but are you sure? I have heard that ladies cried out at the mere sight of his smile!"

"With gratification, perhaps," she answered, and sighed impatiently.

"No, no, senora, you are surely mistaken."

"Hardly possible, Don Q. He is my husband!"

"You are then the wife of the governor, Don Hugo?" The chief's smooth voice vibrated slightly with some emotion. "I would envy him, if I dared."

"Of what use is beauty if it does not secure love?" she cried petulantly. "My husband—"

"You love him?"

"At this moment I hate him!" She leant forward with a swing in her lithe body, her eyes flashing. "I heard a whisper—I suspected—I set spies—I followed him." She clasped her hands before her breast, then flung them apart with a vehement gesture of rage. "O, at this moment I could kill him!"

"Proceed, I beg of you. What have I to do with lovers' quarrels?"

"Everything, if you will help me! Yes, we quarreled. He laughed at my tears. I vowed I would throw myself on your protection. He dared me to do so, and, though I was indeed afraid (for your name is a cause for shuddering in the plains, senor), I came. He must pay a ransom for me. Thus shall he be taught to value his wife."

"Nay, senora. I could not have the heart to deprive him of your charming society. Figure to yourself his anxiety!" was the unexpected reply. "You shall be sent down to Castelleno tomorrow in safety."

The beautiful face darkened. "I will not go!" she cried imperiously. "I did not fancy you would side against me with my husband! Remember," with a witching glance at the dim figure in the corner, "you promised to help me."

"I have not forgotten. Yet you must go to-morrow, though your departure will leave the mountains bleak indeed!"

"You are only a man after all!" she exclaimed angrily. "The sins of one man are not sins in the eyes of another man; perhaps you would feel less for him, if you knew more of what he says of you. Only last Sunday he vowed you were a coward."

"Don Hugo takes much upon himself when he says that." A changed note in the low voice frightened her.

"He had an argument to back it," she ran on nervously. "He said that it was easy to terrify a helpless captive up here when you have your men beside you. But he would wager—O, I cannot go on, senor!"

"Favor me by proceeding, senora."

The condessa shivered and obeyed.

"He wagered that alone, unbacked by your comrades—I mean followers, you would prove yourself—oh, how can I say it?"

"But you must, senora. Having gone so far I regret to insist—"

"Have it then," she cried desperately. "You would prove yourself as cowardly as you are hideous."

"Copse of a scullion!" The ejaculation burst out with violence; then the voice resumed gently—"but even now, lady, you have missed out one little particular."

"No, no," she sobbed, "I recollect no more."

"Then listen. The governor of the prison of Castelleno was good enough to declare in public that I have but one ear. It is a lie, as I mean to show him. To-morrow you will take a message from me to His Excellency Don Hugo, your husband."

"But," she ventured, "you promised to help me."

"That will I do also."

"Tell him I have a little museum up here in the mountains, to which I desire a small addition."

"Tell him further that when I come down into Castelleno I shall have with me two ears—my own; but that when I depart I shall have four ears, my own and his. Yes, senora, alone and single-handed, within 15 days, I Don Q. will come down from the mountains and crop the ears of the governor of the prison of Castelleno."

"But," she cried in horror, "you have deceived me. An earless husband!—how unendurable!"

For the eighth time the governor of the prison of Castelleno muttered an angry oath. Because, for the eighth time that evening, his excellency had found his hand straying nervously to his ears.

The message of Don Q. had been faithfully brought down to him by his wife. In her presence, and indeed to himself during the hours of daylight, he would scoff at the threat as the absurd and empty vaporing of a wretched hill thief. He was a strong man, mentally and physically, yet when evening began to fall, and the wind moaned over sad Spain, his impressionable nature took on a more somber tint. He would start at a footfall, and his hand would rush up to his ears. He cursed his imagination, he cursed Don Q., he cursed his wife, but in his heart of hearts he wished he had let sleeping dogs lie.

He remembered a hundred tales of the fierce chief, each one of which made him shudder. For Don Q. was a man of a strange, warped sense of humor, and scarcely one of the legends attached to his name but glowed with lurid manifestations of this quality. Besides, the bandit appeared to be omniscient. None ever lived to carry him false news twice. But true information was paid for with terrific lavishness.

Don Q.'s plan was laid out very subtly, and with a minute precision of detail, for his fierce heart dwelt in a frail body, and he proposed to go down single-handed to smite his enemy.

When all was ready he called up Robledo and Gaspar to the cave.

"My children," he said, in his silkiest tones, "there is one under the mountains with whom it is necessary that I should deal, the governor of the prison of Castelleno."

A flicker of excitement lit up the dark eyes of the men, but the chief raised his delicate yellow hand.

"I have nothing yet for you to do save to secure the quiet of my musings. You will bring my food as usual day by day. I lay no command of silence upon you, but for no reason whatever—you heed me, Robledo?—for no reason whatever am I to be called forth until you see me again."

The men touched their tongues and eyes.

"That is well. Keep your oath in mind," advised Don Q. "For the story of what I am about to carry out will be told in the posadas of Spain by your children's children."

After this the quiet of death fell upon the cave. The band believed the chief to be still there, for he certainly had not passed by the sentries, who rigorously kept the only known entrance to the valley.

Don Q. had left the Boca de Lobo by an entrance known to none but himself. In a lonely gorge he found waiting for him, tied amongst some high scrub, a horse saddled and bridled in semi-military fashion. During four days, whether riding downwards by devious and little-known paths, or cooking his meal at sunset, or lurking in a thicket to watch the passing of a couple of guardias civiles, or dozing the dark hours through rolled in his cloak, the vision always before his eyes took the form of the shapely ears of the governer of the prison of Castelleno.

He was engaged upon a fantastic exploit. The difficulty of entering the governor's presence might in itself have seemed insurmountable; but almost as Don Q. uttered the words of the threat a plan formed in his mind.

It was evening. On the roof of the prison beside a cluster of potted palms a couple of reclining chairs had been placed in the best position to catch the cool airs from the mountains.

In one Dona Catalina yawned and fanned herself languidly, while the governor sat smoking cigarettes in the moody silence that day by day was growing upon him. Now and again he lifted his eyes and gazed across the white town and the tillage surrounding it.

"Again! O, my Hugo, you stare at the mountains and finger your ears as if Don Q. could stretch his long talons across from his cave and pull them off!" she laughed again with an abandon of enjoyment that came near to breaking down the restraint Don Hugo had placed upon his temper.

"Not precisely. But I admit that sight of the sierra reminded me of your foolish visit up there, and naturally of that robber's most insolent message," he replied with an air of loftiness. "This has forced me to take special steps with a view to setting an end to his career. A conclave of the principal personages of Castelleno and the neighborhood is to be held in the great hall presently. An extraordinary expedition will then be sent up against him. I will probably lead it myself—"

The senora rose from her seat and curtseyed deeply and derisively.

"I shall be doubly anxious about your ears then, my beloved! Don Q. is a man of his word. "But, see, your guests begin to arrive."

Spaniards, in spite of their reserve, are moved to excitement upon any subject which touches them nearly. The caballeros of the district no less than the citizens of the town appeared to find in Don Q. a topic far from conducive to calmness. However, his reputation stood with the poor; the rich, whom he sent empty away, bore him much ill will. The room resounded with tales of the mysterious brigand. Each man could supply a different anecdote of his annoying, if not terrible, exploits, some of which dated back a score of years, some of yesterday, but almost all stamped with that distorted humor which commonly bit too deep for laughter.

Then Don Hugo, rising in his place, referred to the crowning offence of which the brigand had been guilty. He told, in fact, with certain expedient deviations from historic accuracy, the tale of his wife's journey into the mountains. That so beautiful a woman should have been kidnapped and half frightened to death stirred the ready Spanish chivalry, and when Don Hugo declared himself ready to administer an oath of membership to a society of vengeance, the idea was greeted with acclamation, and was about to be carried into effect when a servant disturbed the meeting.

A captain of the civil guard was in waiting below, charged to speak without delay to the governor on a matter of the highest importance.

"You will be good enough to request Capt. del Pino to rest himself for a few minutes," returned Don Hugo impatiently.

"Pardon, excellency, he bade me present this." The man held out a card upon which some sentences were written.

The governor glanced at it and uttered an exclamation.

"Senora, Capt. del Pino comes from Madrid upon business connected with Don Q."

A slender man in the uniform of the civil guard was already bowing in the doorway. His long blue cloak hung behind his shoulders, and, as he raised his head, covered with dark curling hair, the assembly saw that he bore stains, not only of travel, but of misadventure by the way. His brow was bandaged, and a spatter of blood showed on his cheek.

"My business is pressing, excellency. Can I see you alone?" he said, in a low tone, which, however, carried an imperious echo.

"You have a mission connected with—" began the governor pleasantly.

"Pardon me," interrupted the courtly captain, "a secret mission, intrusted to me by the highest authority in Madrid."

"As to that you will never guess the purpose for which we are gathered here to-night."

"A matter of some responsibility and difficulty?" Del Pino's tone and gracious movement of the head were in the nature of a general compliment to the ability and position of those present.

"You may speak freely. We—my friends and I—are agreed on that subject." Don Hugo waved his hand largely. "Your mission then concerns—"

"A certain gentleman well known, not only in these parts, but throughout the whole of Spain, a certain Don Q.," added the captain quietly.

"Come, come, Senor Capitan! We have less respect for the one-eared brigand of the Boca de Lobo," laughed the governor, too busy in lighting a cigarette to notice a sudden contraction of del Pino's features. "That vulture of the rocks has troubled us too long. We were, precisely when you arrived, arranging to make an end of him."

"No doubt your plan would be successful, though it was said, in Madrid, that he had defied capture for some 20 years already, and that a score or so expeditions sent out against him had failed," observed del Pino, with a shrug of his shoulders. "He must be a remarkable personage. I was the more gratified, therefore, at receiving orders from headquarters to come down and deal specially with a man of such interesting antecedents."

"Can you bring yourself to conceive the last crime the fellow has committed, senor?" Don Hugo took advantage of a pause. "He had the arrogance to kidnap my own wife in the last fortnight!"

"He held her at ransom, of course?"

"No, no; not precisely," stuttered Don Hugo. "He released her—after a few hours."

"That was surely considerate."

"Far from it! The reason of his action is obvious. I wonder it does not strike you, senor."

Del Pino gazed for an instant at the governor's air of self-complacent ruffling and shook his head.

"You must forgive my dullness, excellency. I cannot imagine the reason."

"The ruffian was afraid to do otherwise! Naturally, on discovering the Condessa's identity, he permitted her to return home. He knows my reputation, Senor Capitan! But"—with a frown—"I cannot forgive his treatment of my wife; he terrified her with shocking threats."

Del Pino's face altered. A twist, it might have been of derision or incredulity, deepened the corners of his mouth. "Of personal ill-treatment? Surely not!"

"His threat was directed against me. I must explain. It is well known that the brute has but one ear. I mentioned the fact openly. He appears to resent this, and swore to be revenged on me by depriving me of both of mine."

"Horrible!" Del Pino caressed his own ears meditatively. "Horrible!" he murmured. "To be without one ear would be a sufficient humiliation; but to lose both, and by the hand of an enemy, would be a mortification scarcely to be survived."

"Fortunately, none of us need fear anything of the kind," interrupted Don Hugo brusquely. "We have decided to make away with this miserable hill thief. He has been too long at large. I myself am about to lead an expedition into the sierra with that object."

"It is now hardly necessary," observed del Pino, with an accentuation of his gentle politeness.

"What, do you propose to replace me, senor?" asked Don Hugo, with heat.

"Replace you? No, excellency, that would be impossible! But, by good luck, I may have forestalled you."

"I fail to catch your meaning, senor," said Don Hugo, but half mollified.

"It is that I had the honor to kill Don Q. yesterday."

A profound silence of a few seconds followed this announcement.

"You killed Don Q. yesterday?" the governor almost shouted.

"Yes, excellency, and I shall be glad to have a receipt for the body," went on del Pino immovably, "according to the regulations of my corps."

The tension of the last couple of weeks was lifted from the spirit of Don Hugo. In the enthusiasm of his relief he flung his arms round the stonily unresponsive del Pino, and embraced him effusively on both cheeks.

"Accept our congratulations, senor. Gentlemen, let us drink to the health of this paladin, Capt. del Pino!"

Del Pino's glass was filled; no one observed that he left it untouched. But he professed himself overwhelmed by their approbation; his success, he begged them to believe, was a mere matter of luck. He explained that, wishing to see the region of Don Q.'s exploits, he had left the train when approaching the mountains and ridden the remainder of the way. Thus he came by chance upon the brigand and shot him down.

"And now I would request his excellency to come with me to the cell in which the body has been placed, for the purpose of identifying it," he wound up.

"By all means. Let us go without delay."

Don Hugo led the way from the room.

"You say the body is in a cell, senor? Why put a dead body in a cell?" he asked laughingly, as they went down the corridor.

The captain of the civil guard smiled slightly.

"From all that is said of Don Q., excellency, I thought it well to turn the key even on his corpse."

The governor stopped as they passed a stairway leading upward.

"My wife is on the roof—I will tell her."

"Pardon, excellency, make sure of him first."

They descended to the level of the ordinary cells, then lower to those more remote and secured dungeons reserved for the worst criminals.

"No, no, excellency, allow me to show you the way. The cell is already lit," del Pino's voice was heard to say as the door shut behind them.

A quarter of an hour passed but the effervescence of excitement had not yet subsided in the assembly room, when the door opened and a figure stood upon the threshold. It was not that of the governor nor of del Pino.

"Don Q.!" a shout of astonishment went up.

"At your service, senores. Be silent, I pray you"—a small, commanding hand rose from the cloak. "Be silent and remain seated. Remember, you have to deal with a man who is equally ready to die to-night or 10 years hence. Also, if I may remind you, of a man who has never been known to neglect a precaution."

"Where is the governor?"

"Safe, senores, in a cell of his own prison, and with him is the body of a vile footpad, nicknamed El Duques, whose methods have brought discredit upon my profession, and whom I have at length punished. I undertook the function properly appertaining to the helpless executive. Late yesterday I killed El Duques."

"But del Pino—have you killed him also?"

"He is no more, senores, I regret to inform you." Don Q. laughed sibilantly. "But do not implore his loss, for, with the exception of his well-curled wig and his hat of the civil guard, he survives in me."

"You passed yourself off as Capt. del Pino of the civil guard? But how could you impose upon any one with the body? The corpse was the corpse, you tell us, of El Duques."

"I will explain, senores. A razor passed over the skull, a little coloring on the eyelids, the refinement bestowed by the purging hand of death converted it into a poor caricature of—myself." Don Q. raised his sombrero, and from the doublings of the cloak shot up the lean scraggy neck, the bald-browed malignant face, the aspect of a vulture paraphrased into human likeness.

"One word more, senores. This Don Hugo committed a crime. It became necessary that I should come down from my sierra to deal with him. He made before you this evening a statement, that he has made before the public. He said that Don Q. was poorer than the meanest ass in Spain—I give you his exact words, senores—for he carried but one ear. Sit still!" His livid-lidded eyes flickered ominously upon them. "Behold, senores, one, two," he touched his ears one after the other with the hand that was not engaged in holding a pistol. "You can now as honorable men bear witness that you have yourselves counted the ears of Don Q., and that he possesses both. You will have the goodness to count those of the governor of the prison of Castelleno—presently."

The door was softly and suddenly shut and the lock clicked. Immediately an indescribable uproar broke out.

The Condessa, from her chair on the house-top, heard it and sprang to her feet, for in the moonlight before her stood a figure she had seen only half a month earlier across the smoke and flame of a fire. She recoiled with a cry.

"Fear nothing, beautiful senora," said the soft, hissing voice. "I come but to tell you that I have kept my word."

"What have you done?" she cried trembling.

TROUBLE NOW BETWEEN CHURCH AND STATE

France Facing Religious Crisis Over Separation Law.

POPE FORBIDS OBEDIENCE

Government Regards Action of Pontiff as Little Less Than Summons to Open Rebellion—Preparations For Enforcement of Law Being Made by Government, Which Will Act With Energy.

Paris, Dec. 10.—France seems to face an alarming religious crisis. Saturday night's reports of the Pope's rejection at the eleventh hour of the Government's final proffer, under which Catholic worship was to be continued under the common law, turned out to be true. The deadlock now is apparently complete. Accordingly to the Pope's orders declarations under the law of 1881 are prohibited, but the parish priests must remain in their churches until driven out by violence.

Created a Sensation.

The official confirmation of this communication has created a sensation, both in Government and in Catholic circles. Cardinal Lecot, Archbishop of Bordeaux, Archbishop Germain, and others who had advised compliance with the law, have hastily instructed the parish priests in their dioceses that their former advice is null and void. Yesterday in all the churches of Paris shops and priests, after mass, read the letter from Cardinal Richard, Archbishop of Paris, communicating the direction of the Holy See, to the French clergy to "continue services in the churches, but to abstain from any declaration," and Cardinal Richard's own instructions, in view of the order issued by the prefect of the Seine Saturday forbidding for the present the employment of ceremonial draperies at marriages or funerals. The church wardens, whose legal existence will expire next Tuesday, were thanked yesterday from the pulpit of the various churches. Prayers, also, were offered for the protection of God during the coming period of persecution.

A Summons to Relief.

The Government regards the action of the pontiff as little less than a summons of the French Catholics to open rebellion, as rendering the situation exceedingly grave, and possible as entailing the most deplorable consequences.

Premier Clemenceau and M. Briand, Minister of Public Worship, were in conference all day yesterday. There is no sign of the Government faltering, but it recognizes that it may be proved to resort to extreme measures.

Government Will Prosecute.

"The encyclical is very grave," said M. Briand. "While condemning the law of 1906, it advised recourse to the common law. To refuse to form cultural associations was the church's legal right. In a spirit of conciliation, and to do nothing to disturb peace and tranquility, the Government upon prescribes this easy means of continuing worship by a simple declaration in accordance with the law of 1881. The Pope no longer acts as the spiritual head of the church, as the canonical objections of the law of 1895 cannot be invalid against that of 1881. The Pope now assumes a political leadership, and the vital question is whether the Catholics of France will consent to follow him or not. If they do, the Government will act with even greater energy because of the tolerance it has manifested heretofore. Every violation of the law will be prosecuted, and furthermore, special measures, legislative and otherwise, may be taken."

Punishment Threatened.

The special measures referred to by M. Briand are those intimated by Premier Clemenceau in the Chamber of Deputies, namely, to strip the clergy of their privileges, to compel them to perform military service, and, as a last resort, to treat them as foreign subejcts.

Militant Catholics are rejoicing at the stern attitude of the Pope.

Murder First; Then Fire.

Ottawa, Dec. 10.—George Ladoucer, a teamster, is in the cells charged with drunkenness, but the charge of murder may be laid against him. Mrs. Emma Blanchette, who had a police record, and who did not live with her husband, but with the prisoner, was found after a fire in the tenement, on the floor dead. Her hair was badly singed and she two had two large cuts over her eyes. The back of her head was badly bruised. It was apparent that the woman was dead before the fire started, and the fire had all the appearance of being incendiary. Ladoucer told a rambling story and blood was found on his clothing.

Kidneys Affected By Sudden Change

MOST PAINFUL AILMENTS FOLLOW —PREVENTION AND CURE OBTAINED BY USE OF

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS.

The sudden lowering of the temperature causes the pores of the skin to close, and thus throws on to the kidneys much work which is ordinarily performed by the skin. This, no doubt, accounts for the great prevalence of kidney disease during the fall and winter.

There is no treatment which so quickly affords relief to overworked and deranged kidneys as Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, because they act on the liver, as well as the kidneys, and when in healthful action the liver does much of the work of filtering the blood, which is otherwise left for the kidneys.

Bright's Disease, dropsy, uric acid poisoning, stone in the bladder, and rheumatism are among the most painful forms of kidney disease, and these ailments can always be prevented by the timely use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. They can also usually be cured by this treatment, but if you are so fortunate as to be yet free of these dreadful ailments, keep so by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills to keep the liver, kidneys and bowels in healthful working condition.

Mr. W. Ferguson, blacksmith, Trenton, Ont., states: "In my work I am bending over a great deal, and this, together with the constant strain on all parts of the body, and the sudden change of temperature when going to and from the forge, brought on kidney disease and backache. At times I would suffer so that I would have to quit work to ease my back, and felt so miserable most of the time that I did not enjoy life very much.

"At last I decided that I would have to get relief in some way, and having heard of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills as a successful cure for backache and kidney disease, I began using them. To my surprise and pleasure they helped me at once, and a few doses entirely removed my troubles. Thanks to Dr. Chase, I am perfectly cured, and hope that others may take my advice and use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, by their direct and combined action on kidney, liver and bowels, positively cure biliousness, constipation, and diseases of the kidneys. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Raid On Revolutionists.

Warsaw, Russian Poland, Dec. 10.—A military raid on the Kakoff Iron Works at Czenstachowa Saturday resulted in breaking up an extensive revolutionary organization. Eighty-seven members of the band were arrested, including 15 terrorists suspected of participating in recent murders and robberies. A large quantity of arms and ammunition, several printing presses and many revolutionary proclamations were captured.

Anarchists Attack Mail Train.

Odessa, Dec. 10.—A band of anarchists Saturday made a daring attempt to attack a mail train between Odessa and Voznessensk, but were driven off by a military patrol.

The troops captured 14 of the anarchists, all of whom carried bombs and revolvers.

The prisoners will be tried by a drum-head court-martial.

PARLIAMENT INVOKED.

G.T.R. Seeks to Abolish Third-Class Service Clause.

Ottawa, Dec. 10.—The following paragraph in The Canada Gazette foreshadows an effort by the G.T.R. to repeal that clause of its charter providing for a third-class service, at two cents a mile, in Canada:

"Notice is hereby given that the Grand Trunk Railway Co. of Canada will apply to the Parliament of Canada, at the present session thereof, for an act repealing act compelling the provisions of section 3 of 16 Victoria, chapter 37. (Signed) W. H. Biggar, solicitor for the applicants. Dated at Montreal, this sixth day of December, A.D. 1906."

CHARCOAL FUMES KILL.

Hotel Porter Was Using the Fuel Instead of Gas.

St. Catharines, Dec. 10.—George Lindsay, about 25 years old, porter at the New Murray, was found dead in bed by the bell boy at 12.30 p.m Saturday night.

Death was due to charcoal fumes, the deceased having gotten in charcoal to light a fire owing to the great scarcity of natural gas.

TEE NEWFOUNDLAND CASE COMES UP AGAIN

Correspondence Concerning the Matter Published At London.

GOVERNMENT IS BLAMELESS

Lord Elgin, Stating the Circumstances, Holds That No Blame Could Fairly Be Imputed to Ministry — Wide Chasm Remains to Be Bridged, Though Tone of Correspondence Is Conciliatory.

London, Dec. 10.—(C.A.P.)—The correspondence respecting the Newfoundland fisheries has just been issued. On Aug. 19 Governor MacGregor telegraphed to Lord Elgin that the Newfoundland Government deprecated any provisional arrangement with the United States, adding that the committee of council strongly urge the issue of a proclamation to bring into force the Foreign Fishing Vessels Act of 1906.

Lord Elgin replies that His Majesty's Government could not but feel that the Newfoundland Government had failed to appreciate the serious difficulty in which its policy had placed both Governments. He pointed out that the proposed modus vivendi would not in any way infringe the assurance given by Mr. Labouchere to the colony for the modus vivendi was not for the purpose of making new treaty arrangements, but simply for the purpose of ascertaining what the existing treaty engagements were.

Elgin Did Not Approve.

In another cable to MacGregor, Lord Elgin said the foreign fishing vessels act did not come within the category of the colonies' international affairs, and further, that, like his predecessor, he had never approved the policy embodied in the act nor had he ever indicated that he was prepared to advise His Majesty to bring into operation the amended act of 1906. Lord Elgin subsequently reminded Governor MacGregor that it was not until the modus vivendi had been submitted to the United States Government that his Ministers had evinced any readiness to consider the proposal and make suggestions, and that in such circumstances no blame could fairly be imputed to His Majesty's Government.

Chasm Is Unbridged.

London, Dec. 10.—(A.P.A.)—The correspondence between the State Department and the Foreign Office, here and that between Newfoundland and the Colonial Office, detailing the circumstances leading to the establishment of the fisheries modus vivendi, was published here Saturday. While the tone is conciliatory it shows that a wide chasm remains to be bridged. The despatches commenced in October, 1905, with letters from Secretary Root to Ambassador Durand, dated Oct. 12 and Oct. 19, asking for an early interview on the subject of the fisheries and explaining the views of the United States of her treaty rights and urging that Great Britain take steps to secure the repeal of the Newfoundland laws conflicting therewith. Foreign Secretary Grey, Feb. 2, last, through Ambassador Reid, dealt at length with Mr. Root's observations and said he regretted that he was unable to assent thereto without important qualifications. Mr. Reid notified Secretary Grey, July 20, that Mr. Root disagreed with him.

To End Interference.

Mr. Root said: "I am instructed to ask for such action as will prevent any interference on any ground by officers of the Newfoundland Government with American fishermen when they go to exercise their treaty rights on the Newfoundland coast during the approaching fishing season."

Hopeless of Settlement.

Secretary Grey, replying Aug. 14, said he observed "with much regret that the wide divergence in the views of the two Governments disclosed by the correspondence makes it hopeless to expect an immediate settlement." But he was ready to confer with the United States Government with the view of arranging a modus vivendi applicable only to the ensuing season.

On Sept. 12, Mr. Reid wrote Secretary Grey to the effect that the Government of the United States "hears with the greatest concern that the divergence of views renders an immediate settlement impossible," and suggesting the terms of the modus vivendi. These were accepted by Secretary Grey Sept. 25, whereupon Mr. Reid was authorized to ratify them.

DISASTROUS FIRES,

Nine Montreal Firms Suffer $340,000 Loss—Glasgow, N.S., Scorched to the Extent of $100,000.

Montreal, Dec. 10.—One of the worst fires that has taken place in Montreal for some time visited the business district yesterday morning, entailing heavy loss to a number of leading business houses. The fire started shortly after 3 o'clock in the establishment of M. C. Galarneau and Bros., merchants, 12 St. Helen street, and when the firemen arrived the flames had secured great headway and it took several hours to get them under control.

The following firms suffered by fire, smoke and water: Matthews, Towers & Co., news finishing, $80,000; Canadian Underwear Co., $75,000; the Dreyfus Importing Co., $45,000; Thos. May & Co., wholesale drygoods, $35,000; Redpath estate, owners of Matthews, Towers, $15,000; Yorkshire Importing Co., woolen stock and building $20,000; W. J. Stephen, commission merchant, stock, $1,000; S. T. Greenleese & Sons, furriers, stock, $5,000; J. Arthur Paquet, wholesale hatters, $5,000.

Three buildings were gutted and will have to be rebuilt.

$100,000 Fire.

New Glasgow, N.S., Dec. 10.—New Glasgow was visited yesterday morning by a most disastrous fire, which started about 3.30 in a basement, where a furnace is situated under a large building at McLean and Provost streets. In an hour and a half Grant Brothers' drug store, Geo. Carew's drug store, the large drygoods establishment of F. A. McCulloch & Co., covering two stores, Dr. Garfield McDonald's dental office and the quarters of the City Club were gone. The fire alarm system was out of order, caused by Friday's sleet storm, and valuable time was lost. The loss is estimated at $100,000, partly covered by insurance.

Fire Chief's Escape.

Stratford, Dec. 10.—Fire yesterday gutter the hardware store of J. B. Myers in the heart of the city. It started at 4 a.m. and before the firemen arrived the interior was a mass of flames. Chief Myers had an escape from severe injury by the stairway collapsing as he stepped upon the charred structure. The origin of the fire is a mystery. The loss is estimated at about $2,000.

Big Blaze In Chicago.

Chicago, Dec. 10.—The seven-storey building at 240-242 Market street, occupied by several wholesale clothing firms, was destroyed by fire Saturday night. The loss is $300,000.

Helped Girls to Escape.

Brantford, Dec. 10.—Fire broke out late Saturday afternoon in the first storey of the Canadian Folding Paper Box Co.'s building, on Jarvis street, and resulted in damage amounting to $2,000. The fireman had to assist female employes to escape through the windows on an upper storey.

Campbellford Block Gutter.

Campbellford, Dec. 10.—At about 1.30 yesterday morning fire broke out in a brick block on Front street, occupied by the Campbellford Despatch Printing office and R. M. McGuire, photographer. The firemen were unable to save the building. McGuire suffers almost a total loss, with $700 insurance in the Guardian. Mr. Dryden, proprietor of The Despatch, lost everything, including a new typesetting machine recently purchased. He has no insurance. Miss Rooney, who has a millinery store next to the burned block, will also suffer a loss by water and smoke. The block is owned by the Kennedy Estate, and is insured for $2,000 in the Economical.

ON BARB WIRE FENCE.

Body of Angus MacInnis Found On Friday Terribly Mutilated.

Sydney, N. S., Dec. 10.—At noon Friday the body of Angus MacInnis was found hanging over the barb wire fence that runs along the Sydney and Louisburg railway in a terribly mutilated condition.

The man was last seen Monday evening near where the body was found.

The theory is a quarrel. MacInnis had considerable money when he left home but only one dollar was found on his person.

Level Crossing Fatality.

Iona, Dec. 10.—Angus Campbell was instantly killed on the crossing here by being struck by No. 23 M.C.R. express. He was on his way home, driving from church. The buggy was smashed to atoms, but the horse was not injured. Mr. Campbell was 77 years of age. Besides his aged wife he leaves a family of four boys, and three daughters.

PRAISE FOR MAYOR BIGGAR.

Twenty-Five Conductors and Motormen Must Wait for Job.

Hamilton, Dec. 10.—The action of the Street Railway Co. in laying off 25 of its conductors and motormen Saturday morning will probably lead to further trouble. The union thinks that the company is violating the award of the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board and will appeal to the board again.

James Leitch, chairman of the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board, has written to Mayor Biggar, complimenting his worship on the stand he took during the street railway trouble.

Mr. Leitch in part said, in the letter: "Now that it is all over it is a great satisfaction and pleasure to me to be able to state that nothing could have surpassed your wisdom, common sense and discretion in preventing bloodshed in the city. Had you not been firm and discreet, and permitted yourself to be stampeded by inconsiderate and hot-headed criticism, the result would have been appalling. The citizens of Hamilton owe you a debt of gratitude for your judicious management of one of the most difficult and critical episodes in the history of the city."

Investor, Read This!

Excuse me, but wouldn't you like to get in on the ground floor, with no cellar below it? When mining companies are floated, there is a doubt as to whether or not some fellows were hidden in the cellar when you got the tip which induced you to come in on the ground floor. Here is a proposition of a Company founded on rock, with no room for cellars. It is one a few of us formed, to do in a safe, sure and careful manner, prospecting, developing and marketing on a large scale, backed up by plenty of capital, what the small, grubstaking, prospecting local companies have struggled to do for some time, with varying success. Some of them have found prospects, but lack of funds, and, perhaps, mining knowledge, has tied them up. We purpose, on liberal terms, following up such prospects with a well-equipped staff of prospectors, mining engineers and miners, and if there is anything in them, to market the same after careful development. This Company has no bonus or watered stock for anyone. The Directors pay for their stock just as you will require to should you come in with us. We look on this as an honest business proposition, free from any semblance of doubtful speculation—one which should appeal to you as satisfactory in every way. Send for our prospectus to the COBALT & NEW ONTARIO PROSPECTORS, DEVELOPERS & INVESTORS, LIMITED, MANNING CHAMBERS, TORONTO, which gives an explicit account of our proposition. A limited number of $1.00 shares are being placed at 50 cents. It will be advisable to secure some as soon as possible.

THREE THOUSAND WERE LYNCHED

In Last Twenty Years Over 3,000 Unfortunates Were Strung Up—In 1905 the Number Was Small, Only 66

Chicago, Dec. 6. — During the last twenty years, according to wall authenticated statistics, there have been over 3,000 lynchings in this country.

From 1884 to 1904, the average was 142 per year. For the five years from 1899 to 1904 it was 107.

The number has varied greatly from year to year, says McGirl's Magazine, now rising to a very high figure, and then slowly receding for several years to a much lower point, suddenly to mount up again.

Thus in 1885, the number was 184, diminishing to 122 in 1887, rising again to 176 in 1889.

In 1899 it dropped to 107, but in 1901 advanced to 135. For the years 1902-4 the number remained at about 100. In 1905 it fell to 66, all, except one, negroes, seven of whom were burned at the stake.

DEACONESSES' WORK IS DESERVING OF SUPPORT

Miss Henderson, of Toronto, Tells What That Branch is Doing

LARGE CONGREGATION AT GEORGE STREET

Clad in the simple garb of the Deaconess Order, with its plain, white collar and cuffs, Miss Henderson, of the Deaconesses' Home, Toronto, spoke of the great work being done by this branch, at the George street Methodist church, last evening.

There was an unusually large congregation present, and Miss Henderson's remarks were listened to with the closest attention and, apparently made a deep impression upon her hearers.

In beginning, Miss Henderson said that there were always some in every congregation who knew nothing of the work being done, by the Deaconesses, and it was to them, especially, that she addressed her remarks.

Those Who Needed Help

She referred to the great class of people who found themselves down, especially mentally, morally and physically. They had, as it were, lost their bearings, and were helpless to help themselves. Some there were who were sick and were unable to pay for the services of a nurse or physician. Then there were the little children, many of them neglected and uncared for.

Many Willing to Help

She was glad to be able to say that there were many who were willing to help—many who were wealthy and who would be glad to do the work themselves. What was needed was a connecting link between the helpers and those who were willing to help. It was as one of these connecting links that the Deaconesses began their work.

Among the Children

Miss Henderson passed on to deal with the work of the Deaconesses among the children. A great deal of time and money has been spent, but not in vain. Chief among the branches of this labour, was the Fresh Air Work. They had a cottage at Whitby, where 300 or 400 children are taken every summer. Here they have beautiful grounds, boating and bathing, a large, spacious building, snowy beds, and a well-spread table.

To show what all this means to the children one would have to know something of their homes. They came from hovels or shacks, one or two roomed houses. The children are neglected and the parents take no interest in them. Often the mothers are drunken, as well as the father, and spend their time in the saloon, while the children go uncared for.

Help Children Spiritually

The Deaconesses however strive to help the children spiritually and morally, as well as physically. The strive to have the seed of truth planted in their minds. In the case of some of them this is the only opportunity offered, and it must be taken advantage of. They seek to win them by love. The children are not used to being loved and seem afraid at first, but finally they look upon the Deaconesses as friends, and then something can be done for them. Then the workers feel that the work has begun. The children go back to their homes and tell of the many kindnesses received. The hearts of the parents are sometimes touched and the deaconesses find a difference when they visit the families. Many homes are reached in this way and many have been transformed.

Nurse Deaconesse's Work

Miss Henderson next dealt with the labour of the nurse deaconesses which she said was very charitable. They went into homes where the people could not pay for trained nurses. The deaconesses were young women, graduates from the hospitals, who could nurse in the homes of the wealthy, but who instead go into the homes of the poor, seeking to lift up the fallen ones, trying to lead to spiritual things as well as heal the body. They had the joy often of seeing persons recovering and thereafter leading a pure life.

Among Strangers

The work of the deaconesses among strangers was next described. There were many strangers in every city, people without a friend, who have to go through trials alone, with their hearts yearning for sympathy. The deaconesses found these people out by different ways. Sometimes they took a street and called at every house. It might appear incongenial work, but there was joy and pleasure in it.

Work Needed

In all the large churches it was felt the need of having this kind of work done. From all over the country they were sending to the Deaconesses' Board to have a deaconess sent. Girls had been sent to St. Johns, Newfoundland in the east, and Winnipeg in the west. Fifty girls had been sent out during the last year, and there were fifteen more churches waiting in June.

Not Room Enough

Help from young women was not coming rapidly enough, but this was not due to the fault of the girls, it was simply because there was not room enough. When the present home was built, seven or eight years ago, it was thought too large and extravagant. It was built to accommodate 23 and in five years was altogether too small.

The New Home

Miss Henderson referred to the bequest from the Massie estate, for $50,000 for a new home, providing that the Methodist church provided another $50,000. In June $10,000 of this had been subscribed and now only $23,000 remained to be obtained. She closed with an appeal for support, stating that the people could help in these works; they could go, let go, or help go.

A RECORD OPENING FOR THE BROCK STREET RINK

Big Crowd of Skaters Enjoy Excellent Ice, the Earliest in History of This Rink—Opened on Saturday Night

THE 57TH BAND FURNISHED MUSIC

It was a record opening in more respects than one at the Brock street rink, on Saturday night, record-breaking, not only in point of time, the earliest in the history of the rink, but a record crowd was present, and it was record ice. Perhaps never before on an opening night has there been such a sheet of ice on this rink, as there was Saturday night, and the patrons expressed their warm approval of the success which Superintendent Thirnbeck had met with in his efforts to produce ice.

When it is remembered that the first flooding was given only one week before, it will be seen that some good work was done.

The prospects are that the Brock street rink this season, with its early start will have a record season, all the old patrons of last year will again enjoy the privileges of the rink this season, while many new faces are also seen. As in the past, Thursday night will probably be reserved for hockey, the City League games will be played on that night, but, outside of the scheduled O.H.A. games and a few exhibition games, all the nights will be reserved for skaters.

With the early start there is a long season's skating ahead for this season, and a great many are taking advantage of this fact to purchase season tickets.

A detachment of the 57th Band was present at the rink on Saturday night, and the music supplied by them was appreciated.

The rink will be open for the first time in the afternoons to-day and there will be skating again to-night.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is constitutional remedies. Deafness is inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

Of the Immigrants Coming to Canada, According to Figures Presented by Minister of the Interior

It will surprise most people to learn that of the immigrants arriving this year, during the season of navigation, 37,188 were located in Ontario, a larger number than in any other of the provinces. According to a statement presented to the House of Commons a few days ago by Mr. Oliver, the number locating in Quebec and the Eastern Provinces, was 22,243; 25,394 in Manitoba; 17,561 in Saskatchewan; 17,57 in Alberta; and 12,511 in British Columbia. Presumably these figures refer only to those immigrants arriving by water, but even if such is the case the proportion settling east of Lake Superior is surprisingly large, being nearly one half of the total.

A LAKEFIELD ITALIAN DRAWS KNIFE ON FOREMAN WHO ATTEMPTS TO STOP ROW

An Exciting Scene Which Called Forth the Constable---One Italian, It is Said, Had Head Badly Injured.

MAGISTRATE WILL DEAL WITH THE CASE

The Italian colony at Lakefield was stirred last night by a row which, fortunately, had no disastrous results, but which was the cause of considerable excitement for a time. As is usual in such quarrels, the knife of Italian fame was flourished, but in this particular case, drink was not the cause of the trouble. The offender of the law has been arrested, and he will appear this week before the County Magistrate.

Last night, while at work at the Cement Company's establishment, the arrested man, Domenico Tamborino, and Camillo Di Ilio began quarreling over something, the latter calling his fellow workman a fool or some other non-complimentary name which are usually resented with a vim by the sons of Sunny Italy.

Tamborino struck the other with an iron bar in the head, knocking him down and inflicting a deep gash. The foreman then noticed the quarrel and stepped in to settle it, but Tamborino instantly drew a knife on him. Constable Wm. Doidge was summoned and the Italian was arrested. The officer telephoned to Magistrate Edmison to get to Lakefield this morning, but as no interpreter could be furnished there, the prisoner was brought to the city and appeared before the Magistrate, Mr. Miniscolo, of Hunter street, acted as interpreter.

After hearing the story, the Magistrate laid a charge of assault, occasioning bodily harm, against Tamborino, and he will come up for trial here on Thursday morning at 11 o'clock, when a large number of witnesses from the northern village will be present.

STAVE FACTORY FOR BANCROFT NOW PROPOSED

Local Capitalists are Interesting Themselves in the Project—Will Likely be Established in Near Future

A GOOD OPENING FOR AN INDUSTRY

Bancroft, Dec. 10—There was a fairly representative gathering of citizens present at the meeting in the town hall on Saturday evening, which was called for the purpose of seeing what could be done in the way of organizing a joint stock company to build a stave factory here.

The chair was occupied by Mr. A. Riddell, who expressed himself as very much in favour of the project. From what he knew about the manufacture of staves, he was satisfied that no better location could be found, and the returns were big. Other wooden goods could be manufactured, such as cheese box material, broom handles, etc., and the supply of suitable timber in the locality was almost inexhaustible. Mr. Mullett and others also expressed themselves as being very anxious to see the industry established here.

After considerable discussion, it was decided to appoint the chairman to gather data as to the cost of a building, machinery, etc., and report at a meeting to be held, subject to his call.

BIRTH.

FOWLER.—In Peterborough, on Saturday, December 8, 1906, the wife of Mr. E. B. Fowler, 277 Rubidge street, a son.

Milder Now But Cold Is Coming

The snow storm, forecast by the Examiner in its Saturday issue came to hand, as predicted, along with the milder conditions. The thermometer on Sunday morning registered zero, as the lowest temperature, and 18 degrees above was the highest for the day. The snow which fell at intervals during the day and night, and this morning has made splendid sleighing on both the city streets and on the country roads.

This paper predicted Saturday that the weather would turn colder to-day, but the easterly winds were more prolonged than was expected, and the cold has not arrived yet, but when the wind changes to the north, which will be to-night or to-morrow morning early, the cold which was promised, will be along and we will experience some more zero weather.

Winter has apparently come to stay with us.

LYING IN SNOW; BOTH HANDS FROZEN

Mrs. William Thompson, 93 Years of Age, Met with Painful Accident on Saturday Morning

Mrs Wm. Thompson, an old lady, more than 93 years of age, residing in East City, had both her hands frozen, and for a time she was in a serious condition. It appears that her daughter-in-law, with whom the old lady lives, went out of the house for a few minutes, and, during her absence, Mrs. Thompson went outdoors and fell in the snow. Before anyone could come to her assistance both hands were frozen to the wrists. Some children passing heard her cries for help and called some ladies, who took her into the house and thawed out her hands, and did their best to relieve her sufferings until a doctor could be procured. It is not anticipated that she will lose her hands, but she will suffer from the effects of her exposure for some time.

PLATE GLASS WINDOW SUFFERED SEVERELY

Pedestrian Fell Against Mr. Matthews' Window, Totally Destroying It

On Saturday night a pedestrian on George street made a misstep that will cost somebody a little money. He was entering the south store of Geo. Matthews & Co., when he slipped and fell against the large plate glass side-light window. The glass was totally destroyed, much of it being scattered around the floor. The damage, it is understood, was covered by insurance, and will soon be repaired.

Some Echoes of Yesterday's Services in the City's Churches---Church News of the Week

EVANGELISTIC SETVICES CLOSE IN CHARLOTTE ST.

Good Results Achieved from the Labours of the Faithful Members of Church

The series of special evangelistic services which have been conducted in the Charlotte street Methodist church during the last few weeks have been closed for the present, the physical condition of the pastor making it impossible for him to continue the work. The meetings have been of an encouraging nature, and it is expected that as a result there will be a number of new members added to the church.

After the pastor is able to resume his work a reception service for new members will be held.

WILL DISCUSS CHURCH'S MISSIONARY ENTERPRISE

Rev. Dr. Bishop of Cambridge Street Methodist Church will Preach Special Sermons in George Street Church

Missionary sermons will be preached in the George street Methodist church next Sunday by Rev. Dr. Bishop, of the Cambridge street Methodist church, Lindsay. This will be the first visit of Dr. Bishop to Peterborough, and no doubt a large number of persons will be anxious to hear him. He is looked upon as one of the ablest preachers in the Methodist church, and only recently came to the Bay of Quinte Conference from the London conference. He will deal with the missionary enterprises of the church, and, in view of the fact that Peterborough has recently sent one of her daughters to China, to engage, with her husband, in missionary work, this subject is one of more than ordinary interest.

PASTOR WILL BE GIVEN REST FROM PULPIT WORK

Rev. H. M. Manning May Not be Able to Resume Work for Six Months or a Year

It is considered probable that Rev. H. M. Manning, pastor of the Charlotte street Methodist church will be given six months' or a year's rest from duty. He is suffering from a throat trouble which makes it impossible for him to preach or take charge of the work of the church, and his physician has ordered a complete rest, which the official board of the church will probably also insist on. Yesterday sermons were preached by Mr. N. E. McNoven, a student of Victoria University, and next Sunday another stranger will occupy the pulpit, pending permanent arrangements for a pulpit supply during the pastor's incapacity from impaired health.

ST. JOHN'S YOUNG PEOPLE'S ASSSOCIATION TO-NIGHT

The Brotherhood of St. Andrew will meet on Wednesday night.

CONCLUDED SERIES OF SERMONS TO YOUNG MEN

Last night Rev. William Major, the rector of All Saints' church, concluded his series of sermons to young men, his subject last night being "The Ideal Man." The church was filled, and deep interest was manifested in the sermon, in which Christ was pointed out as the ideal after which men of to-day should strive to order their lives.

In the entertainment the following artists will take part: Miss Crothers, violin solo; the Misses Lizzie and Florence Scott, piano duet; Miss Katie Leary, recitation and piano solo; Miss Ruth Dawson and Miss Elliott, vocal solos. Rev. Dr. Crothers will also be present and give an address. The president of the Mothers' Guild is Mrs. T. H. G. Denne.

Next Sunday the Rev. Dr. O'Meara, Principal of Wycliffe College, will preach at the evening service.

The Men's Guild will repeat their two plays at Stewart's Hall to-morrow evening. The 'bus will leave the post office at 6.30 sharp and all those taking part in the programme are requested to be there sharp on time. REV. MR. SCOTT GAVE FAREWELL ADDRESS

Interesting Meeting at the Y. M. C. A. Yesterday Afternoon

"How old are you?" was the unique theme of the thoughtful and impressive address given by Rev. F. J. Scott at the well attended men's meeting at the Y.M.C.A. yesterday afternoon. The speaker measured the ages of men, not by the standard of years and days, but rather, how old are you in soberness of heart and life—how old in hope and joy—how old in trust and love? The address concluded with a stirring appeal to the men to take clear stand for Christ.

Mr. Duncan Campbell sang a solo with good effect, and the male quartette sang "Rock of Ages." Both selections added much to the enjoyment of the meeting.

As this was Rev. F. J. Scott's last address in the Y.M.C.A. before leaving Peterborough Mr. Williamson feelingly referred to Mr. Scott's work in the city and his cooperation in the Y.M.C.A. He would go to the "neglected continent" with the best wishes and prayers of the association workers.

Mr. Scott made an appropriate reply.

Rev. G. J. Bishop of Lindsay will speak next Sunday.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY WILL HOLD ANNUAL MEEETING

The annual meeting of the W.F.M.S. of St. Paul's church will be held on Friday afternoon at 3.30 o'clock, in the Sunday school rooms, when the election of officers will take place and the reports of the year's work will be presented. This organization of St. Paul's church is an energetic one, and more than usual interest attaches to the annual meeting of the society.

EVIL OF CARELESS TALK OF BUSINESS CREDIT

Rumours of Financial Difficulties are Being Circulated Without Foundation and are False

Next to a woman's reputation, there is nothing so sensitive to injury as a business man's credit—nothing so injuriously affected by a light word, thoughtlessly spoken. It is the practice of many persons to discuss and dispose of the affairs of business men with as little regard for basis of fact as the ordinary fish or bear story. When such discussion is founded on fact, the evil consequences are bad enough; but when there is no foundation, except the imaginings of pure gossip, the injury thus inflicted is gratuitous, and the gossip, being unsupported by fact, is purely malicious. The public should be very careful to avoid discussion of any business man's standing that will result in injury. Such discussion can do no good, and very easily do much harm. A business man's credit is as susceptible to adverse influence as a clinical thermometer is to variation of temperature.

YOUNG MEN MUST NOT LOAF ON PUBLIC STREET

Magistrate Dumble Fines Young men for Loitering

Three youths appeared at the Police Court this morning charged with unlawfully loitering on George street contrary to the law. Magistrate Dumble said that this custom was all too common among a large number of young men, and the only way to wipe out the habit is to adopt severe measures. Ladies, especially, are very loth to pass corners where a crowd of men are standing about. These men generally forget themselves, and the language used is frequently too strong. Not only that, but it is an eyesore to good citizens to see these men, young and old, blocking the streets and generally expectorating tobacco juice, to the disgust of the decent class of citizens.

The boys were fined $2 each, to be paid in ten days, or take usual consequences.

Dreaded Insomnia

"I was afflicted with nervousness, and dreaded insomnia so that I never knew for three years what a full night's sleep was. Heart pains and headaches almost drove me wild. I had spells of weakness and cramps in my stomach and limbs. Finally Dr Chase's Nerve Food was brought to me and eight boxes cured me." Mrs. Jas. Wesley Wever, a veteran of the Fenian Raid, Port Dalhousie, Ont.

MANY OF THIS YEAR'S DOZEN ALDERMEN WILL AGAIN SEEK SUPPORT OF THE RATEPAYERS

The Retirement of Chairmen of The Various Committees Leave Vacancies Which Will Be Hard To Fill.

SOME NEW MEN ARE SUGGESTED

Municipal election day is just four weeks away, and naturally a great deal of interest is being excited over the personnel of next year's council, which will be greatly changed from that of this year. A number of vacancies will be made in the twelve, caused by Ald. Adams' appointment to the position of City Treasurer. Ald. Hicks intends to be a candidate for the Mayoralty, and Ald. Mason's retirement to stand for a position on the Board of Water Commissioners. In addition it is said that Ald. Graham will retire, although that gentleman has not yet signified his intention of so doing.

All the other members of this year's council will be in the field again. Ald. Torey, Johnston, Duncan, Elliott, Ball and McIntyre will all be found in the race. New chairmen will have to be found for the Board of Works, Fire, Water and Light Committee, Finance Committee, in fact all the committees of the council, as the present chairmen are all retiring this year.

With at least five vacancies to fill, there should be great excitement over the municipal elections this year. So far there have been evidences of a lack of new candidates. Although a number of men have been suggested none of them have signified their intention of entering the race, although if pressure were brought to bear upon them they might accept the nomination. It is generally recognized that East City should be represented by at least one alderman, and among the names of gentlemen in that section have been suggested W. Scott and G. L. Wade.

Three Children Burned to Death

Examiner Special.

Toronto, Dec. 10.—Three children of George Baker, 3 Fuller avenue, a boy and two girls, were suffocated by a fire which destroyed the home this morning.

The father was away at work and the mother had gone to a neighbour's, leaving the children alone in the house.

It is supposed the children were playing with matches.

The bodies were found stretched out together on the kitchen floor. The boy was six years, and the girls four and two years.

TO HANDLE FAIRBANK'S BUSINESS IN CITY

Mr. G. Walter Green Has Been Appointed Exclusive Agent In This District

In future the Peterborough business of the Canadian Fairbanks Co. will be handled by Mr. G. Walter Green, who has been appointed as the company's exclusive agent in this city and district. The Messrs. Fairbanks manufacture all kinds of transmission machinery and do a considerable business in Peterborough, which will in future be handled by Mr. Green, who will keep a full supply of the company's goods in stock.

The fact that these goods can now be procured direct from Mr. Green will be a decided convenience to users of machinery here, and the business will be well attended to by Mr. Green, who also announces that he manufactures circular saw mill machinery of various kinds: Lath machinery, shingle machinery, jackers, saw gummers, etc.; in fact, a general line of mill machinery, with pulleys shafting, boxes, etc. Transmission machinery a specialty.

LAST MEETING OF THE BOARD OF EDUCATION

Committee on Changes in Curriculum Will Report To-night

—The last meeting of the Board of Education for the year will be held to-night when the business of the twelve months will be wound up. There are a number of important matters to come up, chief among them being the report of the Committee appointed to deal with the proposed changes in the curriculum.

BOARD OF TRADE WILL HOLD IMPORTANT MEETING

Municipal Ownership will be Discussed Along with Other Important Questions

The Board of Trade will hold an important meeting on Tuesday, December 18, when some subjects of more than usual interest to the citizens of Peterborough will be discussed.

The municipal ownership proposition, in its generality, will be dealt with, as will also a proposal to hold a National Dairy Show in this city. All the members of the Board of Trade, as well as business men and citizens generally should, and doubtless will, be interested in these questions.

ESTIMATES FORMED FOR SUPPLY OF LIGHT

House of Refuge Committee Met on Saturday to Discuss the Light Question—One Tenderer but Contract is Not Yet Signed

COST APPROXIMATELY AMOUNTS TO $327

The House of Refuge Committee met on Saturday afternoon in the County Clerk's office when the important feature of the meeting was the question of procuring light for the House of Refuge. Only one had tendered for the work and although the contract was drawn up it has not yet been signed as some minor details have to be arranged.

The cost of installation will probably amount to about $327.00 and there will be an average of about forty 16-candle power lights used.

All the members of the committee were present, Chairman Garbutt presiding.

The matter of procuring light was first taken up, according to estimates or propositions made to Messrs. Johnston and Garbutt on Saturday morning in Mr. Peck's office by J. Kelly and his solicitor. The estimates and propositions were as follows:—

Poles and wire	$100 00
Work	50 00
Transformer	50 00
Four chandeliers	12 00
Globe	2 00
11 drop lamps	33 00
Switches	10 00
Isolating fixtures	10 00

On motion of Messrs. Webster and Andrews the matter of purchasing furnishings was left in the hands of the Warden and Mr. Buck with power to act.

On motion of Messrs. Johnston and Buck, the matter of procuring the necessary books for bookkeeping for the house of Refuge was left in the hands of Messrs. Andrews and Mengue with power to act.

When Renan died he left nine volumes in manuscript, containing the notes of his young manhood on religion, philosophy, history and life. He never meant to publish them, but his daughter has decided to do so.

DIVORCE JURISDICTION

Canada may have an undesirable prevalence of political improprieties and other evils, which it would be well to be rid of. It is, however, free from some of the great evils peculiar, as regards this country, to the United States, and the contrast tempts somewhat to our assuming the pharisaic attitude of gratitude that we are not as other men are, even as the United States. That country has as great, and, indeed, greater, amount of political crookedness, but we are spared the cankering evil of wholesale divorce and the unspeakable disgrace of lynching. Whatever laxity we exhibit in relation to the election law, it cannot be denied that, as a rule, we have respect for the general laws of the land in far greater degree than almost any country that can be mentioned. Law and order are the rule in Canada, not from any repressive measures, but because our people have an habitual, if not inate, respect for the demands of law and order. A divorce in Canada, under Canadian laws, is a rare matter of legal procedure. Those who find that the matrimonial bond sits heavily upon them, except for Scriptural reasons, have to continue taking each other for worse, as well as better. If the bond is to be sundered, they have, however, only to go to the United States, and the work is done quickly and easily. Easy divorce is such an evil—the laws of some of the States make it so easy—that President Roosevelt, in his annual message to Congress, suggests that the Federal authorities assume more jurisdiction in regard to divorce. This, it is claimed, would at least result in uniform laws in regard to divorce. But the doctrine of State sovereignty will render this change a matter of great difficulty. The moral obliquity of vision in relation to the moral character of the martial bond, which permitted the enactment of the lax divorce laws now in force, will also, it is evident, warrant a firm resolve, on a part of the States concerned, to resist the surrender of the right to legislate exclusively in the matter. But an attempt to regulate and minimize an evil which is striking deeply at the root of the family tree will be justified, and will receive the support and sympathy of the great mass of the right-thinking citizens of the Republic.

FACTS AND—THE OTHERS

Mr. Fielding went on to show how the surplus under the Laurier regime had increased in comparison to that recorded under the Conservative rule. But the national debt had also increased, and Mr. Fielding regards this as a natural consequence. But when that Liberal surplus — if such really exits — is analyzed, we find that it is not as large as the Conservative surplus, for while the Liberals have added to the surplus end, they have cut off the other end to do it, and have increased the national debt each year to make ends meet. — Woodstock Express, Conservative.

Some people can find a great many things, says the Hamilton Times, that do not exist except in their depraved imagination. The statements made above are plain and easily tested. What say the records?

The net debt in 1897 was about 261 1-2 millions; in 1905 it was less than 266 1-4 millions. In the nine Liberal years it was increased about 4 3-4 millions.

The net debt in 1889 was 237 1-2 millions; by 1897 it had been increased to 261 1-2 millions. In the nine Conservative years it had increased 24 millions.

The net surplus of the nine Liberal years was $64,500,000.

The net surplus of the nine Conservative years was $3,802,000.

When a Conservative editor sets out to make a case for his party he does well to turn away from the record of the facts and draw his data from his imagination.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The increase in the number of immigrants reaching Canada this year, was 62,967. These figures about represent the exodus of Canadians to the United States during certain years a Conservative Government was in power.

Canada's foreign trade has practically doubled in ten years of Liberal Administration. In 1896 it amounted to two hundred and thirty-two millions of dollars; in 1906 it reached the fine figures of five hundred and fifty-two millions.

Figures are generally dry reading, but those relating to United States lynchings, published in another column, are wet—with blood. Canada is happy and proud that it has no figures to compare as to the records for lynching, nothing of the kind having ever occurred in this country in its history of over two hundred years.

The Provincial Secretary, Hon. Mr. Hanna, announces that the 3-cent-an-hour convict-labour Central Prison contract is to be cancelled. He says that when the Legislature meets an explanation will be made that will be perfectly satisfactory to the labour interests. The only satisfactory explanation will be that the contract is wired out.

Evidently the British preference has had a sensible effect in promoting trade with the Mother Country. Last year, of the marked increase of Canadian exports, thirty million consisted of exports to the United Kingdom, and twenty of exports to the United States. Yet the latter is at our doors, and the former three thousand miles distant.

President Roosevelt ordered that the simplified spelling should be used in the public schools. But, it is pointed out, that in his message to Congress, a story that occupied twenty-five columns in the newspapers, there were not enough letters and space saved to total four lines. The president, or his amanuensis must have forgotten about the general order.

If the Whitney Government's Railway and Municipal Board had been worth its salt, some adjustment of the strike situation in Hamilton, would have been made which would have prevented the reading of the Riot Act, and the calling out of the troops, which latter, it is estimated, will cost the city between $5000 and $6000. Another reason why the city was justified in rejecting the Government candidate.

DR. CRICHTON'S MISTAKE

There seems to be a widely accepted, popular idea that the press is the only effective way of advertising. This idea is in the main, very largely justified, and hence it is no wonder that the autocratic Medical Council of Ontario, deals with this form of advertising by its serfs—the practising physicians—represented by the printing press, with rigorous severity. It is a deadly wrong against professional etequette, to use the printing press for professional advertising. But other forms of advertising considered more dignified than printer's ink—which appears to be regarded with the same disfavour as extends to the erstwhile black draught which has given place to the more subtle and scientific pharmaceutical modern media, for the successful suppression of the vital continuity between the spiritual essence vulgaraly known as the soul and the corporal enfity, yclept the body. These other forms of professional advertising acceptable to the Esculapian Guild, represented to the Medical Council, are indicated playfully by the Toronto Star which takes the celebrated case of Dr. Crichton as a foundation for its remarks.

While Dr. Crichton committed no great crime in distributing a circular to tell people of a medicine to keep life in their bodies, he seems to have sinned grievously against professional etiquette. The usual practice is to allow one's patients to put up tombstones to one's skill.

If Dr. Crichton's purpose was to advertise, there were open to him the modest card in the local newspapers, the fat brass door plate, the entry lamp with a light inside and his name on the globe. That delicate institution the code — of which its subscribers speak with bated breath — does not object to a medical man influencing public opinion if he does it in any of the recognized ways. For example, Dr. Crichton might, with perfect propriety, be called out of church by a boy who hustles down to his pew, and, with panic in his face, whispers the healer down the aisle and into his buggy. If the doctor happens to be in the theatre the right thing to do is to have his name called from the stage. This always makes a big hit. If the doctor is young and building up a trade, he is at liberty to make appointments with a dozen different people for the same hour. As only one can be admitted to the consulting room at a time, the other eleven will have to wait. They will be annoyed, of course, but they will carry away with them a fine opinion of a doctor who holds every day such crowded levees. When a doctor is older and finds cases slipping away from him, he sometimes goes in for politics. But this is a last resource, and more likely than not to hurt business, it being quite impossible to press for that little balance from the man who has just voted for you.

In the city the fashionable physician's way of advertising is his gig. It is hard to define just where the doctor's gig differs from the ordinary conveyance of the rich and luxurious. It isn't the tiger sitting stiffly, his arms folded, beside his master. Neither is it the varnish nor the rubber tires, nor anything one can put a finger on and say, "This is it," but the fact remains that doctor's gig is written all over it, from the handsome horse titupping in the shafts to the little black bag under the seat. The doctor's gig is as easily spotted as the hearse which often calls at the same houses. In the country, funeral processions are headed by the responsible doctor in his buggy, which is immediately followed by the hearse, to which he has, perhaps, contributed the central figure.

A good bedside manner, grave but not gloomy, reserved but cheerful, dignified but cordial, has been known to help a great deal. Such a manner, when assisted by a deep rumbling voice, lifts a little ache into a great pain and flatters a notional invalid that he is sick enough to have time wasted over him. There are also the bread pills for people who must have something to take. If that has no effect, the colour of the draft may be changed from red to green, when relief will be felt at once. Another little trick of the trade is to go through the solemn juggle of writing a Latin prescription that calls for a proprietary medicine. The man who sees his cure taken out of a big blue bottle of prepared tablets will enjoy the farce just a little more when he remembers the mysterious slip of paper he handed to the druggist, scrawled over with strange marks such as Chinese hens scratch on tea chests.

Dr. Crichton seems to have despised the customary artifices, for which he will be suitably punished. There is reason to believe, however, that many people would not think the doctors so wise if they did not have to pay two dollars every time they looked at them. When a man is stricken and he goes to the doctor it is hope he is after more than physic. And the more hope he receives the sooner he gets better. As a matter of fact, when one stops to think, it is the patient that tells the doctor all he knows. He asks you what is the matter. You reveal it, showing him at the same time your tongue and offering your pulse. He says something about symptoms, speaks learnedly of prognosis, diagnosis, and other sesquipedalian considerations, but all the while the rogue is picking your brains. The whole science of medicine is built on open confession. If all the sick people were dumb it would fall to the ground to-morrow. What success has the best doctor with babies and horses, neither of whom can put their ailments into speech? The way to unmask these fellows is to keep your knowledge to yourself. Instead of making a clean breast of it you must say to the doctor next time he asks you your symptoms, "Find them out. That's what you're paid for."

COAL AND STEEL

The importance to many interests in Eastern Canada of an early settlement of the dispute between the Dominion Coal and Steel Companies fully justified the Minister of Finance in tendering his good offices towards that end, or in accepting the invitation of the disputants—whichever was the cause of his appearance in the matter. That an arrangement has been arrived at, even if only temporary in its character, is no doubt due to Mr. Fielding's friendly intervention. He was in a particularly strong position to urge a settlement, for the Steel Company has been the recipient of many favours at the hands of the Dominion Parliament, while the Coal Company enjoys many of its assets at the pleasure of the people of Nova Scotia, of which Province Mr. Fielding is the foremost citizen. It was not, perhaps, for him to press for a permanent settlement, which might involve the sacrifice of contract rights, but it was certainly within the range of his duty to urge such an arrangement as would prevent commercial disaster in Cape Breton, and would save thousands of men from being thrown out of work at the beginning of winter. The legal rights of the contending parties may await the adjudication of the courts. The moral rights of the people of Canada in general, and of Nova Scotia in particular, who have done so much to give these companies life and sustenance, should not have been made subsidiary to personal quarrels of the company's officials. In the eyes of the country, the Coal Company is held responsible for the creation of the situation which has threatened such disaster, but whether its responsibility is great or small, it and the Steel Company have done the proper thing in agreeing to a compromise arrangement under which operations may be continued.—Montreal Herald.

COLD STORAGE

The question of providing cold storage for perishable products touches Canadian industry and life at many points, and the necessity for something being done in the direction of developing the use of such means of preservation has long been felt. Considerable importance, therefore, attaches to the proposals of the Government to grant financial aid towards the encouragement of cold storage enterprise.

As outlined by Hon. Sydney Fisher, who has charge of the bill, the intention is to spend $100,000 in the direction indicated, assistance to the extent of 30 per cent. of the cost of each new enterprise being guaranteed. There are, of course, certain conditions attached, and the payment of the bonus is to be distributed over a period of several years, but on all hands it must be admitted that the Government is disposed to act generously in the matter, and the results will be looked forward to with interest.

Shipping companies and other branches of commercial enterprise have already shown that the provision of cold storage can be made to pay, but there are places throughout the country where it would be unreasonable to expect the establishment of warehouses as an unaided speculation, and it is in such cases that the Government aid will prove of immense advantage.

The scheme is only another proof that the Government is keeping a close eye on the commercial and industrial interests of the country, and that it has the courage and ability to act when and where necessary.—Ottawa Free Press.

WELLER MUST BE BOUND OVER TO KEEP THE PEACE

Was again Remanded for Another Week Until He Finds Securities

Tom Weller, of fighting fame, appeared for the second time before Magistrate Edmison this morning. He was charged with threatening to shoot the young lady who refused to become his bride, and was again remanded for another week.

Before letting him have his freedom the Magistrate must first have securities that he will keep the peace, and if these are not secured during the week he will probably be deported.

The law governing deportation allows that an immigrant who has been in Canada less than two years, and who has been shown to have committed a crime, or is afflicted with insanity, may be sent back to where he came from.

ICE CUTTING WILL BEGIN AFTER THE NEW YEAR

On Little Lake it is Now Only About Four Inches in Thickness

It is not probable that any ice will be taken from Little Lake until after the New Year. Mr. Thos. Rehill when seen by the Examiner to-day, stated it was not nearly thick enough yet to begin cutting operations. On Saturday the ice was only about four inches in thickness and unless we are visited with some more very cold weather it is not likely any will be cut till after January 1st.

The New York Stock Market

Furnished by J. R. Heintz & Co.)

New York, Dec. 10.—Developments in the stock market to-day were not of importance. The entire street is in a waiting position. However, the quiet of the market is probably the best thing that can happen, for time money rates keep soaring, while the stock market saws wood and says nothing. The disillusionment of the Washington authorities as to the need of relief will perhaps be so sudden when it comes. In the meantime, we recommend a conservative position on the stock market, with considerable of the wisdom of buying good stocks on all recessions of any consequence. The fundamentals underlying the market prohibit a bear campaign, while the immediate outlook for money holds the list in check.

After 2.15 a little activity was shown, and under the lead of St. Paul, Copper, and Reading, the market scored quite an advance, some issues gaining nearly three points. The close was active and strong at about the best of the day.

HELPLESS DRUNK TAKEN TO POLICE STATION

Vincent McGee Carried a Very Heavy Cargo

P. C. Adams had a difficult time in supporting Vincent McGee on his long journey to the police station this afternoon from Murray street. McGee came to the city from Lakefield this morning, where he has been engaged as a farm labourer, and as local option reigns there he was unable to have a drink for some time. His pent up thirst was more than quenched in Peterborough, and navigation became too difficult for him on George street. He will appear before the Magistrate in the morning and by that time his cargo will be somewhat lightened.

Dear Sir,—I wish to call attention through your paper, to the Radial Railway Company, with reference to to the condition of the C. G. E. car. It seems to me that that line is inefficient enough without making it worse by poor heating and often no heat at all. With the thermometer lower than 15 degrees below zero, as it has been, C. G. E. employees do not wish to travel in an up-to-date cold storage car. I hope the manager will look after this matter and provide at least a little comfort.

CURIOSITY

Leads to Investigation and Truth

What shall we do to be saved? was the title of one of Robt. Ingersoll's lectures. People of faith and people of no faith flocked to hear it. Thousands are asking "What shall I do to get rid of dandruff?" The answer is, "Kill the germ that causes dandruff, falling hair and, finally, baldness"; and the only thing that will do it is Newbro's Herpicide. That is the very latest discovery of the laboratory, and it is the only preparation that claims to, or that will, kill the pestiferous dandruff germ. It also is a delightful hair dressing, free from oil or grease or sticky substances. Try it and be convinced of its actual merit. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to the Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Ormond & Walsh, Special Agents.

Other Vessels Also Ashore on Upper Lakes—Sailors Are Badly Frozen and Frostbitten—Woman's Heroism Saves a Wrecked Ocean Crew in British Columbia—Buffetted by Ocean Waves.

Michipicoten, Ont., Dec. 10.—During the northwest gale and heavy snow the steamer Golspie stranded in Buric Bay, south of this point. The vessel is lying on a gravel beach broadside to the sea, and is out two feet forward. The captain says the boat can be saved if wrecking outfit can be sent at once to the assistance. The Golspie has on board a cargo of oats, mill stuff and general freight, and was bound from Fort William to Owen Sound.

Five Sailors Badly Frozen.

It is reported that Capt. Bault and the members of his crew suffered terrible hardships; the temperature was 22 degrees below zero, and five of the sailors were badly frozen before they reached shore. The boat is valued at $30,000, and her cargo is valued at $17,000. The loss is fully covered by insurance.

The Golspie was formerly the Osceola, and was on the Government lighthouse route. The Mackays of Kingston bought the boat a few years ago.

The Ionic Ashore.

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 10.—The passenger steamer Ionic of Port Huron, Mich., belonging to the Northern Navigation Co., ran ashore Saturday on Lake Superior in a snowstorm, a mile and a half from Whitefish Point. Wrecking tugs have been sent to her aid from Sault Ste. Marie.

Coal Steamer Wrecked.

Detroit, Dec. 10.—The steamer E. L. Ireland, stranded near the Apostle Islands, Lake Superior, during a blinding snowstorm Thursday night.

Her mate and a part of the crew reached Bayfield, Wis., frostbitten and nearly exhausted from a nearly all-night battle with wind and wave in attempt to reach shore, report the accident and secure assistance.

They say she can be saved if help is sent at once. She is loaded with coal for Duluth, and was already chartered for a return trip with grain for Lake Erie. Her cargo is insured for $260,000.

The Ireland is a steel steamer of 4,200 tons, owned by Gilchrist and built in 1903.

Victoria Goes Down.

Brockville, Dec. 10.—The steamer Victoria, the property of the Brockville Navigation Co., was sunk in the severe wind storm that prevailed here Friday night. The craft was in winter quarters, and the ice jam is thought to have opened her seams, causing the hull to fill and the boat to sink.

A KNIGHT DOWN IN LUCK GOING TO SHINE SHOES

Sir Henry Eugene Robinson, Late of King's Own, Enlists as Menial at Pittsburg—Saw Service in the Boer War

HE WAS DISOWNED BY HIS FAMILY

Pittsburg, Pa., Dec. 8th. — Sir Henry Eugene Robinson, of Philip Haugh Manor, Wallis End, Eng., formerly an officer in the King's Own Regiment, who served throughout the Boer war with the Imperial Yeomanry in South Africa, shipped yesterday at the navy recruiting station at 417 French avenue, this city, as a mess attendant.

At least the claim to Knighthood and distinguished service under Great Britain's banner was made by a well educated chap of soliderly appearance, whose shabby coat and unprepossessing outward appearance, rather belied his contentions. But he signed for four years service with Uncle Sam under that name, going as a menial when he learned that he could not ship at any superior rating because he is an alien.

Commander C. H. Harlow, and Chief Master-at-arms Dan Carroll, nearly fainted when he started to sign the enlistment papers with "Sir Henry."

"Hold on there," said Carroll, "none of your foolishness."

"Oh, it's all right," responded milord. "I'm Sir Henry Eugene Robinson of Philip Manor, all right. Beastly tough, you know, to be in my present state, but it's all in a lifetime."

Will Shine Officer's Shoes

Sir Henry wanted to enlist in some clerical capacity, saying that he had a knowledge of stenography and typewriting. In answering the preliminary questions he admitted he was an alien, and was told that he could not be accepted in any capacity other than that of a mess attendant. Making beds, caring for the officers' quarters, shining their shoes and other menial duties, it was explained to him, would be his portion if he did so. But the prospect didn't worry him. He passed satisfactorily the physical examination, and it was not until he came to sign the papers that his identity came out.

He explained that he early entered the English army for a career, but after being in the service some time, dissipation and reckless living, gradually sent him downward. His father, since dead, disowned him, his estate went to a brother, who, giving him a sum of money, told him that his room was better than his company. When the Boer war broke out he went to South Africa with the Imperial Yeomanry, serving until peace was declared. Then he resigned and since that time he has been wandering around the face of the earth as a "remittance man." Six months ago when he was in the west the remittance stopped. In his wanderings he reached Pittsburg this week, and the sight of the navy recruiting station brought him to a realization that by enlisting he would find himself provided for, so long as he cared to serve.

Could Qualify for a Side Show

One of Sir Henry's claims to distinction is as complete and varied a lot of tattooed marks as anyone outside of the tattooed man in a sideshow could well be expected to carry. On his breast are linked the the British and American flags entwined, a lion, thistle, rose, shamrock, a ship and a lighthouse. On his left arm are a girl's head, clasped hands, a pennant, a horseshoe, and crop, a dagger, a dagger piercing a Chinaman's head, an anchor, a needle, a ship, the word "union," and a butterfly. On the left arm are portrayed a girl's head, a dagger, a dagger piercing a heart, the word "true love," a flag, the crest of the Prince of Wales, the Prince of Wales' motto, "Ich Dien," the letters "I. Y." South Africa, 1902, a girl, a horseshoe, clasped hands and a thistle. A dagger appears on his left leg, and the letters "H. R." on his right leg.

Sir Henry left last night via the B. and O. for Philadelphia, where he will be assigned to duty on the Lancaster. His pay is to be $16 per month.

PRETTY GIRL IS THIEF OF HORSES

Elva Sherrill, Companion of Bandits, Dodges Officers for Months

(Examiner Special.)

Marion, Ind., Dec 8.—Elva Sherrill, alias Elva Eldridge, 17 years of age, was a member of a band of horse thieves and robbers that has been terrorizing the people of northern Indiana for some time, and has stolen a large number of fine animals and anything of value that the band could dispose of.

Miss Sherrill is the sweetheart of a member of the band. She said she had attacked a woman in Marion and left her in a precarious condition.

When told by her lover that her victim was in a serious condition and that she was liable to arrest she consented to join the band of outlaws for protection.

Miss Sherrill related her experiences while a member of the band. She said: "Bert Middleton, Earl Middleton, Ed. Abbott, alias Ed. King, alias J. B. Green, John Fisher and myself composed the party. We made many raids, slept in barns, camped in forests and rode in freight cars. We were often closely pursued by officers, but always eluded them until this week, when we stole three horses in Marion, drove them into Huntington county and camped in an old lime kiln, where the officers from Marion came upon us. We then abandoned the horses, separated and escaped.

"Bert Middleton, the leader of the band, with his brother, Earl, escaped, but Fisher, Abbott and I were captured.

"I wore male attire the most of the time, because it was more convenient. On a recent trip into Illinois I wore female attire, but I was compelled to play the part of a dummy the most of the time and remain under cover. The Marion officers were following us closely at that time, but we disposed of our horses, boarded a freight train and escaped."

CHURCH SEPARATION AT PRESBYTERY

Important Question will be Considered at Regular Presbytery Meeting at Port Hope To-morrow

To-morrow the regular meeting of the Peterborough Presbytery will be held in Port Hope, when some more than usually important matters will be under consideration by that body, the most interesting so far as this city is concerned being the proposal to separate the Knox and St. Paul's congregations, establishing Knox church with a pastor of its own, and a separate church organization. Both churches have sanctioned the change and it now only remains for Presbytery to give its approval to have the change go into effect, which it may do at the beginning of the year.

Rev. J. P. Wilson, pastor of the Bridge street Methodist church, Belleville, and former pastor of the George street Methodist church, here, is in the city to-day, on his way home from Lindsay where he spent yesterday preaching anniversary sermons at Cambridge street church, for Rev. Dr. Bishop.

He spent the day here renewing acquaintences with his hosts of old friends, who were glad to welcome him back to the city, if it was even for a few hours. Life in the Bay City seems to agree with Mr. Wilson, who looks the picture of health, his recent trip given him by the members of his congregation having improved his health considerably.

A Lost Quarter on the Market Over Sunday—Clerk Disposed of it To-day

A quarter of beef lost its way among the crowd at the market on Saturday and was forced to spend Sunday in the market clerk's office. It had been left by some person unknown on a farmer's wagon, who disclaimed ownership of it. He left it with Mr. Lee at his office, but no one in search of beef has yet called, and this morning the clerk disposed of it to a local gentlemen at a reduction.

Mr. Lee has the money, so that if the owner proves his property he will be refunded.

OLD RESIDENT PASSED AWAY

Mr. John White, a Former Prominent Peterborough Man, Died in Campbellford on Saturday

Mr. John White, an octogenarian and a former resident of Peterborough, passed away in Campbellford on Saturday at the age of 82 years. Mr. White has been living in Toronto until about a month ago when he went on a visit to relatives in the lively little town on the Trent. There he became ill and his condition gradually grew more serious till death ensued on Saturday.

The late Mr. White was once a prominent business man of this city, having had interest in more than one manufacturing concern. He was a member of the town council for some time and in fact paid much attention to civic affairs. He retired from active business some 12 years ago and since then has lived for the most part in Toronto. His remains were brought to this city for burial this morning, the funeral taking place from the G.T.R. station to the Little Lake Cemetery. The pall bearers were Messrs. Peter Connel, Jas. T. Stenson, Robt. Innis, John Cameron, Thos. Tucker and Wm. Hamilton.

NATIVE OF MILLBROOK DIED SUDDENLY IN WEST

Late Mr. W. G. Armstrong was Nephew of Mrs. James Stratton and Visited in Peterborough Last Summer—Died in New Westminster

WAS WARDEN OF THE PROVINCIAL JAIL

The Daily Columbian, of New Westminster, B.C., of Monday, Dec. 3rd, has the following reference to the sudden death, in that city, of Mr. W. G. Armstrong, a nephew of Mrs. James Stratton, of this city. Mr. Armstrong visited in the city for some weeks last summer and was well known to a number of residents, who will learn with deep regret of his death. The Columbian says of his demise:—

Death came suddenly to William G. Armstrong, warden of the provincial jail, at his residence at 12.45 o'clock this morning. About three hours before he passed away he walked, accompanied by Mrs. Beatty, his sister, from the residence of Mr. J. G. Brymner, where he had spent the evening. An aneurism, or a pulsating tumor near the heart was the cause given for the demise. While chatting with his friends at the home of Mr. Brymner about 9.30 last evening, Mr. Armstrong was suddenly taken with a pain in his chest. The pain grew gradually more severe and he decided to go home. He arrived home about 10 o'clock and soon after went to bed. A turn for the worse was noticeable about 10.30 and Dr. Walker was hurriedly called to the bedside. On arriving, the doctor administered medicine to relieve the pain and went away about 12 o'clock, leaving the patient resting easier, but Dr. Walker had not been gone half an hour before the patient was again taken with agonizing pain, and the physician was again sent for, but arrived too late. The patient passed away at 12.45 o'clock. He was conscious up till within five minutes of his death. Many of New Westminster's citizens will sincerely mourn the death of George Armstrong. He had many friends who held him in high esteem.

The deceased was a native of Millbrook, Ont., and came to British Columbia in 1882. During his residence in this province he has been located at Port Moody, Moodyville and New Westminster and for the last twenty-two years has been in the employ of the provincial government. Mr. Armstrong succeeded Mr. Wm. Morseby as warden of the jail, about 1897, and held the position until his death. The deceased has one brother and two sisters on the coast, Mr. A. J. Armstrong, of Seattle, and Mrs. G. Beatty and Mrs. J. G. Brymner, of this city. Another sister is Mrs. A. W. Taylor of Edmonton, Alberta. A sad circumstances connected with the death is the arrival on to-day's train of Mrs. Taylor, from Edmonton, on a visit to the deceased and her sisters. She was, of course, not aware of the death of her brother until she arrived, and was looking forward to a pleasant visit on the coast. Other relatives of the deceased are W. J. and J. C. Armstrong, uncles, and Albert and Robert Beatty, nephews, and Sheriff Armstrong, a cousin.

The funeral will take place on Wednesday afternoon at 1.30. A short service will be conducted at the residence by the Rev. A. Shildrick, after which the interment will take place in the Oddfellows' Cemetery at Sapperton.

PETERBOROUGH TEAM HAD THEIR FIRST PRACTICE

About a Dozen Men Were Out in Uniform and Showed Good Form on Saturday Night

M'STRAVICK ONLY NEW MAN OUT

The hockey team had their first practice at the Brock street rink on Saturday night and the ginger displayed was startling considering that it was the first appearance of the season on skates. The players had a fatiling hour's practice and Mr. Puck had a busy sixty minutes. Among those out were Crowley, Whitcroft, Graham, McStravick, Easton, Rose, Long, Winch Lang and Deocher. McStravick, the only new man in the bunch should be a decided acquisition to the senior team. He is light but very fast and handles himself splendidly on the boards. McStravick last year played with the Emmets, of Ottawa, one of the fastest teams in the city that is noted for its fast players.

THE SNAP-BACK RULES WERE GIVEN THE QUIETUS

O. R. F. U. Decided to Adopt the Rules of the Canadian Union

THE NEW OFFICERS WERE ELECTED

The snap back game is no more. At the annual meeting of the O.R. F. U. on Saturday a motion to adopt the Canadian Rugby Union's rules in their entirety was carried and henceforth all games will be played under the scrimmage rules. The change is a good one. The snap back rules satisfied neither players or spectators. To the latter there appeared too much of a sameness in the play. It was claimed that the play was more open, but it is doubtful if this is true. In the final games for the Dominion championship, the play was at all times more open and spectacular than under the snap back rules. One objection to the latter is that the backs are not given proper protection. The forward division is smaller and the backs are not given a chance to get away, as they are under the other rules.

The motion to adopt the Canadian rules was supported by all the senior clubs, by in fact nearly all the clubs with the exception of several of the Juniors who asked that the snap back rules be retained in that series. The request was not granted.

Among the amendments carried were the following:—

Giving the referee full control of the players from the time the first whistle has blown until the end of the match.

To provide for the furnishing of a list of players and playing certificates to the referee by the captains of the two teams, before the games begin.

To add to the duties of the secretary by ordering him to issue playing certificates.

Mr. T. W. McDonough, was the representative of the local club at the meeting and seconded the motion to adopt the Canadian Rugby Union's rules.

The new officers are:—

Geo. Ballard, Hamilton, President.
W. J. Sies, Victorias, Vice-President.
J. B. Hay, Toronto, Secretary.

KINGSTON MAY DROP PROPOSED SENIOR TEAM

Departure of Walsh and Wilson to Professional Ranks Disturbs Management and Players

Kingston, Dec. 8.—Queen's senior hockey team, champions of the I.C. H. U., will commence practice next week.

There are only three of last year's players available, Mills, McDonald and Crawford. There is plenty of new material, which will be given a chance to make good.

There is now some doubt as to whether Kingston will have a senior O.H.A. team this year. The departure of Walsh and Wilson for the Canadian Soo has disheartened the players and management of the proposed team.

TO TORONTO AND RETURN IN THIRTY-EIGHT HOURS

The Feat Which Jas. Reynolds of Port Hope will Undertake

James Reynolds has been seized, says the Port Hope Guide, with another attack of the "walking" fever. This time he must go to Toronto and return in 38 hours, and a deposit of one hundred and fifty dollars has been made to bind the bargain. The bet has been made by two local sports who gave Reynolds odds of $1200 to $600. The walk is to take place in June. Reynolds may leave any Monday morning he may choose. It is a very large undertaking but James says that he will prove himself equal to the task.

QUEEN'S HOCKEY TEAM ARE WILLING TO PLAY

Will Likely Open Season With The Locals.

It is likely that the local hockey season will open with a game with the Queen's University team. Word has been received from the management of the Collegians stating that they are prepared to meet the locals in an exhibition game and it is likely that the match will be arranged for the holiday week.

ARROWS AND ALERTS PLAY POSTPONED GAME

At Y.M.C.A. To-night—Second Series Begin Wednesday

The first half of the Y.M.C.A. basketball schedule of games will be finished to-night, when the Arrows and Alerts play their postponed game at 9.30. The league has been a great success and the next half promises to be even more interesting than the first. The first games in the second series will be played Wednesday night, when the Arrows and O.T.C's meet at eight o'clock, and Alerts and Tigers meet at nine. The Harriers lead the league at the present time, but a couple of the other teams are close on their heels, and should one of them trim the Harriers, it would certainly make things interesting. This is not at all unlikely as the Arrows, Friday night, played the fastest game seen here this season and hope to do the trick when they meet the Harriers in the return game.

CURLING RINK OPENED ON SATURDAY NIGHT

Some Alterations Have Been Made—Six Rinks will be Ready forTo-night

The Charlotte street curling rink was opened to the wielders of the broom and stone on Saturday night, for the first time this season. Two rinks were in operation, and the games were keenly contested, and watched with great interest. Skip D. Davidson won from Skip T. F. Matthews by 19 to 4, and Skip G. W. Morrow was defeated by Skip G. H. Giroux by 5 to 7.

A change has been made in the diameter of the rings this season; they are now 12 feet instead of 14 feet in diameter.

To-day the centre sheet of ice is being flooded, under the supervision of Mr. Angus McIntosh, and the whole six rinks will be ready for the game this evening.

Some alterations are being made to the rink front. The cloak room has been enlarged to embrace most of the "look out" apartment, making a great improvement on the situation.

Mr. McIntosh is being assisted in flooding the ice by Mr. Arthur Wade.

GOOD MUSIC AND GOOD ICE AT BROCK ST. RINK

57th Band will be Present Again To-night and the Ice is Good

The management of the Brock street rink is determined that the popularity of that place of recreation shall be maintained this season. To-night, and in all probability every night this week, the 57th Band will be present and furnish music.

The ice was not better all last season than it is at the present time, and those who go to the rink to-night may be assured of a good skate.

NEPHEW OF JOHN JAYES A BALL PLAYER

Signed Contract with Syracuse Team for Salary of $100 Per Month

Walter Jayes, second son of Mr. George Jayes, formerly of Peterborough, and nephew of Mr. Jno. Jayes, of the Munro House, has just signed an important conttract with the Syracuse baseball team for $100 a month and transportation both ways. During the past season he played second base for the Huron baseball team, of Buffalo, at a good salary. His father, Mr. Geo. Jayes, is well known to many Peterborough people, having been born here.

The Buffalo Courier of a recent date says:

Arthur Haskmer and Walter Jayes, who covered third and second base, respectively, for the Huron baseball team, the former for the last four seasons and the latter for the past two years, have signed contracts with Syracuse of the State League for next season. They leave on April 1, and it goes without saying that they will take with them the best wishes and hearty congratulations of their many friends.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

UNCLE TOM'S CABIN

Al. W. Martin's world's greatest production of Uncle Tom's Cabin, will appear at the Grand on Friday night, December 14th. No other play ever written is better known in all parts of the United States to all classes of people than Uncle Tom's Cabin, not even the plays of immortal Shakspere, for the play of slavery has been given in every village and hamlet in this broad country. It has been played steadily and constantly for the last half century, it has been estimated that it is being played somewhere in this land of ours every day in the year. Even in the south it is seen. It has developed a distinctive class of players, who have been called "Uncle Tomers" in derision by other actors and actresses because they spend their entire time playing the characters of "Uncle Tom." But this refers to the cheaper representations of the old play. It has been given as handsome and expensive mounting as have ever been seen in any play, and as played by the Al. W. Martin Company, the play leaves nothing to be desired, either in scenery, electrical effects or in players. A chorus of twenty and a quartette, are with the company, and will be seen in plantation pastime and festivities exactly as indulged in by the slaves in ante-bellum times.

XMAS DECORATIONS MAY CAUSE FIRE; SOME ADVICE

One of Most Dangerous Sources of Store Fires is Carelessness in Decorating Windows with Inflamable Goods

CIRCULAR GIVES SOME GOOD ADVICE

Some advice on precautions to be observed in decorating stores for Christmas in order to prevent fire, is given in a circular issued through the Insurance Chronicle. It is as follows:—

In every December, figures of fire losses reach this office which eloquently plead for more care in the displaying of Christmas goods. The greater number of these fires start in show windows, especially in those which are dust proof. These tightly enclosed show boxes, after the lights—even electrical — are turned on, acquire a temperature higher than blood heat, so that everything in them is ready to blaze on slight provocation.

Don't use swinging gas brackets, ever.

Don't decorate with straw, leaves or paper.

Don't use cotton to imitate snow anywhere.

Don't use an electric wire for a clothes line.

Don't fail to put out the smoker—or his cigar.

Don't use an arc light without a spark arrester.

Don't use any light without a globe or wire screen.

Don't entirely cut off ventilation from a show window.

Don't put inflamable stuff beside an electric light socket.

Don't have electric bulbs in show windows hung by flexible cords.

Don't have open lights for ribbons, fancy papers and light fabrics to blow into.

Don't block aisles or exits with displays so as to increase the danger from a fire panic.

Don't let cotton goods or paper shades rest against electric light bulbs. They may char and when charred ignite.

Don't fail, if you have a departmental store, to test all fire apparatus, to have all extra clerks participate in a fire drill.

Don't have salesrooms littered with rubbish from the unpacking of boxes. Show winndows aside, rubbish is responsible for the greater number off holiday fires.

Don't expose articles of celluloid to any temperature above summer heat. In a store at Waldo, during the month, a bunch of celluloid combs exploded, from having a lamp placed two feet below them.

Tortures of Itching Piles

THE FINAL MEETING OF THE OLD YEAR

Board of Education Attends to Large Number of Matters in a Short Space of Time

REPORTS OF VARIOUS COMMITTEES

The last regular meeting of the Board of Education was held last night, when the various committees submitted their reports and the closing business of the year was transacted. The Board sanctioned the recommendation of the appointment of Mr. S. J. Stubbs, B.A., of Smith's Falls, to succeed Mr. Jeffries, and also other recommendations. The Public School curriculum was recommended to be enlarged to embrace manual training, domestic science, music and physical culture.

Those present were Chairman Ferguson and Messrs. W. H. Hill, L. M. Hayes, B. F. Ackerman, Dr. Morrison, John Crane, Wm. Pringle, R. Fair, Dr. Burnham, D. W. Dumble and Secretary G. W. Morrow.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.

Communications

The following communications were received:

Miss Kathleen E. Martin wrote, accepting the position on the staff of the Public Schools of the city.

Mr. Stubbs, Smith's Falls, wrote, accepting the appointment to the staff of the Peterborough Collegiate Institute.

A communication was received from W. Blackwell, certifying that the improvements and repairs made on the schools for 1906 have been done in a satisfactory manner.

Reports of Committees

The report of the Committee on Appointments recommended the appointment of Mr. S. J. Stubbs, B.A., Smith's Falls, to fill the position on the Collegiate Institute staff made vacant by the resignation of Mr. J. Jeffries; also the appointment of Miss Mildred Hallet, of Orillia, to fill the position on the Public School staff made vacant by the resignation of Miss Oulton.

Mr. Hill, chairman of the committee, explained that Miss Mackenzie, of Listowel, whose application had been accepted by the committee, had refused to accept the position as she had taken another school.

Mr. Stubbs' salary will be $1,100, and Miss Hallet's, $375 per annum, duties to commence on January 7.

The report was adopted without discussion.

Property Committee

Mr. Crane read the report of the Property Committee, which reported that the committee had purchased the house and lot in the rear of the West Ward School, for $625, in view of the proposed enlargement of that school.

The report was adopted.

Finance Committee

Mr. L. M. Hayes, chairman of the Finance Committee, reported the recommendation of the payment of the following accounts, which was carried:

The Curriculum

Mr. Pringle, chairman of the committee appointed to examine the Public School curriculum, reported as follows:

That, along with the inspector, we carefully examined the course prescribed for each grade, also the inspector's written instructions to the teachers.

That, as in all probability, the Department of Education will, in the near future, take into consideration the revision of the whole Public School curriculum, we do not feel justified at the present time in recommending any changes other than to suggest the incidental teaching of certain subjects, such as physiology, nature study, or any other subject the inspector may suggest.

We would, however, recommend that the inspector once more call the attention of the teachers to the instructions which he appears to have already given, and we feel assured that if these are faithfully adhered to there should be little complaint with regard to home work, detentions or impositions.

We also recommend that, as soon as possible, your Board introduce manual training, domestic science, music and physical culture into your schools.

The report was signed by Dr. Morrison, D. W. Dumble, and W. Pringle, chairman.

On motion, the report was adopted.

AGED WOMAN WAS HELD ON ABDUCTION CHARGE

Tried to be a Good Samaritan but Landed in Jail in Default of Bail

Examiner Special.

New York, Dec. 8.—Mrs. Adriana Van Norden, sixty-eight years old, and living at No. 201 Rodney street, Brooklyn, was arraigned in Yorkville Court yesterday on the charge of abducting and abandoning the four months' old girl, Irene Cheny, whose mother is May Cheny, twenty-eight years old, and a cigarmaker, living at No. 327 East Seventieth street.

Mrs. Van Norden thought she had been a benefactress, and was greatly grieved and surprised to be sent to prison pending the hearing to-morrow in default of $500 bail.

The Cheney woman was the accuser. Mrs. Van Norden, whose husband, Ira Van Norden, seventy years old, and a harness maker, agreed with her that their house was lonely, and decided to adopt the child.

On October 29th, she went to the foundling asylum at sixty-eight street and Lexington avenue, where she met May Cheny, who was seeking a nurse for her baby Irene, then ill in Bellevue Hospital. Mrs. Van Norden went to Bellevue and got the child, for the care of which the mother offered to give $10 a month.

"When I got home" said the old woman, "I found the baby in a dreadful condition, covered with sores and suffering with a cough. I thought it was dying of consumption, and its clothing was filthy. I did all I could for it and gave it medicine to save its life. The mother never came for it or contributed a cent for its keep."

Mrs. Van Norden said last Sunday she went to look for the mother of the child and, going to Mrs. Ellen Mahon, of No. 1307 Third avenue, said to be the grandmother of the baby and the mother of Mrs. Cheney, she told her that the baby was sick and that she must call and get it. She said that Mrs. Mahon had not called up to last Tuesday, and that she went, accompanied by a neighbour, Mrs. Firth to Mrs. Mahon's but was refused admittance and left the baby in the hallway.

Mrs. Cheney went to Mrs. Van Norden in Brooklyn, Friday, and demanded her child, saying she had never seen it, and when Mrs. Van Norden could not produce it, Mrs. Cheney had her arrested. The baby is now in Bellevue Hospital.

Mr. Asquith stated that the cost of £1 a week pensions to all persons in Britain over sixty-five and seventy would be respectively $77,500,000

MR. BELLEGHEM HAS THE AMBULANCE CONTRACT

With the Recommendation That Mr. Comstock Receive it Next Year

THE REMUNERATION PLACED AT $200

If the council passes the report of the Fire, Water and Light Committee, the ambulance question is settled at last.

At a meeting of the Fire, Water and Light Committee last night it was decided to award the contract to Mr. D. Belleghem at $200, and to recommend that Mr. Comstock be given the contract the following year. The specifications will be changed, so that no charge for the ambulance ban be made. It was decided to raise the remuneration to $200, $100 more than Mr. Belleghem's tender.

The discussion was not long drawn and was peaceable; most of the members of the committee expressing the opinion that Mr. Belleghem should be given the contract this year.

Mr. Belleghem Awarded Contract

Ald. Graham moved that the contract this year should be given to Mr. Belleghem at $200, provided that the contract be amended so that no charge can be made and that the committee recommend to the council of 1907 that Mr. Comstock be given the contract next year, at the same figure. The motion was seconded by Ald. Elliott.

An Old Account

An account was received from A. B. Greer of London, Ont., the manufacturer of the Dan Spence ambulance, asking for $100, balance of account. The matter arose over the condition of the ambulance when it first came to Peterborough. Ex-Ald. Batten was present, and gave an explanation of the matter. He stated that Mr. Greer had promised to throw off $100, provided that the municipality should pay for the repairs being made.

On motion the clerk was instructed to write Mr. Greer, and state that the city regarded the matter as closed.

Trouble With Lamps

A complaint was received that the incandescent lamp on King street was out on the ninth of November, and a reply from the Peterborough Light and Power Company was read stating that they had placed four lights there in one week, and suggesting that the Chief of Police should send a man there occasionally to prevent mischievous boys from breaking the lamp.

It was moved that the Peterborough Light and Power Company be instructed to place a new lamp there and that the Chief be notified to have a man watch it.

The Mayor reported that the arc light on Lock street had been out three nights.

It was moved by Ald. Ball, seconded by Ald. Duncan, that the Peterborough Light and Power Company be charged $1.25 for these lights.—Carried.

There were present, Ald. Johnston, chairman; Ald. Elliott, Mason, Graham, Ball and Duncan.

The committee discussed the advisability of finishing the four stalls at the south end of the fire-hall now or in the future. It was decided to meet in the fire hall today at 2 o'clock to settle the matter.

THRILLING TALES OF SEA; SUICIDE, WRECK

A Trio of Steamships Reach New York with Stories of an Exceedingly Mild Dramatic Character

COOLIES WANTED TO END THEIR LIVES

New York, Dec. 10.—Death from beri beri, suicide and shipwreck marked the long journeys of three steamships which came to their piers here yesterday, according to The World. Two vessels came from Oriental ports, while the one which met with the most serious disaster finally overcame her misfortunes on the west coast of South America and rounded Cape Horn with a valuable cargo of nitrate of soda, after having been practically rebuilt in the shadow of the Andes.

Religious and racial fanaticism brought trouble to the Foxley, flying the British flag, from China, and to the Den of Mains, another British ship from Java, while the elements were responsible for the disaster to the Abbey Holme, from Iquique, on the South American coast.

Hardly had the Foxley left Algiers on her way home, when the beri beri appeared among the coolies in the crew. As the vessel passed Gibraltar half of the crew were in their bunks unable to move a limb. On November 9 one of the men died. The next day another was dead, and the day following a cooley, crazed with delirium, committed suicide by throwing himself into the sea.

For a few minutes all the other coolies seemed on the verge of following their comrade over the ship's side and were driven back to their bunks only by the united efforts of the white men aboard. It was while the Den of Mains was off Mecca, in the Red Sea, when her trouble began.

Mano Bin Sahib, with hands uplifted and a look of religious fervour on his face, suddenly cast himself into the sea, uttering a prayer to Mohammed. In a twinkling the other thirty-four Lascars were prepared to follow him, all suddenly possessed by an insanity of fanaticism. Capt. Sawyer and his officers quieted them with difficulty. After leaving Algiers the Den of Mains ran into fearful Atlantic gales, which retarded her progress so that she made an extremely slow passage.

The Abbey Holme originally started on her voyage from Iquique, on the South American west coast, for New York, on August 16. A little over two weeks later she struck on Satellite Rock, near Punta Arenas, and began to leak badly. Capt. Brown beached her at Martha Island, and the ship lay there until a month ago. Two thousand tons of her cargo were lost in the wreck. She was consigned to W. R. Grace & Co., her American agents.

THIS MAN CAN'T BEAR THE GRAPHOPHONES

Husband Thinks That "Canned" Music is Sufficient Cause for Divorce

Cleveland, Dec. 11.—When Otto C. Knoll found that his wife had started a graphophone grinding out a "rag-time" song, and had the telephone receiver down so that one of her friends living a mile away could enjoy the music, he is alleged to have assaulted her.

Knoll in court said that the graphophone inside was one of the grounds upon which he thought he was entitled to a divorce. To the judge he exhibited a finger wrapped in leather, which he said was injured by his wife's teeth.

"I can stand most any old thing, but not that graphophone," he said.

HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

Any even numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Provinces, excepting 8 and 26, not reserved, may be homesteaded upon by any person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Entry may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land is situate.

Homestead Duties.—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:—

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased) of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of this Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

Application for patent should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa of his intention to do so.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

Fun in the Home.

Don't be afraid of a little fun at home. Don't shut your house lest the sun should fade your carpets or your hearts, lest a hearty laugh shake down some of the musty old cobwebs there. If you want to ruin your sons, let them think that all mirth and social enjoyment must be left on the threshold without when they come home at night. When once a house is regarded as only a place to eat, drink and sleep in, the work is begun that ends in gambling houses and reckless degradation. Young people must have fun and relaxation somewhere. If they do not find it at their own hearthstones, it will be sought at other less profitable places.

Therefore let the fire burn brightly at night and make the homestead delightful with all those little arts that parents so perfectly understand. Don't repress the buoyant spirits of your children. Half an hour's merriment round the lamp and fireside of home blots out the remembrance of many a care and annoyance during the day, and the best safeguard they can take with them into the world is the influence of a bright little domestic sanctum.

For Business Women.

One tailor made suit of good quality material and well made for spring and fall.

A pretty house gown to slip into when she is at home in the evening.

A fancy waist to freshen it up for the theater or any other evening wear.

A rainy day coat and skirt for bad weather.

A trim, rather small and becoming hat.

Plain, smart waists to wear with this to work, with plenty of collars and fresh neckwear.

Neat looking shoes and gloves.

This may seem like a painfully modest wardrobe, but for the woman who is in business and who has little time to fool over clothes it may be taken as a safe guide, to be added to as the occasion demands.

Lonely Labrador.

It keeps one busy these days to remain abreast of all that is going on in this big country. The geography of the West changes every week, but Labrador, the great eastern unknown land lying beside Canada's front door, is gradually awakening from the sleep of centuries. Dr. Wilfred Grenfell writes that the mission he represents is adding a fourth hospital in Canadian Labrador, which will be 200 miles from the nearest other hospital. In this work Montreal, Halifax and Toronto have taken part, and the extension of the Government telegraph line is of great assistance to these people who have never had a medical man among them before. With almost the same mail The Quebec Telegraph comes in with a report that owing to some mismanagement of the mails places from Natashquan eastward and northward failed to get their letters in September, and will not now receive them until the winter mail in January.

The Order Changeth.

There is a touch of sadness in the announcement that the Barnardo Farm Home at Russell, Manitoba, is to be permanently closed. For twenty years the home has been a training school to teach farming to the boys sent out from England. Conditions have so changed, however, that the boys can be sent direct to the homes of farmers, and the institution is no longer necessary. Mr. E. A. Struthers, who has been in charge of the home since its erection, will now manage the distribution of Barnardo boys from the receiving home in Winnipeg. Mr. Struthers, who is a cousin of Mr. Irving Struthers, the well-known Montreal newspaperman, has managed the home with conspicuous success, and is regarded as a just and kindly foster-father by more men and boys than probably any other man in Canada.

Queer Things About Fishes.

A naturalist describes the ways in which fishes sleep. They are very light sleepers and frequently assume singular positions, but the most remarkable thing is the change of color many of them undergo while asleep. Usually their spots and stripes become darker and more distinct when they fall asleep. Occasionally the pattern of their coloration is entirely changed. The ordinary porgy, for instance, presents in the daytime beautiful iridescent hues playing over its silvery sides, but at night, on falling asleep, it takes on a dull bronze tint, and six conspicuous black bands make their appearance on its sides. If it is suddenly awakened by the turning up of the gas in the aquarium, it immediately resumes the silvery color that it shows by daylight. The naturalist ascribes these changes to the principle of "protective coloration" and points out that the appearance of black bands and the deepening of the spots serve to conceal the fish from their enemies when lying amid eelgrass and seaweeds.

SOCKEYES' SLAUGHTER

UNLESS CANADA AND U. S. INTERVENE SALMON WILL GO.

Millions Slaughtered Yearly—Other Millions Have Been Wantonly Wasted When Canning Facilities Were Inadequate to Cope With the "Runs"—This Fish Is Found In Only One Part of Western Waters.

Another tale of the "Wastful West" remains to be told—the slaughter of the sockeye salmon, writes Frank C. Doig, in McClure's. Like the extinction of the bison, this rare food fish, that once came from the depths of the Pacific in myriads, will soon have disappeared because of the overpowering greed of man.

Millions of sockeyes, the king of the salmon tribe, have been canned and sent to the far corners of the world, but probably as many more have been wasted. Where once the waters of Puget Sound teemed with this fish in such numbers that legions were crowded out of the water and left sprawling on the beach, now the course of this finny food material is marked by scarce a specimen.

There are several varieties of salmon caught on the Pacific coast, but the sockeye is the monarch of its kind. It is sought after in the brief season of the summer in which it appears, because of its superior eatable qualities. It is the backbone of the Pacific coast fishing industry, yet it is caught only in the waters of Puget Sound and the Fraser River. It is one of the best commercial fish that is taken in the United States.

When the white man arrived on the Pacific coast to grasp some of the riches held in store by the Golden West, the sockeye was found in such vast numbers, that to give an estimate of them would sound incredible. So great were these legions of fish that, as already said, they crowded one another from the water, and countless thousands were left sprawling on the shores of the Fraser when the big "runs" were in progress. Any obstruction in the course of the stream was sufficient to cause millions of sockeyes to "smother" in their own element. The Indians of British Columbia found it only necessary to stand on the banks of the river and scoop the fish out on the banks in any quantity they wished. Be it said, however, to the credit of the redskin, he took only a sufficient number for the use of his family each season. There was no slaughter then.

But with the coming of the white pioneer the butchery of this rare food-fish began. The seeker after riches threw out such a system of intricate nets, stretching almost uninterruptedly from the Straits of Juan de Fuca to the headwaters of the Fraser, that the palmy days of the sockeye were soon cut short. Into these traps the unsuspecting fish crowded in their mad haste to get to their spawning grounds. Although the nets were filled to bursting, none was allowed to escape alive. The master of beast, bird and fish, rather than let the chance of making one penny slip, permitted the vast numbers of salmon which he could not use to rot on the sands of the beach.

The canning facilities were, in the earlier days of the fishing industry on Puget Sound, small and inadequate to handle the surfeit of fish. Still the traps were not lifted; they were always set. It was easier and cheaper to allow the sockeyes to enter and smother to death in the swirling crowd, and then when some fresh fish were needed to satisfy the canning machines, to throw out the dead and take the living. This was the beginning of the slaughter, away back in 1876, and it has continued until this day.

To understand the fluctuations in the figures showing the number of fish canned since the beginning of the industry, something of the habits of the sockeye must be known.

The life of the sockeye is four years. When the egg is hatched in the head waters of the Fraser River, the fry, as the young fish are called, stay near the spawning grounds until able to take care of themselves, and then make their way to the sea. This is the last seen of the fish for four years. At the end of this period they come back to the home of their birth in schools of countless millions—or at least they did so until the slaughter commenced. Their one ambition and aim in life before they die is to perpetuate their species.

For some reason as yet undiscovered by those who have studied the habits of the sockeye, every fourth year the "run" is abnormal. These fourth years are known to the fishermen as the "big years." In the years between the big "runs" the number of fish that seek the spawning grounds is comparatively small, yet by reckoning and comparing them with the fourth year previous, an estimate of the increase or decrease in the "run" is obtained.

While on their run from the Pacific Ocean to the head waters of the Fraser River the fish are intercepted as they go through Puget Sound, in American waters, principally by purse-seines and traps. This act of the American fishermen is considered by the Canadians as a gross offense. The northerners claim the fish should be theirs. This ill feeling is responsible in a large degree for the lack of measures to protect the sockeye.

The Canadians allege that because the Americans persist in catching the sockeye before they are allowed to reach the Fraser River, their spawning beds, the destruction of this valuable product is imminent.

The following figures, showing the number of sockeye salmon canned by the Puget Sound canneries, tell all too eloquently of what is happening and what will continue to take place unless some immediate action is taken by State or Federal Government: 1901, 1,110,996 cases, 1902, 342,974 cases, 1903, 158,802 cases, 1904, 107,943 cases, 1905, 847,941 cases, 1906, 176,452 cases.

The figures for the Fraser River pack tell the same tale. In 1901 the canneries of Puget Sound packed more than a million cases of this fish, and the only reason they did not can more was because their packing facilities were not great enough to handle the fish while the run lasted. Enough fish went to waste to make many packs the size of 1906. Yet four years later, in in the year 1905, which should have been as good, under normal conditions, as that of 1901, the cannerymen were compelled to work with might and main to get a pack of 847,941; and this, too, when the facilities for packing were better than four years previous. In 1902, which corresponds in the cycle to 1906, the cannerymen easily packed 342,947 cases. But in 1906 the fishermen were able to can only 176,452 cases.

When it is known that it takes ten average sockeyes to make a case of the packed article, it will be seen that in the last six years the canneries of Puget Sound have killed and preserved almost twenty-eight million fish. On the Fraser River the Canadian fishermen have packed about the same number in the corresponding period. This makes fifty-six million fish put into cans in six years. Figuring an almost equal number wasted, the grand total of sockeyes killed is enormous.

So far neither the Canadian Government nor the United States has succeeded in making laws that adequately protect the sockeye. There is a law in existence now that makes it unlawful to fish from Saturday night until Monday morning. This law is, in almost every instance, ignored. But even if observed, the fishermen of the Fraser run far up the river, and when the hour comes for open fishing they are prepared to intercept the fish that have succeeded in getting from the ocean into the river during the closed period. So the fish have a slim chance of getting to their spawning beds to lay their eggs.

Large sums have been expended by both governments for the establishment of hatcheries for the artificial propagation of the sockeye. These have been partially successful. The fact that the institutions have been unable to get fish enough to supply them with eggs is the greatest reason why they are unable to turn out large numbers of fry.

It is admitted by all those who have the interests of the industry at heart that national protection of the sockeye is the only solution for the preservation of the industry.

MAN BUILDING.

Central Point In "Business Building" Address by Mr. Sheldon to the Toronto Canadian Club.

"The Science of Modern Business Building" is the subject upon which Mr. A. F. Sheldon, president of the Sheldon School, Chicago, addressed the Canadian Club in Toronto recently. The speaker at the outset drew a distinction between science and art the former being, in the words of Herbert Spencer, organized knowledge, while art on the other hand is doing, or performance.

"In practicing the art of anything man applies the knowledge gained in the science of it," observed Mr. Sheldon. "All knowledge is not scientific. To be that it must be organized—obviously it must be tested truth.

"By the term 'business building' I mean so adding to a business already begun that each customer is made the first link in an endless chain to bring more.

"Business building implies the getting of business, but the getting of it in such a way that it is continuously added to by the influence of those already dealt with. There was a time when the business of trade was looked down upon and shunned as an occupation unworthy of refined intellects or gifted natures. That day is now passed by in the march of progress, and the business man is coming to be looked upon more and more as a professional man. A profession is a science practiced, and a science as we have seen, is organized truth—classified common sense.

"The commercial unit in each business community is the business house or concern, be that an individual business, a partnership or a corporation. The unit in the business house is the individual. Make each individual right, and the institution as a whole will be all right. System, order, is one of nature's first laws. Great men and great institutions reflect these laws, but you may have the best mechanical systems which the thinking, remembering and imagining powers of man can invent, and still they will be a failure in operation unless the man or men and women back of the system is right. If it were not for "man" there would be no business. Make the man right and his business will be right. The work of 'making the man right, the problem of self development, of scientific, human culture, is the problem of problems, not alone in business, but in all walks of life.

"Each individual in business, employer or employe, should study self to the end of developing individual power to the highest possible degree. Man is a bundle of wonderful possibilities, these being looked up in the positive faculties, body, mind and soul. Success of the permanent and increasing kind is not a matter of luck or chance.. It is governed by natural law. The discernment and observance of these laws is a big problem. We can but touch upon it here, but here are a few thoughts which each of us as business builders should consider.

"First—Efficiency of the individual depends upon the degree of supervision his work needs.

"Second—Supervision is made necessary by reason of two classes of errors: 1st, errors of omission; 2nd, errors of commission.

"Third—Errors of both kinds are traceable to the negatives in human nature.

"Carefulness (the positive) has as its negative, carelessness, truth and falsehood; honesty and dishonesty; faith and doubt; ambition and indifference; energy and laziness; intelligence and ignorance; strength and weakness; health and sickness; activity and inactivity, and so it goes; everything in the analysis of man in all his faculties and qualities. His errors are all traceable to his negatives.

"Fourth—The negatives are banished as the positives are developed—just as darkness must go when the light comes.

"Fifth—The positives are developed through two processes; first, E-duction—drawing out — plus instruction, filling in. Together these processes constitute true education, which is a life-long process.

"Sixth—First. The result of these combined processes as applied to man's body is endurance. Second. The result as applied to his objective mind, is ability or intellectual capacity. Third. The result as applied to his sensibility, or the emotion side of his mentality is reliability, and, as applied to the will, the result is action. Endurane plus ability plus reliability, plus action equals man with a big "M"—the kind of men and women needed in every business, everywhere.

"When Burbank can make the thornless cactus, the pitless plum, and the fadeless flower, it is time for the human plant to awaken to the fact that he need not go through life a slave to the influences of heredity, or environment. But these play a part in the life of each, but a knowledge of the laws of metal and physical growth, plus the conscious application of them the problem of self-development, make present environment more potent than heredity, which is but the sum of all past environment.

"The solution of business building is, in final analysis, man building. It pays to cultivate the human plant. Witness the institution which has not only a credit department, a buying department, a selling department, a shipping department, etc., with all the regular departments, but which has also a humanity department, the object of which is to cultivate the human plant, and you will witness an institution destined to progress along the lines of natural law, one in harmony with the eternal laws of progression."

ST'S COAL LANDS IN THE HOUSE

Government Majority Against Mr. Herron's Resolution.

LACK OF TRANSPORTATION

That Is Main Cause of Present Shortage—Abundance of Coal to Supply All Needs—Mr. Oliver's Statement in Defence of His Policy—First Division of the Session—Land Grants For Western Veterans.

Ottawa, Dec. 11.—On the first division of the session in a thin House the Government had a majority of 38 last evening.

The vote was taken, after a debate lasting some hours, on an academic resolution offered by Mr. John Herron asking the House to affirm that the coal lands owned by the Government should only be alienated under conditions which would insure an immediate supply of coal, at a reasonable price, adequate at all times to the requirements of the people, and that legislation be passed providing for such control and regulation of coal lands already alienated as will in future prevent loss and suffering to the people of the western Provinces through lack of fuel supply.

Mr. Knowles' Amendment.

An amendment by Mr. Knowles setting forth that the "recent difficulty in relation to the supply of fuel did not arise from any defect in legislation, but from lack of transportation and through conflict between employer and employe," was supported with unanimity by the Government side.

The debate developed into an attempt by the Opposition to place upon the Government the responsibility for the recent coal famine which caused no little suffering in Saskatchewan and Alberta. The Minister of the Interior took the ground that there could be no monopoly in coal in the Northwest from the fact that vast areas of coal lands had been alienated to the C. P. R. and the Calgary & Edmonton Railway, whose land grants, aggregating 27,000,000 acres carried coal rights, and a large part of these grants had been selected in coal-bearing regions. Other large areas had been alienated to other holders, and a great part of the coal-bearing lands now owned by private corporations are free of royalty.

A Divided Opposition.

Mr. Oliver pointed out that the Opposition were divided on the question of the imposition of restrictive conditions requiring the development of coal lands alienated in future, which he opined would have the effect of checking the coal-mining industry. The solution of the difficulty was to be found in increased railway facilities for the distribution of coal from the mines.

Mr. Herron, mover of the resolution, was strongly opposed to Government operation of coal mines. The debate was participated in by Messrs. Knowles, Turriff, Smith (Nanaimo), Sproule, Lake, R. L. Borden and the Minister of Labor, who suggested that the time had come when Parliament should consider the question whether compulsory arbitration or compulsory arbitration or compulsory conciliation should be resorted to in the settlement of differences between capital and labor.

Land Grants For Veterans.

That South Africa veterans who at the time of enlistment resided in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta will receive land grants was the tenor of a reply to Col. Sam Hughes by Sir Frederick Borden, who also intimated that greater encouragement to rifle shooting will receive his careful consideration.

A bill to amend the Dominion lands act was introduced by the Minister of the Interior and read a first time.

GETS ESTATE IN ONTARIO.

Rev. G. C. Squire of Owosso, Mich., Receives Fortune.

Detroit, Dec. 11.—Rev. G. C. Squire, who several years ago retired from the Corunna avenue Methodist Church, Owosso, Mich., at his own request, has just received notice that he is heir to a large estate in Hastings County, Ont.

The legacy is left Rev. Mr. Squire by an uncle who died recently, and the good fortune comes to this minister at a time of his life when he can best enjoy it. For the past several summers Rev. Mr. Squire has conducted a summer assembly, and these have been made a great success through his efforts. His daughter is a missionary in South America. Rev. Mr. Squire is making preparations to go to Hastings and claim his estate.

THE EDUCATION BILL.

British Minister Announces the Policy of C.-B. Government.

London, Dec. 11.—Minister of Education Birrell announced in the House of Commons yesterday that the Government had decided to reject all the House of Lords' amendments to the education bill.

The House of Lords last night rejected the plural voting bill, which was passed by the House of Commons at the instance of the Government. The principle of the bill was "one man, one vote."

London, Dec. 11.—The unexpected decision of the Cabinet to reject en bloc the amendments to the education bill seals the fate of the bill. Any compromise is now regarded as hopeless, the bill certainly will be dropped, and a new bill will be introduced at the next session of Parliament. The decision of the Government places the responsibility of killing the bill on the House of Lords.

In the course of yesterday's debate A. J. Balfour, Conservative, declared that the Government evidently desired that the bill be lost, and said he himself wanted it to perish rather than see is passed in the shape the Government desired.

MR. WHITNEY'S STATEMENT.

Indicates That Amendments Will Be Made to Railway Act.

Toronto, Dec. 11.—Important amendments to the Railway Act were stated by Premier Whitney yesterday to be contemplated. Among these perhaps the most important will provide for giving the board power to take over and operate roads on which trouble has occurred between companies and their employes.

The board would continue in charge until a satisfactory settlement by arbitration or otherwise was reached.

The municipal and railway board considered the C.P.R. appeal against assessment on their bridge and business at Galt yesterday, Angus MacMurchy appearing for the railway. The original assessment was $32,000, and included $1,500 business assessment. This was struck off by the board, which held that steam railway companies are not liable for a business assessment. This decision will affect several other places where appeals are pending.

The bridge assessment was also struck off, the bridge having been built on an original road allowance for a highway and the municipality having therefore no right to levy an assessment on the bridge.

DEATH OF COL. PINAULT, C.M.G.

Deputy Minister of Militia of Canada Succumbs to Cancer.

Ottawa, Dec. 11.—Col. Louis Felix Pinault, C.M.G., Deputy Minister of Militia, died yesterday morning. The colonel was a good soldier, of excellent executive capacity, which made him one of the best deputies in the service. He was born at St. Germain de Rimouski on Nov. 9, 1852. His first love was the militia. From lieutenant of the 9th Regiment he rose to the command. He served throughout the Northwest rebellion. He was a member of Quebec Legislature for a time, and also took some interest in newspaper work.

Col. Pinault's services to the country were appreciated by the bestowal of the C.M.G. in appreciation of his work in the despatch of the Canadian contingents to South Africa during the Boer war. He leaves a widow.

The immediate cause of Col. Pinault's death was heart failure. He had been confined to his room for several months from cancer.

MOTHER WAS ABSENT; CHILDREN DEAD

Her Three Children Dead Before She Returned.

A DISTRESSING TRAGEDY

George, Aged 6, Edith 4, and Margaret Baker 2, Burned or Suffocated to Death In Their Burning Home In Toronto—Children Found Dead In Room Above the Kitchen—Little Bodies Blackened.

Toronto, Dec. 11.—George, Edith, and Margaret Baker, aged 6, 4 and 2 years respectively, the children of George Baker, living on Buller avenue, off Kippendavie avenue, Kew Beach, were burned or suffocated to death yesterday morning.

Some boys playing near noticed the premises were on fire and rushed to the fire hall at Kew Beach and the firemen were promptly on the spot.

The front door was smashed in, but the whole interior was ablaze, and no entry could be effected from that side.

Other officers got in from the rear and found the three children dead in a room above the kitchen. The bodies were blackened, but otherwise conditions indicated that the children had been suffocated.

It appears that a friend of Mrs. Baker, living on Kippendavie avenue, was moving, and Mrs. Baker went over to lend a hand. She put the three children in a room upstairs, where she considered they would be perfectly safe.

It would seem that the children had nothing to do with the starting of the fire, which appears to have started in the kitchen.

Mother Rescues Baby.

Galt, Dec. 11.—A disastrous fire occurred yesterday morning, when the residence of Archie Pettigrew was completely gutted. But for the heroic action of Mrs. Pettigrew, in entering the house in the face of flames and rescuing her baby boy from a burning cradle, the child would undoubtedly have perished. As it was, it was severely burned, and the mother also badly scorched. Mrs. Pettigrew left a hot fire while she went out for water and called in at a neighbor's house.

Domestic Asphyxiated.

London, Dec. 11.—Harriet Drake, a domestic employed in the home of John C. Cote, Talbot street, was found dead in her room yesterday morning with the gas jet wide open. It was at first thought to be a case of suicide, but investigation satisfied the coroner that the young woman had turned off the gas before retiring, and that the sleeve of her dress had caught on the jet, opening it again.

Struck By a Train.

Toronto, Dec. 11.—Hilda Wallis, aged 4 years, daughter of Ernest Wallis of Weston, was instantly killed by being struck by a train at the G.T.R. crossing at Weston yesterday afternoon. She was with her mother, who got over in safety, but the little one's head was struck by the engine tender and her skull fractured. Coroner Charlton will hold an inquest.

David Rodger Instantly Killed.

READ HOW DR. WOOD'S NORWAY PINE SYRUP CURED

The T. Milburn Co., Limited,
Toronto, Ont.

Dear Sirs: As I am one of the thousands that have been benefited by your Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, I thought it my duty to give you a description of my case. "I am 19 years of age and was always in the best of health until last spring when I caught a severe cold by going about with wet feet. It settled in my chest and all the remedies I tried would not stir it. My friends began to fear it had turned to consumption and were advising me to go east and see a specialist. One day my father brought home a bottle of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. I laughed at the idea of it being any good and refused to take it, and only as a last resource would I. When I had finished one bottle I had only a slight cold left and before I had taken a quarter of the next I was as well as ever I was, if not better, so you can see what a God-send this medicine was to me. I never fail to recommend Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup to my friends and they all use it. To show my full appreciation of this remedy I will gladly answer any letters in reference to it. Believe me. Sincerely yours,
Miss Winnifred D. Smith.

Chronicles of Don Q.

BY K. AND HESKETH PRITCHARD.

(Copyright by Pearson Publishing Company.)

THE DARK BROTHERS OF THE CIVIL GUARD.

The name of Don Quebranta-huesos spelled despair to the civil guards of Spain. Time after time he had foiled their best-laid schemes. Yet it must be owned that he was a fair and even an appreciative enemy. He had been heard to say more than once that, but for the existence of the guardia civile he would, in one of his black moods, have taken his own life from sheer ennui.

He was wont to add that he owed a debt to none in the world, save only to the guardia civile and the ibex of the sierra. For the ibex lured sportsmen to travel up into the solitudes of the mountains, where now and again they were captured by Don Q.'s scouts and held to ransom; while the civil guard kept alive his interest in preserving his own life, since they were always trying to take it.

The guardia civile is a picked corps of military police, who possess a manual containing one of the most remarkable and noble codes of regulations the world has ever seen. Part I opens with the following sentence: "Honor must be the chief object of the civil guard, and it must be preserved spotless and intact." The outcome of such a code as this, added to a gathering halo of tradition, has produced a body of men well equipped in every sense of the word, splendidly disciplined, only to be matched by the famous Irish constabulary.

Unless you have traveled through some of the despoblados, the desert tracts of Spain, or in the lonely sierra, it is hard fully to understand the duties and the qualities of a civil guard. He holds a roving commission to patrol the highways and mountain passes, and always works with a comrade, for the wild roads owe their safety to his presence. Don Q. had defied them year after year, setting at nought their efforts, baffling their plans by acuteness of brain and a perfectly systematized intelligence department.

Ultimately after the visit paid by the brigand to Don Hugo, a sum, which in some eyes took on the form of a fabulous fortune, was put on the head of Don Q.

At this time, among his numerous foes was counted one, perhaps the most inveterate of them all, of whom Don Q. knew nothing. Manuelo Moruno was a member of the civil guard, as was his brother, Gregorio. They were very silent men, and, after the custom of their corps, they worked together.

A chance allusion to the ears of the governor of the prison of Castelleno, flung in mockery at Manuelo, with a gibe, that he and Gregorio should try their hand at capturing the mysterious brigand who had for so long checkmated every plot formed against him, planted a seed in the heart of the elder Moruno that soon usurped his whole thoughts.

Therefore a certain amount of interest was awakened at the headquarters of that tercio of the civil guard to which the brothers belonged, when they requested leave of absence for an indefinite term.

"You want an unusual favor, Manuelo," the commandant said to the elder, "I will see what I can do for you both. You are good men at your work, though a trifle heavy-handed."

Later a month was conceded.

"It is not enough," said Manuelo. "We will take no leave, senor."

The officer looked thoughful.

"May I inquire where you propose to spend your leave?" he asked, after a pause.

Manuelo's face grew more somber.

"Gregorio and I have given the years of our manhood to the honor of the guardia civile. If we cannot have leave without words spoken, we stay—that is all, senor."

"Is it true, then, that you would go to the sierra? Have you a plan?" The officer put the question almost in a whisper.

"There is a saying in my birthplace —'A loose tongue cuts the throat,' senor.'"

"True. He of the sierra hears everything," the commandante said, half to himself.

"I wonder if you realize the difficulty. No one has ever got the better of—him."

"We have made a vow," returned Manuelo rigidly.

The sporting instinct awoke in the commandante and sent a glow through his veins. It rested with him to slip the dogs on the wildcat.

"Go," he said; "and may the saints go with you."

The plan formed by the Morunos was such a one as might have been expected from men of their character. After many discussions they decided that the chance of success lay in one direction only. By no attempt from the outside could they ever hope to reach the wary and terrible Don Q. They resolved, therefore, to make the desperate venture of following him deep into his unascertained hiding places in the sierra and there to gain accurate and first-hand knowledge of his habits, with, perhaps, some measure of his confidence. In a word, they were going to turn brigands and enroll themselves amongst the sequestradores who owed him allegiance.

Two days later there arrived at a small village not far from Castelleno a couple of unshaven, savage-looking men. In a safe place they had buried their passports. It is necessary in Spain for every man who goes any distance from his home to carry a passport. If he is found without it the carcel is his portion till he can make matters straight. A couple of guardias civiles came upon the pair, the inevitable question was asked, and, as they were without papers the brothers were arrested and taken off to the lockup, in much the same way that they themselves had frequently arrested suspicious travelers.

Sullenly the two brothers marched to the village carcel, and, once within the doors, they felt the first step that was to lead them to Don Q. had been taken.

The next night the lockup was thrown into confusion when it was discovered that the prisoners had escaped. Thorough to the smallest details, or perhaps reverting to the tendencies of earlier days, Gregorio had stunned the man who took them their evening mess of pottage. A hue and cry was immediately raised after them, but the two brothers had fled beyond pursuit into the sierra.

From one obscure hand to another, by ways too devious to follow, the new aspirants for enrolment in the robber gang gradually drifted into the presence of Don. Q.

The ever-chilly chief, huddled as usual in his cloak, was sitting beside his fire when the men were brought into his presence.

"Gaspar, take these fellows away and make the usual examination," said the chief, "I hope for your own sakes, that you will fulfill our requirements," he added to the brothers.

"We do not understand," Manuelo said stolidly.

Don Q. passed a slow glance over the two fine, well-set-up fingers.

"By the way," he began in his soft way, that somehow sounded so deadly to his hearers, "you are, you say, newly from Malaga. There is a point upon which you can perhaps enlighten me. Is it true that the chest measurement for enlistment in the civil guard has been raised half an inch?"

The two black-haired men kept their expression of impassive dulness.

"We are poor men," answered Manuelo, "and when we see a pair of guardias civiles we hide in the bushes or the rocks. I do not know. And you, brother?" he turned towards Gregorio.

"I heard that a recruit must now measure 32 inches round the chest if he desires to be of the corps."

Don Q. considered Gregorio's reply.

"Gaspar," he said, "I can take no more applicants into our band under 33-inch measurement of the chest. The height can remain the same;" then seeing a look of surprise come into the eyes of Manuelo, he added:

"If these men do not happen to reach the standard you will know what to do with them. Did any tell you on your way here that those unfit to be counted amongst our number are also unfit to —leave us?"

"We were told."

With that the Morunos were led from the cave, still wearing their air of dulness and uninterest, to be measured beside the fires in the valley below. Then to each was given a slip of paper, and they were led back to the presence of the chief.

"You may speak, Gaspar," said Don Q.

"Their heights are 5 feet 10 and 5 feet 9, their chests measure 37 and 36 inches, lord."

"Good. And now," Don Q. looked at Manuelo, "let me have a short history of your lives."

"We are sons of one mother, born at a birth. Our name Forjado. They call me Miguel and my brother they call Miguelito. Our father was a contrabandisto. He is dead. The guardias civiles—on whom be curses—shot him when we were children. A month ago we were running a cargo over the sierra on mule back. The guardias civiles prepared an ambush. They fired on us from behind the rocks. We fought with them and escaped, but Miguelito killed one. They had recognized us, so we fled. We entered Bechivo without papers, we were put in the carcel. There we met certain men who told us of the ladron en grande, the great sequestradore, Don Q.

"We decided to seek refuge in the sierra. There was a stone in the courtyard. Miguelito has been a poacher. He crept up behind the guard, who brought our puchero. He may or may not be dead. We are here."

Thus it was that the two brothers gained admission to the ranks of the brigands. Without faltering they took the oath of fidelity and returned with Gaspar to the valley.

The days passed on; the Morunos—though it neither affected nor weakened their resolve—felt something very akin to deep respect grow up in their minds for the iron-handed, inexorable man, who, in spite of his fragile frame, held in abject subjection a bevy of the wildest characters in Spain. The courage of Don Q. was so abnormal, his indifference to death and to danger so absolute, that he compelled the unwilling admiration of the brothers.

It was clearly impossible to attack him among his men, and though the Morunos discussed over and over again the plan of stealing up to the cave by night, and taking their chance of escape after the deed they had come to do was done, they were cast back and deterred by rumors and stories that passed from mouth round the fires.

Manuelo listened and pondered these things.

"I would buy his life with mine, Gregorio, as thou knowest," the elder brother said; "but he is crafty as the devil. The cave is secure by reason of his craft. We must wait."

But the weeks drifted by, and the grip of winter closed more and more harshly upon the mountains, the robbers built themselves chozas, and, for the rest, shivered round the fires.

On a certain bitter evening in December, Manuelo, with Gaspar, was summoned to the cave. Although Manuelo had no premonition of it, he was about to utter a few words which in the end brought on that opportunity of dealing hand to hand with Don Q. which he had almost begun to despair of finding.

Don Q. spoke vaguely of an errand to the Sierra Segura and desired to find a messenger acquainted with the region. The Sierra Segura is that part of the mountain range which runs across the province of Murcia, and Manuelo had patrolled it from pass to plain during most of the years of his service in the civil guards.

For that very reason he denied all knowledge of it, and proclaimed himself as having been born and bred in Catalonia.

"It is unfortunate," remarked the chief regretfully, "but the matter, though important, can be delayed. Meanwhile, Gaspar you must go down to-morrow in the early morning to the hut of the carbonero, Tomas. I have promised him a reward for information; but you shall give it to his wife for he is a spendthrift. Miguel goes with you. Leave me, my children."

A day later Manuelo again found himself in the cave.

"Miguel," asked Don Q., "do you ever go to confession?"

A slight change passed across the man's dark face.

"No, lord," he said stubbornly, for the question somehow made him uncomfortable.

"That is a pity," returned the chief, "death is never very far from one of your profession, Miguel. It is as well to be prepared; is it not?"

"Yes, lord"; Manuelo had hard work to retain his impassive aspect. The chance so long hoped for was come at last.

"I intend to go down to the little monastery of San Pedro. The fathers are very holy men, and now and again they sing masses, at my expense, for the souls of those who have perished in the mountains. I have chosen you, Miguel, for you are a man of a sober habit, not given to gambling as are some about the fires. You will now have time to prepare yourself for confession. It is sad, as I myself know, after receiving absolution of the good father, when one remembers some little peccadillo, such as the name of a man one has been forced to kill in the way of business. And, as I should never dream of detaining a priest as captive, your opportunities may be few and far between. Make the most of this one. You may die, Miguel, before the next. Quien sabe?"

Manuelo left the presence of the chief filled with strong joy. At last fortune had come over to the side of himself and his brother. He sought Gregorio at the earliest possible moment with the news.

"Gracias a Dios," answered the younger man; "we now have him between finger and thumb."

"You must steal away from the valley to-night, brother, when the sentries change, as we have always planned. Take my rifle; it is surer than yours. Strike the bridle path three miles eastward of the monastery, where the lagoon lies in the valley. Conceal yourself about the track. I go afoot; the enemy rides. His figure will show clear against the water. You must shoot, Gregorio, and at the echo I will spring upon him."

"I will shoot, brother; my eye is sure. Fear nothing."

The night and the day which the Morunos believed were destined to be the last Don Q. should spend on earth slipped away. Each brother in his own mind rehearsed over and over again the part he had to play in the coming tragedy. But events were fated to occur for which they had made no provision.

The moon, that was almost at the full, climbed up clear of the mountain summits before the party of two set out. They left the barren crags, patched with snow, behind them and entered upon a region of wild and desert character.

The brothers had in their time taken so many prisoners that Manuelo, as he walked beside the stirrup of Don Q., considered their task practically accomplished, and even found time to regret that so able and resourceful a man as the brigand chief should have passed his life elsewhere than in the ranks of the force to which he himself belonged.

Mile after mile was traversed. The lagoon, with its deadly watcher lying in wait, was now no great distance ahead. A jutting mountain flank here thrust its bulk between them and the moonlight. Don Q. drew rein before they entered the shadow.

"We need a lantern, Miguel," he said. "See you those two boulders leaning one against the other. Creep in between them and, to the right hand side you will find a lantern and matches. Kindle the lantern; it will light our path through the darkness."

Manuelo bent down and crawled in to the opening. His heels were just disappearing when a sound like a choked cry came from the interior of the cavity, followed by a curse and the sound of savage fighting.

Don Q. nodded his head at the noise and began to dismount in his leisurely fashion.

"Have you secured him, my children?"

"Yes, lord."

"Then pull him out into the moonlight."

The order was obeyed and Manuelo, bound and black with rage, was placed before the chief.

"You are a very clever man, my good Manuelo Moruno," Don Q. began in his soft, sneering voice, "too clever, I should have thought, to commit the gross blunder of denying all knowledge of Murcia with a strong Murcian burr on your tongue. That pretty fable of having been born and bred in Catalonia should have been supported by the use of a few bastard French words. Thus you might have played your part very creditably. As it is I am told that the wife of Tomas, the carbonero, to whose hut I sent you yesterday, made the sign of the cross when she saw your dark face at her door. She is a Murcian and she recognised you, as I expected.

Manuelo stood silent.

"And Gregario, where is he?" continued the chief.

"He at least has escaped you," burst out Manuelo.

"So? We shall see. I do not remember giving him permission to leave the valley. Yet he left it last night; and at this moment, good Manuelo, he lies above the path beside the lagoon watching for us. We will not keep him waiting. I have been told he is a sure shot. We will test his aim. Put this traitor on the mule, my children."

Manuelo was lifted into the saddle, a noose slipped round his ankles was secured beneath the belly of the mule, a gag was thrust between his teeth, and when he was bound and helpless, Don Q. with his own hands artistically arranged the folds of a cloak about his shoulders.

So the journey was resumed.

"I understand, Manuelo," went on the soft voice of Don Q., "that you and your brother have been ambitious of meeting me alone in some solitary spot. Is it not so? You are about to have your desire. Gregorio will mistake you for me. He will remember the heavy blood money that is upon my head, and will send his bullet straight. The result may surprise him a little, but in this world it is never wise to count upon results."

The progress of the mule, regulated by the pace of the terrible man who walked so delicately behind it, was slow, and before the spread of water with the moon shining upon it came into view, Manuelo had plenty of time to realize his position.

Not far ahead Gregorio was waiting, with his rifle on his knee, ready to fire, not dreaming that the muffled figure on the mule was not Don Q., but his own brother.

If only he could make some sign of warning whereby Gregorio might escape the cruel vengeance of the chief!

The earth seemed suddenly to reel and give way beneath him and he knew no more. After he had fallen, the bark of Gregorio's rifle reached Don Q.

The chief stood back in the shadow of a rock and watched the active figure of Gregorio leaping down the slope.

"Where are you, brother? Is he stunned? I shot the mule under him when I saw you alone were with him," said Gregorio, stooping over the fallen animal and his rider.

The dim shape by the rock laughed and sprang at the same instant. Beneath the iron- bound musket-butt, which descended on his head, Gregorio went down kicking feebly on the sand. Don Q.'s delicate little hands pinioned him with a rapid and scientific completeness. Then he turned to Manuelo, tore the gag from his mouth, and with a strength surprising in so fragile a body, pulled him free of the dead mule.

"We will wait until our excellent Gregorio, whose shooting is so admirable, has regained his senses sufficiently to join in our conversation," Don Q. began, as Gregorio with a groan shifted his head from one bump on the rock to another, and blinked up dizzly at the moon. "He is already better. I trust, Gregorio, that your thoughts are quite clear?"

The man shivered, then scowled. Recollection had come to him also.

"I wish you both to listen to me very carefully," the chief pursued. "We have played a very interesting game together. Manuelo, for yours is

WAS WRECKED ON ISLE ROYAL

Steamer Monarch Lies Helpless —A Total Wreck.

ONLY ONE LIFE WAS LOST

Vessel Struck the Rocks on Friday Night, and Soon Pounded to Pieces —Crew and Passengers Took to Lifeboats and By Hard and Continuous Efforts Succeeded in Reaching the Shore.

Port Arthur, Dec. 11.—The steamer Monarch of the Northern Navigation Co.'s line was wrecked on Isle Royale, about forty miles from here, on Saturday.

The passengers and crew, forty in all, with the exception of Watchman J. Jacques of Point Edward, are safe. Jacques was drowned when the steamer struck the rocks.

The rescued passengers were all safely landed at Port Arthur last night by the tug Whalen.

Of the passengers all are well excepting Mr. Farquar, a passenger for the Soo, who suffered from exposure and was taken to the hospital.

Vessel a Total Loss.

The Monarch was wrecked on the east end of Isle Royale, and is a total loss. She struck on Friday night, and soon was pounded to pieces. Nothing remains above the water but the pilot-house.

The crew and passengers took to lifeboats and only by hard efforts and a miracle were they able to reach the shore of Isle Royale. Here they are stranded in a most helpless condition without food or shelter.

On reaching shore the crew were in an extremely exhausted condition. Fortunately a few dry matches were found on one of the passengers, and a fire was immediately started. This fire attracted the attention of the lighthouse-keeper at Passage Island, who started for the scene at once. He had a small boat and was unable to land. Purser Seaumont was the only man sufficiently able to swim out in the cold water, and reached the boat of the lighthousekeeper. Here he told the story of the wreck.

Passage Island lighthouse is about five miles from the scene of the wreck. Together they rowed to the lighthouse in the heavy sea.

Edmonton Signaled.

The steamer Edmonton was passing the light about 11 o'clock last night. The keeper immediately signaled her for help. She stopped, and was given particulars. On account of the sea and rocks she was unable to render immediate assistance, so she turned around and came direct to Port Arthur, reaching here at 2 o'clock yesterday morning.

No time was lost, and the tugs Whalen and Laura Grace were loaded with provisions and clothing, and started for the scene at 6 o'clock yesterday morning. The tugs are in charge of Capt. Campbell of the Northern Navigation Co.'s steamer Saronic, which is lying in Port Arthur. The captain also took seven of his best sailors, all experienced boatmen and excellent rowers, with him. On the tug are also Doctors Brown, Crozier and McEwen.

The Monarch was in command of Capt. Edward Robertson of Sarnia. The vessel was valued at $85,000.

Rescued From Ice.

Little Current, Dec. 11.—The steamers City of Midland and Caribou, which left Owen Sound Friday morning in company, were reported on the ice off Manitowaning Sunday. After several hours' fight in a heavy gale the Midland returned to the Caribou. Late Sunday night their lights appeared off this point and after 12 hours' hard fighting the steamers arrived here.

Fairmount Released.

Kingston, Dec. 11.—The steamer Fairmount, aground at Snake Island, was released from the shoal yesterday afternoon and arrived safety at the M. T. Co.'s dock about 3 o'clock. It is not known what the extent of her damage is.

Freighter Ashore.

New York, Dec. 11.—The British freight steamer Gadsby, from Middleborough, England, went ashore on Staten Island, near Fort Wadsworth, yesterday, while entering the harbor. Tugs pulled on the Gadsby at high water, but were unable to start her. Another attempt will be made at high water to-day.

CHRONICLES OF DON. Q.

the brain behind it. But I do not think I flatter myself when I say that the honors rest with me?"

"Yes, we have lost the game," said Manuelo, in the old rigid manner. "But we are not afraid!"

"You are a brave man," commented Don Q. politely; "but because you are not afraid now, it does not follow that you will not be afraid before we have done with one another."

"What does it matter?" answered Manuelo. "My brother and I took an oath to kill you. We have failed. Nothing remains but to make an end of us."

"Not so fast, Manuelo," put in the chief. "I have just been thinking how full of romance is your situation. You and Gregorio are twins. You were born together, you have lived and worked together, and now in the fitness of things you are to die together."

"And," resumed the brigand, "believe me, I should not interfere with so artistic a conclusion had I only ourselves to think of. But I cannot afford to forget that you have both belonged to that estimable force, to whose kind interest in my life I owe so deep a debt. It is incumbent upon me to send them information by a reliable hand—say by one of you—how a civil guard dies, who has failed in a duel with Don Q. I trust you follow me?"

The two men stared at him stolidly.

"It is clear that you do. There are, to return to my subject, many channels by which the whole story will find its way down to the plains. But that is not sufficient for my purpose. I wish the civil guard to know from the lips of one of their own corps that I have scored another point in the 20 years' gamble that has been played out between us. I have, therefore, decided that one of you shall go free. The other must die, and—well, I warn you he will need all his fortitude before the happy moment of his departure from life. You are brave men; choose, then, between you which shall go free and which shall—remain forever in the sierra."

Don Q. moved away a little space and the brothers began to talk eagerly together in low tones. At the end of five minutes the chief returned.

"Well," he asked, "I am waiting for your decision. Who is to be the lucky one?"

"Gregorio," shouted Manuelo at once.

"No, no!" cried the other passionately "No, no, Manuelo, I cannot," declared the other hoarsely.

"I will decide," said Manuelo; "I have the right of choice before my brother, since I am the elder."

Don Q. held up his hand.

"It is enough. You cannot agree. The decision must be mine, for I regret I have not time (interesting as it would be) to listen to an argument between you—"

Manuelo broke into his speech.

"Hear me," he groaned; "Gregorio has a wife and child. Let him go!"

"The choice is in my hands, and in my hands it must remain," Don Q answered; "I have decided. Gregorio shall go free after he has looked upon his brother's death. I have chosen him, not because he has a wife and child waiting for him in Murcia, but because being readier of speech than our stiff-tongued Manuelo he will render a more vivid picture of what he has witnessed."

The soft flow of the chief's voice neither rose nor fell. Gregorio shuddered violently.

"I will not witness it," he cried. "Shoot us both, in the name of the virgin!"

There followed a silence, during which the chief stood like a dormant bird, his cloak half fallen on the sand at his feet.

"Other men beside you, Manuelo, other brave men have challenged me to do my worst, and, with one exception, I have always lived to hear their vain appeals for mercy." Don Q.'s low tone had an echo of weariness.

The man did not reply at once; then he said—

"Why mock me? Speak plainly."

"I do not mock you. I have many faults in the eyes of men, but it is well-known that I never lie. Is it not so?"

"That is so."

"Tell me then, Manuelo, the truth in return. What if I let you go free also?"

"It is impossible, senor," he said at last, "it is impossible. We have taken an oath that while life remains in our bodies we will seek your life. If you spare us now we will come again. Shoot me and be done with it. We are honorable men."

Don Q. burst into a shriek of hissing laughter.

"Manuelo, go free!" he cried. "See now I give myself into your hands. Go back to Murcia, and when your vow troubles you, come again and cross swords and wits with the king of the sequestradores. I really feel quite indebted to you, Manuelo. You have given me something to look forward to, an added zest to life, for death stares at me forever from your eyes. And although I have outgrown most of the human weaknesses, I still have in my heart a warm feeling for a very brave man."

Dahomey's Ex-Ruler Dead.

Algiers, Algeciras, Dec. 11.—King Behanzin, the former ruler of Dahomey, who was exiled after the annexation of his kingdom to France, in 1894, died suddenly here yesterday of nephritis.

SOCIALIST DROWNS,

J. K. Kinnealy, Who Was a Candidate for Mayor In New York City In 1905.

London, Dec. 11.—The population of London as given by the city directory, is 54,050.

New York, Dec. 11.—J. K. Kinnealy, the Socialist Labor candidate for mayor in the campaign of 1905, was drowned Sunday.

Boston, Dec. 11.—The wages of about 45,000 operatives in cotton mills in Southern New England and Western Massachusetts yesterday were advanced by at least 7 1-2 per cent.

New York, Dec. 11.—G. Goodloe Edgar and Edwin Earle, members of the firm of William F. Edgar & Son, Detroit, Mich., in the United States court yesterday, pleaded guilty to indictments charging them with accepting rebates on sugar shipments. They were fined $6,000 each. The fines were paid.

Woodstock, Dec. 11.—Chief Zeats, for the past four years chief of the Woodstock police department, yesterday tendered his resignation to the police commissioners, to take effect after Saturday next. The resignation was accepted. Chief Zeats has accepted a position on the detective force of the Grand Trunk Railway.

Hamilton, Dec. 11.—The home of William Harmer, a West Flamboro farmer, was burglarized Sunday night. Amongst the things stolen was a Christmas cake and fruit. A man giving the name of John Dyer, Buffalo, was found in a neighboring church and was arrested on the charges of breaking into the farmer's house and the church.

MR. M'INTYRE'S EVIDENCE.

Story of Active Partizanship Denied by O.B.I. Official.

Brantford, Dec. 11.—The investigation at the Institute for the Blind was continued yesterday morning by Commissioner J. Russell Snow.

A. L. McIntyre, engineer, who was charged with partizanship in the Brewster-Preston election of 1905, was on the stand in his own defence. He made a complete denial of the story of three witnesses, who had previously sworn that he was actively engaged in political work on election day.

Wm. Kelly swore that McIntyre had canvassed him for the Liberal candidate in North Brant. Witness Aselin corroborated McIntyre's testimony that he was not participating in the election on polling day.

Investigation into the workings of the institution was then resumed. Five pupils were called. The evidence adduced failed to substantiate charges laid by Truss. The use of tobacco, according to pupils, was not nearly so prevalent as in the time of the former principal. The charge that improper conduct had taken place was denied by pupils concerned. Thomas Kennedy, one of the pupils whom Principal Gardiner discovered in the laundry, swore that he had been chastised by the principal for his breach of the rules.

All of the pupils swore that they had received rough treatment from one of the teachers, Mr. Roney.

It is understood that Mr. Gardiner will submit his defence very shortly. It is not likely he will call any witnesses. All of yesterday's witnesses were called by Mr. Brewster, who has charge of the prosecution.

Phillips' Trial Delayed.

Toronto, Dec. 11.—Crown Attorney Drayton applied to Judge Winchester yesterday for a commission in the examination of G. R. Burt, now in Chicago, who is understood to be a material witness in the Joseph Phillips (York Loan) case. Judge Winchester agreed, providing he were given an affidavit satisfying him that Burt was a material witness. If the evidence is not received before the close of the present sessions it will be necessary to secure a renewal of bail for Phillips, whose trial was to have gone on in the present sessions.

BLAMED BUT NOT PUNISHED.

Grounding of Kensington Due to An Error In Judgment.

Montreal, Dec. 11.—The wreck commission court yesterday handed down judgment in the case of the grounding of the Dominion Line steamer Kensington, off Matane, in the Lower St. Lawrence, early last summer, and in it they attribute it to an error in judgment of Capt. Morle.

Owing to the captain's excellent record his certificate was not canceled or suspended. The commissioners held that he should have taken soundings with the lead instead of guiding himself from a point in shore.

Cause of Exhibition Fire.

Toronto, Dec. 11.—Coroner Johnson last night concluded his enquiry into the cause of the fire at the exhibition grounds on Thanksgiving night, when the jury returned a verdict that the fire was of unknown origin, and that the grounds were not under sufficient patrol watch for the amount of money invested in the buildings covering so large an area.

Treaty to Be Signed.

London, Dec. 11—The Anglo-French-Italian treaty with Abyssinia is about to be signed here with King Menelik's approval. The terms have been officially communicated to the powers. The treaty strengthens the railway development of the interior by France, but gives Great Britain and Italy representation on the railway directorate.

Montreal, Dec. 10.—Cables from Liverpool and London on cattle were stronger, and prices show an advance of ½c to 1c, with sales of Canadians at 10½c to 11c, and ranchers at 9½c. Exports from St. John, N.B., last week were 3108 cattle, 161 sheep, and from Portland, 2083 cattle, 1320 sheep. Receipts were 1200 cattle, 1250 hogs, 300 sheep and lambs, 100 calves.

All the cable advices from Liverpool and Bristol on Canadian bacon came weaker, and is to 2s lower than a week ago, yet this bearish factor seems to have but little influence on the local hog situation, as prices this morning were well maintained. The supply offered was fairly large, which met with a good demand from packers, and an active trade was done, with sales of selected stock at $6.75 to $6.85 per 100 lbs., weighed off cars.

The gathering storm did not prevent the butchers from coming out in large numbers, and trade was brisk, with firm prices all round. "SAVINGS"

In Harvest time the farmer gathers the fruits of his labours and lays by a portion for the winter—the time when all is going out and nothing coming in. This suggests the opportunity to all wage-earners and others of taking advantage of their "harvest time" (that is their earning period) to lay by a portion of their income for "life's winter" when the earning power ceases and expenses continue.

ONE DOLLAR is sufficient to open A Savings Bank Account. Interest paid half-yearly, from date of Deposit to date of Withdrawal, at 3 1-2% per Annum.
